RE-OPEN QUESTION OF CHURCH UNION

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 14.—(Special to The Examiner.)—In the Anglican General Synod this morning, Canon Lofthouse, of Kenora, carried a motion suspending rules to allow re-opening of question of appointment of committee on church union. He protested because the diocese of Athabasca, Mackenzie River, Yukon, Keewatin and Caledonia were not represented, and said that the Bishops of Athabasca and Yukon had asked him to bring the matter before the House. On motion of Principal Vance, of Vancouver, the Nomination committee was empowered to name representatives from these dioceses.

PROGRESS MADE TOWARDS PEACE BY THE PARLEY

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE FOLLOWING REPORT OF SUB-COMMITTEES ON CONVERSATIONS ON TRUCE OBSERVANCE.

DEMAND FOR RELEASE OF PRISONERS STILL MENACE

By ED. L. KEEN

(United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Definite progress towards peace has been made by the Irish Conference.

This announcement was made today, when the sub-committees reported to the delegates at 10 Downing Street the result of their conversations yesterday.

To-day's session lasted less than two hours, and the delegates adjourned at one o'clock this afternoon. The next meeting of the conference was scheduled for 3.30 Monday afternoon, October 17.

The time was arranged so as not to conflict with the ceremony incident to the decoration of the unknown warrior's tomb by American Ambassador Davis.

The sub-committees, it was said to-day, have made definite progress towards understanding regarding the observance of the truce. Each side informed the other of steps which were taken Wednesday to instruct troops in Ireland to more closely observe the rules of the armistice, and satisfaction was expressed by both sides as a result.

Despite the official optimism, however, it was felt the demand of the Sein Fein for the release of the prisoners would leave difficulties before the conference had proceeded much further.

Preliminary discussions, it was said to-day, might be cleared up by the first of next week, and the practical work of hammering out an amicable Irish solution might be expected to commence Monday or Tuesday.

Arthur Griffith and the other Sinn Fein plenipotentiaries drove to the Premier's residence a few minutes before 11 o'clock. Only a small crowd of Irish sympathizers was on hands to greet them.

After to-day's sessions the work of the conference will consist largely in negotiations between sub-committees, it was announced, as it was believed more could be accomplished in this way than in direct conversation between the Ministers in formal session.

Alarm in the reports of a break in negotiations were completely discredited to-day by officials of both sexes, although some recriminations and high words regarding violations of the Irish truce marked yesterday's session. Thereafter, everything was smoothed over.

Both sides agreed it was futile to try to fix responsibility for the violations, and agreed to centre their attention on making effective the truce in the future.

LOCAL CAPITAL BEHIND RUBBER TIRES COMPANY

PLANS FOR PLANT OF RED ARROW TIRES, LIMITED, ON WATER ST. NORTH, NOW BEING PREPARED

CAPITAL IS $2,000,000 : 400 MEN TO BE EMPLOYED

There is to be a new industry established in Peterborough. The land along the west bank of the river, fronting on Water street south of the Grand Trunk railway, amounting to four acres is being acquired from the Hydro Electric Commission and on it will be erected the plant of Red Arrow Tires, Limited. The property has already been surveyed by J. W. Fitzgerald and the plans and specifications for the plant are being prepared. A number of local and outside contractors are preparing to bid on the contract.

The Company will operate under a Dominion charter and will be incorporated for $2,000,000.00. The incorporation papers were forwarded to Ottawa last Wednesday night. The Company will have a directorate of seven members and thus far six have been announced. They are: J. J. Turner, of J. J. Turner and Sons, Ltd., Geo. A. Gillespie, of Peterborough Milk Products, Ltd., Peter P. Westbye, of William Hamilton & Co., Robert Hicks, of Robert Hicks Co., Ltd., John R. McDonald, of the McDonald Lumber Co., and Joseph Rath, of Buffalo, New York, who is associated with Durant Motors. Durant Motors are preparing to put into operation their Canadian plant at Toronto, which will have a production of 30,000 cars annually. Mr. Rath was formerly associated with General Motors and severed his connection with that company to become affiliated with Mr. W. C. Durant in Durant Motors. It is expected that the name of the other director, who will probably come from Toronto, will be announced within a few days.

The company will manufacture tires and tubes and the first unit of the plant to be erected will have a production of five hundred tires and the same number of tubes a day. They will manufacture both fabric and cord tires with the fabric to be confined to three sizes, 30 x 3, 30 x 3 1-2, and 31 x 4, while the cords will be manufactured in the customary sizes from 30 x 3 1-2 to and including 37 x 5. The product produced will be of the highest quality. The best materials and most modern methods of construction will be used. All departments will be under the direction of men of vast experience and who are acknowledged as being competent in their particular lines. Fabric tires will be guaranteed for 8,000 miles and cords for 10,000 miles and all adjustments will be on that basis.

The Company has developed a new and unique plan for marketing their product which eliminates the huge advertising expenditures suffered by other companies in order to popularize thier products with the buying public. Also, under this plan the company sells direct to the consumer through their own stores. These two features save the buyer an advertising cost and middleman's profit which, under the present system of merchandising, is added to the retail price of the tires and paid by the public. Under this plan Red Arrow Tires will be sold to the public at a considerable saving under present prevailing prices. Direct to the consumer is the most satisfactory and economical method of merchandising and is being rapidly adopted by companies the character of whose product permits it.

The Company expects to immediately commence building operations so as to be in full operation for spring business. The first unit of the plant when in full operation will employ in the neighborhood of 400 men. The Company is purchasing their factory site and is asking no assistance of the city government except that they be given a fixed assessment for a period of years. This procedure has been customary with other plants establishing themselves here. The matter of the fixed assessment will be placed before the City Council in the near future and when approved by them will then be placed before the electorate to be voted on.

The first retail store of the Company will be established in Peterborough and a lease is being negotiated on the Taylor store at 309 George street. Some re-modeling and decorating is necessary and when finished the offices of the Company will be installed at this location until the offices in the factory building proper are completed. It will then be converted into the company's retail store. Stores will be established all over Ontario as rapidly as production and distribution demand them. All stores will handle Red Arrow Tires and Tubes exclusively.

Under its plan of merchandising and with its competent management this Company seems assured of success. It will be seen from the names appearing as Directors that some of the leading business men of this city are giving their support to this compasy.

Technical School Question Will Be Decided Soon Now

A meeting of a committee of the whole board of Education took place last evening to consider the question of providing for technical education in Peterboro. Dr. Merchant of Toronto, Director of Technical Education for Ontario, was present, and explained fully to the members the needs of Peterboro in the way of this sort of training. Considerable discussion took place and it was finally decided to hold another meeting of the committee of the whole board within the next ten days, when the question will be definitely decided as to whether the extension to the Collegiate Institute will simply provide for academic training only or whether it will include facilities for technical education.

BELIEF EXPRESSED THAT EVIDENCE SUBMITTED BEFORE COMMITTEE DOES NOT CONTAIN FOUNDATION FOR PROBE

SIMMONS ASSERTS KLAN WILLING TO PAY TAXES

(United Press).

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Doubt that a Congressional investigation of the Ku Klux Klan would be ordered was expressed to-day, when the House Rules Committee convened to resume the cross-examination of Col. Joseph Simmons, of Atlanta, Imperial Wizard of the Klan.

Supporters of the movement to have Congress go into the affairs and activities of the Klan made a final effort to prove three charges: (1) That the Klan used the mails to defraud; (2) that the Klan had committed overt acts against individuals and incited riots; (3) that the Klan had knowingly evaded income tax payments to the Government.

Members of Simmons party and persons who had assisted in the investigation of the Klan expressed the belief that the evidence presented thus far did not contain the foundation for a probe by Congress.

Simmons, whose collapse late yesterday caused the postponement of the hearing, admitted that his organization had not paid income taxes. He explained that the $10 paid by each Klansman on joining is a donation and so designated in all the records. When the income tax was enacted, he said, he conferred with the internal revenue collector of Atlanta, and was told his organization was not subject to the Act.

"If you gentlemen find we are obligated to this Government, under this law, we will pay it if it takes our last dollar," he cried.

GENERATOR EXPLODES WHEN CASTING GIVES; SIX HURT, ONE TO DIE

POWER COMMISSION'S INSPECTOR DYING AND FIVE OTHERS INJURED AS RESULT OF BEING STRUCK BY FLYING PIECES OF HUGE GENERATOR WHICH EXPLODED IN CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC PLANT AT NOON, WHEN CASTING BROKE WHILE MACHINE WAS BEING RUN AT HIGH SPEED.

One man is dying, one is seriously injured, and four sustained minor injuries, as a result of the explosion of a generator in the machine shop of the Canadian General Electric plant about 12.05 to-day.

Henry Harvey, Inspector for the Nova Scotia Power Commission, is dying in the Nicholls Hospital. His skull was badly smashed by a piece of the broken generator.

P. K. Kane, 160 Rubidge street, is in St. Joseph's Hospital seriously injured, but is expected to live. The injuries are principally to his face and head.

Four others sustained minor injuries. They are:

A. Lapp, 516 Bolivar street.

A. F. Fielder, 195 Reid street.

W. H. Wilson, 29 Lafayette avenue

The generator, a 1600 kilowatt machine, being built for the Nova Scotia Power Commission, was being tested in the machine shop near the testing department. Just at 12 o'clock its speed was increased to "high." Part of a casting gave way and the huge machine was smashed into pieces which hurtled through the air with great velocity, knocking a hole about five feet square through a thick brick wall.

Henry Harvey, who was here to inspect the generator for the Nova Scotia Power Commission, was sitting in the office of the test department near by when the accident occurred. A piece of the broken generator crashed through the partition separating the office from the shop, smashing his skull.

Another part of the machine flew through a wall four bricks thick, knocking a hole about five feet square, into the lavatory, hurling the bricks from the broken wall the length of the room. P. K. Kane, who was washing in preparation for going home, was hit by the flying pieces.

At the time of the explosion the shop was practically cleared of employees, with the exception of those testing the machine.

The generator had been run at low and intermediate speeds all morning, and just at 12 it was turned into high speed. Then the casting gave way.

An inquest will be held at once if Mr. Harvey dies, the police said this afternoon.

M. PAPPAS COMES BACK INTO MOVIES

"Good morning, Mr. Pappas—just heard you are going back into the movies again."

"Yes—guess so—why?—that's all right, Mr. Examiner."

"The news seem to have got out on the street, Mr. Pappas, and we would like to know if the Examiner is at liberty to confirm it."

"All right—go ahead! You can say that I have taken over the Regent motion picture theatre and expect to open the house under my management on Monday next, 17th. Be sure and come early and avoid the rush!"

The announcement that the Regent is to be controlled in future by Mr. Pappas will be of interest to playgoers who admire the clever achievements in cinematography.

Mr .Pappas has been so well and favorably known in Peterborough in this amusement line during the past twelve years that the public pretty nearly know what to expect of him as a motion picture manager. His enterprise and resourcefulness in catering to movie picture admirers while conducting the Royal Theatre won for him a lot of popularity, which he still shares. Since disposing of the Royal to the Allen's about two years ago, Mr. Pappas has been devoting attention to his other interests in Peterborough and elsewhere. Now that the war period has passed and readjustment of prices and other things has been reached, Mr. Pappas comes back to take up his favorite amusement business again.

Part of Mr. Pappas' programme is a return to former pre-war prices —10 and 15 cent admissions—which proved so successful in pulling bumper houses, and which got the motion picture loving public all coming his way.

Notwithstanding the drop in prices, Mr. Pappas declares that he intends to run a high-class picture show, including western plays, serials, dramas and comedies. In the selection of attractive films, he will not be tied down to any one film corporation, but will personally select such features as, in his judgment, will be most popular in this community.

For his commenceent programme in this unique cinema house, beginning Monday, October 17th, Mr. Pappas promises to present a splendid bill of attractions, enlivening the screen with stirring pictures in which some of the favorite stars in the movie world will appear in varying roles, full particulars of which will be given later.

There never was a time when moving picture shows were so much in the public eye as to-day. The younger generation seem to derive a lot of amusement out of them; and, with careful management and first run films, Mr. Pappas is out to win back a renewal of the generous patronage which he enjoyed in former years.

RAILROAD SHOP EMPLOYEES WIN VICTORY TO-DAY

(United Press).

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Railroad shop workers to-day won a sweeping victory before the United States Railroad Labor Board, when the Board handed down a decision refusing to approve of the petition of the Railroad executives that all shop work be placed on a piece-work basis of pay, instead of an hourly rate.

The North-Western Railroad, acting with other lines, had asked for the abolishment of the principle of paying straight time for work in shops, and this has been one of the most bitterly contested questions before the Labor Board. The Board held that the men should be paid on an hourly basis, and that eight hours shall constitute a work day. However, if the carrier and the employees agree that the work shall be paid for on a piece-work basis, such will not be a violation of the Board's order.

The Board upheld the railroad's contention that shop workers should be forced to undergo a physical examination to determine whether or not they are fit to do the work. This has also been a bitterly contested point between the railroads and the unions. The seniority rights of employees must be upheld, the Board announced, except in cases where they leave one kind of work on their own request and engage in another class of labor with the same company.

Gillespie, of Peterborough Milk Products, Ltd., Peter P. Westbye, of William Hamilton & Co., Robert Hicks, of Robert Hicks Co., Ltd., John R. McDonald, of the McDonald Lumber Co., and Joseph Rath, of Buffalo, New York, who is associated with Durant Motors. Durant Motors are preparing to put into operation their Canadian plant at Toronto, which will have a production of 30,000 cars annually. Mr. Rath was formerly associated with General Motors and severed his connection with that company to become affiliated with Mr. W. C. Durant in Durant Motors. It is expected that the name of the other director, who will probably come from Toronto, will be announced within a few days.

The company will manufacture tires and tubes and the first unit of the plant to be erected will have a production of five hundred tires and the same number of tubes a day. They will manufacture both fabric and cord tires with the fabric to be confined to three sizes, 30 x 3, 30 x 3 1-2, and 31 x 4, while the cords will be manufactured in the customary sizes from 30 x 3 1-2 to and including 37 x 5. The product produced will be of the highest quality. The best materials and most modern methods of construction will be used. All departments will be under the direction of men of vast experience and who are acknowledged as being competent in their particular lines. Fabric tires will be guaranteed for 8,000 miles and cords for 10,000 miles and all adjustments will be on that basis.

The Company has developed a new and unique plan for marketing their product which eliminates the huge advertising expenditures suffered by other companies in order to popularize thier products with the buying public. Also, under this plan the company sells direct to the consumer through their own stores. These two features save the buyer an advertising cost and middleman's profit which, under the present system of merchandising, is added to the retail price of the tires and paid by the public. Under this plan Red Arrow Tires will be sold to the public at a considerable saving under present prevailing prices. Direct to the consumer is the most satisfactory and economical method of merchandising and is being rapidly adopted by companies the character of whose product permits it.

The Company expects to immediately commence building operations so as to be in full operation for spring business. The first unit of the plant when in full operation will employ in the neighborhood of 400 men. The Company is purchasing their factory site and is asking no assistance of the city government except that they be given a fixed assessment for a period of years. This procedure has been customary with other plants establishing themselves here. The matter of the fixed assessment will be placed before the City Council in the near future and when approved by them will then be placed before the electorate to be voted on.

The first retail store of the Company will be established in Peterborough and a lease is being negotiated on the Taylor store at 309 George street. Some re-modeling and decorating is necessary and when finished the offices of the Company will be installed at this location until the offices in the factory building proper are completed. It will then be converted into the company's retail store. Stores will be established all over Ontario as rapidly as production and distribution demand them. All stores will handle Red Arrow Tires and Tubes exclusively.

Under its plan of merchandising and with its competent management this Company seems assured of success. It will be seen from the names appearing as Directors that some of the leading business men of this city are giving their support to this compasy.

Technical School Question Will Be Decided Soon Now

A meeting of a committee of the whole board of Education took place last evening to consider the question of providing for technical education in Peterboro. Dr. Merchant of Toronto, Director of Technical Education for Ontario, was present, and explained fully to the members the needs of Peterboro in the way of this sort of training. Considerable discussion took place and it was finally decided to hold another meeting of the committee of the whole board within the next ten days, when the question will be definitely decided as to whether the extension to the Collegiate Institute will simply provide for academic training only or whether it will include facilities for technical education.

BELIEF EXPRESSED THAT EVIDENCE SUBMITTED BEFORE COMMITTEE DOES NOT CONTAIN FOUNDATION FOR PROBE

SIMMONS ASSERTS KLAN WILLING TO PAY TAXES

(United Press).

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Doubt that a Congressional investigation of the Ku Klux Klan would be ordered was expressed to-day, when the House Rules Committee convened to resume the cross-examination of Col. Joseph Simmons, of Atlanta, Imperial Wizard of the Klan.

Supporters of the movement to have Congress go into the affairs and activities of the Klan made a final effort to prove three charges: (1) That the Klan used the mails to defraud; (2) that the Klan had committed overt acts against individuals and incited riots; (3) that the Klan had knowingly evaded income tax payments to the Government.

Members of Simmons party and persons who had assisted in the investigation of the Klan expressed the belief that the evidence presented thus far did not contain the foundation for a probe by Congress.

Simmons, whose collapse late yesterday caused the postponement of the hearing, admitted that his organization had not paid income taxes. He explained that the $10 paid by each Klansman on joining is a donation and so designated in all the records. When the income tax was enacted, he said, he conferred with the internal revenue collector of Atlanta, and was told his organization was not subject to the Act.

"If you gentlemen find we are obligated to this Government, under this law, we will pay it if it takes our last dollar," he cried.

POWER COMMISSION'S INSPECTOR DYING AND FIVE OTHERS INJURED AS RESULT OF BEING STRUCK BY FLYING PIECES OF HUGE GENERATOR WHICH EXPLODED IN CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC PLANT AT NOON, WHEN CASTING BROKE WHILE MACHINE WAS BEING RUN AT HIGH SPEED.

One man is dying, one is seriously injured, and four sustained minor injuries, as a result of the explosion of a generator in the machine shop of the Canadian General Electric plant about 12.05 to-day.

Henry Harvey, Inspector for the Nova Scotia Power Commission, is dying in the Nicholls Hospital. His skull was badly smashed by a piece of the broken generator.

P. K. Kane, 160 Rubidge street, is in St. Joseph's Hospital seriously injured, but is expected to live. The injuries are principally to his face and head.

Four others sustained minor injuries. They are:

A. Lapp, 516 Bolivar street.

A. F. Fielder, 195 Reid street.

W. H. Wilson, 29 Lafayette avenue

The generator, a 1600 kilowatt machine, being built for the Nova Scotia Power Commission, was being tested in the machine shop near the testing department. Just at 12 o'clock its speed was increased to "high." Part of a casting gave way and the huge machine was smashed into pieces which hurtled through the air with great velocity, knocking a hole about five feet square through a thick brick wall.

Henry Harvey, who was here to inspect the generator for the Nova Scotia Power Commission, was sitting in the office of the test department near by when the accident occurred. A piece of the broken generator crashed through the partition separating the office from the shop, smashing his skull.

Another part of the machine flew through a wall four bricks thick, knocking a hole about five feet square, into the lavatory, hugling the bricks from the broken wall the length of the room. P. K. Kane, who was washing in preparation for going home, was hit by the flying pieces.

At the time of the explosion the shop was practically cleared of employees, with the exception of those testing the machine.

The generator had been run at low and intermediate speeds all morning, and just at 12 it was turned into high speed. Then the casting gave way.

An inquest will be held at once if Mr. Harvey dies, the police said this afternoon.

M. PAPPAS COMES BACK INTO MOVIES

"Good morning, Mr. Pappas—just heard you are going back into the movies again."

"Yes—guess so—why?—that's all right, Mr. Examiner."

"The news seem to have got out on the street, Mr. Pappas, and we would like to know if the Examiner is at liberty to confirm it."

"All right—go ahead! You can say that I have taken over the Regent motion picture theatre and expect to open the house under my management on Monday next, 17th. Be sure and come early and avoid the rush!"

The announcement that the Regent is to be controlled in future by Mr. Pappas will be of interest to playgoers who admire the clever achievements in cinematography.

Mr .Pappas has been so well and favorably known in Peterborough in this amusement line during the past twelve years that the public pretty nearly know what to expect of him as a motion picture manager. His enterprise and resourcefulness in catering to movie picture admirers while conducting the Royal Theatre won for him a lot of popularity, which he still shares. Since disposing of the Royal to the Allen's about two years ago, Mr. Pappas has been devoting attention to his other interests in Peterborough and elsewhere. Now that the war period has passed and readjustment of prices and other things has been reached, Mr. Pappas comes back to take up his favorite amusement business again.

Part of Mr. Pappas' programme is a return to former pre-war prices —10 and 15 cent admissions—which proved so successful in pulling bumper houses, and which got the motion picture loving public all coming his way.

Notwithstanding the drop in prices, Mr. Pappas declares that he intends to run a high-class picture show, including western plays, serials, dramas and comedies. In the selection of attractive films, he will not be tied down to any one film corporation, but will personally select such features as, in his judgment, will be most popular in this community.

For his commencement programme in this unique cinema house, beginning Monday, October 17th, Mr. Pappas promises to present a splendid bill of attractions, enlivening the screen with stirring pictures in which some of the favorite stars in the movie world will appear in varying roles, full particulars of which will be given later.

There never was a time when moving picture shows were so much in the public eye as to-day. The younger generation seem to derive a lot of amusement out of them; and, with careful management and first run films, Mr. Pappas is out to win back a renewal of the generous patronage which he enjoyed in former years.

RAILROAD SHOP EMPLOYEES WIN VICTORY TO-DAY

(United Press).

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Railroad shop workers to-day won a sweeping victory before the United States Railroad Labor Board, when the Board handed down a decision refusing to approve of the petition of the Railroad executives that all shop work be placed on a piece-work basis of pay, instead of an hourly rate.

The North-Western Railroad, acting with other lines, had asked for the abolishment of the principle of paying straight time for work in shops, and this has been one of the most bitterly contested questions before the Labor Board. The Board held that the men should be paid on an hourly basis, and that eight hours shall constitute a work day. However, if the carrier and the employees agree that the work shall be paid for on a piece-work basis, such will not be a violation of the Board's order.

The Board upheld the railroad's contention that shop workers should be forced to undergo a physical examination to determine whether or not they are fit to do the work. This has also been a bitterly contested point between the railroads and the unions. The seniority rights of employees must be upheld, the Board announced, except in cases where they leave one kind of work on their own request and engage in another class of labor with the same company.

DURHAM VOTERS HEAR POLITICS

CAMPAIGN IN THE INTERESTS OF W. T. R. PRESTON

A very largely attended meeting of the electors of Durham was held last evening at Newcastle in the interests of Mr. W. T. R. Preston, the Liberal candidate, at which the ladies were in the majority and are manifesting a keen interest in his campaign.

Mr. Preston said that Mr. Meighen was endeavoring to make the tariff the sole issue in this campaign and was untruthfully stating that the Liberal Party were free traders.

These were precisely the representations that were made to the electors in 1896 and before Sir Wilfrid came into power. At that time our trade was stagnant. Unrest and unemployment were rampant and native born Canadians were leaving Canada by the hundreds of thousands.

When the Liberal party came into power Sir Wilfrid Laurier made a fully enquiry into the tariff from one end of Canada to the other— and from every class of people that was interested in her welfare and the result was that a tariff was brought down that brought about prosperity to our farmers and manufacturers and a full dinner pail to the workingman.

The exodus of our population began to cease and the tide of immigration flowed toward Canada from all parts of the world, with the result that after 15 years of prosperity over a million of a population was added to our Northwest Provinces alone.

The same underlying principles that brought about prosperity to Canada during the days of Laurier will be applied by Mr. King when he brings down his new tariff.

It will not be a free trade tariff. It will be a revenue producing tariff and will carry with it the same incidental protection to our manufacturers and our working men as the Fielding Tariff of 1897.

Mr. Preston said that the farmers were being robbed by the North Atlantic Steamship combine to an extent beyond the conception of any one. He produced proof to show that it has recently cost no less than $36,000,000 to carry the same quantity of wheat to the markets of Great Britain that were carried for only $2,000,000 over ten years ago.

And worse than that. The Liverpool market regulates the market for wheat that is consumed in Canada, and with the result that such a combination has deprived the farmers of a profit of over $75,000,000 on wheat alone.

Mr. R. R. Hall said he was sorry to see a three-cornered fight in the County of Durham and more particularly when the Liberals and Farmers were a unit in calling for the defeat of the Meighen administration because with the forces opposed to the Meighen administration divided the supporter of the Government might be elected.

There is no reason why the farmers should oppose the Liberal Party in this election because the policy of the Liberal party is in the interests of the farmer. Indeed the fact is that the Liberal party owed its defeat in 1911 in its effort to secure a wider market for Canadian farm products.

It was the farmers of the Province of Ontario who defeated the Liberal party in 1911 and defeated them in their efforts to secure a free market for their farm products in the United States.

Mr. Hall pointed out that there never was an administration in Ottawa that was so autocratic as the present one and if they were again elected they would be more autocratic still. If, therefore, the electors of Durham are sincere in their desire to defeat the Meighen Government they can best secure their ends by uniting under the banner upheld by Mr. Preston, upon whose platform all classes can stand and work together to again renew prosperity in this country and to again stem the tide of the exodus from Canada to the United States which is ever increasing and which has been no less than 800,000 since 1911.

It is appalling to think that no less than 800,000 Canadians have immigrated from Canada to the United States since 1911. It is absolutely necessary that a radical change should take place in the administration of our affairs if the Canadian people are to honorably pay our great National debt of $2,248,868,623, a large portion of which is held by Canadian investors in Victory Bonds.

A Modern Problem.

"I want you to walk more," said the doctor. "A good long walk will give you a fine appetite."

"That's just it," said the patient. "That's the reason I don't walk. I can't afford a fine appetite."

LITTLE WANT ADS.

At this time of the year, there are any number of things that are badly needed, either by the man or woman.

These things can be done without, but the Summer is going to be not quite so happy without them, and they need not cost you nearly as much as you think, if you only use the Want Ads. to get them.

So many people lose a vast amount of pleasure simply because they have never learned the value of a simple little appeal to the Examiner Want Ad. Column. Don't let this bright month of June go by without satisfying little extra Summer wants through the Want Ads.

How It Happened.

Marie—I think a girl who whistles is most ladylike.

Maudie — Well, I don't know. Whistling brought about my engagement.

"How was that?"

"I puckered my lips to whistle and Charley couldn't resist kissing them, and so of course." — Edinburgh Scotsman.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION HELD A MEETING—PETERBORO' DEGREE TEAM VISIT MILLBROOK

PERSONAL MENTION

MILLBROOK, Oct. 14. — The Ministerial Association held their October meeting in the Sunday school room of St. Thomas' church on Monday morning, with seven ministers in attendance.

Rev. Mr. Craw of Springville, gave a most interesting paper on "The Grace of Forgiveness," and a lively discussion followed its reading, the point being raised that the tendency of the present day is to emphasize the fatherhood of God rather to the neglect of the justice of God. Hence the various issues which present the former view almost to the exclusion of the latter, all gaining an increasingly large following to-day.

The meeting closed in the usual manner and will be held next month in the Methodist church, when Rev. Major Spencer will speak on "Westminster Abbey," which he has personally visited on three separate occasions.

Woman's Auxiliary.

The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the Methodist church held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, Octoer 11th, at the home of Mrs. Robert Lemn, Carmel. In spite of heavy rain and bad roads twenty-two members were present, going out by motor through the kindness of some of the men who willingly gave the use of their cars for the occasion. A contest had been arranged for at the September meeting to increase the membership if possible, and also gather in the fees of those who formerly belonged. The canvassers for the east district, Miss Pendrie and Miss Stella Hetherington, reported eighteen who had paid their fees, eight of these being presest, and one new member being included.

Mrs. C. Richards and Miss Hampton, who had the west district, reported the payment of fees by twenty-two members, including two who had newly joined, and of whom eleven were present. The Auxiliary now has a total membership of forty annual members, and eight life members.

After the opening devotional exercises and the business had been attended to, Mrs. Sayles sang a solo, "One Fleeting Hour," and Miss Hampton gave an apropriate recitation, "Mrs. Pickett's Missionary Box." Miss Byam took up, in a most interesting manner, the first chapter of the new study book, "Canada's Share in World Tasks," under the four headings, "The Scope," "The Motive," "The Enlarged Opportunities," and "Canada's Share in the Task."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lunn asd her daughter, Miss Martha, in which part of the evening the men, who had so kindly driven the members of the Auxiliary out in their cars, shared generously, and all enjoyed a very pleasant social hour together.

A unanimous vote of thanks to the hostesses, which was responded to by a few words of warm welcome and appreciation by Mrs. Lunn and a hearty clapping of the hands by all present, brought a very pleasant and profitable evening to a close.

Rebekah Lodge.

The "Golden Sheaf" Rebekah Lodge held a most enjoyable social evening on Tuesday, October 11th, about forty members of the Peterborough degree team motoring out

CRERAR WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR FRED SLADE IN COBOURG

HASTINGS PRIDES ITSELF ON LACK OF UNEMPLOYMENT—HAVELOCK LACROSSE FANS HAVE VISIONS OF FASTER TEAM NEXT SEASON—OTHER NEWS FROM DISTRICT.

HASTINGS, October 13.—"The busiest place in Canada," is the present boast of the people of Hastings. "Of course, if we had a hundred new industries locate here to-morrow, there would be still a few people out of work," was the cynical comment of one citizen. "There are some men who must have been born lazy and never outgrow that inclination. We have a few of that kind, and they are the only ones here out of a job."

So Hastings has no unemployment troubles. The big tannery is as busy as ever, and goes steadily on its way. Likewise the J. B. Plant Foundry, employing moulders and some machinists—all told, about twenty men—is contributing a considerable share to the town's strength. The smaller mills are keeping pace with the bigger industries, and the proposed new cooperage factory is being regarded as a certainty now. Retail business is good, and on the whole everyone who wants to work has no trouble in getting a job.

CRERAR TO SPEAK FOR SLADE.

WARKWORTH, October 13. — Fred J. Slade, the U.F.O. candidate in Northumberland County, will open his campaign in Cobourg probably during the last week of this month, when T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressive Party, will be introduced to the Riding. Mr. Slade lost no time in getting into action. Immediately after his nomination he went to Toronto to interview prominent leaders of the U.F.O., and through them was assured of a date in Mr. Crerar's itinerary in Ontario. As soon as J. J. Morrison return to Toronto M. Slade will be definitely informed of the coming of Mr. Crerar.

BETTER LACROSSE TEAM FOR HAVELOCK.

HAVELOCK, October 13. — Lacrosse in this town next year will likely be under the auspices of the C.P.R. and local supporters of the game are already talking of a championship team. On their showing against Campbellford, they feel that they were not far behind the class of the finalists in the Intermediate series. With the sympathy of the C.P.R. next season it is believed that employees with lacrosse experience will be transferred here, and also that the company will allow the team more latitude than they had this year in getting off for games. Lee, of Oshawa, is already said to be booked, and also a Trenton man. described as one of the best inside homes in Canada. Nattress, of this year's Peterborough team secured a position several months ago with the C.P.R. here, and may be available next year. At any rate, acecording to the sport gossip, Havelock will be on the lacrosse map in big figures when the snow has come and gone again. In the meantime a big open-air rink will be built for hockey this winter, and there is every prospect of turning out a fast team.

"B" COMPANY, OF 40TH REGIMENT, FILLING UP.

HASTINGS, October 13. — The re-organisation of B Company of the 40th Northumberland Regiment is proceeding rapidly. Between forty and fifty of the young men of the town have joined up under the command of Captain W. Thompson, and negotiations are under way for suitable quarters. The Hastings unit of the Regiment is expected to be raised to full strength in a short time. Many of the members, including the commander of the company, are veterans of the war.

HASTINGS HAS TEAM, BUT NO RINK.

HASTINGS, October 13. — J. M. Thompson, manager of the local branch of the Union Bank, C. P. Doughty, proprietor of the Star, and other public-spirited citizens have not yet abandoned hope of securing a hockey and skating rink for Hastings this winter. They were recently in conversation with the contractor who built the Lakefield Rink, it is reported, and they may go to Lakefield to look it over. Everyone concedes that there is abundant material for a good Junior O.H.A. team here if they could be provided with decent quarters. Most of the lacrosse team are equally proficient performers on the ice, including "Ot" Scriver, Bruce Richardson, Stevenson, J. Gould, Harrington, Burkholder, Rogers, and Tait. Lovers of sport regard the town's lack of a rink as deplorable, and for that reason they are reluctant to give up, without a real struggle, the hopes they have entertained of financing a new rink for the coming winter.

A CANDIDATE IN LAKEFIELD

PERSONAL MENTION

LAKEFIELD, Oct., 14.— There is a great deal of interest shown in the coming elections. All political parties are inteersted in the possibility of a Lakefield man as a candidate. This section of the riding has never had representation in Parliament and very seldom has there even a candidate from the village.

Fall Scenes

The colourings of the trees are wonderful just now, though the leaves are falling very fast. The flower gardens are also showing the effects of so much rain and high wind, though the hardier plants still stand bravely upright.

One of the beauty spots of the village from eary Spring has been the flowtr border at the Post Office. Its fine appearanve was much admired by the Post Office Inspector and also occasioned mnay flattering comments from visitors to the village throughout the season.

In spite of the ravages of wind and rain, it still is a thing of beauty.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. John Northcott has returned home from Toronto.

Miss Amy Watson was in Peterboro, on Tuesday.

Mrs J. M. Twist and Miss Elizabeth Twist are guests of friends in Peterboro.

Mr. Jack Mahood of Winnipeg, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Mahood.

Mrs. Thomas Watson has returned from Cobourg, where she visited Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Watson.

The regular meeting of the A.Y. P. A. will be held on Tuesday evening instead of Monday next.

Mr. Harry Vipond of Toronto, was in the village on Wednesday.

A number of Lakefield people took in the Norwood Fair on Wednesday in spite of the inclement weather.

DOWNEYVILLE CORRESPONDENCE

BRITISH PLANS TO TRADE WITH SOVIET DEFEATED

GLASGOW, Oct. 13.—(Canadian Press.)— British plans for trading with Russia have been defeated, declared Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, here last night, partly as a result of famine, and could be attributed in some measure to the fact that Russian extremists had been "more anxious to spend their gold in propaganda than in buying goods."

CABLE AND TELEGRAPH

DR. CHAMBERS ATE NOTHING FOR 2 WEEKS

FORT WILLIAM, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Lying on an improvised stretcher strapped to the bow of a motor launch, Dr. Graham Chambers, of Toronto, lost in the woods of Atikokan since September 29, arrived at Atikokan at 5.50 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was strong enough to grant the short interview ,although Dr. C. P. Fitzpatrick forbade him to talk too much.

"Did you have anything to eat since September 29?" was the first question asked him.

"No," replied Dr. Chambers. "I did not shoot any partridge because I hadn't any matches and could not eat them raw. I feel fine though, and I had my first meal to-day—bread and tea and a little partridge broth."

Dr. Chambers' only complaint was the condition of his feet, which he said were terribly blistered and appeared like "trench feet."

WANT PRONOUNCEMENT ON HUDSON BAY RAILWAY

THE PAS, Man., Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—A resolution was adopted by The Pas Board of Trade yesterday which declared that the present was the time to bring before the people of Canada the "plight" of the Hudson Bay Railway, and secure a pronouncement from it from the three political parties. Surprise was expressed by the members of the board that the progresive party had no where in its platform made mention of this railway, which, it was stated, had been agitated for by the Farmers of the west for the last 40 years.

DEPLORTS SPREADING COMMUNIST DOCTRINE

LONDON, Oct. 14.— (Canadian Press.)—A Reuter cable from Brisbane says that Premier E. G. Theodore of the State of Queensland, speaking at the Australian labor conference, deplored the preaching by delegates of the doctrines enunciated by the Russian Communists and the American Independent Workers of the World. He was sure the workers would refuse to endorse such views.

SECRETARIAT'S STRENGTH FEATURE OF CONFERENCE

LONDON, Oct. 14.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—A notable feature of the Anglo-Irish conference is the strength of the secretariat which is composed of Thomas Jones, principal assistant secretary to the cabinet and Lionel Curtis on the government side and Erskine Childers, a writer of considerable note on military matters and John Chartres on the Irish side. Mr. Chartres was for some time chief of the Intelligence section of the War Office Armaments Output Committee. He is also a lawyer and has written for publication on legal matters. Mr. Curtis lectures on Colonial History at Oxford and is also an author.

MRS. McCLUNG SPEAKS TO THE EMPIRE GUILD

LONDON, Oct. 14.— (Canadian Press Cable.) — Lady McLaren Brown presided at the meeting yesterday of the Women's Guild of the Empire at which the principal speaker was Mrs. Nellie McClung, member of the legislative Assembly of Alberta. Mrs. McClung explained Canada's need of immigrants and capital and dwelt on the opportunities offering.

Other seakers were Miss Barbara Wyllie and Mrs. Henry Joseph, of Montreal.

WILL IS ALLEGED TO BE A FORGERY

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—J. A. Seguins and Mrs. T. J. McNamara, of 100 Christophe Colombe street, were yesterday committed by Judge Lett, for voluntary enquete on October 18, on a charge of stealing $22,000 from Robert Gruenwald, 82 year old Montreal musician.

The first inquiry nto the case began early in July, shortly after the alleged offence took place. The evidence then showed that Sequins was indebted to the estate of Gruenwald to the extent of $22,000.

While the late Mrs. Gruenwald was in the hospital, a supposedly valid will was drawn up whereby she bequeathed to Mrs. McNamara the sum of $15,000. The validity of this will was challenged by Gruenwald's attorneys, and John J. Lomax, official court stenographer and handwriting expert was called as a material witness. He stated that in his opinion the entire "will' had been written by Seguin ,and witnessed by McNamara, husband of the accused woman. Shortly afterwards both Seguin and McNamara, who had posed as friends of the deceased, were arrested.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN ADDRESS ADVISES YOUNG CANADA TO TURN TO LESSONS OF ENGLISH HISTORY.

SIR AUCKLAND GEDDES ON M'GILL CAMPUS AGAIN

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press).—At McGill centenary yesterday His Excellency Lord Byng, governor general of Canada, was presented for the honorary degree of LL.D. by Vice-Principal F. D. Adams, and hooded and gowned over his military uniform. He gave the following address:

"Mr. Chancellor, my lords, ladies and gentlemen, McGill University has to-day conferred upon me an honor which no words of mine can fully express. But I must try to express to you my feelings of pride and appreciation which is accentuated by the feeling, proud as I am of the honor, that McGill has made a mistake.

"My classical education began and ended with a volume called Henry's First Latin book. I don't know who Henry was or whether he ever wrote a second book, but his first completed my Latin studies. That

GIANT VICTORS WERE CREDITED BY VANQUISHED

RECEIPTS SET RECORD; $5,000 EACH FOR GIANTS

NEW YORK, October 14. — Canadian Press. — "I have the greatest baseball club in the world." declared John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, a few moments after his team had won the world's baseball classic yesterday afternoon.

"And unqeustionably the gamest," he added.

Miller Huggins, leader of the vanquished, declared that his men had no alibi to offer, and gave the Giants full credit for their triumph. It was a wonderful series,' he remarked, "but the Yankees simply were unable to do any consecutive hitting."

McGraw, nervous with excitement, was swamped by admirers as he left the club house. Artie Nehf, the pitcher, who led the Giants to their final victory, shed his uniform as calmly as though it were an ordinary day in his life. His only comment was that of gladness that he could now go home.

A few yards away—across the little back yard of the Polo grounds, where the club houses are located—tears were dropping from the boyish cheeks of Waite Hoyt, the pitcher who twice defeated the Giants, and upon whose shoulders was placed the burden of stopping their rush to-day. He stopped their rush but a comrade failed him in a critical moment and the glory of having his name upon the honored roll of pitchers who have won three games in a titular series, was denied him.

Both managers agreed it was the greatest world's series ever played. And so did the president of the national league, John A. Raymond, who tossed his presidential dignity to the winds when the Giants closed the series with a dazzling double play.

"Hurrah for the Nationals," he shouted, waving his hands. "We've been waiting for seventeen years to see the Giants at the top of the ladder," Mr. Heydler said. "I do not know how to express my happiness. The old National League is ahead again after a bitter fight in which they proved game to the core."

Several thousand rooters waited outside the Giants' Clubhouse to greet their idols. A few of them weer allowed to go inside. One of these was Mrs. Julia Wilson, the gray haired mother of the Giants' mascot and ardent rooter for McGraw's club as long as anybody can remember.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

The announcement of the coming to Peterborough of a new industry is always cheerful tidings, and when, as in the case of the Red Arrow Tire Company, the advent of a concern which plans to start with a staff of 400 workers at a time when industrial conditions are not of the brightest, is heralded, there is unusual reason for rejoicing. The company, the directorate of which is for the most part composed of well-known local citizens, will undoubtedly be welcomed to Peterborough, and as the only concession they are asking is a fixed assessment for a number of years, which has been unhesitatingly given to other concerns, there should be no obstacle, so far as the citizens are concerned, in the way of the new industry locating here. The news columns of the Examiner to-day give the details in connection with the concern, and the announcement makes cheerful reading both because of the prospect of employment it contains and because of the filip it will give to business conditions generally. Peterboro would be glad to hear of half a dozen other industries of the same description deciding to establish themselves here.

THE RECALL.

Mr. G. A. Brethen, U.F.O. candidate in East Peterboro, declares that the Examiner is laboring under a misapprehension in regard to the recall system adopted by the Agrarian party. The pledge signed by Farmer candidates in the last provincial election, he explains, requires them to resign if a petition signed by 60 per cent. of the electorate in their ridings requested them to give up their seats. And this Mr. Brethen infers is the system that is to be followed in connection with the Dominion election. Yet only a few days ago Miss Agnes McPhail, United Farmer nominee in South-east Grey, was quoted as saying she was pledged to resign if she happened to be elected, and if a convention composed of one representative for every ten members of the Farmer and Labour organizations in the riding by a 55 per cent. vote, called upon her to do so. That form of recall is, of course, much more obnoxious than Mr. Brethen's version which removes the class aspect, and is, therefore, not open to objection on that account. Nevertheless the principle in each case is the same, for the representatives is robbed of his right to use his own judgment—a right that his consituents have no logical ground to ask him to surrender.

GETTING ON THE LISTS.

Commenting on the fact that the newspapers all over the province are warning their readers to make sure their names are on the voters' lists, The Star asks why it should be necessary for a solid citizen of a free country to exhibit such vigilance as this in order to ensure his right to vote in a Federal election, and adds—

"If qualified electors are deprived of their right to vote it is due to misgovernment, to loose and careless management, and the introduction in a hurry at the eleventh hour of some system that is half a scramble, and to some extent an unfair manipulation of the people."

The Star has remained on safe ground in this assertion. Our methods of compiling voters' lists are full of flaws and they leave the way open for the disenfranchisement, through error or intent, of many citizens. A more accurate system is undoubtedly needed, and our Toronto contemporary is justified in these remarks, nevertheless, that until some better method has been adopted the responsibility of getting on the lists rests upon the individual elector, and no citizen worthy of the name will neglect the task of seeing that he is not robbed of his franchise. The Examiner has no apology to make for repeating this advice at somewhat frequent intervals, for under the best of conditions many electors have found themselves left off the lists, and in this particular compaign the chances for mistakes are doubled because of the confusion that exists as to the basis that is to be adopted.

FINDING EMPLOYMENT.

While the finding of employment for those who are idle is more or less an individual problem, there are times when the community must come to the rescue. It may be that such a period will soon be upon us. To the extent that men out of work are given such help as will meet their immediate needs a worthy and necessary service is performed, but it does not solve the problem of unemployment. The only thing that cures unemployment is employment, and employment for everybody may not be found until the wheels of industry are everywhere in motion again. We are passing through a time of adjustment, and until complete co-ordination of all the factors in the complex fabric of commerce has been restored there will, quite unavoidably, be lowered production.

In such a situation emphasis is given to the absolute mutuality which always prevails among the various classes of the community. Adversity affects them all. If industry lags there is unemployment, and when wage earners are idle their purchasing power is reduced. That affects business in general. In an exhausive review of the economic situation the National City Bank of New York gives this apt illustration of the process:

"The essential thing is not the general level of all wages and prices, but right relations between wages and prices, and between the different groups of producers, so that they can trade with each other. The farmers have nothing but the products of their labour and of the soil with which to buy the products of other industries. They will give their products as far as they will go, but there their buying ends. Whatever affects any great group of consumers and throws industry out of balance, so that the normal exchanges are disturbed, and normal consumption is curtailed, is bound to affect trade, industry, transportation, banking, and every kind of business unfavourably. Nobody gains by it; everybody loses by it."

That is precisely what is happening just now. It is not a case of one class suffering by itself. So intimate is the relationship of all classes that what affects one affects all. Unemployment is an unavoidable incident to the general depression of production, and will endure until everybody is back on a full and unrestricted trading basis, the farmer exchanging his products for the products of other industries and the artisan exchanging his labour for the wages which buy his necessaries of life. That being so, we must all see that the final solution of the unemployment problem must be preceded by an all-round adjustment of the conditions which govern production. And wages and prices are the basic factors which must be adjusted; for down at bottom, no matter from what angle the matter is viewed, now and always, one man's wages is another man's cost of living.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Now that the World's Series is over, the North American Continent can return to normalcy.

Was it accident or design that caused a New York paper to publish the amounts paid to the umpires in the World's Series under the heading, "Fund for the Blind?"

"The Future of Port Hope" furnishes The Guide with a text for a half column article in which it proves that Port Hope's future, to use an Irishism, "lies behind it."

"Montreal musicians who have voted against giving a temporary union card to a British musical conductor to appear in Canada, have," remarked The Globe, "assured him full houses. Canadians will resent that method of treating a visiting kinsman."

Wise and Otherwise

Writers have taken to efficiency, having found that originality is wasteful of energy.

There is the company a man keeps to judge him by ,and then ,too, there is the class of records he keeps on his phonograph.

"If some people would cut down on the preaching," says our neighbour, Bjones, "they would have more time for practice."

Wednesday was Columbus Day on the other side of the border, but no one has reported as yet the discovery of any more pitching talent for Miller Huggins.

The progress of the theatre continues. The lights in the country op'ry houses ,in which "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," was once presented at ten-twenty-thirty, are now dimmed for the presentation of two-reel knockouts of custard-pie battles.

LL. D. DEGREE CONFERRED

is the extent of the classical education of McGill's last Doctor of Laws, an honor which I can hardly acknowledge as I should like. However I like to think that, having exposed my ignorance and you realizing it, I can now talk to you perfectly freely as to what this university ought to do.

"What I think the university ought to do is to realize that there is something in England which would be very beneficial if it was seriously studied at McGill—and that is that old thing called English history.

"I am rather a believer that those young Canadian who during the next fifty years will build up this dominion which will be an anxious period for all the world, would get an enormous amount of good if they could assimilate that extraordinary history of their old mother land.

"When I say assimlate that history I do not mean learning reams of facts about kings and queens, admirals and generals, campaigns and battles. I mean a historical study of the psychological viewpoint of the wonderful series of events which brought about the change in England from 1650 to 1800—probably the most wonderful period in the history of the world which revolutioized the whole system of government.'

That, said his excellency, was a period that produced many great men in literature and science, as well as many great generals and admirals who went filibustering all over the world, laying the foundations for Britain's world-wide trade and laying the foundations of the great commercial city of London.

"May I," he continued, "with all humility ask the students of this great University of McGill to read what those men did during that period, because they were very human and very great leaders of men, and so directed affairs in England as to cause that extraordinary revolution from royal prerogative to a constitutional democracy.

"I know it is entirely my ignorance that makes me presumptuous enough to say this, but I feel that the mistakes England made in those 150 years, if studied and taken to heart, and the successes she made, if studied in the same way, would be of great help to the young Canadian when he goes out into the world to help in building up a magnificent future for this great dominion."

The presentation of degrees then followed after which Chancellor R. W. Beatty announced that short addresses would be given by four of the fifty-five recipients who would speak for the whole number.

Sir Auckland Geddes, who was received with continuous applause said that the conference of the degree by McGill Unversity was not a thing that appealed lightly to the recipient. It was impossible for him to express adequately a quarter of the feelings of the honorary graduates but speaking for all he knew he could say from the bottom of his heart "thank you". He added that they would leave the university with feelings of mingled pride and humility. Speaking personally he felt deeply the honor conferred on him. Exactly seven years ago, on October 13, 1914, he had left McGill for Europe and now, returning, he found few breaks in the ranks of his colleagues left behind him.

Referring to the remarks of the Governor General in regard to the study of history Sir Auckland said: "Your Excellency, McGill has never failed in the study of history. In your well chosen words you referred to one phase of history, but behind this people of Canada lies not only the history of England, but the history of France. And not only has the history of these two countries brought us very close together during the past seven years, but the history of Canada itself has done so."

RECEIPTS SET NEW RECORD.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14. — The 1921 World's Series set new financial and attendance records for future chamwere allowed to go inside. One of total paid attendance for the eight games which were required to produce a winner reached $900,233, contributed by 269,976 spectators.

This was $177,819 more than the best previous gate collected during the 1919 series between Cincinnati and Chicago, when $722,414 was paid by the fans of the two cities during the eight games of that year. The attendance in the series just closed was also 18,075 greater than the eight gatherings which witnessed the memorable Giants-Boston Americans play in 1912 when the total count of that post-season classic registered 251,901, which has stood as a record for nine years.

As a result of the enormous gate receipts all those who participate in the sharing of the funds will receive more than any of their predecessors in similar positions. The Giant players, as winners, collect 60 per cent of 75 per cent of the receipts for the first five games, amounting to $131,635, which divided among some 25 eligible men, gives approximately $5,265 to each.

The Yankee players will then divide $87,756, which will give each of 25 eligible players about $3,500.

Under the plans of distributing 25 per cent among the club players finishing second and third in both of the major leagues, the Cleveland Americans and the Pittsburgh Nationals will divide $43,878.34 equally, while the two St. Louis teams, as third place clubs, share $29,252.22.

The magnates also come in for a record division of the gate moneys. The Advisory Board, which succeeded the National Commission in the reorganization of professional baseball, will take its 15 per cent. share —$135,034.95. The club owners share will amount to $472,675.82. This latter sum exceeds by $82,853 the best previous club owners' share made during the 1919 series when $369,822 was divided.

The owners of the two local clubs, however, are not permitted to retain and divide equally the close to a half million dollars which appear at first sight to be theirs. The rules governing the financial affairs of the world's series specifically provide that 50 per cent. of each club's share for the first seven games shall be paid into their respective League treasuries, and that in case an eighth game is necessary, as was the case yesterday ,then 75 per cent of the clubs' share of receipts for that game must go to the League treasuries.

Field Day Held in Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, October 14. — The annual Field Day was held at the Lakefield Public and High Schools on Thursday afternoon, and was one of the most successful ever held.

A fair number of mothers and of friends turned out, but a pitifully small number of male citizens. Rev. S. F. Dixon and Rev. T. L. White, Mr. W. Sherin, Mr. Nathan Payne, Mr. T. A. Simpson were among those noticed. It would be a great encouragement to the teachers of the school to see a larger number present. The races were well run off, and there were no unnecessary delays. Mr. J. M. Simpson and his staff, consisting of Misses E. M. Corkery, L. B. Stark, I. Duff, E. Kennedy, I. Madill, M. Payne, and D. Burgess, all contributed to the success of the afternoon. After the races an exciting basketball match took place between the red and green sides, resulting in a victory for the reds. The score was 27-21.

Reds—Gladys Moore, Helen Burgess, Jean Ridpath, Alma Darling, Janet Quinn, and Clarice Kidd.

Greens—Ivy Petrie, Ivah Hendren, Eva McIlmoyle, Isabel Sutton, Audrey Cox, Helen Simpson.

A football game between teams captained by Sam Sherin and Russell Brookes closed the afternoon's programme.

The jumping and vaulting events will be run off next week, as there was no time for them on Thursday.

QUEEN'S GIVEN SHARE OF KHAKI COLLEGE FUNDS.

KINGSTON, October 14 (Canadian Press).—Queen's has recently received a share of the money left over from the administration of the Khaki College. This money is to constitute "The Khaki University and Y.M.C.A. Memorial Fund," and the interest to be used to establish scholarships until the title. For the present, however, the University is authorised to use the principal sum for loans to soldier students who saw service overseas, and who are in actual need of money to complete their course, it being understood that when the loans are returned, the money will be invested and the income used for scholarships as stated above.

LARGE REGISTRATION OF WOMEN AT QUEEN'S.

KINGSTON, October 14 (Canadian Press). — A record registration of women in Arts is a notable feature of the enrollment for the 1922 session at Queen's University. Up to date over 235 girls have entered, and it is said that the women students who are intending to start in at Christmas will bring the total for the season up to 250. The freshette year is unusually large, totalling 94.

During the war there was one year with a larger registration of women, but included in the number were many who were training for teachers at the Faculty of Education. The enrollment of women that year reached 263, but this number included about forty Faculty of Education students.

ST. LAWRENCE FLOUR REPORTS UNFAVOURABLE YEAR

MONTREAL, October 14 (Canadian Press). — The annual statement of the St. Lawrence Flour Mills Company, Limited, given out yesterday, reflects the unfavourable conditions that have operated in the trade for the year to 31st August last covred by the statement. Profits are are shown at $147,801, as compared with $215,077 a year ago. SAYS GREY WOULD FORM ALTERNATIVE OPPOSITION

LONDON, October 14. Canadian Press Cable. — Speaking at Llandudno, C. A. McCurdy, the chief coalition whip, referred to the plans attributed to Viscount Grey, to form a new coalition of men of all parties dissatisfied with the present government.

He said that Viscount Grey's ambition aparently was confined to the organization of an alternative opposition for he had expressly disclaimed a desire to form an alternative government. Lord Robert Cecil would it appeared, carry the new idea further, for he was prepared to form an alternative government.

"I ask Viscount Grey and Lord Cecil whether there will be a corner for Mr. Asquith in this new coalition," continued the speaker.

for the occasion. After the usual routine business had been disposed of, progressive euchre and other games, followed later on by dancing, were indulged in and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

A pleasant surprise was provided for Mrs. P. I. Bentley, when a Past Noble Grand's jewel was presented to her by Mrs. Watt, of Peterborough, who is the vice-president of the Rebekah Association of Ontario.

Refreshments in the form of a chicken supper brought a very delightful evening to a fitting close, the guests leaving for home after midnight.

The death of the late Mrs. John Hutchison on Saturday, October 8th, removes one of the oldest residents of Cavan township. Mrs. Hutchison, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Scott Thompson, was born in the Thompson homestead standing at what is now known as Coe's Corners, and her grandfather, the Rev. John Thompson, was the first rector of Cavan, and built the first Anglican church in the township on the site where St. John's church now stands.

Practically all her married life was spent on the present homestead, 7th line, Cavan, where she proved a splendid helpmeet to her husband, when the great task was undertaken of clearing and cultivating the land, building the house, barn, and other outbuildings, fences, etc., and where she died in her seventy-fourth year.

Besides her husband, who is now in his eighty-first year, she leaves to mourn her loss, four daughters, Mrs. (Col.) Earcheman of Kemptville, Mrs. C. M. Miller of Boston, Mrs. Edgar Fallis, Cavan, and Miss Essie, at home and five sons, Louis J. of the Agricultural College, Winnipeg, Oscar and Roy, of Kemptville, Matthew G. of Seattle, Wash. ,and Herbert B., of Olympia, Wash.; all the children except the last two named were home for the funeral. Two other sons died in infancy.

The funeral took place from the family homestead, 7th line, Cavan, on Tuesday, October 11th, at 3.30 p. m., and was very largely attended. The service at the house at 2 p.m. was in charge of Rev. Canon Allen, assisted by Rev. Major Spencer, and the pall-bearers were two son-in-laws, Messrs. Colonel Earchman and Edgar Fallis, and four nephews, Messrs. Sidney and Fred Hutchison, of Cavan, W. J. Hutchison of Millbrook, and Mr. David Thompson, of Valentia. Many beautiful floral tributes weer received, showing the loving esteem in which the deceased was held by a large circle of friends and relatives. Interment took place in St. John's cemetery.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Robert Lancashire, one of the oldest residents of Millbrook, who died on Sunday, October 9th, at the age of eighty-seven years and nine months, took place from the family residence, King street, on Tuesday, October 11th ,the service at the house being at 1 p.m.

The funeral was in charge of Rev. Canon Allen, a life-long friend of the deceased, assisted by Rev. G. S. Gervan, of Grace Presbyterian church, and the pallbearers were Messrs. Deyell Bros., of Omemee, Dr. B. C. Whyte, of Port Hope, Bruce and Douglas Fitzgerald of Toronto, and Mr. Joseph Lancashire of Cavan.

Interment took puace at the Presbyterian cemetery.

Mrs. Lancashire had lived in Millbrook for over sixty years and was twice married, first to Mr. James Sloan, of Millbrook, and afterwards to Mr. Robert Lancashire. Her maiden name was Ann Deyell and she was a sister of Mr. Robert Deyell, whose death occurred in the early summer of this year. She leaves to mourn her loss three daughters, Mrs. J. R. Eakins and Mrs. E. J. Whyte of Millbrook, and Mrs. J. R. Fitzgerald of Toronto. Also one son, Mr. Wesley Sloan, of Souris, Man., and two stepsons, Mr. A. Lancashire, Peterborough, and Mr. Joseph Lancashire, Cavan.

Always a staunch supporter of, and a faithful attendant at, her church, a good neighbor and a devoted Christian mother, Mrs. Lancashire has left the impress of a fine character not only on the lives of her family and their connections, but also upon the community life as well. The large number of citizens who attended her funeral showed the general desire to express a last tribute of respect.

Anaemia

Thin, watery blood is no more nourishing than thin, watery milk—skim milk.

But you can soon enrich thin blood, overcome the anaemic condition and build up the whole system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. F. G. Simmons, 42 Curtis St., Brantford, Ont., writes:

"For about eight years I suffered from anaemia. My circulation was poor, my gums and lips were pale, and my hands and feet were always cold. I was nervous and unable to sleep well. I had frequent headaches, seemed restless and easily worried or irritated. There was a buzzing sound in my ears. Indigestion was also one of my complaints, and I often was attacked by weak spells. I went to a doctor, who told me I was anaemic, but as I did not get any better I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after the first box I felt brighter and my headaches completely disappeared. I continued using the Nerve Food for quite a while. I am quite well now, and cheerfully and gratefully recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to people suffering as I did before I used this splendid medicine."

BUYING ONE DAY; SELLING THE NEXT

By JOHN GRAUDENZ.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

MOSCOW, Oct. 14.—Production in Russia has been increased more than 60 per cent. by introduction of the "collective payok," a new system which fixes a certain number of individual food rations for piece work, according to the newspaper Pravda.

This system also has reduced the number of workmen necessary for a specific job by 20 per cent., it was said. An example of how it operates would be to offer ten payoks for a certain kind of machine. These payoks would be given perhaps to five workmen, if they completed the same amount of work in an equal time.

The shortage of food and other commodities has developed the bargaining spirit among the Russian people to an unusual degree.

'Skolko?" (How must is it?) is a constant query at the Smolensky market, where there is on display about every known article from the most valuable jewelry to the cheapest tinware—new linen, second-hand clothing, silver coins, sewing machines, shoes, perfumes, religious shrines.

In addition to the regular stalls, there are hundreds of persons standing in seemingly unending lines, offering all kinds of goods. These are citizens selling their last personal property or peddling property for others.

"You don't need binoculars for seeing all the troubles in Russia," said one woman of whom the correspondent bought a pair for 50,000 rubles.

"There is nothing but poverty, despite the seeming business going on. Articles are only changing hands. Those who buy today probably will be forced to resell tomorrow. My family owned a big mansion before the revolution. Now we are compelled to sit in the open streets and sell all our things. When they are gone I don't know what will become of us."

The visitor learns quickly that whenever an article seems priced beyond its value, the thing to do is to turn away, saying "Dorogo" (too much). When the vendor calls you back, finally give him about 60 to 75 per cent. of the price originally asked.

SCIENCE OF KILLING SHOWN IN WORLD WAR

PARIS, Oct. 14.—(United Press).—Statistics just compiled by the Army Medical Service of the Ministry of War reveal the great advancement in the art of killing during the Great War. The statistics show that the proportion of men killed as compared to the total losses was 18.36 per cent.—that is, about one man killed of every four hit—which is much greater than any previous war.

Likewise, the figures show the vast advancement in the science of hygiene. The number dead from disease and sickness is only about one-sixth the number killed by enemy fire.

Killed by enemy fire	674,700
Died of wounds	250,000
Missing, presumed killed by fire	225,300
Dead of disease	175,000
Total dead	1,325,000

COING GETTING ROUGH FOR BIG FOOTBALL TEAM.

By Henry L. Farrell

(United Press Staff Correspondent).

NEW YORK, Oct. 14. — Getting away from the paved pikes of the early season, the big football elevens begin to hit the first of the hard going to-morrow.

Four interesting intersectional games feature the card in the east, while the west will watch with equal attention the first real conflicts of the "Big Ten."

From an intersectional standpoint, the battle between Harvard and Georgia, one of the ranking elevens of the Southern Conference, is the feature game of the day.

The south also will step onto the eastern stage when Tennessee meets Dartmouth at Hanover.

Colors of the middlewest will be carried against the east also at Pittsburgh, where Glenn Warner's famed Panthers will play the University of Cincinnati and at West Point, where the Cadets will oppose Wabash.

The biggest and perhaps the hardest fought battle of the day will be between Princeton at the Naval Academy at Annapolis. All the bitterness worked up in last year's battle, when "dirty football" was charged and counter-charged by both elevens, has been carried over. The midshipmen would take the same delight to trimming the Tigers that they do in beating the Army.

Yale has a comparatively easy game with Williams, and Penn is expecting no great trouble with Swarthmore. Penn State has a man-sized job with Lehigh, and the Syracuse-Brown game should be anything but a pink-tea engagement.

Ohio State and Minnesota have the banner attraction in the Western Conference. North-Western and Wisconsin, and Iowa and Illinois will furnish the other banner conference games. Notre Dame will mingle again with a "Big Ten" team by playing Purdue.

No important games are carded in the south. Centre has a soft opponent in St. Zavier's of Cincinnati, and Georgia Tech has the same in Furman.

New and Interesting Facts from Science and Life

Diagram Depicts the Size of a Heart Representing the Combined Bulk of all the Hearts in the World, and the Work Performed by the Combined Hearts in the Course of a Year.

How Your Heart Sets Your Pace

YOUR heart is your body's pace-maker. Anatomists explain that there is a small spot in the heart just where the big veins open into it, where there is some curious tissue, half muscle and half nerve. This acts as the "pace-maker" of the heart, controlling its rhythm. A touch of cold to this part slows the heart immediately. A bundle of the same kind of curious tissue branches through the heart and directs the beat to take place in the right sequence, so that the blood is received and pumped out and sent circulating through the vessel.

Disease either of this "pace-maker" or bundle can cause curious disturbances of the heart's action, which are nowadays recorded electrically. Each beat of the heart is accompanied by an electrical current set up in the heart, and by putting the hands, or hands and feet, in vessels of salt water, and leading off from these to a suitable electrical current-recorder, photographs are obtained which indicate the normal or abnormal character of the heart-beat.

Heart muscle taken from an embryo chick, in the early stage of its incubation, can be cultivated in the clear liquid part of the chicken's blood, which must be renewed daily and kept at body temperature. Such heart muscle has been kept growing for several years in a laboratory.

The muscle fibers so grown have continued to contract rhythmically. There seems no end to the life of such muscles, so long as the culture is kept going, and just as the vestal virgins attended the sacred fire in ancient Rome, so a laboratory and attendants in America have been endowed to keep the chick's heart muscle going perpetually.

The case reported recently of a man whose heart went on beating for hours after his breathing had stopped has puzzled many persons, but not those familiar with such curious matters. The physician in attendance explained that the man's breathing stopped because of a tumor which obstructed the blood from circulating in that part of the brain which controlled the patient's breathing, and that artificial respiration was carried on and so the heart was kept beating.

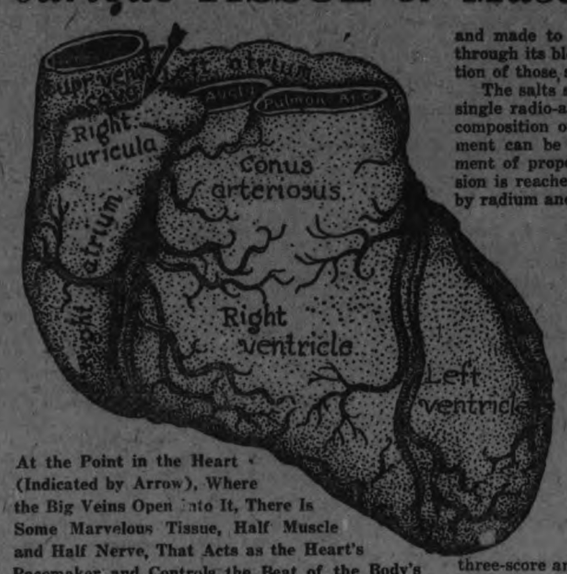
When all the muscles are relaxed, and the body gets cold, very little oxygen is used up; it thus came about that there was enough oxygen in the man's blood to keep his heart going for some time, even when the doctors gave him up as hopeless and ceased artificial respiration.

Physicians say that if a man, executed by hanging, were cut down at once and given artificial respiration, his heart and other organs, but not consciousness, might be kept alive for many hours. Thus students of medicine are able to study the functions of living organs, such as those of the heart in animals after their decapitation, the blood vessels in the neck being tied up to prevent loss of blood, and a tube put in the windpipe and connected with a bellows for the pumping in of air.

It is a remarkable fact that the heart cut out from a recently dead child was brought to life and made to beat for some days by circulating through its blood vessels a warm oxygenated solution of those salts which are present in the blood.

The salts solution must contain potassium, the single radio-active element which enters into the composition of the body. The place of this element can be taken by another radio-active element of proper strength, and the curious conclusion is reached that the wonderful rays given off by radium and similar elements are necessary for keeping the heart beating.

Curious TISSUE of Muscles and Nerves That CONTROLS the Body's PUMP



At the Point in the Heart (Indicated by Arrow), Where the Big Veins Open into It, There Is Some Marvelous Tissue, Half Muscle and Half Nerve, That Acts as the Heart's Pacemaker and Controls the Beat of the Body's Pumping Engine.

What a wonderful pumping engine is the human heart and what a mighty thing is the world's heart beat! From the cradle to the grave, its work is incessant—stupendous.

The accompanying drawing depicts the size of a heart representing the combined bulk of all the hearts in the world, and the work performed by the combined hearts in the course of a year. Within each human breast, this energetic organ is beating, on an average, about 75 times per minute, or 4500 times per hour. Accordingly, the hearts beats, approximately, 108,000 times daily, 39,000,000 times yearly, and during a lifetime of three-score and ten years, 2,700,000,000 times.

Estimating the population of the earth at 1,700,000,000 people, Charles Nevers Holmes, writing in The Scientific American, says that all the human hearts on the terrestrial planet are beating at the rate of approximately 127,000,000,000 times per minute, or 66 quadrillion times per year. That is to say, these 1,700,000,000 human hearts are throbbing at a rate of about 2,000,000,000 times per second.

The heart-engine contains four compartments, two auricles and two ventricles. The auricles are reservoirs, which supply the pumping ventricles with blood. Therefore, the dynamic energy of the human heart resides in the right and the left ventricles. When these ventricles contract, the right ventricle sends its supply of impure blood to be purified by the oxygen in the lungs, and the left ventricle forces its supply of purified blood to circulate in the body. When the "heart beats," that is, when the right and left ventricles beat, an average of about 10 cubic inches of blood is propelled from the heart engine. Thus in a minute, after 75 heart beats the energetic heart has pumped 750 cubic inches of blood. That means, according to Mr. Holmes's figures, that the heart pumps 45,000 cubic inches of blood per hour, 1,000,000 cubic inches of blood per day, and 392,000,000 cubic inches or more than 225,000 cubic feet of blood per year. Were the heart a water pump instead of a blood pump, it would expel, inasmuch as a cubic foot of water weighs about 62½ pounds, approximately 7000 tons of water, during the course of one year.

And this amount of work is accomplished by only a part of a small muscular organ about as big as the average human fist! It has been estimated that the left ventricle alone exercises sufficient pressure per square inch to support a column of blood nine feet in height, and that it performs daily an amount of work equal to 90 foot-tons. Mr. Holmes estimates that if all the blood pumped by one heart-engine in one year could be collected in a cubical reservoir that reservoir would be about 61 feet in each of its three dimensions. Or, were it a circular water-tower, with a diameter of 50 feet, it would be somewhat more than 115 feet in height, and it would contain about 1,700,000 gallons.

CAN a RIVER FLOW UPHILL?

THE mountainous region in western Washington has many natural wonders, such as a disappearing lake, a stream larger at its source than it is miles lower down, and others, but none holds greater interest among tourists than "Evil Spirit Creek"—so named by Indians—the stream that seemingly flows uphill.

A few miles below its source this mysterious stream, which is described in The Illustrated World, enters a great hole in the side of a mountain, and nearly two miles away and—according to surveyors—about 20 feet higher than where it enters, it rushes out of another opening and plunges down the mountain side.

Curious ones who had wondered what became of the stream that entered the mountain, and also as to the source of the one that plunged out on the other side, re-sealed a number of empty cans, which they threw, together with some wooden boxes and tree branches, into the inflowing creek, and then hurried to the outflowing point. In a short time the cans, boxes and branches are said to have made their appearance in the outflowing stream.

Old timers in the region explain the phenomenon by stating that at some time in the past there must have been a deep lake among the peaks and that the overflow found its way through this rising tunnel, and when the lake went down, probably through some crevice, into an underground body of water, the tunnel, being filled full and air excluded, formed a natural siphon, so that the water plunging down the mountain side continued to pull the stream up grade. Scientists, however, maintain that if a natural siphon is formed by the tunnel, the orifice, according to physical law, must be lower than the level of the volume from which the supply is being drawn, and, therefore, the survey must be incorrect.

As the melting snows keep the inflowing stream of practically the same size at all times, it is a matter of conjecture what would happen if the supply of water should greatly increase. Some people are of the opinion that it would form another deep lake between the mountain peaks.

A Machine for Your Daily Run

RUNNING is very good for the health, but in these days of crowded cities a man can't run very far without having a policeman run after him and grab him by the shoulder; it looks suspicious.

You can have your daily run, however, if you get one of the new running machines such as is described in Popular Science Monthly, shown here. Instead of moving forward at each step you take, you remain in the same spot. The pathway slides backward on steel tracks located at the ends of the running machine.

How the Home-Trained Athlete Can Get All the Benefits of Running Without Moving Forward.

How FUEL Is MADE from MOLASSES

EXPERIMENTS just completed at Swathmore College have solved a 50-year old problem, and another waste product is made commercially valuable. This is a chemical process whereby fuel is produced from low-grade molasses Cuban planters have heretofore dumped into the ditch. As a result it is predicted that the production of sugar in Cuba will be considerably cheapened, as the cost of fuel has been one of the most serious problems of the industry. Planters have been dumping as useless tons of fuel they did not know how to use.

The new process has been developed at the college laboratories by Dr. Paul G. Hildebrandt. The process is still a secret, but it has been demonstrated that it is feasible and will furnish the Cuban sugar planters as much fuel as they need. Also, there is a by-product from this by-product fuel in the form of about 150 pounds of potash from each ton of molasses. Potash was one of the most valuable products Germany sent to the United States and other countries before the war, as the greatest known potash fields are in Alsace. The potash produced by the Swathmore process will be of great value in meeting the increased demand of the farmers for fertilizer.

At one time rum was made from the "blackstrap" molasses that is now being dumped into the ditches by the planters of Cuba. Even then it was worth only a few cents a gallon. After prohibition was adopted by the United States the molasses lost even this small value.

The commercial potash produced by the Swathmore process is almost as valuable as the fuel produced from the molasses. It is not only used by the farmers, but also is employed in the manufacture of certain chemicals and in soap making. Before the war potash imported from Germany was selling at about $75 a ton in this country. During the war potash was so hard to find and in such great demand that the price went up to as high as $1000 a ton.

All sorts of experiments were tried here to produce potash at a small cost, but none was particularly successful. The potash was produced because it had to be had, but the production was never a commercial success. Potash has been selling at from $250 to $350 a ton. For that reason the process by which potash is produced from heretofore discarded molasses may solve an important problem for the United States, as the cost of transportation from Cuba will be only a small part of the freight costs from Europe.

Colder Nearer the Sun

YOU would have thought that the nearer you get to the sun, the warmer the temperature becomes, wouldn't you? But this is by no means the case, as astronomers will assure you, for it is much colder closer to the sun when the latter is shining its brightest than it is on the earth.

This is proved by the fact that the highest mountains, even in tropical countries, are perpetually snow-capped. Were the heat there even of the same temperature as that of the plains beneath, the snow would soon disappear.

You know, too, that the higher an airman flies the more warmly clad he must be if he is not to suffer from cold.

The reason for this strange phenomenon, as scientists explain it, is that the rays of sunshine pierce through the upper layers of the atmosphere, which offer very little resistance to them.

Using VACCINE for TUBERCULOSIS

HAS science discovered a vaccine which will effectually prevent tuberculosis? After 18 years of research, Dr. Nathan Raw, president of the Tuberculosis Society of Great Britain, has announced to the Royal Society of Medicine that he believes he has been successful in this quest.

"We have reluctantly to admit," said Dr. Nathan Raw, "that we have not yet got a specific remedy which will effectively destroy in the body the tubercle bacilli which are the cause of the disease. But immunity to resist attack by virulent bacilli can be secured by producing an artificial active immunity in the tissues to the bacillus itself.

"There are two distinct types of tuberculosis," states Dr. Raw, "one human and one bovine, and the bacilli that cause them are antagonistic to one another. Bovine bacilli render human beings immune and vice versa.

From this discovery Dr. Raw started out to find a vaccine for the treatment and prevention of tuberculosis. His work began in 1902, when he attempted to find a vaccine that would protect—and in suitable cases—cure children.

Dr. Raw based his work on the discovery that the bacillus which causes pulmonary consumption is distinct from and antagonistic to the bovine bacillus that causes tuberculosis.

Dr. Raw found that cattle can be rendered immune to virulent bovine bacilli by a previous innoculation with virulent human bacilli. During his 18 years' work he concluded from observation of 10,000 tubercular cases that these two distinct bacilli cannot live in the body at the same time.

Further, he found that one disease produces an immunity to the other. On this account, in his treatment of cases, Dr. Raw always uses bovine vaccine for the treatment of human patients, and vice versa. Even in advanced cases he has observed great relief from his vaccine treatment.

Practically the same principle of vaccination as in the case of smallpox has been followed.

This object could only be achieved by slow and gradual work. The bacilli were sub-cultivated in the laboratory over a period of many years till the virulence was reduced to the necessary state of safety.

It has for a long time been the common belief that consumption is incurable. According to Dr. Raw, that is a mistake. A large percentage of the cases could be cured if they were taken in time in the early stages. But the treatment must be scientific and systematic.

Dr. Raw's new vaccine—which has already been used in a number of cases—is primarily a preventive vaccine. It will be most used in the cases of children whose parents, or the people they live with, are consumptive. For the disease is not hereditary, but is caused by direct contact with infected persons.

It is suggested by Dr. Raw that for a child the treatment for protection would be six injections of his vaccine at intervals of a week. Used as a cure the injections would be more frequent.

Dr. Raw points out that a number of children are infected with tuberculosis from milk, but this is not consumption proper. The actual result of this type of infection is disease in the joints and bones and spinal complaints.

To destroy the tubercle bacillus present in infected cows it is necessary to raise the milk to 190 degrees Fahrenheit, but in doing this the goodness of the milk is also destroyed.

Dr. Raw says that the only true way in which to eradicate the disease entirely is to destroy it in the cows. At present he can only claim to prevent its development, not to cure it.

America's OLDEST Wooden HOUSE

THE durability of wood as a building material is well exemplified in the old Quaker Meeting House at Easton, Maryland, which, according to William C. Poole in a contribution to American Forestry, is probably the oldest frame building standing in the United States—just where it was built and as it was built, without any change, additions or subtractions and with an authentic record since 1683. This plain building, in which have worshipped many of the leading people of Maryland from the time of William Penn and Lord Baltimore, is today practically a perfectly preserved reminder of the Quakers of colonial days of nearly two and a half centuries ago.

An occasional replacing of the shingles on the roof and of the weather-boarding are all the repairs this old structure has had. Its frame, inside wood work, and some of the weather-boarding are the same as when built about the same time that William Penn, who visited the building, was trading with the Indians and laying out Philadelphia. The white population of the entire country then was not half as many as now live in one of its third-class cities.

The old contract for the building reads: "To agree with ye carpenters for ye building of ye said house 60 foote long and 44 foote wide, and to be strong, substantial framed work, with good white oak sills and small joyst, and ye upper floors to be laid with plank and ye roof to be double raftered, and good principal rafters every ten foote, and to be double studded below, and to be well braced and windows convenient, and shutters, and good large stairs into ye chambers, which chambers are to be forty foote square at each end of ye house and twenty foote between them, and for other conveniences to be left to direction of ye aforesaid friends."

Any builder will wonder how these good folks could build two rooms forty feet square with twenty feet between them in a building sixty feet long. But the contract is clear and the building is open for inspection to see it. It is said that the only preservative used on the wood has been old-fashioned whitewash on the outside. Seven of the original plank seats and the woodwork inside have had no paint whatever. White oak, white pine, cypress and southern pine from the Maryland forests were the woods used.

Old Frame Quaker Meeting House That Was Built in the Year 1683 and Is Today in Practically a Perfect State of Preservation.

Making COTTON Fabrics FIREPROOF

COTTON duck is coming into such request these days that it is engaging the attention of government experts who would prolong its life by protecting it both from fire and from water. The extensive experiments which have been made along these lines have attracted much attention, especially from summer vacationists who go camping.

Canvas can be so treated with various waterproofing substances that it will withstand exposure to the weather for at least a year. Campers who wish tents that will withstand the elements, and owners of trucks who wish covers from which the water will run as from a duck's back will please take notice.

Many useful facts relating to the making of fabrics impervious to moisture are set forth in the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry. The results of extensive experiments are there reported by Messrs. F. P. Veitch and T. D. Jarrell of the bureau of chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington. The scientists built canopies of canvas and coated them with waterproofing materials made according to different formulae.

They found that the mixtures applied to wagon tops, hay covers, tents and awnings were all improved in water resistance by the addition of lead oleate. To three of these compounds they gave a rating of 100 per cent. They also decided that ordinary Bermudez asphalt is also an effective constituent of these formulae and fully as good as the lead oleate. There is no material difference, however, between Bermudez asphalt and the petroleum asphalt of commerce. The tests also indicated that beeswax is more effective as a waterproofing agent than any of the other hard waxes used, including paraffin and ceresin.

The high inflammability in fabrics has been the cause of many accidents and attempts have been made for a long time to impregnate these materials in such a manner as to guard against this danger. Many compounds have been used for rendering cloth waterproof and scientists are still busily engaged in perfecting various solutions.

The results of experiments in this direction are reported by Mr. R. L. Sibley of Elizabeth, N. J., a member of the American Chemical Society. He reports that of three types of fireproofing tested sodium tungstate had the least effect on the breaking strength of the fabric and, therefore, the least weakening action. He recommends 3.5 per cent. solution of sodium tungstate as an excellent fireproofing agent for the treatment of cotton fabric of which the breaking strength and wearing qualities must not be materially weakened.

BRITISH BRIEFS

A Beaconsfield (England) man, who keeps poultry in his orchard, missed one of his hens for two days He later discovered her sitting on a nest of grass beneath an apple tree. On lifting the hen he discovered that she had rolled a number of small apples into her nest and was trying to hatch them.

On July 25, the dead body of a woman named Lizzie Todd was discovered in a well at Balymullan Lisburn, less than half a mile from her home, which she had left, unobserved, early that morninfi, scantily attired. She had undergone an operation some weeks before and had since been under medical attention.

By the will of the late F. W. Pennefather, Rothsallogh, Co. Wicklow, formerly judge of the high court of New Zealand, £6,000 has been bequeathed to St. Columba's College, Rathfarnham, for entrance schoarships. This bequest is in addition to about £5,000 which was given by Mr. Pennefather during his lifetime.

"Mick" Collins, the commander of the Sinn Fein army, has been offered £10,000 for the story of his adventures; but he has definitely declined the offer on the ground that the time has not arrived for writing this story. He has, however, promised that when the time does come he will give the firm making the offer the first refusal.

A queer offering was made to the King at Jersey. Athelstan Riley, who is now the Seigneur de la Trinite by right of purchase, and by the same rights he has the obligation of offering two wild ducks to the Sovereign when His Majesty visit the Island. The mallards were duly presented on a silver salver, set tail to tail, with gilded beaks projecting over the edges.

EXPECT NEW ERA IN JAPAN FROM TRIP OF PRINCE

TOYKO. (By Mail to United Press)—With the return from Europe of the Crown Prince, Japan expects to enter upon a new era.

The trip abroad, the first of its kind undertaken by a member of a dynasty more than two thousand years old, is looked upon as a momentous event. The press is calling it as important as was the opening of Japan to foreign intercourse more than fifty years ago, and it expects as great results.

The Crown Prince the people feel, has brought home a vast store of knowledge from the countries which he was visited. The Japanese hope that from now on the Imperial throne will be brought closer to them.

The most conspicious change so far is the permission that photographs may be taken of the Crown Prince even when he is afoot. In the past he could be snapped only when he was in a carriage.

The people must take the initiative themselves, they must break down the wall which the reactionaries will seek to separate the people from the throne.

The reactionaries are led by old Prince Yamagata, and they are still powerful. They represent largely the miltary clans, and for this reason the present system of a sovereign aloof from the people to whom they may appeal directly and secretly is almost essential in their continuance in power.

Until now the Japanese people have regarded their rulers almost entirely in the light of divinities. They are not spoken of by name but always by their honoric titles. Now, however, a human element has entered into relation between the people and the Crown Prince. Besides being looked upon as a divine ruler, he is tremendously popular as a person.

LEITCH SISTERS MEET DEFEAT AGAIN.

PHILADELPHIA, October 11 (Canadian Press). — Miss Cecil Leitch, British, French, and Canadian women's golf champion, was defeated yesterday in the first round of match play for the Berthellyn Cup at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club, by Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R.I., one up.

Miss Collett outdrove Miss Leitch at nearly every hole, and her iron shots were more accurate.

Miss Edith Leitch, sister of the British and Canadian title-holder, also was eliminated in the first round —being defeated by Mrs. W. A. Gavin, New York, three up and one to play. Mrs. Gavin's card of 81 was a new women's record for the course.

I Want to Put Dollars In Your Pocket

There is no need to make a special trip to town for a load of chop if you have a Toronto Farm Engine and Grain Grinder of your own. And besides, it will save you a few cents on every bag.

Coarse or fine chop—for cattle or hogs—I would recommend the Toronto Grinder for efficiency and economy on your farm.

A Toronto Farm Engine, too, is a great labor saver. Attach it to your pulper, pump, cutting box, cream separator or fanning mill.

Think of the labor saved! It pays for itself in one winter.

I'll put dollars in your pocket if you'll come in and discuss Toronto Farm Equipment with me.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid" indigestion.

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

If a chef in a restaurant earns $20 a week, a waiter eighteen, and a cashier twenty, we wonder what does the coffee urn?

A HEEL RING

BY M. JESSIE LEITCH

After Mrs. Brown had been in bed for same weeks, having suffered a painful fracture she began to experience little shooting pains in her heel. It sounded foolish so she refrained from mentioning it.

Then the pain became quite marked. She was conscious of it most of the time and so she said something about it to the doctor who was doing his best to see that she got al the comfort possible in the lonely little shacktown that fringed civilization and trailed rather wanly across the western prairies.

"I hope youre not going to get a pressure sore there" he said. "Nature hasn't been so kind to you in the matter of flesh as to your husband." He smiled as he spoke at the big florid good-natured man who hung anxiously around the little bedroom.

"Her mother is coming to stay with us' said the stout man. "I was keeping it for a surprise but I reckon she'll get along to-night on the local that passes the tank over on the new railroad. I'm going over now to watch for the train. She will know what to do for that sore heel as well as that broken leg.'

And the plump Mr. Brown started rather heavily toward the door. Manlike having seen surprised tears of joy in his wife's eyes, he had turned away from them, because he did not know what to say.

But the doctor was thinking less of the impending visit than of the heel which he was examining. There was a red spot on it and the woman winced as his firm, kindly fingers pressed gently on the flesh about it.

"Frequent changes of position, to relieve the pressure on bony prominence make it possible to avoid these pressure sores." he said. "Not that you've got one yet" he added quickly seeing the woman's look of alarm. "But youre thin you know and it's a weary business lying in bed with a splint on. So we shall just make a little ring of cotton wool to ease up the pressure on this heel. And when your mother comes she will know how to ease up those aches and pains. Women are like magicians in a sick room discovering the weariness of those who have to lie in bed.'

The doctor was tying a thick piece of cotton batting into a small ring as he spoke. He wound this with a piece of bandage. The result looked like a big white doughnut made of cotton wool.

Having rubbed the woman's heel well with a lotion he took from his satchel and which was very cooling and smelled like witch hazel he powdered the ring generously with stearate of zinc, then placed the womans heel in the ring.

Thus the weight of her foot eased its pressure on her poor thin heel. And the thing called a pressure sore was avoided.

"Sometimes the elbows and even the back of your ears are troublesome when you have to lie long in bed in one position," he explained. "And your back usually gives trouble at the base of the spine. But we anticipated that with that rubber air ring."

The woman smiled. "The air ring under my back is fine" she said. "As long as it isn't too full of air."

some when you have to lie long in never be over-inflated." he said "Just enough air in them to make one rest comfortably upon them."

LIFE

Life is intensely interesting. There are enough mysteries in life to keep a man guessing, puzzled, saddened, gladdened, joyful, thankful and interested beyond all telling, even if he should live to be as old as Methusalah. He only needs his eyes annointed and to look in the right places, and life would never be dull, for in the sea, on the earth, in his own heart, in the Bible are puzzles, riddles and wonders beyond telling—beauties exquisite, love unspeakble and joy unspeakable and full of glory—and through, all and at the back of all, we sense a Presence we know and feel, the great mysterious God who is always drawing near, leading us on and then withdrawing Himself that in our hunger we may earnestly seek and find Him to the satisfaction and completion of our lives.

CLOVER HAY IS HARD TO GET

CLOVER HAY CROP ALMOST A FAILURE—MILLET BEING USED

Clover Hay because of the almost total failure of the clover crop is next to impossible to obtain this year. "I haven't seen a load on the market this year" said Market Clerk D. Maloney today. "There have been a good many people looking for clover but there doesn't seem to be any and there is very little in with the timothy."

Timothy is coming into the city steadily but not in tremendous quanitities. Farmers are having no trouble getting $30 a ton, and they say hay is the only thing there is any money in.

A good deal of difference of opinions exists on the merits of millet or Hungarian as a feed but some people seem to find it useful for cattle feed. Several loads have been sold on the market at $20 a ton and to meet the demand other loads are forthcoming.

FIRST SNOW FELL IN NORTH COUNTRY

APSLEY NEWS OF INTEREST—A NATURAL CURIOSITY DISCOVERED

APSLEY, October 14. — On Sunday morning, 9th inst., the first snow in noticeable quantity arrived, quite a heavy fall occurring, and to-day rain and snow have fallen for several hours.

The harvest festival was held in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening. The church was very prettily decorated, and a large congregation was present at the service, which was conducted by the Rev. W. Hall.

Mr. R. Lees, the Public School Inspector, was in the village last week on his periodical visit of inspection to the schools in this district.

The concert under the auspices of the Methodist Church, which should have been given on Friday last, was postponed until the 21st inst., on account of the heavy downpour of rain, which lasted for twenty-four hours.

The rebuilding of Brown's store is proceeding apace, in spite of the unfavourable weather. To-day a "raising bee" is being held, and the skeleton of the building is being erected.

A natural curiosity, of great interest ecclesiastically, has been discovered by Mr. Tom Tanner on his lot near Loon Lake, in the shape of a huge isolated rock of grey granite about ten feet high, eight feet wide, and ten feet thick. A vein of quartz a foot in width runs from top to bottom, with another of the same dimensions and character crossing it at right angles about one-third from the top, thus forming on the face of the rock an almost perfectly symmetrical cross, which stands out in bold contrast to the background of grey rock. Mr. Tanner thinks a great deal of his find, and declares he would not part with it for a thousand dollars.

Social and Personal.

Mr. R. C. Strickland was in the village yesterday, obviously viewing the prospect from a political standpoint.

The funeral of Mr. J. R. Selbirk, who died in Warsaw on Sunday last, was held at the Methodist Church on Tuesday, and was largely attended. The service was conducted by the Presbyterian minister from Warsaw. Interment took place in the cemetery.

Rev. C. Spence went to Lakefield on Friday for the christening of his grandson, Claude Mansel Shewen, at St. John's Church. The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Reid was christened at the same time.

Mrs. Spence returned home on Saturday after six weeks' stay with her daughter, Mrs. E. T. Shewen, at Lakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Windsor are spending a few days at Trout Lake for the salmon fishing.

Mr. Harry Tanner returned to Lakefield on Monday after spending a few weeks at home.

Mr. Walter Couch was at home for the week-end.

Threshing is practically finished in this neighbourhood. The result is poor—in most cases only about one-third of the amount of last year's yield being realised.

TRENT RIVER HAPPENINGS

TRENT RIVER, Oct. 14.— Mr. and Jas. Ford; Mr. and Mrs. Robinson; Mr. and Mrs. Harris; and Miss Newton, all of Cookville, are spending a few holidays at the Plummer cottage.

Mr. Jim Waldie returned yesterday from spending the past week at Toronto, visiting friends.

The choir is rehearsing for anniversary services.

Mrs. Roy Burgess has returned home to Toronto, after spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Paget, "Cedar Lodge".

Rev. F. O. Seymour attended the Bay of Quinte Conference at Peterboro, Friday and Saturday of last week.

Mr. McCune, proprietor of Pine Lodge estate, was down this week from Toronto.

The Day School re-opened yesterday morning after two day's holidays.

The first heavy frost came Wednesday night. The heavy rains have ceased and we hope for good weather the remainder of this month.

PRESENTATION TO MISS CHILDERHOSE

Miss Childerhose was presented with a handsome gold pendant by Miss Rose Maynard from her friends of the bundling department of the Boner-Worth Company, while Miss A. Barton read the following address

MR. NORMAN M. LASH ADDRESSED LOCAL ENGINEERING INSTITUTE

INCREASING TELEPHONE COSTS DUE TO LARGER VOLUME OF BUSINESS SAID SPEAKER.

Last night Norman M. Lash, chief engineer of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada addressed the Peterborough branch of Engineering Institute at their first meeting of the season Practically all the members heard Mr. Lash and other men, who are interested in affairs in the scientific realm filled the Chamber of Commerce Assembly room to capacity.

After spending a busy day in Peterborough yesterday, Mr. Lash was entertained at dinner by about 15 local engineers at the Empress Hotel.

President P. L. Allison presided at the meeting. G. O. Cameron, formerly local manager, now Bell Telephone publicity man, and for many years connected with the offairs of the engineering fraternity here, introduced Mr. Lash.

The Address

At the outset of his illustrated address on the Complex Nature of a Modern Telephone Company, Mr. N. M. Lash, Chief Engineer of the Bell Telephone Company, dealt a death blow to that well-known fallacy that as a telephone system needed, costs invariably go up and service should go down. As more subscribers are added and more intricate and expensive equipment is neded, costs invariably go up and not down. Increased traffic, with greater first cost, power consumption and maintenance charges, all contribute to this result. As towns grow, Mr. Lash showed, bigger switchboards, more expensive land and buildings are needed, with bigger power plant, more complicated apparatus, more extensive underground and cable systems and heavier traffic loads requiring more operators. Lines to subscribers are longer and cost installation and maintenance greater When a city requires more than one office, trunking facilities between them add greatly to cost.

Mr. Lash showed how in his department engineers plan 15 to 20 years in advance of a city's growth so that telephone facilities, especially underground and cable distribution, may keep pace with demand. The remarkable accuracy of these estimates was shown from the fact that it is necessary to dig up a conduit to increase its capacity. To keep ahead of demand, there must be a vast investment in spare plant—more for fast-growing than for slow communities

Long Distance Service

Mr. Lash next dealt with the wonderful development of the Long Distance system, citing cases in which open wire must soon give way to wires in cable to care for heavy demand. The actual productive talking time on long lines was constantly being increased as a measure of economy, and operating efficiency improved, but each advance along this line called for bigger expenditures in new equipment. The demand for longer and ever longer talks has meant great refinements in methods and acquired apparatus costing scores of thousands of dollars. It is only cumulative effect of scientific devices that makes such long talks possible. The problem is one of infinite delicacy—not of power- The standard must be kept high, else long talks would be impossible.

Mr. Lash emphasized the need for adequate rates for service if the public demands for extensions were to be met. It is only in the public interest that earnings should be such as always to attract new investors to put their money into the telephone business. The millions needed for extensions to meet demand could be secured in no other way.

Following Mr. Lash's talk some splendid moving pictures were shown that gave his audience a better apreciation of a telephone system than could be gained in any other way.

The Next Meeting

The engineers are looking forward eagerly to hearing Professor Peter Gillespie of Toronto University, and incidentally an old Peterborough boy, address them on the subject "Sewage disposal with particular reference to Peterbarough at the next meeting, October 27th.

LOCAL REGT. OPEN SEASON WITH SMOKER

PETERBORO' RANGERS START CAMPAIGN TO BRING REGIMENT UP TO OLD-TIME S RENGTd.

The re-organized Peterborough Rangers began their season's social activities last night with a smoker in the Band room attended by most of the rank and file of the regiment. This is the first thing of its kind attempted by the Regiment since the palmy pre-war days. Theold camaradie of the army which prevailed among officers and men last night was highly gratifying.

The entertainment provided was of a high order. Captain James Rollins, chaplain of the Regiment, presided. Short addresses urging the men to do everything to bring the Rangers up to standard and cherish the "esprit d'corps" of the fine old regiment were given by Lt.-Col. A. W. McPherson, officer commanding, and Lieut.-Col. E. B. Clegg, retired officer commanding. Captain Winterbottom also spoke briefly, encouraging the men to bring the regiment up to strength before inspection.

An excellent musical programme was given by the 57th Band, and humorous skits by Ted. Markham and Tom Brantford, the latter a vaudeville entertainer, card tricks by A. Thomas and musical numbers by Genio Duo, who with Tom Brantford, has been appearing at the Capitol Theatre, made a very attractive programme.

A Baseball Game.

One item on the programme that should be mentioned was an indoor baseball match between two chosen teams, one led by Capt. Winterbottom, the other by Capt. G. Dunkley. There was some doubt over the score, but both seemed agreed that it was a draw and 10-10 was somewhere close to the correct score.

The exact date of the annual inspection of the Regiment, which will likely be by General King, G.O.C., M.D. No. 3, is not known, but it will be some time the end of November or early in December. Every officer and every man is pledging himself to make a whole-hearted effort to bring in new recruits to have the regiment up to standard strength for inspection. At last night's smoker quite a few men signified their intention of joining and the officers are confident of a decided rally around the old flag.

With military actvities resumed again at the Armouries the facilites provided for the members' entertainment will be thrown wide open and these splendid adjuncts are expected to attract many men into the ranks. The bowling alleys and the rifle galleries, and shooting will also take place at the ranges. An indoor baseball league will be organized and the skating rink will be a big attraction this winter and will be open as soon as Jack Frost appears in earnest.

The members of the Regiment will have every privileeg in the Armouries and it should not be a dull winter for the Rangers. Smokers and social gatherings will be held from time to time and if the fine spirit that exists among officers and men prevails, the Reigment should soon attain its former prominence as one of the finest units in the Canadian militia.

CONGREGATIONAL DISPUTE BEFORE BAPTISTS TO-DAY

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Oct. 14. — One of the first important questions that will be threshed out at the 33rd annual meeting of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, which opened in this city to-day, has to do with Rev. T. T. Shields, of Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, and the sensational Congregational dispute that occurred last summer. Although local officers in charge of the convention would divulge nothing, it is expected that considerable time will be given over to a consideration of the matter, and some definite action on the part of the delegates will probably result.

Rev. Mr. Shields will attend the convention and will speak, it is reported.

The convention opened this afternoon with the registration of delegates and other preliminary work.

The McMaster University site question is billed for decision next Wednesday.

CANADA'S OPPOSITION TO RENEWING JAPANESE PACT IMPELLED CALL FOR PARLEY ON DISARMING FROM HARDING

DECISION REACHED SUDDENLY WHEN MEIGHEN CREATED DEADLOCK IN CONFERENCE OF DOMINION PREMIERS.

By A. L. BRADFORD,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
(Copyright, 1921, United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—In the far-reaching expanses of the Pacific and the Far East may be found the impelling cause that prompted President Harding to call the Washington Disarmament Conference.

To Washington the world looked for the actual step to bring the powers into conference to discuss means of meeting the demand of peoples everywhere for relief from the burden of maintaining ever-growing war machines.

The conference was not specially planned by the Harding Administration when it came into office.

The conclusion that the time was ripe came upon Hughes suddenly, with a culmination of world events, which threw the question up to the United States. A decision to call the conference forthwith was reached and executed swiftly by Harding and Hughes that same day, July 9.

The situation in which the two greatest nations of the world—the United States and Great Britain—found themselves last July, can be summed up briefly as follows:

These two leading powers, bound by natural ties of race, color and speech, were at the cross-roads. It was obvious that the plans of the far-away Empire of Japan were running counter to the principles and policies of the United States in the Pacific and the Far East. Was Great Britain, for reasons of political and commercial expediency, to continue this situation, and, undoubtedly thereby, aggravate it by pledging herself again in alliance with Japan, and so alligning herself indirectly against the United States in this dangerous situation

So, the crux of the situation which has resulted in the forthcoming Washington conference, narrowed down from the broad description of "the Pacific and the Far East," was Japan.

The Imperial conference of British Dominion Premiers was meeting in London with the heads of the home Government the latter part of June and in the early days of last July. And while there was never any public, confidential, direct or indirect statement to this effect by any administration spokesman, every well-informed newspaper correspondent in Washington knew that the United States Government was utterly opposed to a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance the principal question up for discussion in the Imperial conference.

When the Prime Ministers of the British Dominions went to London for the Imperial conference, Premier Meighen, of Canada, announced in no uncertain terms that Canada was opposed to a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, and that in this question Canada's interests lay with those of the United States.

Premier Hughes, of Australia, seemed to favor the alliance, while Premier Massey, of New Zealand, apparently was wavering between opposition to the alliance and favoring it. Premier Meighen remained adamant in his opposition to the alliance. He served notice on the British Government that if the alliance were renewed, he would take the question before the Canadian Parliament. For a Dominion to pass on a high question of Imperial British foreign policy was unheard of; it bordered almost on a declaration of independence, and the statesmen of the British Government were thrown into a fright.

The interests of the Pacific Dominions were in common with those of the United States in the Pacific and Far Eastern situation. As an example, did they not bar Japanese immigration from their shores as did the United States, with even more rigid restrictions?

There is no doubt that high officials of this Government were privately gratified at this attitude of the Dominion Premiers, and there is also no doubt that this Government, not officially, but in fact, was looking to the Dominion Premiers in London to save the situation. The following bit of significant and hitherto unpublished information shows the trend of the American Government's opinion in the days just preceding the calling of the Washington conference:

The question of creating a main battleship fleet in the Pacific, by concentrating either all or the most powerful of the American battleships on the west coast, was up for decision by President Harding and his Cabinet. Discussing this question with the writer one day, a high official of the Government said, in substance:

"I am strongly in favor of this move. It wouldn't be a step directed against Japan, but the question is simply one of insuring one's own house. Anyway, we are looking to the Dominion Premiers in London to protect our interests."

Because of the delicate diplomatic situation, this question is understood to have been passed upon by Secretary Hughes, and the Navy Department's plans are believed to have been moderated, so that only the newest and most powerful of the American dreadnaughts, the oil-burning types, were sent out to the Pacific Coast, to replace the older battleships. But, in effect, a main battleship fleet was regarded here as having been created in the Pacific.

During the meeting of the Imperial conference in London, Secretary Hughes is understood to have made plain to Great Britain, through the conversations here with British Ambassador Geddes and in similar conversations which Ambassador Harvey, acting on instructions from Washington, had in London with leaders of the British Goverument, the feeling of opposition in this country to the Anglo-Japanese Alliance.

Meanwhile, the British Government had ruled that the alliance, in accordance with its terms, was to continue automatically for another year, but there was no decision on its continuance for a future term of years.

Ambassador Harvey had been privately "feeling out" the British Government and representatives of other powers on the disarmament question, and soon after the Pacific and Far Eastern situation was being anxiously discussed. The two questions seemed to dove-tail into the present conference to be held here on these two great problems.

Later, Lord Curzon, the British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, conferred with Ambassador Harvey, and, recognizing the dilemma of his Government, is understood to have declared that Great Britain was ready to have a frank discussion of these questions with the United States. Harvey reported to Secretary Hughes that Great Britain was ready for a conference.

Hughes is understood to have received that cable on the morning of Saturday, July 9. Shortly after, he went to the White House with Harvey's dispatch. The direction to call the conference was reached in an hour's conference with President Harding. Hughes came away and sent his communications to the powers, stating the President was prepared to call a conference on limitation of armament and Pacific and Far Eastern problems, and asking if they would accept a formal invitation. The announcement to the press was made the next day.

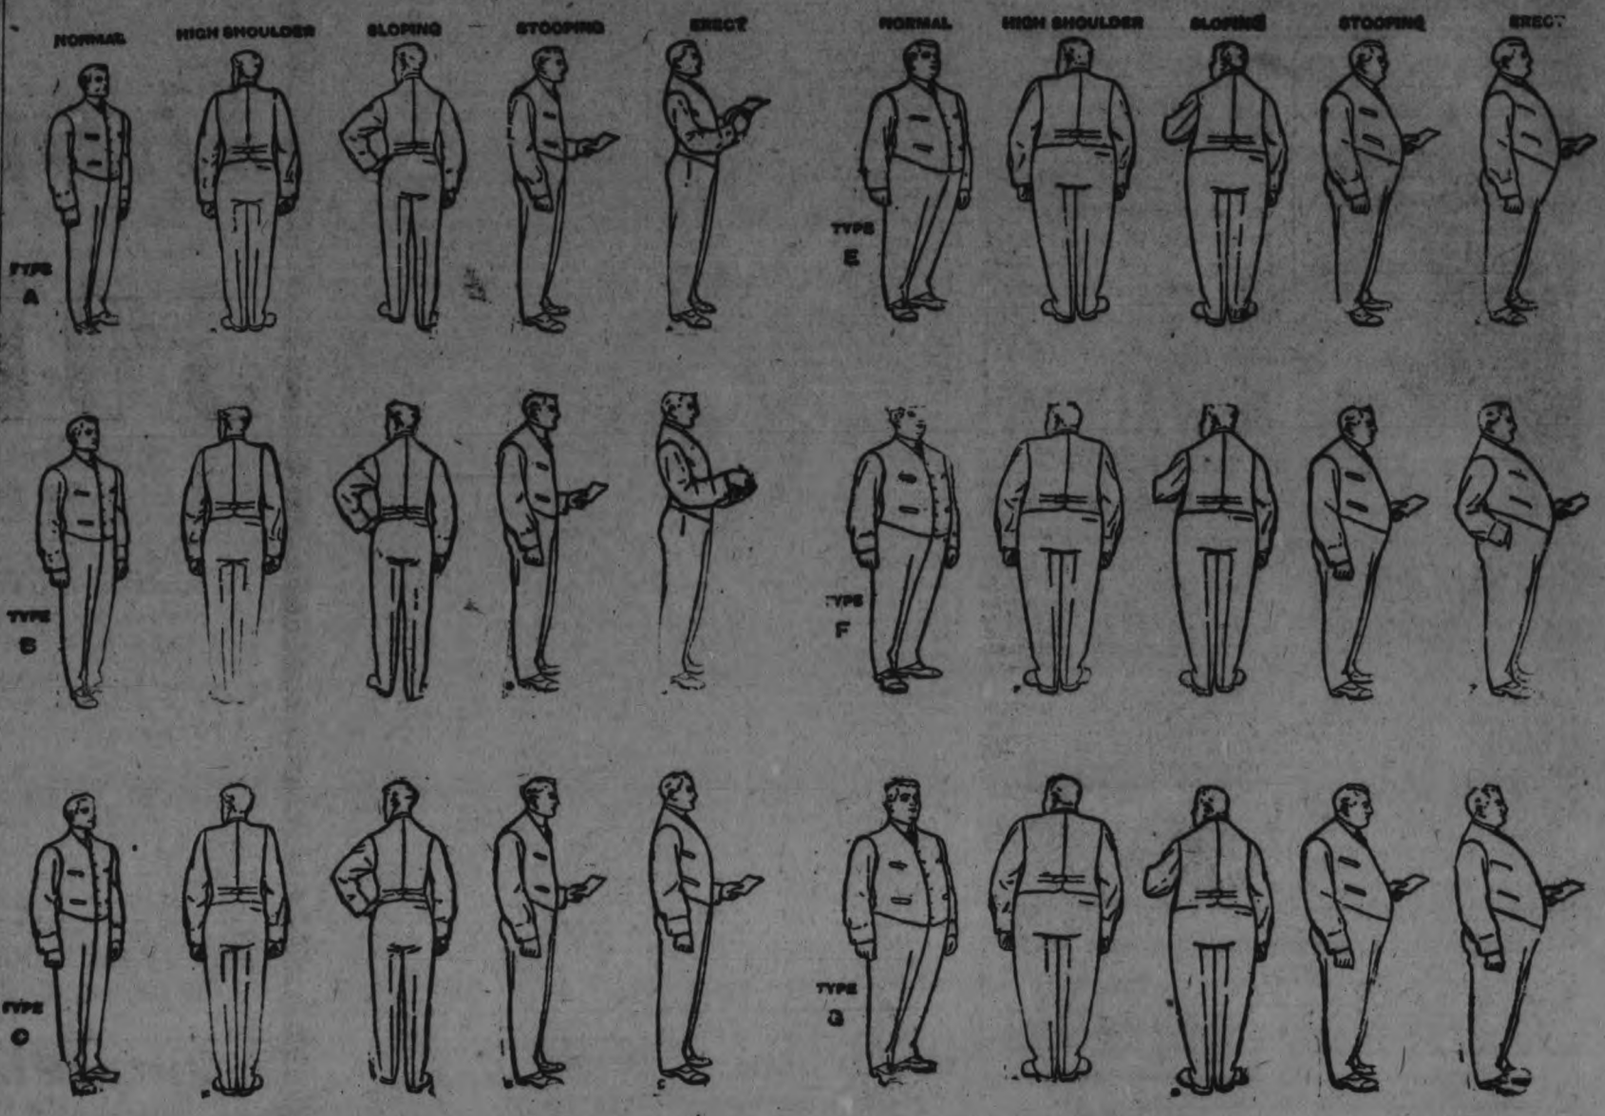
Founded on the Physique Type System: Semi-ready Tailored Clothes



WHEN Semi-ready Tailoring system was developed a quarter century ago, ready-made clothes had no standing.

A "ready-made" suit was derided—and deservedly so.

Small retail tailor shops then flourished in every block. An average of 10 or 20 suits a week means a big overhead expense; and a good suit was costly, while a "ready-made" was a sorry affair.

A man with any pretensions to neat dress would not twenty-five years ago think of going into a ready-made shop for his apparel.

The struggle then was all for cheapness. Manufacturers vied with each other to see how cheaply they could turn out a suit for a retailer to sell at $9.98 and still make a handsome profit on each sale. The inevitable trend was the sacrifice of quality and durability. The cheapest, tawdriest materials were used, and wherever any part of the work could be omitted without the buyer discovering the trick, the omission was considered quite in the game.

It was the idea that men were willing to pay a fair price for quality and good workmanship that was the basis of the Semi-ready policy.

The conception of the physique type system, which meant that every shape of man could have his own suit shapely designed to fit him, was, of course, the main idea. But this alone would not bring success to a new venture.

That shoes of the best leather were made in large factories and made better in style and in fitting quality than the ordinary bench shoemaker could make them had been proven. Then why not suits and overcoats?

Within a decade of the conception of the Semi-ready idea Canadians were considered the best dressed men in the civilized world. And they are today.

That men will pay a better price for what they know and feel to be a better article is true today and always. Intelligent men know that a good workman is worth more because his product is substantial and lasting.

The physique type system assures a well-fitting suit or outer garment. It is based on a physiological study of mankind—allowing for the physical shapes caused by occupation and environment. There are:

Semi-ready Suits designed for short slight men.

Semi-ready Suits for short, stout men.

Suits for tall men.

Suits for tall stout men.

Suits for fat men.

Naturally the designer has to make patterns to fit each variation of type—the Erect, the Stooping, the Sloping and the High Shoulder.

And when the suits are tailored to the try-on stage he must leave outlets for alterations to fit any variation from the type for which the garment is designed.

A suit designed for a coal miner, whose burly shoulders are abnormally developed, could not be made to fit an office man, or a man whose work has developed his hips rather than his shoulders.

It was quickly found that the most expensively woven woollens, the finest and purest wool cloths, could be made up into suits by the tailor in the Semi-ready Shops without any risk. They would find an admiring buyer.

No man who thinks wisely or who has taste and discrimination in clothes can but admit that the Semi-ready Shop can fulfil his most particular need.

This is "Semi-ready Week" in our store, where we make a special exhibition of to-day's new goods at to-day's low prices. The bottom has been reached.

Having Fun With Yourself

(By Mrs. J. E. Leslie).

"One is scarcely sensible of fatigue when he marches to music." That's what the old reader said—and it's true, as we all know. Then there was something about—he can march twice as far — the rest is gone.

There is another way of marching far without a sense of fatigue—or of passing the tedious hours of a long wait—or of a long train ride—thinking.

Everyone has some subject that is very near his heart, always. Sometimes it is one thing, sometimes another. Maybe it is a financial problem to work out; perhaps to initiate something new and original into his work; or thinking of a loved one; or possibly just a "pipe dream" that he would make real if he could; or maybe a memory that he likes to linger over and ponder on "what might have been."

Any one of these or a hundred others may furnish entrancing food for thought that will make the long distances and hours pass like magic — with no thought of tedium or fatigue — just as one can march to music without being sensible of the weariness that would overcome him in half the distance without rythmical assistance.

One who has never tried the thinking as a relief from fatigue, does not know how much fun he has missed having with himself.

Oftentimes the thinker will arrive at the end of his journey with a feeling of regret that the time isn't longer in which to finish his train of thought, and will look forward to the return journey as a means of completing what he has begun.

SPANISH COMBS TRIM HATS.

There is nothing more interesting in the domain of fashion to-day than the Spanish influence. It is particularly noticeable where millinery is concerned. High back combs reminiscent of those employed by the women of Spain to hold their lace mantillas trim the large velvet capeline and other hats. They are of tortoiseshell, ivory and coral, some inlaid with gold and simuli precious gems. These high combs are also seen in toreodor hats in alliance with lace veils. The narrow brim hats are crying loudly for these combs; sometimes they are posed at the back with a veil depending therefrom, or they are introduced beneath the brim on one side. Equally attractive are they when they form the decoration of turbans, as they are arranged at a certain angle which suggests their being worn in the hair.

THE VOGUE FOR FEATHERS.

Each day the vogue for feather-trimmed hats becomes more pronounced; as a matter of fact, it may be said to have crystallised. As previously stated in these columns, no woman, unless she desires to be regarded as a back number, will have anything to say to those that are members of the glycerined family. Lancer plumes with the fronds slightly waxed are "it"; they are shot, shaded, while others are endowed with the tints of the rainbow. An attempt is being made to revive hats of the Vigee Le Brun character, trimmed with a single plume. In striking contract to these are the small boat-shape hats. They are very narrow, with upstanding brims; the latter act as shelves for varied-shaped ostrich fronds. Ostrich fronds will this season be stripped from their stems and used as fringe, as well as being worked up into motifs surrounded with flowers.

HOW WOMEN AVOID SURGICAL OPERATIONS

Some Are Extremely Necessary, Others May Not Be

Every Woman Should Give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Trial First

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a female trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They all said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took 22 bottles, never missing a dose and at the end of that time I was perfectly well. I have never had occasion to take it again as I have been so well. I have a six room flat and do all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and you may publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to any one who wants a personal letter."—Mrs. E. H. HAYDOCK, 6824 St. Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill.

A Vermont woman adds her testimony to the long line of those fortunate women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after it had been decided an operation was necessary:

Burlington, Vt.—"I suffered with female trouble, and had a number of doctors who said that I would never be any better until I had an operation. I was so bad I could hardly walk across the floor and could not do a thing. My sister-in-law induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it certainly has helped me wonderfully. I keep house and do my work and have a small child. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to a number of my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. H. R. SHARON, Apple Tree Point Farm, Burlington, Vt.

In hospitals are many women who are there for surgical operations, and there is nothing a woman dreads more than the thought of an operation, and the long weary months of recovery and restoration to strength if it is successful.

It is very true that female troubles may through neglect reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but most of the commoner ailments of women are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same. When disturbing ailments first appear take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles. In fact, many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

KILLED INSURED WIVES

TOYKO. (By Mail to United Press)—During this period of hard times in Japan many devious methods are being resorted to for the purpose of obtaining money, and among those who are suffering the most are life insurance companies, a host of various insurance frauds being brought to light recently.

There have been several cases in which men insured their wives, poisoned them married new ones, poisoned them also and so ad libitum. The extreme looseness of Japanese marriage bonds makes this process very easy, and it seems to be becoming very popular, except possibly with the wives. A few days ago such a "Bluebeard" was arrested in Nagoya, just as he was collecting the premium on his fourth heavily insured wife.

A still more novel scheme is that practiced in northern Japan. Here the villagers have used insurance companies in order to obtain funds for village improvements. When a villager was about to die they would give some lusty lad the dying man's papers and have him insured in the dying man's name, and then gladly furnish evidence to complete the fraud.

SOUTH ONTARIO TEACHERS HERE

About 100 teachers from the South Ontario Inspectory arived in Peterboro yesterday in conection with their annual two-day convention or visitation of public schools. They spent the afternoon at the Normal school and held a conference with the staff there. Last evening they were entertained at the Prince of Wales school, by 75 teachers from the Normal, Collegiate Institute and the public schools of the city. This session was provided over by Mr. A. Mowat, and interesting short addresses were given by Inspector Hutcheson of Whitby, representing the visitors, by Mr. Duncan Walker, for the Normal School, and by Mr. L. J. An excellent musical proogramme was rendered by members of the teaching staff of the city, including Dr. Park, Miss E. Eagleson, the Misses C. M. Caldwell and M. Morrow and Mr. O. Steer.

After the meeting dainty refreshments were served by Mr. T. Hooper

To-day the visiting teachers divided into six groups, are visiting the six public schools of the city. They leave for thei rhomes this afternoon.

Several months ago Isadora went to Moscow to establish school to teach the Russian children impressionistic dancing, under the auspices of the Bolsheviks.

In a letter to Humanite, the Socialist newspaper here, Isadora writes "You ask my impressions. I can give only the impressions of an artist. I quit Europe, where Art is crushed by Commercialism. I am convinced that in Russia the greatest miracle in two thousand years is happening. HASTINGS NEWS

HASTINGS, Oct. 14.—On Monday evening, a very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Beamish, where the neighbors gathered together to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beamish to the neighborhood. Two handsome leather chairs were presented to them, accompanied by the following address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Beamish,—We, your friends and neighbors have gathered this evening to convey our congratulations. It is with great pleasure we welcome Mrs. Beamish as a young and happy bride as one of our neighbors. We sincerely trust, as the days pass, she may realize that she has many friends who appreciate her for the many splendid qualities which made her a general favorite in the community where she resided all her life.

We also extend to Mr. Beamish our continued esteem, for as one of our boys he has always had our highest regard for his many manly qualities. We trust you may both be spared many happy years of married life and that great blessing may be yours. We ask you to accept these two chairs, not for thier intrinsic value, but as a slight token of our good wishes for you both.

Signed on behalf of the community—M. Waddell, N. Rusaw.

Mr. Beamish replied on behalf of himself and bride, thanking all for the kindness shown to them. Lunch was then served and the remainder of the evening spent in music, etc.

NORTH MONAGHAN NEWS OF INTEREST

NORH MONAGHAN, Oct. 14.—On Tuesday evening, October 11th., the Home and School Association of May's School, North Monaghan, held its first meeting since June, in May's School.

It was an open meeting, and despite the weather, there was a fair turn out to encourage the children.

The display of work done by the children was worthy of much commendation, crochet, sewing and wool work were shown by the elder girls. There were boats, aeroplanes and similar bits of wood craft made by the boys and worthy of special mention was a small chicken house. Kindergarten and art work were greaty praised by those present, being the work of the younger children.

The most important event was the judging of the displays, and the awarding of first and second prizes to the lucky ones.

A few of the senior boys and girls took part in the programme.

Miss MacVannal of the Normal School staff, gave an excellent address, in which she emphasized co-operation among teachers, parents, and children.

Several new members were added to the roll.

LACE AND CREPE GOWN

The vogue for lace is a charming one, and for afternoon frocks, what could be prettier? The gown shown is a youthfully cut black canton crepe with wide sleeves and very long apron of black lace. The only note of color in the gown is introduced by a half sash of rose and silver which ties back the blouse.

Few Men Dread Death Itself

A PHYSICIAN of long experience told the Ohio State Journal the other day that, when the time comes, few men dread death itself for themselves.

What they do dread, he said, is leaving their families unprovided for.

He told of some sad scenes where men about to die repented bitterly of their failure, while yet there was time, to assure the future of those dependent on them for material support.

If your physician told you that there was "no hope for you," would you face the inevitable with the peace and calmness which only the knowledge that you have provided for the future comfort of your wife and children could bring? Or would you have fears and regrets?

Life is uncertain. Surely no man who really loves his wife and children will put off the duty of insuring his life? Procrastination has robbed many wives and families of the protection that they sorely needed.

The Mutual Life Agent is ready to assist you in determining the best possible policy for you to carry.

RATIONING WORK SUGGESTED PLAN

LONDON, Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press).—After a long discussion of the unemployment problem, the Manchester Chamber of Commerce has suggested that the Government enforce the system of rationing of work so as to spread it among the greatest number of workers. The Chamber also memorialized the Premier, remarking on the distinct improvement noticeable in the textile trade and urging the cancellation entirely, or partially, of inter-allied war indebtedness, in order to maintain this. It was also thought by the Chamber that while admitting the importance of a wise policy being maintained by banks, it was felt that caution was being carried in some directions to a greater degree than events justified.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

DON'T STAY GRAY—HERE'S AN OLD-TIME RECIPE THAT ANYBODY CAN APPLY

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to it's natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

"FLIES"

At a meeting of the Peterboro Chamber of Commerce, Mr. P. Westlye gave the appended address on "Flies." A similar address on "Mosquitoes" will be published to-morrow.

It has taken a comparatively short time for the public in general to grasp the idea that the housefly is the most dangerous wild animal on the North American continent. Unfortunately many places have no conception of the fly as an important factor in the National death rate.

A dozen years ago only a few scientists recognized the fly as a disease carrier. Its habits and its history were almost unknown. The question "Where do the Flies Come From," was regarded as an unimportant and somewhat humorous riddle, like "Where do all the pins go?" In the beginning of the 20th century scientists began to ask this question seriously.

What the enquirers found startled the world.

Early investigation under the direction of Dr. Edward Hatch of New York, proved that one of the flies' breeding places was in the sewage and the filth deposited along the river front by the tide.

Dr. D. D. Jackson found the germ of typhoid, tuberculosis and other diseases on the fet and bodeis of practically every fly trapped on the recreation piers in New York city.

Dr. L. O. Howard, Chief of the Bureau of Entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture, directed an investigation which also proved the affinity of the fly with filth.

Dr. Howard also pointed out that 12 generations of flies are produced in a single season. As one fly will lay 120 eggs, the result if all these should hatch would be appalling.

The proposition carried out by raising 120 to the 12th power (multiply 120 by itself 12 times) gives a total progeny from one single fly of over one billion, billion billion, or a figure with 28 numbers: 1,096,181,249,310,721,000,000,000,000.

As each female fly usualy lays four batches of eggs their unchecked development through twelve generations would make a mass of flies that waudl measure 268,778,165,861 cubic miles, or considerably more than the total mass of the earth. Such figures as these set forth to show how necessary it is to declare war on these pests.

Flies are the most dangerous insects known to men.

They are the filthiest of all vermins.

They are born in filth, live in filth, and carry filth with them.

They are magets before they are flies. One fly can carry and may deposit on our food 6,000,000 bacteria.

Flies may infect the food we eat. They come to our kitchen, and our dining room, fresh from the garbage can, from the manure pile, from the cuspidor, from the decaying animal or vegetable matter, or from the contagious sick room with that sort of filth on their feet and bodies, and there deposit it on our food and you swallow filth and germs if you eat food that has come in contact with flies.

Flies may infect you with tuberculosis, typhoid, scarlet fever, diptheria or other contagious diseases.

They have the habit of feasting on discharges from these sick with diseases, and they go direct to your food, to your drink, to the lips of your sleeping child, or perhaps to a small open wound on your hands or face.

When germs are deposited in milk they multiply very fast as milk contains all elements for their quick development. Therefore, milk should never be exposed to flies.

Screen your windows and doors early in the spring and keep them up until snow falls. Screen all food, particulary milk.

Do not eat food that has been in contact with flies.

Keep flies from the sick especially those ill with typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diptheria, and tuberculosis. Screen the patients bed. Kill every fly that enters the sick room. Disinfect all charges from the patient immediately.

Catch flies as fast as they appear. Use sticky flypaper and traps.

To quickly clear room of flies burn pyrethrum powder, or blow powder of black flag into the air of the room with a powder blower. This causes the flies to fall to the ground in a stunned condition. They must be gathered up and destroyed at once.

Eliminate the breathing place of flies.

Sprinkle chloride of lime over manure piles. Keep the manure in screened pit or vault if possible. All manure should be removed every week at least.

Pour keresome into the drains.

Keep sewage systems in good order.

Do not allow the dirt to accumulate in corners, behind doors, back of radiators or under stoves.

Allow no decaying matter of any sort to accumulate on or near your premises. No dirt, No flies.

The fly cannot develop from egg to fly in less than eight days. Therefore, if we clean up everything every week, and keep the manure screened we will have no flies.

Dr. W. E. Britton of the Connecticut Agriculture Expirement Station traced the enormous quantity of flies present in Connecticut towns and foud their presence there due to the manure, shipped from New York City to the farmers in Connecticut. In four ounces of this stuff there were found more than 700 fly magets.

In 1911, I believe, Dr. C. T. Nesbitt Health Officer of Wilmington, N.C. showed what could be done with systematic sanitation. He observed that the animal outbreak of typhoid fever coincided with the first crop of flies in the spring. Dr. Nesbitt decided to disenfect the whole town and keep it so thoroughly disinfect.d that the flies would become discouraged. A cheap disinfectant was found in pyroligneous acid, a biproduct of turpentine. This product was poured practically over every square inch of Wilmington betwen June 8th and July 17th four times.

The interesting and instructive lesson this clean up is in the Daily Record of typhoid cases. On June 1st. one case was reported. It reached a maximum on July 15th of (15) cases reported in a single day. After June 23rd. or four days, after the second disinfection was completed the number of new cases began to diminish until five cases in all appeared after July 10th., although the fourth disinfection of the town had not begun.

Dr. Ross, surgeon in the British Army says in the preface of his most interesting and valuable book, The Prevention of Malaria. The world requires at least 10 years to understand a new idea, however important or simple it may be. I believe he is right. Look back at history.

Let us start now and make Peterboro the cleanest city in the Dominion of Canada, and in this way make it the healthiest place to live in on this continent. Let us see to it that all children in Peterbor get plenty of clean milk and that it is kept clean after it arrives in the houses, more sanitary inspectors it is to good economy.

SEARCHING TUNNELS FOR $33,000,000

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 14.—(United Press.)— Two Colorado men, William Barker and Charles Lee, of Lake City, believe they are on the trail of $33,000,000 in gold and silver bars.

They believe that Treasure Peak, in the San Juan range of the Rockies is the secret cache of treasure taken by a band of Spaniards and Frenchmen hundreds of years ago. Both men declare they have found the shaft used by this band of Spaniards and Frenchmen.

At the bottom of the shaft, they claim, a stone tablet giving a complete description and diagram of how the treasure could be located, was found. Somewhere in the forgotten tunnels of Treasure Peak is hidden 3,516 large bars of gold and silver, according to the stone chart, and Baker and Lee expect to start their treasure hunt in the mountain at once.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with coated tongue, foul breath or a dull headache; or if your meals sour and ferment, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

To-morrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire ailmentary canal.

Those subject to headaches, backaches, bilious attacks, constipation or stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying the morning inside bath.

Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

FASHIONS IN BRIEF

Spangles, laces and ribbons express the mode for evening.

The white pique filet, frilled lingerie cuffs and jabot are very popular.

Beaded girdles are being used for the simplest cloth dress as well as for the most formal evening gowns.

Velvet and serge slip-on dresses for fall are made exactly like the linen slip-on dresses that have been so popular this summer.

The convenient little sport felt hat of gray or white or the ever substantial black may turn down or roll up to the suit ..., or the face beneath.

The straight sleeveless frock, drawn in by a loose sash, looks very well in serge or in velvet and makes a useful cold weather costume. The guimpe and sleeves may be of georgette or soft silk in the color of the slip-on frock. All edges of the latter are bound with silk braid to give a smart tailored look.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

"Experience" is the attraction at the Capitol this week, and a really beautiful production of the well-known play has been evolved by the producers. The story of Youth, with his manifold adventures in pursuit of Pleasure, his sojourn in the Primrose Path and the trials which befall his later poverty-stricken days are told against a background of fine scenes and with a wealth of gorgeous costuming to complete the pictured glories of the gay white way. Love is a charming maiden whose memory turns him from the more sordid aspects of his gradual retrogression and finally leads him back to safe anchorage.

There is a well-selected short-reel programme, and two excellent vaudeville offerings. Tom Brantford does some pleasing stunts in the whistling line, concluding with a unique imitation of a full brass band, and the Genio Duo are a clever pair; the lady with a clear, high soprano and the gentleman giving some fine selections on the accordion. Popular and semi-classical music, with a really exceptional rendition of "The Glowworm" are included in their programme.

AT THE ALLEN.

The Allen Theatre has a good programme for the last half of the week. The feature is a drama of the tangled domestic life of the average rich American. Kathlyn Wiliams plays the part of Frances Osborn, the temperamental wife of a multi-millionaire who gives her all the money she wants and no attention. Her search for happiness away from home leads her into the clutches of two adventurers who later attempt to blackmail her, but the faith and triumphant innocence of her daughter plays a successful part in the defeat of well-laid evil plans. "A Man's Home" is a problem play with a logically happy ending that will hold the interest of its audience from start to finish.

"Ready to Serve" is a screaming farce which brings forth spontaneous merriment from all who see it. It features the Humanzee, with the interest centreing around Snooky, the ingenious farm hand, and holds some genuine thrills as well as laughs.

The Allen Weekly, a thrilling chapter of the Tarzan serial and the "Half Moon" overture by the Allan orchestra complete a well-selected programme.

AT THE GRAND.

"A FORTUNE HUNTER."
At the Grand on Monday Night.

When "our" stock company returns on Monday night, a play will be given which will please everybody—it is a foregone conclusion—and looking over some press notices of the show I see that many people now in the company received the highest praise from critics. Zana Vaughn is charming as a pretty young girl deprived of much that makes life worth while to the feminine heart. "Rex" as the Fortune Hunter, happens into the little town where there is one rotten hotel, six stores, twelve churches and fourteen saloons. The situation is interesting—the stranger is blessed with a pleasing way—a charming manner—Betty and the other girls are longing for fun, for gaiety and something more thrilling than 'Sunday dinner' with spring chicken at high noon. Can't you just imagine the complications The "waster" makes good, the girls who are acknowledged village beles find that the oft patronized and sometimes despised little Betty makes a far greater hit with the good looking stranger than do their own seemingly potent but sophistical charms. Everybody in the cast is well suited for their roles, the Clever Seymour and Williams team entertain between acts and the Park kiddies as usual perform like veteran little vaudeville artists.

LAURA.

"SOME GIRL" IS MAKING BIG HIT

At the Grand Opera House this week in place of the usual acceptable stock company production there is presented the very latest musical comedy in "Some Girl" It is several months since the theatre-going public of Hamilton has had the opportunity of seeing any kind of a musical comedy let alone one in the "Some Girl" class. Is it any wonder, then, that the Grand was packed last night to capacity and gives every indication of being patronized to this extent during the remaining performances? But "Some Girl" is by no means the kind of production which must rely for its success on the wact that its patrons have long starved for this class of entertainment. It is a sure fire hit in the real sense of the expression. Not only are the usual attractions of musical comedy present but in addition there are enough novelties introduced to make "Some Girl" deserving of the reputation it has earned as the first of the long awaited "something new in musical comedy" productions. The scenery is remarkable for its beauty and freshness. The costumes are new and dainty, especially those worn by Gudrun Walberg as Babetie, the chief character in the play. Her graceful dancing cannot fail to satisfy the most exacting in this respect. Miss Walberg is not only an accomplished dancer but she has a voice of unusual sweetness.

HOW THE BOLSHEVIKI FISH FOR SETTLERS.

LONDON, Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press).—How the Bolsheviki forged letters to settlers in British Dominions, inducing them to go to Russia, is narrated by a number of Dominion refugees who have returned to England. One of these, Harry Buxman, of Winnipeg, stated that letters received by him set forth that Russia was a land flowing with milk and boney. When he got to Russia he found the letters were forgeries.

Letters to his friends had been stopped on the border of Russia by the Bolsheviki and re-written.

INTERVIEW WITH MISS M. SURTEES

ACTRESS LOVES CANADA—WILL PLAY AT GRAND TO-NIGHT

"I love Canada—it is a wonderful country, the travelling people do amaze me and the distances! Words fail to express the tone of surprised admiration used by Miss Surtees to express her idea of the jumps between cities in which she gives only one performance. After all, every European, except perhaps Russians, has to become accustomed to our vast territory and in nearly every instance we hear correspondingly nice remarks about our trains and traveling accommodations. Miss Surtees, told me so frankly, so pleasantly of her private life that I found myself listening intently. She was born at Newcastle-on-Tyne and as far as she knows had no relations on the stage or connected with it. Very early in life—in fact when a mere child she determined to become an actress, her ambition being fulfilled when at sixteen she had an opportunity to go in a Stock Company. "My mother wept bitterly," she said, when I told her I had taken the engagement but the manager assured her I would be all right and shortly after my family went out to Australia. Strangely enough I was very successful and the following year, my manager took me to Australia and New Zealand as his leading woman. For five years thereafter I toured the Dominions starring in "Peg 'O My Heart", "Sundays", and several other popular successes. I returned to England via San Francisco only last summer and presently was offered this opportunity by Mr. and Mrs. Coburn. "You ask me if I liked the proposed tour". Much as I love my dear little flat in London and my old housekeeper, I was delighted because I love my part, the company is thoroughly congenial and the dear Coburns sent me to Paris to choose my wardrobe. And they are beautiful gowns you know—all made by Iribe." Miss Surtees told me of her great friend in New York with whom she stays about her beautiful apartment on Riverside Drive and how she nicknamed her "my American Mother". Tramping "my American Mother". Tramping, healthy, good amusement appeals to this clever Ittle Englishwoman, who works hard, plays hard and who radiates charm, good humour and entusiasm

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—I had the pleasure to be present at the meeting at the Board of Commerce Raoms Tuesday last, the 11th. and to listen to the very instructive and interesting address by Mr. P. P. Westbye on mosquitoes, milk and flies.

I was factory inspector under the Workmen's Compensation Board for five years, from 1915 to the end of 1920 ,and in the capacity it was my duty also to inspect a number of pasteurisation plants in this Province, in reference to mechanical and safety devices.

I wish to substantiate Mr Westbye's statement in reference to dirt taken out of the milk in the filters before it enters the pasteurisation process. I actually saw small piles of manure, flies, bugs and even a dead rat, taken out from the filter. In my opinion all milk should be pasteurized, in particular milk consumed by children.

THOMAS WILSON.
15 Front, Street, Hull, Que.

It is said that Canadians are very slow to appreciate the vast heritage they have in undeveloped resources.

This is especially true of the mineral and oil resources. Canadian's stand aside and let American and British capital reap the big rewards of pioneer work in this field.

In connection with the Central Ontario Oil fields, Mr. Shoner, a student in geology, told me at time of exhibition that the Fort Norman field would not be a permanent producer as at that point the cap was so worn off by the glaciers, that the big body of oil once there would have seeped or leaked away and the accounted for the quantities of oil seen in water, etc., in the district but that other parts of the great Peace River District and Alberta would show great producers.

This has exactly happened in Fort Norman.

This same authority is one of the Ontario Central Oil Companys most enthusiastic advisors and share holders. He claims we are in it big.

I think it is due the public to know this.

ELECTION NEWS

COMPARES MEIGHEN TO LENINE AND TROTSKY

MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press.)—"The only difference between Premier Meighen and Nikola Lenine and Leon Trotsky, is that the latter used physical violence to retain power while Mr. Meighen used legislative violence," declared Hon. Mackenzie King here last night. James Murdock, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railwaymen, was on the Liberal leader's platform and urged support of the Liberals.

MEIGHEN REITERATES PROTECTION POLICY

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—"All we have to fear is our own folly and our own politics," said Premier Meighen here tonight, "and if we stand together and fight the foes of protective tariff in the open we will get to the door of good times faster than any other country in the world."

DR. MANION DENIES DUFF'S ALLEGATIONS.

OTTAWA, October 14 (Canadian Press). — Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, made a statement last night denying the assertion of William Duff, of Lunenburg, that he had claimed that the tariff was not an issue in the forthcoming election. Dr. Manion said that he had been misquoted by Mr. Duff. "As a matter of fact," said Dr. Manion, "I consider the tariff the all-important issue before the people of the country in this election."

TARIFF TO PROTECT THE CONSUMER, KING ASKS

SUMMERSIDE, Oct. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Speaking here last night Hon. Mr. King, Liberal leader, denied that the issue in the coming federal election was between protection and free trade. "We stand for the tariff", he declared, "but one that will protect interests of the producers and consumers in Canada and not a few privileged interests."

FARMERS DEADLOCKED.

FENTICTON, B. C., Oct. 13. — (Canadian Press).—The convention of Farmers which met here Tuesday, and continued yesterday, has ended in a deadlock, and it appears doubtful if a Farmer candidate will be nominated at all. LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 14. — (Canadan Press.)—Jeanette Rankin, owned by George E. Dudley, of Youngstown, Ohio, made it a double on the Lexington Grand Circuit meeting here yesterday afternoon when she accounted for the Ashland 2:11 trot in straight heats, beating her field by a comfortable margin in both miles. The winner trotted the two heats in 2:0s and 2:05 1-4.

RUGBY UNION MEETS TO HEAR PROTEST

OTTAWA, Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press.)— A special meeting of the Interprovincial Rugby Union will be held in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on Saturday night at 8 p.m. The reason for the meeting is to hear the protest of the Hamilton Tigers against the decision of Referee Percy Roberts in Saturday's game here. They claim that Burton crossed the line for a touch and that Roberts over-ruled the touch line judges and called the play on the good side of the Senator line. President George Church will be in charge, and Eddie Emerson, King Clancy and Secretary Charlie Snelling will be in attendance in the interests of the Ottawa Club.

LAST NIGHT'S SKATING CONTEST

BROCK STREET SKATING ACADEMY CROWDED WITH SKATERS LAST NIGHT—THE RESULTS.

Last night's skating contest for ladies skating alone and in pairs brought out a very large number of good lady skaters, and the judges, Mr. C. E. Cummer, manager of the Merchants' Bank, Mr. E. V. Warne, Jeweller, with Mrs. Cummer and Mrs. Warne, found the task of picking the three best skaters in the different classes a difficult one. The following were selected:

Ladies Skating Alone— Mrs. George Henry, Mrs. J. Murray, Mrs. T. O'Connor.

Ladies Skating in Couples—Miss Mesley and Miss Cuff, Miss A. Spenceley and Miss B. Collins, Miss A. Simpson and Miss M. Hill.

The above ladies, with the best three selected on Tuesday night from the other classes, will compete in the finals on Saturday night, when the awards will be made.

There are some exceptionally good skaters beginners this year and those who desire to learn will receive every attention in the afternoons until they are competent skaters.

ANOTHER RUN FOR HARRIERS

All the harriers who intend entering the Thanksgiving Day race or races, are reminded that Charlie Thorpe is having aonther work-out to-night and they must not fail to be hand prepared to run. The coach would like to see a few more juniors out as the classification of all over 18 as seniors has swelled the ranks of the seniors to exceed the juniors.

Outside of the fact that a race will be held plans are in a very tentative stage, but it is expected that in a few days a definite announcement will be forthcoming. A free-for-all race of five miles is being mooted now, with separate prizes for seniors and juniors and is finding favour in some quarters. All entries for the races are to be made to C. Thorpe or D. Loomis before Saturday night, Oct. 29th, so there will be no confusion at the last minute.

Local sportsmen who are behind the race feel that merchants will give every co-operation in the matter of prizes and an active campaign to secure a fine prize list will be started shortly, it is said.

The Y.M.C.A. is actively co-operating and its doors have been thrown open to all harriers. Runners are reminded again to meet there at 8 p.m. to-night. Monday night there was a good run but to-night's will be more intensive.

TWO MORE DIE IN RUM-RUNNER FEUD

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.— (United Press.) —New York's bootleggers' war blazed out again to-day with a dozen gunmen on the open hunt for the slayer of "Diamond Joe" Peppe. Two more victims, making 21 in all, were added to the death list of the rum runners' feul yesterday, when Peppe, who had made half a million dollars out of "the trade," was shot to death in "Little Italy," after a running revolver battle. A stray bullet pierced the heart of a bystander.

Joe Peppe "squealed and they got him" was the verdict of his enemies in the Harlem underworld today. The notorious bootegger had just been released by the police. Peppe had lieutenants and such friends as the underworld allows, and they are gunning for his slayer to-day.

TWO RUGBY GAMES RIVERSIDE PARK

On Saturday, Oct. 15 there will be two games of Rugby at Riverside Park. The Lakefield team willl play the Collegiate second team and the Old Boys will play the school first team. These are exhibition games. The schedule for the Senior school team has not been definitely decided yet, but it is expected that Belleville will play here the following Saturday. The P.A.A. are backing the Rugby at the school. The expenses will likely exceed the receipts and so the public are asked to support the team by their attendance at all the games. The games Saturday are exhibition matches and a big crowd is expected to be out to see the boys play and help rugby in Peterborough.

Since Riverside Park is still privately owned, and will not be taken over by the city until the first of the year, a charge of $5 is asked for the grounds for these games, which will be paid by the P.A.A. This paying for the grounds will be an added item to the expenses for all future games, so that this will help to stop it from being made into a paying proposition.

The teams are all ready for the games Saturday and had a stiff signal practice last night and will have another one this evening, which will, it is hoped, put both teams in a perfectly smooth running shape.

The line-ups for the games are:

Juniors.

Centre—W. Cormack.
Inside wings — C. Parrington, Bradburn.
Middle wings—Bookhout, Cowan.
Outside wings—E. Johnston, McClellan.
Half-backs—Sims, Stevens.
Full back—Grimes.
Quarter—H. Young.
Flying wing—Manning.

Seniors.

Centre—Breyfogle.
Inside wings—Stacey, Fleming.
Middle wings — Eastwood, Gilchrist.
Outside wings—Rishor, Legon.
Half-backs—Brown, Fanning.
Full back—T. Maniece.
Flying wing—Ridpath.
Quarter-back—D. Young.

Admission to Saturday's game will be 15 cents. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

IN MEMORIAM.

FAGAN.—In loving remembrance of Albert Edward Fagan, who died Oct. 14, 1918.

"Three years have gone, our hearts still sore,
As time rolls on we miss him more;
There is a link death cannot sever,
For love and remembrance last forever."

—From Father, Brother and Sister.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mr. W. E. Scully, who departed this life Oct. 14th, 1920:

As time rolls on, we miss him more.
A loving husband and father kind,
Forever in our hearts enshrined.
Passed beyond all grief and pain
Death for thee is truest gain.

For our loss we must not weep
Nor our loved one long to keep
From the home of rest and peace
Where all sin and sorrow cease.

Safely, safely gathered in
No more sorrow, no more sin.
God has called thee from our side
Within his keeping to abide.

Waiting for us, up above
Resting in the Saviour's love,
We'll meet again on the golden shore
A united family forever more.

HEAVY DAMAGE IN EXPLOSION OF GENERATOR

BY-STANDERS CONSIDER ESCAPES AS MIRACULOUS

An official estimate places the damage caused by the explosion of the huge generator while being tested in the Canadian General Electric plant yesterday noon at about $150,000. The generator is completely wrecked, the machinery in the immediate vicinity of the spot where the accident occurred is seriously damaged, and the records and delicate instruments of the test department are destroyed.

The generator is said to have weighed between 18 and 20 tons, and was being operated at 100 per cent. over speed, about 1,000 revolutions per minute, when the casting gave way. This means, an engineer told The Examiner, that a given point on the machine was travelling at the rate of approximately four miles an hour. Thus, when the accident occurred, 18 tons of metal was precipitated through the air with terrific velocity.

The mass of steel which killed Henry Harvey and seriously injured P. K. Kane when it hurtled through both partitions of the test office and a 12-inch brick wall weighed over a ton.

The accident occurred without warning, eye-witnesses say. There was a deafening crash of tearing metal as the 18 tons of steel and copper flew to pieces and smashed through surrounding objects. The air was full of immense pieces of metal and spattered oil. The force of the concussion threw by-standers to the floor or against the walls with great force.

A number of draughtsmen and members of office staffs had just emerged from the elevator nearby, and were lining up to punch the time clock by the door when they were knocked down by the force of the air concussion. A few were struck by pieces of flying metal, but their injuries were slight. Some of the few women employees passing out the door suffered considerably from shock.

All who were in the vicinity of the generator consider their escape from death miraculous. One machinist was sitting on the end of a planing machine removing his overalls when a piece of the flying metal struck his machine, smashing it completely. He escaped injury.

Considerable difficulty was encountered in securing medical aid. It took nearly half an hour of telephoning to locate a doctor.

The two seriously injured, Henry Harvey, Toronto, inspector for the Nova Scotia Power Commission, and P. K. Kane, 180 Rubidge Street, were removed to hospitals. The others were taken to their homes.

Asa Lapp, 516 Bolivar Street, assisted in removing the injured and then walked home, believing that his only hurt was a cut on his hand. When he reached home he collapsed, the whole left side of his body having been gashed by flying metal.

Henry Harvey, who died from his injuries, lived far longer than doctors expected. Although his skull was completely smashed, he did not expire until three hours after the accident.

P. K. Kane's condition is very serious, and little hope is held out for his recovery. His face is literally riddled with bits of plaster, which penetrated to the bone when a mass of steel weighing a ton crashed through a 12-inch brick wall. His sight is in danger.

Bought Acid to Kill Self, Threw It In Man's Face

(Special Despatch to The Examiner).

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Dora Sugermann, 24 years old, was arrested here last night, charged with throwing carbolic acid at Max Berger, 54 years old, of Welland. The prisoner alleges that Berger, who was in partnership with her husband in a store in Welland and this city, bankrupted them and they lost everything.

She met Berger in Kaminiski's store here, and the woman alleges that Berger taunted her with the loss of their money, whereupon she threw the carbolic acid on his face, burning him severely. She had purchased the acid a few hours previously, with which she said she intended to commit suicide when her husband had gone to Rochester to look for work.

AVERS BELGIUM RECOVERS FROM WAR'S EFFECTS

W. H. GOODWIN, OF GOODWIN'S LIMITED, MONTREAL, TELLS OF CONDITIONS IN WAR-DEVASTATED AREAS.

NORTHERN FRANCE IS SHOWING LASSITUDE

Mr. W. H. Goodwin, vice-president and managing director of Goodwin's, Limited, one of Montreal's largest departmental stores, is in the city, the guest of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Young. Mr. Goodwin, one of the best known business men of the city of Montreal is a man of wide business experience and possesses a broad viewpoint which makes him an intensely interesting conversationalist. He has within the year made trips to the firm's foreign offices in London, Paris and Yokohama and thus obtained a grasp of affairs which commands the attention of the stay-at-homes.

During his visit to Europe in the early part of the summer, Mr. Goodwin motored through Belgium. Here, he says, the people are working hard. They have not stopped to think of reparations, but have gone ahead immediately with the task of reconstructing their devastated country and are succeeding admirably. The crops were in splendid condition, and "red-roofed farm houses are springing up everywhere along the side of the road." Conditions here offered a striking contrast to the northern portion of France, where Mr. Goodwin remarked the general lassitude of the people. They seem to have not yet recovered from the shock and horror of the great conflict, and are unable to proceed with reconstruction work, relying more on the reparation programme than on their own industry and initiative. This condition was more noticeable in the northern portion than anywhere else. Paris is rapidly coming into her own again.

Reports Exaggerated.

With regard to England, Mr. Goodwin considers the reports of in-

OPEN INQUEST IN TO KILLING OF INSPECTOR

JURY IMPANELLED LAST NIGHT TO INQUIRE INTO DEATH OF HENRY HARVEY IN C.G.E. ACCIDENT YESTERDAY.

DEAD MAN IS SURVIVED BY WIFE AND CHILDREN

An inquest has been opened by Coroner Dr. G. N. Greer to determine the circumstances surrounding the death of Henry Harvey, who died in Nicholls Hospital at 3.30 p.m. yesterday with a pierced skull, received when struck with a flying piece from the large 1,600 kilowatt generator which, while revolving at high speed, broke a casting at the C.G.E. at noon yesterday.

After the jury had viewed the body and the scene of the unusual accident the inquest was adjourned until Tuesday night, to be held in the Council Chamber or Police Court room. The jury empanelled was as follows: Harry Beal (foreman), George Evans, William Martin, Samuel Jordan, Keith Lech, Frank White, Ernest Payne, Frank C. Schneider, Cecil Williamson, Richard Teriff, Percy E. Rytherford, Norman Andrews.

Henry Harvey lived at 818 Palmerston avenue, Toronto. The body is being sent to Toronto on the 3.50 C. P.R. train to-day. He is survived by a wife and four children. He was an Englishman about 35 years of age, a graduate of an English engineering school, but had been in Canada for some years, Before becoming associated with the Nova Scotia Power Commission several years ago he was on the engineering staff of the Canadian Ingersoll-Rand Company, of Toronto. It was part of his duties to inspect all large generators or electrical machines being manufactured for the Commission, and he had inspected a great many machines without any accident occurring.

D. Shepherd, an engineer of the Commission, who with A. R. Mitchell, also employed by the same organization, came to Peterborough as soon as word was received at Toronto of the accident, stated this morning in seventeen years in electrical engineering he only recalled one similar accident. Mr. Shepherd said there was no doubt that the accident was caused by a flaw in the rotor casting.

It is understood the casting was made in Pittsburgh, but previous inspections, which are said to be very rigid, failed to discover the weakness in the great mass of iron. The rotor is the revolving part of the machine. Under the low speeds at which it had been run all the night before and that morning the flaw did not open, but when thrown into high speed the rotor split open with devastating results. Huge pieces of iron were hurled for yards—one immense ragged chunk weighing five tons being hurled through a thick brick wall into the lavatory. The machine shop floor was covered with the smashed parts of the big generator. Other generators of various sizes which were near were destroyed, and Mr. E. G. Patterson has estimated the loss to machinery, besides the unit destroyed at $150,000. The generator would be worth at least $50,000 engineers believe.

When the jury inspected the scene of the accident last night a big gang of men were cleaning up the debris. Jagged pieces of metal were sticking in the wall in several places and in the office near where Henry Harvey was killed, a rough chunk of iron was driven into the ball. No one will ever know exactly how he came to his death. It is believed he was standing or sitting at the desk in the office with his back to the generator, when a hurtling bolt or piece of iron pierced his skull. Doctors to-day considered it miraculous that he could have lived three hours with a rough hole in the back of the head as large as a man's wrist. His face was not disfigured in any way.

RAILWAY STRIKE SEEMS CERTAIN

BY CARL VICTOR LITTLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 15. — A big railroad strike seemed certain as five hundred general chairmen, representing two million railworkers, went into session here to-day, to reach a final decision on what action to take.

Rebuffed in their efforts to negotiate with railway executives over questions of wages and hours, the railworkers must strike or recede from their position.

"What is there left to do but strike?" W. G. Lee, President of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, said to-day, in reply to a question. "If I were a betting man I would bet there would be a strike."

URGES PROGRAM OF EMIGRATION WITHIN EMPIRE

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S AGENT GENERAL SAYS WESTERN CANADA NEEDS IMMIGRANTS BUT IS BEING AMERICANIZED.

WANT THOSE IN ACCORD WITH CANADIAN IDEALS

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press Cable). — Emphasising the urgent need for redistribution of population of the Empire, F. C. Wade, Agent General for British Columbia, points out in the press that Australia and Canada support less than three persons to the square mile, as against 618 to the square mile in England and Wales.

He suggests that Canada's position is more precarious than that of Australia and declares that the "same cloud of restless, ambitious, powerful people" which lowers over Australia threatens Canada. He gives figures showing the serious influx of immigrants into the United States and declares that "Western Canada is rapidly becoming Americanized."

The cure for the situation, he said, "is to 'pump in whites whose instincts are in accord with British or Canadian traditions."

HELP FIGHT THE DREAD SCOURGE

MEN AND WOMEN DOOMED TO UNTIMELY DEATH UNLESS ASSISTANCE IS FORTHCOMING

Perhaps there is no disease to which the human race is subject more insidious and tenacious in its attacks than consumption, that terrible white plague responsible among the civilized nations of Europe for from one-sixth to one-tenth their total mortality under normal conditions. It seems uncertain whether there is any country or race of men, women and children in the whole world exempt from this dread scourge, although at one time scientists claimed exemption for inhabitants of both hot and cold climates, such as that of India, Australia and Canada. However, we know by experience to-day that our great Dominion, far from being exempt from consumption—better known by its more modern name of tuberculosis—has during the last few decades been ravaged by this circumventing malady to an alarming extent. In fact, mortality statistics show that during the world war period the number of deaths from consumption exceeded those from casualties in the battle areas overseas.

Increases Appallingly.

On the whole, consumption is a disease which increases appallingly, unless combatted vigorously and scientifically by removing conditions unfavorable to the human health; and also by isolating patients in institutions, where they are given a "fighting chance" under the unremitting treatment of medical specialists, together with the sympathetic care of trained nurses, amid surroundings inimical to the characteristics of the disease itself.

We have irrefutable evidence that consumption is not only hereditary, but also contagious, and statistics show that its growth is dangerously fostered by the ever-increasing congestion of the human race in urban centres, and also by that continually extending intercourse resulting from advanced civilization. With the growth of such conditions in Canada, the inroads of consumption upon the health and vigor of Canadians—individually and nationally—has in-

ANOTHER PLANT TO BE LOCATED IN PETERBORO'

ALLIANCE BRASS MANUFACTURING COMPANY PURCHASE BUILDING OCCUPIED BY RAPID TOOL COMPANY.

TO START IN FEBRUARY; TO START INSTALLING NOW

Announcement is made of the establishment in Peterborough of another new industry, which will be known as the Alliance Brass Manufacturing Company, or in an abbreviated form, as the A. B. C. Company. The plant of the Rapid Tool Company, formerly operated by William Rudkins on Hunter Street East, has been secured for initial operations, and production will start about the first of February. The pay-roll will open with from twelve to fifteen men. Machinery for the plant has been purchased and will be installed during the course of the next few weeks. Mr. E. R. Briggs and Mr. H. Smith will be in charge of operations here. The latter will be mechanical superintendent. Mr. W. R. Stewart will handle the sales end of the business from Toronto, where he will also represent the Kerr Engine Manufacturing Company. All three men have been engaged in the brass manufacturing for a period of twenty-one years, most of which time was spent in Montreal.

The market for the products of the company extend from coast to coast, and every effort will be made to develop this market. Three progressive and successful men, coupled with long years of experience, are at the helm, and Peterborough's latest industrial acquisition has every prospect of developing into a very substantial manufacturing concern.

MASQUERADE AT "Y" LAST NIGHT

The gymnasium at the Y.W.C.A. was the scene last evening of a gay party of masqueraders of both sexes, the entertainment being under the auspices of the Recreation Committee, and the girls invited were allowed to bring their friends. Costumes of all colours of the rainbow met the eye on every side. Perishable tissue paper creations in flashing hues, stunning gipsies in red and yellow and dangling ear-rings, a green-clad lady, with half-a-dozen inflated balloons attached to her person at various angles; and a tall cavalier in three-cornered hat and suit of purple velvet, were noticeable figures.

There was a quaint old lady in trailing black gown, lace cap, and spectacles; a charming Red Riding Hood, with long red cape and dark curls; a prim and spotless Red Cross nurse; a couple of red-clad soldiers, and a Highlander in kilts; a dude in full regalia; and clowns of all sorts and conditions, in parti-coloured outfits. One sported a wonderful costume, the main portion of which was composed of an old-fashioned bed-quilt. An Indian maid and a brave in a handsome suit of slashed leather, were outstanding figures.

After a jolly hour spent in games, the guests, who numbered over 125, were conducted in groups to the Green Room, where refreshments were served.

A recitation was given by Miss Greta Scarrow, of the Conservatory of Music staff, and Miss Scarrow and Miss Jean McLaughlin, physical directress at the Y.W.C.A., danced the "Rustic Courtship," attired as a little boy and girl.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner).

REGINA, Oct. 15.—Piloting a seven-passenger all-metal airplane from Edmonton to New York, Captain B. Hyde-Pearson, Toronto, arrived in Regina five hours and seven minutes after leaving Edmonton. The trip by train is made in twenty-one hours.

With Pearson on the trip, which was made via Saskatoon without a stop, are Lieut. Buehl, a mechanic, and K. A. Blatchford, of Edmonton, a passenger. The trip to Regina was uneventful, except that a fog bank near here was encountered, which necessitated flying as low as 20 feet.

The plane leaves for Chicago on the next leg of the journey Saturday afternoon.

MOST EUROPEAN LEADERS TO BE AT WASHINGTON

ARMS CONFERENCE STOCK, VERY LOW RECENTLY, SOARS WITH ANNOUNCEMENTS FROM EUROPE'S CAPITALS.

LLOYD GEORGE WILL ATTEND IF POSSIBLE

(BY CHARLES M. M'CANN)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Arms conference Stock, at a record low when Premier Lloyd George and other European leaders announced their inability to be present, soared today with the following developments:—

Announcement that Lloyd George will probably leave for Washington November 5.

Reports from Paris that Premier Briand has planned to extend the limit a few days, that he first intended for his visit to America.

Denial that any attempt will be made by the French Chamber of Deputies to force Briand to remain in Paris.

Announcement of the selection of several of Britains most distinguished diplomats as delegates.

Announcement from Rome that Italy has selected the largest part of her delegation and a pronouncement that the Italian Government will do all in her power to cut armament.

Only the most unforeseen development in the Irish situation or the domestic unemployment crisis will prevent the British Premier being present at the first session in Washington, November 11.

The actual British delegation have not yet been formally approved. It was expected the first announcement probably would be made by Lloyd George himself before parliament.

ROLLER SKATING FAVORITE PASTIME

THE ROLLER SKATING ACADEMY HAS WON THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PUBLIC.

Friday afternoon saw practically one hundred and fifty skaters with a very large number of beginners who made rapid progress. One afternoon is usually all that is necessary to teach the beginner so that they can skate themselves.

In the evening the crowd was large making it the best attended day, outside of Saturday, since the rink opened.

Monday afternoon is an excellent opportunity for new skaters to learn. Band every evening and Saturday afternoon. The Skating Academy could not be conducted better than it is at present. Every care and attention is given to the public which now recognizes this fact. To-night finals in contest and special Band programme for skaters.

FLURRY CAUSED BY REPORTS OF IRISH ACTIVITY

SINN FEIN DELEGATION TO CONFERENCE DESPATCHES AGENTS TO INVESTIGATE ALLEGATIONS

COMMANDANT BARRY HAS BEEN CALLED TO LONDON

By ED. L. KEEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Oct. 15. — Continued reports of the activity of the Irish Republican Army to-day caused a flurry in the atmosphere of the Peace Conference.

The Sinn Fein delegation, it was learned to-day, has despatched several messengers to Ireland to obtain authoritative denials of the reports of the violations of the truce, and it was reported one or two members of the delegation itself intended to visit Dublin during the week-end.

Commandant Barry, of the Irish Republican Army in Munster, had been summoned to England, it was learned, to be questioned by a subcommittee of the conference regarding several "outrages" alleged to have been committed in his district during the truce.

It was denied that these "sensational" reports of the Irish Republican Militia caused the adjournment of the conference until Monday. The cause of adjournment was described as the exercising of the British passion for rest over the week-end.

The next session will begin at 3.30 p.m. Monday, it was announced. Unofficial stories from British newspaper correspondents in Ireland were printed in some London papers today, stating that uniforms were being made for the Irish army, and that a demonstration was planned in London after a peace had been decided on.

Sinn Fein leaders, however, ridiculed the statement, declaring there was no contemplation of a demonstration in London, and that there is no effort being made to "uniform" the army.

TO-DAY'S NEWS OF THE DISTRICT

LAST OF THE FALL FAIRS ROSENEATH GOT CROWD

ALNWICK TOWNSHIP'S AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY HAD ALL THE LUCK, WITH THE BEST OF WEATHER AND CASHED IN RICHLY.

DIRECTORS HAD THAT LINDSAY FEELING

ROSENEATH, October 14.—The fall fair's faded out here to-day in a film of blue haze drenched with sunlight. Alnwick Township's agricultural society was last on the Central Ontario circuit, and thanks to the extremely favourable weather it was one of the most successful financially, if not the best in the extent and quality of farm produce displayed.

As an exhibition, it was not in a class with Warkworth, but the Percy Township fair's big day was drowned in an equinoctial rain worse than Norwood's and Campbellford's, and as ruinous, regarded from the directors' viewpoint, as Millbrook's. Those rains of the last two or three weeks, however, account for the magic transformation, not yet completed, of the arable sections of the countryside from the drab stubble to the rich, loamy brown of the freshly-ploughed fields.

Autumn at Its Loveliest.

But coming to this last fair day, Roseneath drew a royal flush in the weather deal, and everybody in ten counties must have yearned to be outdoors to-day, if only for the sheer joy of warming to that sunlight and the crisp air, and revelling in the sensual delights of mid-October. The cloudless azure sky melting into the diaphanous mist that veiled the horizon, rolling with the hectic hued hills of Northumberland County in their last lush of summer, Nature's theatric setting before the universal shift of scenery already signalled by the emerging outlines of trunk and limb in the thinning foliage, all this ineffable beauty was alluring enough to attract a crowd providing a place of assembly was agreed upon.

Attendance Big.

By noon, therefore, the directors had visions of an attendance approaching more or less the fabulous thousands claimed by Lindsay. From all directions came streams of cars, but only the modesty and doubtless the veracity of the Roseneath officials restrained them from estimating a total that might have embarrassed those Lindsay computers.

What was Norwood's and Warkworth's loss was Roseneath's gain. Those who were disappointed in their plans of meeting old friends, new ones too, perhaps, at these other fairs, made the most of this afternoon's opportunity. Even the midway fraternity, who have fallen upon a lean season, made a last stand here to-day.

"You had nothing like this last year," said Inspector Brodie to Clarence Varcoe, secretary of the Board. The Inspector has the duty of banning gamblers from the fall fairs, in accordance with Mr. Raney's severe instructions. "I counted thirty-seven concessions out there, including juice joints and games."

"Juice joints" is the vernacular for booths dealing in ice-cream cones, near beer, lemonade, apple cider, hot "dogs," and other refreshments.

CAMPBELLFORD'S NEW PIANO STORE

Campbellford is to have a handsome addition to its business stores, as will be seen by an advertisement in this issue of the Examiner. The old established piano manufacturing firm of Heintzman & Co., Limited, Toronto, have opened up new branch warerooms in the commodious premises, situated one door north of Louck's drug store, where will be found a general stock of high-grade pianos, organs, phonographs and musical accessories. This step has been the result of the encouraging business developed by the active salesmen from the staff of "Heintzman Hall," Peterborough, who have been covering this territory for some years.

It is understood that Mr. Lawson, the manager of Peterborough's "Heintzman Hall," decided that Campbellford would be a good centre for increasing the district business, and believes he has been justified in locating there. Mr. Robert Haddow, one of the most experienced salesmen, will take charge of the new branch as district representative. He comes to Campbellford with a practical business experience, besides being well versed in pianos and other musical instrumets.

OTTAWA Oct. 15.—(By Canadian Press).— Soldier Settlers on farms in Ontario have met their financial obligations to the Board remarkably well during the past year, according to a statement made by the Board of Soldier Settlement today. On hundred and five soldier settlers have been listed by the Board as possible failures, and in 42 cases the Board has disposed of the farms without loss.

HAPPENINGS IN MILLBROOK

BIBLE SOCIETY MEETING HELD IN THE TOWN HALL—AN INTERESTING ADDRESS.

PERSONAL MENTION

MILLBROOK, Oct. 15. — The Bible Society Meeting held in the town hall on Wednesday, Oct. 12th, at 8 p.m., was most interesting but the audience was much smaller than should have been present when so important a work was being brought to the attention of the public.

Mr. A. J. Fallis, the president of the local branch occupied the chair and after the opening hymn the Scripture lesson, Ps. 119:1-24, was read by Rev. Canon Allen, and the Rev. G. S. Gervan led in prayer.

The minutes of the executive meeting held on Monday evening, October 10, were read by the secretary, Mr. W. S. Given, also those of the last public meeting, and after their adoption had been moved and seconded, the retiring president made a few apropriate remarks, and introduced his successor, Dr. Jamieson.

The latter made a brief address expressing his appreciation of the honor which had been conferred upon him, and his entire sympathy with the work of the Bible Society, and then called upon the Rev. Jesse Gibson of Toronto.

The startling statement that there are one thousand million people in the world who have not yet had the Bible in any form, and six hundred dialects spoken which have never been reduced to writing, hence the tribes speaking these crude languages have no knowledge whatever of God's word, showed that the work of the Bible Society is still sadly needed, and as the speaker pointed out, without money it cannot be carried on.

A most interesting and instructive lecture on "Korea, the Land of the Top-Knots," was given by Mr. Gibson, and at its close a hearty vote of thanks to the lecturer was moved by Rev. Canon Allen, seconded by Rev. S. T. Tucker, votes of thanks were also given to the retiring president and the collectors of last year, for their faithful services.

Treasurer's Report.

The treasurer's report showed that last year the sum of $187.75 was brought in by the collectors and after necessary expenses were deducted $181.65 was remitted to Toronto, the total first mentioned including the collection taken at the public meting held last fall Referring to the Bible Society's annual report,the President stated that the amount sent from Millbrook is in excess of that sent in by several larger places, and hoped that it might reach $200 this year.

Officers Elected.

The following officers were elected for the local branch: President, Dr. A. Jemison; 1st Vice-Pres., Mr. A. J. Henderson; 2nd Vice-President, Mr. W. T. Wood; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. W. S. Given. KING ASKS WHO MADE THE TARIFF THE ISSUE

SUSSEX, N.B., Oct. 15.— (Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.) — Right Hon. Mr. Meighen has talked free trade and protection at Sussex and said that this was the issue. "Who made it so?" asked Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King at a meeting here last night. "The Government's record and the people's right to govern are at stake. Canada had had no election on domestic issues for ten years. "Why narrow the discussion to the one issue and not allow any discussion of returned soldiers' affairs and similar matters." Mr. King asked. "Since 1911 a new electorate had grown up and these people were entitled to a full discussion of the country's affairs."

Hon. W. E. Foster, Premier of New Brunswick, spoke first on Provincial matters and declared that he had a Provincial duty still to perform before he could think of turning his energies to Ottawa. Premier Foster extended to Mr. King the greetings of New Brunswick Liberals and welcomed him to the Province. The Tory party was as 'dead as Julius Caesar' in New Brunswick, said Mr. Foster, and its late representative in the Cabinet, Hon. B. W. Wigmore, had been too busy "seeking business for his firm to choose a New Brunswicker as a New Brunswick Senator." Premier Foster referred to the possibility of Hon. Wm. Pugsley entering the present fight, and declared that the Liberal Party when returned would have many strong men in its ranks.

DEMOCRACY NEEDS BROADER EDUCATION

MONTREAL, Oct. 15.— (Canadian Press.)—Speaking at the Canadian Club here yesterday, Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambasasdor to Washington, emphasized the necessity for a democracy to educate itself in order to be able to successfully handle the task of governing nations. His argument was directed especially to the idea that such great universities as McGill were the natural instruments for spreading the knowledge which would enable the proletariat to carry on the responsibilities they had assumed, and for which his conclusions were, it was not yet fitted. He urged that the future peace of the world rested upon wider understanding by the people.

GOVERNMENT POLICY ON EMPLOYMENT OUTLINED

NEWCASTLE, N.B., Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press.)—Dealing with the question of unemployment last night Premier Meighen said it was a function of the government to see that those who were willing to work could get work. But the government was not to blame for a situation which was world wide. The situation must be dealt with locally and all the government could do was to assist.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS ARE CONSIDERED BY CHURCH

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Despite the present day upheaval, or perhaps in consequence of it, the church congress held this week at Birmingham received a measure of general attention often denied previous similar gatherings.

This was all the more remarkable seeing that the congress is merely an annual debating society of the Anglican body, possessing no legislative powers. Its influence in fact might have been expected to deteriorate in view of the measure of self-government recently granted the Anglican communion.

Frank discussion proceeded this year on the relations of the sexes, venereal disease, industrial organization, professional football, the drama and the turf. Lord Dawson, the King's physician took the opportunity to appeal to the church to consider the question of birth control "in the light of modern

RAILWAY HEADS MEET EMPLOYES

AFTER APPLYING FOR FURTHER WAGE CUT AND SAYING THEY CANNOT REDUCE RATES AND EXIST.

EXECUTIVES CONFIDENT THEY CAN SETTLE TROUBLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.— (Canadian Press).—Representatives of United States railroads yesterday, after announcing that they cannot reduce freight rates at present without going into bankruptcy, and that they would immediately seek a further reduction in employes wages from the United States Railroad Labor Board, went into a secret conference with union leaders in an effort to reach an amicable settlement of wage difficulties which at times have threatened to tie up the transportation system of the country.

The executives announced, however, that the proposal to pass future wage reductions to to the public by applying to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a reduction in freight and passenger rates had been accepted and that all future wage reductions would be met by a corresponding rate reduction.

The conference was begun at the suggestion of the union leaders, their invitation for a meeting being accepted by the rail heads following the announcement concerning freight rates. As the meeting started the committee appointed by the Association of Railway Executives declared that they believed it would settle most of the immediate difficulties between the carriers and their employes.

The union leaders were backward about discussing the meeting, although some indicated that its purpose might be almost nullified by the announcement that a further wage reduction would be sought.

W. G. Lee president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said that "since the union men already had authorized their leaders to cell a strike rather than accept the recent 12 1-2 per cent. wage cut, I do not see how the roads can have the nerve to suggest another cut."

The executives, it was announced wish the wages of train service men returned to the same basis as previous to the increase granted in the Labor Board decision of July 1920. This will neecssitate a ten per cent. reduction, it was said.

The union leaders left the conference with the railroad executives after being closeted with them for two hours, but refused to discuss the proceedings. It was understood that the rail heads might issue a statement later.

SATURDAY, OCT. 15TH, 1921.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM.

Most Ontario municipalities seem to be at a loss to know what policy to adopt in dealing with the unemployment problem during the coming winter, although the desirability of providing jobs by the launching out of municipal works is generally recognized and the offer of the Dominion government to pay a share of the excess cost has strengthened the determination to offer work instead of doles. It is admitted that the giving of relief in the form of cash is neither economical nor wise and there is the added objection that the assistance given by the Federal and Provincial governments last year will not be available unless there is a change of heart on the part of the Ontario administration. The situation is that while the Dominion government has offered to pay one-third of the unemployment relief expended by any municipality, provided the municipality itself and the Provincial government will each pay a third, the offer is valueless because the Ontario government has already decided not to pay any portion of the doles this winter. The municipalities will therefore have to decide whether they will carry on civic work, taking advantage of the Federal government's promise to pay a share of the excess cost caused by winter operations or whether on the other hand they will provide doles as last year with the difference that they will have to finance the whole operation, instead of having to contribute only one-third as was the case last winter.

THE GRAVES OF HEROES.

The people of Canada will heartily approve of the Dominion-wide plan for the honouring of all war heroes buried in Canada, the particulars of which have just been announced. The Department of Militia and Defense and the Imperial War Graves Commission have placed orders for the manufacture of granite war memorials which are to be placed over the graves of all soldiers and soldiers buried in this country who died of wounds contracted on active service or from illness from contributing war causes. Rightly, no distinction is to be made between the graves of officers and members of the rank and file. The memorials are to be uniform, save where it will be necessary to vary the inscription because of the religious belief of a particular soldier. They will be two feet six inches in height and one foot three inches wide. With a circled maple leaf at the top, the name of the soldier and a few particulars about his service following below, and beneath this is a cross and the inscription, "For His Country." There will be general approval for this plan, and when Peterborough's allotment is received it is hoped that there will be an appropriate service arranged in connection with the installation of the stones.

A POLITICAL MELANGE.

So far as Ontario is concerned the coming general election promises to be even more complicated than was the provincial contest of two years ago. The indications are that in a number of ridings there will be at least four candidates, while three-cornered fights will be even more common. The old two-party duel is for the time being at least, out of joint with the times and so Government, Liberals, Labour and Farmers are all in the field. In some ridings the two last named parties have united their forces and decided upon one standard-bearer; in other constituencies Labour and Farmers are each represented in the fight. With National Progresives, National Liberal and Conservatives, straight Liberals, old line Tories, Protectionist Liberals, Labour candidates and Independents of several different shade there promises to be the greatest political melange that has yet been seen in the province. The conditions should be thoroughly satisfactory to J. J. Morrison, U.F.O. secretary, whose theory of group government seems likely to be thoroughly tested. West Peterborough, which had five candidates in the by-election last winter, will be one riding that will have a two man fight on this occasion for there is no indication of either Farmer or Labour candidate.

SCHOOL BANKS.

The announcement in these columns the other day of the fact that a proposal to have the Peterborough schools included in the Penny Bank system—by the way the name is shortly to be changed to School Bank—is to come before the Board of Education, seems to have caused considerable interest and discussion. Many parents who realize the wisdom of teaching the youngsters to be thrifty and saving, and who have not been as successful as they would like to have been in instilling that much needed lesson into the minds of their own children, welcome the plan as one likely to be of general benefit. The objection has been raised that the teachers would find the task of carrying on the operations of the bank in the schools a heavy burden, but judging by the smoothness with which the system has been carried on elsewhere it is not likely that the local teachers would find their general work handicapped by the attention they would have to give to their pupils' banking activities. So far, the only criticism that has been made in regard to the School Bank has been based on that point, and it does not seem serious enough to outweigh the many arguments that can be offered in support of the system.

THE MINIMUM WAGE

This has been a week of deadlocks in England, says Herbet N. Casson in Barron's. There has been the Irish deadlock, in which Mr. De Valera first locked an open door and then hammered on it to get in.

There has been the economy deadlock, between the new economy committee and the spendthrift departments of the government. In this duel there is nothing to report. It is the old story of the irrestible force against the immovable rock.

There has been the exports deadlock, caused by the bewildering chaos of the foreign exchanges. Years ago, it was said that there were only two men in England who understood foreign exchange, and now—alas—they are no more. No one knows what to do and nothing is being done.

Also, there was until this week a fourth deadlock, between the unemployed problem and the minimum wage law; but this has now been broken by the decision of a Portsmouth Judge against the validity of the minimum wage act.

Half a dozen drygoods merchants in Portsmouth were summoned for paying wages below the minimum that had been fixed by the Trade board. The merchants did not accept this prosecution meekly. They fought back. They challenged the justice of law itself; and they presented a statement from their employees, asking that the charges be dismissed.

The judge did dismiss the case, on the grounds that such a prosecution was "neithe necessary nor desirable, having regard to the conditions of trade now prevailing in Portsmouth."

This is perhaps the most significant event of the week in England as it shows the drift of trade and commerce away from state control. Business is now everywhere cutting itself free from the bureaucratic entanglements that were permitted during the war.

The minimum wage law has been in existence for 14 years. It was brought about by the creation of trade boards. It was meant to prevent sweating, but during the war, its scope widened and it became most oppressive.

There are at present 64 of these trade boards, setting the minimum wage for more than 3,000,000 workers.

Recently, at the instigation of the ministry of labor, a series of prosecutions have been started to enforce the payment of the trade board rates. As a result, hundreds of dressmakers, milliners and other small employers have been driven out of business.

One manufacturer of perambulators in London—a kindly old man who treats his workers as members of his own family and shares his profits with them, was seized, flung in jail and fined $200 with the option of 81 days in prison. This for the crime of employing 45 girls at a trifle less than the legal minimum.

Even the judge in the case was ashamed of the law he had to enforce, and made a statement from the bench that such a law put an end to freedom and common sense.

The Portsmouth judge went still further and refused to accept the evidence or to enforce the law.

The government is expected to take action during the month and to modify or suspend the operation of the minimum wage law. At present, no one wants it, except a few of the most Socialistic labor leaders.

All the British Chambers of Commerce have signed a petition against the interference of these trade boards. The federation of British industries wants the boards wiped out altogether, and many people are asking that the whole ministry of labor shall be thrown overboard.

As usual the extremists have gone too far and caused a reaction. The so-called "Red" labor leaders demanded "full pay or no work." They roared for big doles, to be raised by a special tax on the rich.

As England has spent $200,000,000 on doles in the last 12 months, this demand was the last straw. The doles have been reduced and will very likely be stopped altogether.

The cabinet has just decided that henceforth the unemployed must work for what they get. This decision brings the government into collision with the minimum wage act; and as a result, the general understanding is that wages must now be regulated more by the law of supply and demand, than by the edicts of trade boards.

"After all," said Mr. W. L. Hichens the head of Cammell Laird," no government can compel an employer to pay a worker more than his labor is worth."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

At least the election will give Toronto a chance to secure a new Mayor.

Some of the United States politicians like the Canadian Sales Tax. Well, they are welcome to it so far as we are concerned.

The Ontario Government, it is said, will be able to show a surplus for the current year. It's merely a matter of book-keeping in any case.

The size of American famlies is steadily decreasing. Those "no children" landlords may have some share of the responsibility.

Weather sharps as well as political prophets seem to agree that it is going to be a hard winter for a lot of people.

The Ottawa Journal says that Miss Agnes McPhail, U.F.O. candidate, is as full of half-baked ideas as a porcupine is of quills. The campaign seems to be warming up.

Skirts are one item in the budget that seem inclined to stay up.

The Toronto Telegram does not approve of the League of Nations, which will be regarded by many people that there must be something of value in the League after all.

Wise and Otherwise

Does anyone remember the old-fashioned days before every stenographer called herself a "private secretary?"

It is said that the crooks are deserting the big cities for the small towns and villages. And just after a movement had started among the village cops for wearing rubber heels in order not to wake one another at night.

But a lot of motorists can't be convinced that we have too few policemen.

The Quebec M.P. who is willing to sell the national railway system for a dollar is going on the doubtful hypothesis that anyone would pay a dollar for it.

"The days of kings are past," says the former King Manuel of Portugal. That's what we thought last night when we tried to fill out that royal flush.

A New York man threw an entire dinner set at his wife. At the end of the set, the score was forty-love.

Stubbornness is the quality displayed by the person who is not convinced by your argument.

KEEPING THE CHILDREN AT SCHOOL

How to keep boys and girls to their school duties remains one of the problems of our democratic society. Industrial opportunities, usually more alluring than at present, disinclination to submit necessary discipline, diversions of many kinds, sometimes lack of parental co-operation with the schools themselves, not infrequently failure on the part of teachers to interest their pupils—all these and many other influences kep up a constant bombardment of the ranks of those whom the schols are trying to educate for same useful citizenship.

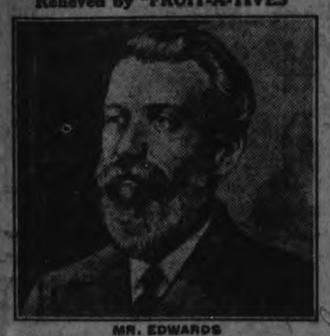
STOMACH ULCER AND GALL STONES

After Suffering 25 Years, Completely Relieved by "FRUIT-A-TIVES"



MR. EDWARDS

MAPLEHURST FARM, HILLHURST, P.Q.

"I am in my 78th year. About 25 years ago, I began to have trouble with my Stomach. One doctor said I had Cancer; another said, Ulcer of the Stomach; another, Gall Stones; others, Ulcers of the Liver and Inflammation of the Gall Bladder.

Three years ago, I consulted one of the best specialists in Montreal. He said I must go to the hospital, have an Ulcer cut out of my stomach and gall stones removed. I was then 74 years old. I said "NO."

Then, I began to take "Fruit-a-tives". I found they helped me a lot, and I still take them occasionally, and I am so much better that my old friends often ask me what I have done to myself to look so well. I am gaining in weight and enjoying life very much"

KING PLEASED WITH HIS TOUR OF P.E.I.

POR ELGIN, N.B., Oct. 14.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)— The welcoming of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the Liberal leader, on his visit to New Brunswick began early yesterday. On the arrival of his train at Port Elgin Mr. King found several hundred people at the station to greet him and the town band had been brought in honor of his visit

"Our tour on the island," said Mr. King, 'was more in the nature of a triumphal march than a series of political meetings. Prince Edward Island voters have shown in no unmistakable manner where their hearts lie in the present campaign and their promise is that four representatives of Liberalism will be returned on December 6th."

POLICE LEARN JOBLESS PLAN A REVOLUTION

THIS WAS THE REASON FOR THE HUGE PREPARATIONS FOR DEFENCE IN LONDON DURING DEMONSTRATIONS.

READY TO CONCENTRATE 15,000 INA HALF HOUR

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Information obtained by police emissaries several weeks ago that noon Thursday had been fixed for the beginning of a "revolution" under the Communist banner accounted for the unprecedented preparations for dealing with any emergency by Scotland Yard, it was learned to-day.

After what the Daily Herald, the Laborite organ, terms "the Battle of Picadilly," Wednesday, when hundreds of mounted and foot police charged into the crowds of unemployment demonstrators and bruised a few heads, all was quiet. There were only a few idlers in Trafalgar Square yesterday, which Wednesday was rimmed by hundreds of police. Scotland Yard authorities expressed the belief that there is little danger of an early recurrence the scenes.

Inquiry today elicited the fact that the police preparations included the commandeering of the metropolitan underground railways and the omnibus lines, if found necessary, which would have enabled the concentration of 15,000 police at any trouble center within half an hour. Last Wednesday on the eve of the monster demonstration, the unemployed of one of the London suburbs were addressed by a leader who told them: "You must not break your lines to get drinks; take a bottle of water with you."

When asked by one of his hearers what should be done with the bottles, the leader winked and said: "I dont care how you get rid of the bottles." He then added: "You probably will have a long walk and will be on your feet a long time; so take with you a good stout stick—it may be useful."

After the clash with the police in Shaftsbury Avenue, a number of pieces of iron bars with sharpened ends, made into a form of pocket weapon, many bits of lead and other missiles were found on the pavement and inside of shops where windows were smashed.

The police quietly kept an "ear in" at all of the meetings held by the unemployed. Throughout the metropolitan area these listeners frequently dressed carelessly in the guise of unemployed.

"Everything is all right here today," he informed the secretary. 'There was one pair near the bandstand who unpacked a barrel game, throwing balls into a barrel, when they saw me; but if I hadn't been here they would have opened up another stunt and made a killing."

No "Banging of Saxpence."

The concessionaires generally reported light takings. The crowd, for the most part, was satisfied to get vicariously their amusement in watching the efforts of others trying to win those kewpie dolls. If there are any homes without a kewpie or a family of them, generations of them in some cases, it is not the fault of those who have something of the showman's or the "barker's" instinct in them. Some of the better lines of kewpies sell wholesale at $15.00 a dozen, others can be bought for a round twenty-five or thirty cents a-piece.

Had Two Bands.

Two bands, the Alderville and the Curve Lake Indians, provided continuous music, and closed with a massed effect that was quite commendable. Two horse races, and sundry special competitions that may be classed as unique, for they are not put on at other fairs in this district, a dog show, baby show, and the judging of the horses and cattle, occupied the attention of the crowd, when they, especially the men, were not discussing the inevitable and ubiquitous subject of politics.

The Baby Show.

The women folk claimed the baby show for their own. Of the thirteen entries the following mothers were declared winners:

1, Mrs. George Broadworth, Roseneath; 2, Mrs. O. E. Curtis, Roseneath; 3, Mrs. T. Cobbledick, Warkworth; 4, Mrs. J. E. Macklin, Roseneath.

The Dog Show.

Hounds—1, A. Humphries, Hastings; 2, Frank Shearer, Roseneath; 3, A. Humphries; 4, T. Cobbledick.

The show of collies was also interesting, and this feature as a whole appeared to be worth while.

In the free-for-all race, which was won by Dr. Johnston's "Sunny Jim," with Elmhurst's "Harry H." second and Eddie Jones' "Lloyd-George" third, the crowd got an unexpected thrill when "Harry H." fell heavily on the turf track. The driver escaped unhurt, the sulky not much damaged, but "Harry H." was limping slightly after the race. The horse and gig and rider went down in a heap that brought the crowd swarming around the mix-up.

Rinso

RINSO—not a cake soap, nor a chip soap, nor a washing powder, but pure granules so rich in cleaning value that dirt is loosened while the clothes are soaking. Yet so harmless that your things are as safe in the RINSO suds as in pure water alone.

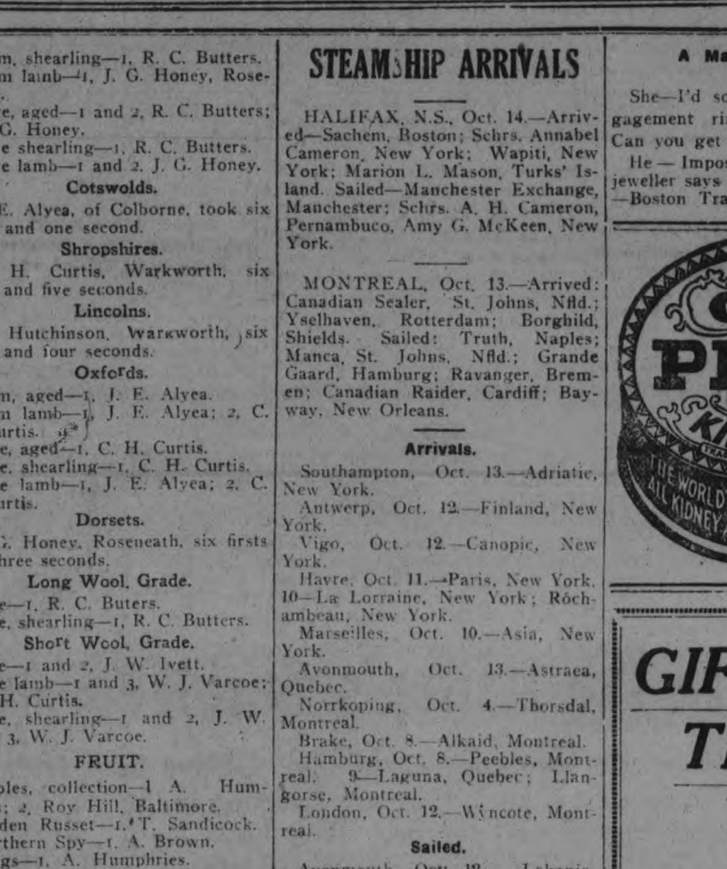
Even the washboard wears out! What about your clothes?

RINSO is different from anything ever before produced—

It is fine granules of purest and highest-quality ingredients ever used in a family laundry soap.

It cleans by soaking in the rich foaming RINSO suds for a few hours and then thorough rinsing in either warm or cold water. Even the worst spots, the collar bands, cuff edges or hems, need only a slight rubbing between the hands to make them, too, perfectly clean.

Just soak the clothes with Rinso. A few hours later rinse them thoroughly in either warm or cold water. That's all. They're clean.



LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED TORONTO

If you have a washing machine—

Soak the clothes overnight in the usual Rinso way. The cleansing suds loosen every bit of dirt. In the morning operate the machine for a few minutes and the clothes are perfectly clean—even the most soiled spots.

STRANDED STEAMER BREAKS AND SINKS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The Norwegian steamer Royal, which stranded Wednesday night near Cape Ballard while en route from Shields to Montreal, has broken in two and sunk, according to word received here from the ship's master, Captain Anderson. The coast steamer Prospero returned to St. John's from the scene of the wreck and reported heavy seas raging in that vicinity and no sign of the Royal showing The tug Ingraham has also gone to the wreck and will bring the crew to St. John's.

One woman is reported to have been on the Royal. The entire complement of the vessel were forced to spend the night, following the wreck, in open boats on a rough sea.

knowledge and the needs of the new world, unhampered by traditions which have outworn their usefulness." A lack of proper understanding brought discontent continued Lord Dawson, which very often led to a rupture of the marriage bond.

Church papers treat this matter from what may be called the conconservative church view point although certain portons of the secular press have been busy gathering opinions in the last few days which maintain that the matter ought to receive more open discussion than had been given it previously.

The secular press has displayed an equal amount of interest in the discussion at the congress concerning why a great majority of the people stand to-day wholly outside the influence of the churches. Rev. R. J. Campbell, the noted non-conformist preacher pointed to the dearth of real preachers as contrasted with mere chatterers or deliverers of inconsequent addresses.

OIL IN AUSTRALIA.

"The Melbourne Herald reports that following the discovery of distinct traces of mineral oil in the Kimberley district of Western Australia, there has been a rush of applicants for oil prospecting licenses. Leases covering a hundred thousand square miles in the western portion of the northern territory, which adjoins the Kimberley district, also have been applied for.

MORE REDUCTION IN AUSTRALIAN ESTIMATES

LONDON, Oct. 15.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—Reuter's correspondent in Melbourne reports that Hon. James Page, leader of the Country Party, has announced that he will move in the House of Representatives that the Australian estimates be reduced by one pound. The Country Party leader had already given notice in the house of a motion to reduce the estimates by an amount equal to the estimated deficit of £2,800,000, as a vote of censure on the government. In order to facilitate discussion, he announced to-day, he proposed to move the reduction of the estimates by one pound.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Entering by way of a window, four automobile bandits yesterday secured admission to the Canadian Railway station at St. Agatha, Man., 24 miles from this city, and rifled the till, from which a small sum of money was obtained. A safe in the building, containing only a few dollars, was untouched. The men escaped.

WICKEDEST BUFFALO EXECUTED BY OWNER.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 15.—(United Press)—Geronimo, the wickedest old buffalo that ever lowered his shaggy head, is dead. Geronimo was owned by Charles Irwin, of the Y—6 ranch.

But Geronimo's meanness increased with age. Wire fences meant nothing to him, and the buffalo became a common sight on many ranches. Naturally ranchmen cursed Geronimo's existence, as their cattle escaped through the gaps in the fence. Reports of badly gored cattle came to Irwin, and one morning a particulary fine bull was found disembowelled. A few hours later, Geronimo appeared at his wallow, his head matted with blood.

And so, on circumstantial evidence the big buffalo was executed by Irwin. His head, with its wickedly gleaming eyes hangs on the wall of the living room of the Y—6 ranch house. His hide makes a beautiful rug.

"And his spirit, reads the signboard above his grave, erected by cowboys on the Y—6 is to be found among the phantom herds of Paradise, where Geronimo, the bison incarnation of the devil himself, has ceased his roaming and fence-walking and treacherous charges, to find happiness in the society of his kind."

In the Nation's Service

The Life Insurance Companies believe in Canada's future. They are assisting in the building of that future. They have loaned to the Governments and municipalities throughout the country one-half of their entire assets, or approximately three hundred million dollars.

This money is building schools, roads, drains, sewers, bridges, public buildings; providing hospitals, asylums, welfare institutions; establishing justice, law and order, and defraying the cost of the war and of carrying on the Government.

When thinking of your life insurance you can do so with pride and satisfaction, because it "serves as it waits." While protecting your family and your business interests, it is working for a better Canada.

New and Interesting Facts from Science and Life

To MEASURE the FORCE in GAZE of the EYE

THROUGHOUT the ages poets and romanticists have filled literature with descriptions of the power of the light that lies in human eyes—from the half-timid, half-hidden g' ce of the coy maiden and the compelling look of the passionate lover to the darting and piercing gaze of the blood-thirsty villain and the frenzied savage. In fact, poetry and romance are still so full of the power of the eye that scientists have long wondered "if it were not true that some force or ray or invisible searchlight were not pouring out from the eye some force which might account for those delightful sensations of the Romeo and Juliet type of vision, or, on the other hand, for the sinister power that the glances of a Nero or a Borgia must have conveyed."

It has recently been made a matter of record that there is actually not only a scientific basis for belief in just such wide powers in the glance of the human eye, but the existence of such a mysterious force has been indisputably proved and supported by actual demonstrations made at a recent meeting of the Ophthalmological Congress at Oxford, England, by Dr. Charles Russ, M. R. C. S., of London. This English physician, who is also an electrical expert, has just announced, after three years of patient research and experimenting, his invention of a very sensitive instrument which, he says, shows that there lies in the human eye certain definite powers which are very distinct from the supposititious influences of will-power, hypnotism, occultism or telepathy.

Prof. Hamilton Hartridge, senior demonstrator in physiology at Cambridge University, writing in Nature, a London scientific publication, supports Dr. Russ's discovery of the force in vision.

Dr. Russ claims that with the device he has invented the force or ray generated by the human eye is actually registered, or, as he explains it in other words, that when one person looks at another there is an actual transmission of power. As evidence of this fact there may be cited the acute discomfort a woman may feel when she has the knowledge that someone is gazing at a hole in her stocking, a discomfort strictly analogous to that experienced by a person with something to conceal while another stares through "the windows of his soul."

In a recent number of the London Lancet, one of the world's leading medical journals, Dr. Russ describes in these words his experiments that resulted in the invention of a device for recording the force generated by a glance of the human eye: "The fact that the direct gaze or vision of one person soon becomes intolerable to another person suggested to me that there might be a ray or radiation issuing from the human eye. If there is such a ray it may produce an uncomfortable effect on the other person's retina or by collision with the other person's ray; it is a fact that after a few seconds the vision of one or the other will have to be turned away at least for a short time. Numerous everyday observations and experiences seem to support the possibility of the existence of a ray or force emitted by the human eye, and in order to give my theory the support of some experimental evidence I decided to try to find or create some instrument which should be set in motion by nothing more than the impact of human vision.

"Although the force or ray I am about to describe emerges from the human eye, and is therefore physiological, the means I employ for its demonstration involve the use of electrical and magnetic instruments. The need for the scrutiny of experts in the science of physics was therefore obvious. I have had the great advantage of giving successful demonstrations of the work to experts in physics, including five Fellows of the Royal Society, besides Doctors and Bachelors of Science. None of these physicists found any mechanical or electrical fallacy which could account for the effects which I demonstrate as due to human vision. They do not so far identify the ray or force as being of a known or unknown type.

"Within a metal box (shown in the accompanying illustration) I suspended a delicate solenoid made of fine copper wire. This solenoid was wound upon a cylinder of celluloid and suspended by a silk fibre (unspun silk) 14 inches long; the silk fibre was contained within a long glass tube mounted in the roof of the metal box. Its upper end was attached to a cork stopper and its lower end was furnished with a small metal stirrup into which the solenoid could be hooked. Attached to the stirrup was a small magnet consisting of a short length of magnetized steel wire.

"The box was 3 feet by 8½ inches by 7 inches, and lined with sheet aluminium. The far end of the box was closed by a sheet of window-glass, and the near, or observer's end, was furnished with a thin glass or celluloid window which was also screened by a sheet of aluminium with a slot 3 inches long and 1 inch wide. A conducting wire connected the silk fibre with the aluminium of the box, which was earthed.

"The solenoid was held steady by the magnet which naturally came to rest in the magnetic meridian. If the human eye looks through the slot in the observing window and maintains a steady gaze at one end of the solenoid the latter will be seen to start into motion, which is usually away from the observing eye. If the gaze be now transferred to the true centre of the solenoid the latter stops, and if the vision is now applied to the opposite end of the solenoid the latter moves in a reverse direction to the motion first induced. This manoeuvre may be repeated several times, each subsequent attempt being made only after the magnet has brought the solenoid to complete rest. Motion of the solenoid, though much reduced, was also obtained after interposing a column of water between the eye and the solenoid."

It is pointed out that Dr. Russ's discovery, which is still in an embryonic stage, is somewhat analogous to the telephone and the phonograph, which were developed out the knowledge that sound produced vibrations in matter. In view of this fact there is the possibility that science may perfect Dr. Russ's instrument to such a degree that this newly discovered force of the human eye may be put to astounding but practical uses.

INSTRUMENT FOR REGISTERING THE FORCE IN THE GAZE OF THE HUMAN EYE.

With a Metal Box a Delicate Solenoid, the Simplest Form of a Magnet, Is Suspended by a Fibre of Unspun Silk. When the Steady Gaze of a Human Eye Is Directed Through the Slot at the Solenoid It Will Start Into Motion Usually Away from the Impelling Force of the Observing Eye.

Electric RESISTANCE of the BODY

MEASUREMENTS as to the electric resistance of the human body, without including the opposition through the skin where the current entered and departed from the body, for the first time, have been made by F. Wenner of the National Bureau of Standards. The conclusions are at variance with those previously announced by M. Gildemeister, a German scientist, whose methods of measurement were dissimilar. The elimination of the substantial and uncertain resistances through the skin is responsible for more representative determinations than heretofare attained.

Interesting is the deduction that the same portion of the body of different individuals may vary in the degree of electric resistance by a ratio of three to two or even more. Also, the opposition of the individual varies from day to day and frequently by slight degrees within the hour. The position of the body and the extent to which the muscles are relaxed are likewise influential factors contributing to variations in resistances. The pathologist is invited to study these differences, inasmuch as some of the changes are due to the conditions of the body as it pertains to the science of diseases.

How the experiments were conducted in a laboratory of the bureau of standards are described in The Scientific American. The feet of the person submitting himself to the test are soused in a bath and the hands are also placed in salt water, being immersed slightly above the wrist. An alternating current of a few milliamperes is passed from hand to foot, and the potential drop caused by this current between the other hand and other foot is measured by an alternating current potentiometer. The ratio of this difference in potential is considered as the resistance. The trunk of the body was found to have a resistance varying for different individuals, but on the average it is about 25 ohms.

For the frequencies used, 25, 60 and 100, the resistance was found to be independent both of the frequency and of the current. Inasmuch as a current of .1 ampere through a vital portion of the body may cause death, scientists consider it of interest to know that this corresponds to a potential drop of only a few volts in a vital part of the body.

BACON and BANANAS for BRAINS

THERE was once a popular notion that a fish diet was especially good for the brain, but science exploded that idea long ago. As a matter of fact, the phosphorus in fish does service to the joints and not to the head. The one merit that fish possesses is that it is easily digested and blood is not therefore drawn from the brain to aid the digestive organs.

By an alliterative coincidence the three things which physicians say are best for the brain are bananas, bacon and brushes.

Bananas have that in them which directly feeds the gray matter of the brain. Their content of sugar, too, is excellent. Sugar, in any form, is energizing to the body, and as brain and body are closely allied anything which reduces bodily fatigue helps the brain. Mental workers know the heavy mental strain of working when the body is tired.

Bacon is said to be a good food for the brain worker because pork excites the imagination. A well-known writer of exciting stories confesses that his inspiration comes from pork chops. So—bacon for the brain.

There remains the brush. Probably nine persons out of ten scratch their heads when they feel a sort of temporary hold-up in the action of their brains. That is nature's stimulus to the gray matter. Rub your head and you bring the blood to the excited part. That is what your brain needs—more blood. Hence the vigorous use of a stiff-bristled brush will, by exciting the scalp, bring blood to the brain and reinvigorate it.

So if you are a busy brain-worker, try bananas, bacon, and a brush.

How the POSTAGE METER Will TAKE the PLACE of STAMPS

A POSTAGE meter machine, first of its kind authorized by the United States postoffice department for metering and printing postage directly on mail, was recently put into effect in the mailing department of one of the great banks of New York city. In this institution 14,500 letters were sent out by the latest invention that, the inventor of the device says, will save millions of dollars a year now expended in the manufacture and distribution of adhesive stamps, in facing postmarking and the cancelling of mail, as well as the loss and labor by the sender.

The postage meter is licensed for use under special rules issued by the United States postoffice department. Permit to use the meter must be secured from the third assistant postmaster-general, division of classification, Washington, D. C. Application must be made through the local postmaster on postoffice form.

The meter is a small printing and recording mechanism in a bronze housing, detachable from the machine which operates it so that it may be taken to the postoffice for setting. The machines are leased to users by the manufacturers.

The lessee purchases the amount of postage and the postoffice department marks the amount on the register of the machine. For example, should $100 worth of postage be bought, the meter would be placed at 5000, which would designate the amount in value of two-cent stamps. When these are used the meter is then taken back to the postoffice to be reset at the amount desired by the user.

The machine is equipped with two registers. One is an ascending total indicator of the amount of postage used, and the other the register just described. The ascending register runs to a million, when it automatically resets to zero. Capacity of the purchaser's register is $2000 in two-cent stamps. It is not necessary to discharge the meter completely before having it reset. Postage may be purchased in any quantity required.

The register door is locked and sealed by the postoffice after each setting. Each meter prints impressions corresponding to the denomination and color of the adhesive stamp for which it takes the place.

Metered mail, as it will be called, will go directly to the sorting boxes as soon as it reaches the postoffice, having been fully identified for its delivery to the receiver in the office where it is addressed. It will do away with fully 80 per cent. of the time and labor now required to affix postage stamps to mail matter, as it operates at a speed of 250 letters a minute and is so simple that it may be operated by any office employe.

The printing die on the meter machine is engraved steel. It is permanently attached to the meter and will not print unless the meter is in proper position on the machine. The inventor says that it is mechanically impossible to waste metered postage, as the register will not record unless an imprint is made on a piece of mail. A set of interchangeable steel type for the date and hour of mailing is furnished with each meter. With stamps many thousands of dollars are wasted annually.

How SMOKERS May "CATCH" the Match-Box DISEASE

JUST as if there are not enough diseases in the world, doctors have gone and discovered a new one. You can get it from a match box, if you carry one. How does that strike you? The London Lancet makes this comment:

The substitution products employed in Germany during the war and still in use have given rise to a number of hitherto unknown skin diseases, to which must now be added match-box dermatitis. This condition, of which Dr. Herbert Stranz of Breslau has seen 16 examples during the last six years, is most frequent in the male sex. His cases occurred exclusively in heavy smokers who were in the habit of carrying a match box in their trousers pocket.

In typical cases the eruption begins on the upper third of the front of the left thigh, occasionally on the right thigh or both thighs at once, as well as on the adjacent part of the lower abdomen and hips, and then attacks the backs of both hands and the face. Experiments made by Frei, in Jadassohn's clinic at Breslau, showed that the dermatitis was due to the presence of the sesquisulphide of phosphorus, which has been used as a substitution product on the striking surface of match boxes since the beginning of the war.

The warmth of the body sets free the irritating substance in the form of a vapor which attacks the skin lying beneath the trousers pocket, and the backs of the hands and the face subsequently become affected.

The clinical picture of match-box dermatitis varies with the extent and age of the lesions and the special sensitiveness of the individual. Occasionally only a slight circumscribed erythema is seen, resembling erysipelas. But in many cases an exudation takes place, with the formation of crusts. In one of Dr. Stranz's cases, the oedema was very pronounced. In long-standing cases the condition resembles chronic lichen. Even in mild cases there is very severe itching and burning pain, and the patient suffers generally owing to loss of sleep. Unless the cause is recognized the condition is liable to last for years. Treatment consists in applying compresses of one-half per cent. boric or resorcin solution. Dr. Stranz has also obtained good results from the use of X-rays, owing to their anti-pruriginous action.

Do BRUNETTES Make LOVE BEST?

IS the brunette more loving than the blonde? This has long been a warmly-debated question, as also has been the problem of which is the more trustworthy in love.

Most people seem to think that dark women are less fickle, and also that the fair-haired girl is a better helpmate for a man, for the simple reason that she is more shrewd and business-like.

It is certain that there are essential differences in the "chemistry" of the two types, and it may be that these chemical differences form a real basis for the beliefs concerning the two colorings.

The pineal gland, situated in the brain, has long been a puzzle to scientists of all nations. They have been unable to discover its use. Eminent surgeons have stated that this is a ductless or tubeless gland, similar to the thyroid in the throat, and that its secretion, though very small, has a profound effect upon the character of the blood, and consequently upon the nervous system.

Emotions are a reaction of the blood and the nerves, so it is obvious that differences in the pineal gland and its secretions produce corresponding differences in the character and emotions of the owners.

The researches of medical men have shown that there are certain fixed differences in the pineal glands of fair and of dark women. This gland is smaller in the blonde and its secretions are less, while its structure is more compact.

The fair woman is almost invariably supposed to have what is known as the "plane" type of face. Tracing back through the ages the mental characteristics behind this type of face, it is stated that the "plane" face is characteristic of the descendants of early peoples who, mostly on account of climatic conditions, were obliged to put up a severe struggle for existence. This made them intelligent, vigorous, aggressive and active. It is held that these peoples became smarter and more cunning than those living in warmer climes.

The brunette is supposed to be the representative of an early people who lived in comparative ease. They therefore developed a more indolent disposition, both mental and physical. Being spared exertion, the dark woman was more free to give her attention to the emotions.

Here's a Disarmament Suggestion: Make Bayonets Into Kindling Wood Splitters

INGENIOUS minds in Europe have been working overtime ever since the armistice was signed and hostilities ceased, developing all manner of peaceful uses for military equipment.

The Bayonet Kindling Wood Splitter.

Among the many of these innovations and adaptations is the bayonet wood-splitter.

This device, as described in the Scientific American, consists of the standard bayonet scabbard, the bayonet, and two members which hold the bayonet and scabbard together and permit of mounting them on a wall, all as shown in the accompanying illustration.

A number of notches cut in the front end of the scabbard permit of holding a piece of wood of any length in place while the bayonet does the splitting.

The VERSATILE BEAN

THE praises of the Chinese soya bean as food have been sung by experts who wanted to bring down the cost of living. Industriously they gave exhibits of palatable ways in which it could be prepared. Still, for some reason, the soya bean as food didn't take—or hasn't yet!

But the soya is a versatile bean. Cast off as a food, it proves itself valuable as a paint and varnish oil! Its possibilities in this direction were first investigated some time ago, when the failure of the flax crop in the Northwest caused a serious shortage of linseed oil. A large quantity of soya beans was imported from Manchuria and distributed pretty generally through the country with the co-operation of the United States department of agriculture.

The beans grew well in all sections, but throve most lustily in the South. Here the cottonseed crushers took a keen interest in the experiment. Oil was crushed from the beans grown in this section and experiment established its desirability as a paint oil.

How FOGS Are FORMED

WHAT is fog? The average person would say it is low clouds resting on the earth's surface. This is quite true, but the question is usually dropped at this point and little thought is given to why these clouds form so much nearer the ground at some times than at others.

As the weather bureau explains it, both fog and clouds are formed when condensation of moisture takes place in the atmosphere. Fog is composed of minute particles of visible vapor. They were once believed to be hollow spheres, but science now declares that each individual drop is a solid body of water enveloping a particle of dust in the air and supported by the upward tendency of air currents and the resistance of atmosphere to the falling of minute spherical particles. The diameter of the smallest visible particles of fog has been estimated to be 1-180 of an inch.

Fogs are seldom more than 1500 feet in depth, and sometimes they only extend 20 or 30 feet above the ground. They have been known to form in a stratum to only the height of a man.

In accordance with the conditions under which fogs develop they are divided into two general classes, "radiation fogs" and "advection fogs." The former kind, which may also be designated as "land fogs" and "summer fogs," are likely to occur along streams and rivers and in mountain valleys during any clear, still night in summer and fall. In such regions during a warm, calm day considerable water becomes evaporated into the lower atmosphere, where, if the weather remains calm, a large portion of it lingers after sundown. This moist air, together with the heat from the earth at night is cooled rapidly by radiation into the clear sky, and they often cool to a degree below the dew point, which condenses the moisture into a visible vapor known as fog. Like dew, "radiation fogs" will not form on cloudy or windy nights. Such fogs may continue well after daybreak, but will vanish when the sun's heat induces evaporation and a discontinuance of radiation.

An Easy Way to Remove Dents from Automobiles

IF sufficient care is exercised, it is possible to make a good repair job of the dents and disfiguring depressions which mar the surfaces of automobile bodies and fenders. Fill a sack made of heavy canvas with builders' sand and fasten a board to one side of it, so that one side of the bag is soft and one rigid. Place the soft side against the cavity in the sheet metal, and hammer the ridge which corresponds to the cavity on the other side of the metal.

Use a rubber-faced or boxwood mallet, to avoid cracking the material, and strike light blows in circles around the damaged part, narrowing the circles gradually until the centre is reached. In this way the material will be restored to its original shape, and if the blows are not too violent, there is no danger of making a bulge in the opposite direction, as the sand offers sufficient resistance to keep the surface flat.

The method of holding the sack in position will depend on the conditions governing each case, but if the car is placed near a wall, the matter will not be difficult.

Remedy for Healing Wounds

ACCORDING to the Danish Weekly for Physicians, Dr. Fischer of Copenhagen has succeeded in producing a liquid medium which is said to be exceedingly efficient in surgery. The new remedy, which its discoverer calls "incotamin," consists of a pancreatic extract and a serum; the nature of this latter has not been definitely stated. The remedy has been most effective with wounds which showed a tendency to delay in healing. It has failed, however, with cancer, tuberculosis and other deep-seated wounds.

The need of Germany before the war was for more students. Today the need is for highly skilled workers and, whenever practicable, university heads advise young men to learn a trade rather than a profession.

The average child enrolled in the public schools attends 120 days in the school term, or about three-fourths of the time. Absence from school costs the United States $195,000,000 annually.

PETERBOROUGH AMATEUR ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION IS WELL SUPPORTED

PUBLIC WANT CLEAN SPORT AND WHOLESOME ATMOSPHERE

With six hudred members, and the list growing every day, the Peterboro Amateur Athletic Association is well up in the first lap of a new era in sport in this city. The names of two hundred and two members are given herewith. This list of names alone, indicates the strength behind a movement that has for its object the promotion of clean sport, and carrying with it a united effort to build up an atmosphere that will tend to help and elevate young Peterborough.

It is a matter of satisfaction to the officers of the Association to find that all Peterboro is behind the movement and willing to give it a fair trial. The success of the membership drive speaks for itself.

Among the membership seekers, Dr. R. Frank, Dr. E. H. Wood, and H. A. Cranfield are doing great work, the former out in front with more than one hundred members. Dr. Wood in reporting sixty-four members, gives fourteen from the Fire Department. Seven memberships have been secured from the Police Department. J. E. Sullivan sent in a list of twenty members yesterday from the Quaker Oats Co.

Ten honorary members, each of whom contributed $5.00, appear in today's list. Just as soon as new lists can be prepared they will be published.

HELP FIGHT DREAD SCOURGE

creased to proportions so menacing that philanthropists and other sympathetic men and women have organized to minimize the attacks of, if not eradicate entirely, this terrible tuberculosis scourge.

And so, with this worthy end in view, the National Sanitarium Association of Canada was instituted, and its operations have in the past been remarkably successful in saving to home, loved ones, and country, many a consumptive patient who, without such aid, would have succumbed to this disease. In fact, since the advent of this association, the death-rate from consumption in Ontario has been reduced in the past twenty years from 153 to 78 per 100,000.

Money Needed.

But now, to further prosecute the good work and to rebuild the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, destroyed by fire, a million dollars are needed from this Province; and a campaign for that amount's subscription is under way. Prominent Peterborough men have also organized to secure a contribution of $10,000 from this city as its quota of the total sum needed by the National Sanitarium Association, and a thorough canvass of the community will be undertaken, from Tuesday, October 23, to Friday, the 28th.

The committee in charge of this local campaign are: Mayor A. A. McIntyre, Hon. chairman; Geo. A. Gillespie, chairman; W. G. Morrow, vice-chairman; W. R. Morris, secretary, and W. H. Dunsford, treasurer.

Besides the above executive, subcommittees have been organized as follows:

Special Subscriptions—J. J. Turner, chairman.

Main Streets Com.—Thos. Barrie, chairman.

Industrial — Adjt. W. Buntin, chairman.

Fraternal Organizations — S. R. Armstrong, chairman.

House-to-House Canvass — Boy Scouts, Messrs. W. D. Tyrer and C. E. Jamieson, chairmen.

Publicity—R. M. Glover.

FRANCE AND BRITAIN AGREE OVER SILESIA

PARIS, Oct. 14. — (Canadian Press.) — The British and French Governments are now in complete agreement on acceptance of the Upper Silesian decision and on the procedure to put the decision of the Council of the League of Nations into effect. The Council of Ambassadors will shortly notify the German and Polish governments to take the necessary measures to apply the decision.

BABY BEGLEY.

"It was the Virol saved her Life."

40, Java Street, Ottawa, 21/9/20.
Dear Sirs,

I want to tell about my baby Doris Mabel. She weighed 5½ lbs. when born and appeared healthy then, but began to waste away, and was so poorly that she had to be carried about on a pillow and no food would agree with her.

At the age of two months the nurse advised VIROL added to the feeding; she then weighed 5 lbs. and after a few days she began to improve. The VIROL was continued and she steadily gained until at nine months she weighed 17 lbs. The nurse at the Health Station said she had very little hope of the baby living, and we are sure it was the VIROL saved her life. I am enclosing her photo taken at the age of one year and eight months, weighing 22 lbs., and you can use it if you wish as I am so grateful to your VIROL.

Yours truly,
(Sgd.) (Mrs.) W. J. BEGLEY.

Virol is used in large quantities in more than 2,500 Hospitals and Infant Clinics. It is invaluable for the expectant and nursing mother herself, whilst for children it supplies those vital principles that are destroyed in the sterilising of milk; it is also a bone and tissue building food of immense value. Virol babies have firm flesh, strong bones and good colour.

The GRESSMAN

SOCIALISM AND THE CHURCH

(A. H. McCOMACHIE.)

Is there anything in common between the teaching of Socialism and the teaching of Christ and the church? To reasonable minds there is much in common.

Let us ignore the extremists on both sides. Rub out the Karl Morse Socialist and the faddist in religion, and plain men will find a congenial meeting-ground. Keir Hardie prophesied that Socialism would be the human religion of the twentieth century. That saying has its element of truth. Keir Hardie was a good Christian and preached as a layman in Scotland before he was sent to the British House of Commons. His Socialism was learned by the gospel he preached in earlier days.

Socialism Defined.

Take the following definition of Socialism. "A world-wide movement toward universal order, co-operation and brotherhood, in place of the present disorder, competition and selfish exclusiveness, which seeks to express itself politically and industrially by substituting the principle of democratic public ownership for public welfare, in place of private ownership for private profit, in the industries and conduct of the nations of the world." Does anyone fail to read in that definition the radical teaching of Jesus? Did not He teach universal order, co-operation and brotherhood? Surely these ideas are the foundation of the kingdom He sought to establish on earth. The brotherhood of man was a theme dear to His heart. It was wider than the church. The Good Samaritan was brother to the man who fell among thieves, but he did not belong to the same church as Jesus. The outcast, the prisoner, the poor and the naked were brothers and sisters to the Son of Man. So He himself taught, and He applied the social test. "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these brothers of mine, even the least, ye did it unto Me."

Aims of Socialism.

Socialism aims at universal brotherhood. It would remove the barriers that keep men apart. It deals with live questions leading to live issues. It gathers to itself adherents from among serious students of human life, because of its practical aims. The church also aims at brotherhood—that is, if the programme of Christ is to be realized. The new order of society is to be brought about by a change of heart, by a new spirit expressing itself in suitable action. "Whoever possesses this world's goods and notices his brother in need and shuts his heart against him, how can the love of God remain in him?" The changed heart has its social expression. Jesus laid down His life for the brotherhood.

Its Mode of Working.

Socialism has its own mode of working. It may seem to discard moral education and religion, but in reality its best teachers reckon them, and understand that a new spirit is needed. But they also teach that certain great, social and economic changes are necessary to the realization of brotherhood.

Socialism believes "that the land and all the instruments of production, distribution and exchange are the property of the people, to be managed by the people, for the people, having for its object the production of a healthy race, and the attainment of that leisure and freedom from the fear of poverty necessary to develop to the fullest all that is best and highest in every unit of the community." It is a noble ideal. Surely it is not alien to the mind of Christ. There can be no real brotherhood in present conditions. How can the millionaire fraternize with the wage-earner? How can the lordly owner of the mansion be brother to the tenant of a room and kitchen in the dingy tenement? The extremes are too great. Changes of a radical kind must be if the teaching of Jesus is to bear its noblest fruit.

Ideals the Same

It may be allowed, then, that the ideal of the moderate Socialist, and of the modern churchman is the same—the elevation of the mass of humanity.

Same End in View.

With the same end in view, the Socialist and the churchman may appear to take different roads and apply different means. The Socialist strains the economic law, the churchman emphasizes the moral and religious. Both are needed, each in its own place and measure. Neither by itself can attain the end in view.

The Socialist need not subscribe to all the church teaches, nor need the churchman subscribe to all that is set forth in the name of Socialism. But surely the time has come for reasonable men to try to grasp the things that unite, and to labor for the common good. The greatest good of the greatest number must be the ideal. It is a great sight to see men of various schools of thought forgetting their differences and working harmoniously together in social service. In the kingdom of truth there is room for the convinced Socialist and for the ardent moralist whose religion is touched with emotion.

Let not the religious bigot protest that the Socialist is not true to the best in his creed. That can only meet with the retort, "See how these Christians love one another." "They say and do not." Why not in a friendly spirit cultivate the ground that is common to us, and share in the increase of the harvest.

New Drug Will Make Millions of People Well

NEW DRUG WORTH MILLIONS TO SUFFERING HUMANITY —NUMBERLESS PEOPLE GO DOWN TO THEIR GRAVES 10 TO 20 YEARS BEFORE THEY SHOULD.

A poisoned system soon decays, causing early death. We are only as old as our Livers. When the Liver is out of order the system is unable to discharge the waste matter, causing a poisoning of the whole system, which no doubt causes all sorts of aches and pains. When the system becomes poisoned, some organ of the body is sure to suffer. It may be your Stomach, Kidneys Liver, Intestines, etc.

There is only one drug known that will relieve this, and that is Tanated Calomel, which is the only drug known that will act directly upon the Liver. Tanated Calomel is very different from all forms of Calomel. It is very quickly taken up by the system, and acts on the Liver in a few minutes after taking. No Salts, Seidlitz or Castor Oil are necessary to remove it from the system, as it is self-eliminating. No nausea, sick stomach or griping after taking.

You no doubt have been taking all sorts of Tonics, Laxatives from time to time, with only temporary results. The reason is that none of these medicine act upon the Liver, and you cannot have good health with a disordered Liver.

Doctors recommend that you take one Tanated Calomel about 15 minutes before meals or take two at bedtime, and you will get a good sleep, waking in the morning feeling 100 p.c. better, full of vigor, bright, alert, clear-headed and ready for a good day's work.

Tanated Calomel is sold in Peterborough by F. C. Weber, Charlotte street.

BRIAND CABINET IN DANGER WHEN DEPUTIES MEET.

Fate to be Decided at Meeting of Parliament.

By WEBB MILLER,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, Oct. 15.—With the convocation of Parliament on October 18, upon which depends the life or death of the Briand Cabinet, only a few days away, public and press opinion regarding the Washington conference is crystalizing.

Thus far the outstanding question is on the advisability of Briand or any French Premier personally representing France at the conference table. Opinion is sharply divided regarding the wisdom of such an unprecedented absence of a Premier from France. As so far expressed the majority of press opinion is against the Premier personally going.

The reason most often advanced by those opposed is that the personal presence of the Premier would result unfavorably to the interests of France—that, as a matter of principle, subordinates should do the actual negotiating, while the Premier should stand back and oversee the proceedings from a distance. The Versailles Treaty is continually cited as an example of the evils of the heads of nations negotiating personally.

Another argument is that the long absence of the Premier would be prejudicial to the internal government of the nation, which would necessarily be left in less responsible and less experienced hands.

Among the few papers actively supporting the idea of the Premier going to Washington is the "Gaulois," which outlines the advantages to be gained by the presence of the French Premier.

"It is permissible to inquire whether the time has not come for us to envisage an accord with the United States and to know in what measure and upon what we are authorized to base our hopes other than the warm expressions of friendship manifested on every occasion towards us by the American people.

"Certainly, it would be a grave error to expect formal engagements from Washington engagements which are not in harmony with their constitutional laws, ideas or policies. But it would seem, that France has much to gain by her political leader coming into personal contact with Harding and his Cabinet. Then, too, it would have a deplorable effect upon our American friends if the Premier should renounce his visit to Washington after formally accepting the invitation.

A WOMAN'S HEALTH NEEDS GREAT CARE

WHEN THE BLOOD BECOMES WATERY A BREAKDOWN FOLLOWS

Every woman's health is dependent up on the condition of her blood How many women suffer with headache pain in the back, poor appetite weak digestion, a constant feeling of weariness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, pallor and nervousness? Of course all these symptoms may not be present—the more there are the worse the condition of the blood, and the more necessary that you should begin to enrich it without delay. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a splendid bloodbuilding tonic. Every dose helps to make better blood which goes to every part of the body and brings new health to weak despondent people. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are valuable to all women but they are particularly useful to girls of school age who become pale languid and nervous. There can be neither health nor beauty without red blood which gives brightness to the eyes and color to the cheeks and lips. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood as is shown by the experience of Mrs. Jos. E. Veniotte, West Northfield, N.S., who says: "For several years I was in a bad state of health. I was pale and nervous, my appetite was poor, and I suffered from weakness, headaches and a feeling of oppression. I got so nervous that I was afraid to stay in the house alone. All this time I was taking medicine, but it only did not help me, but I was growing weaker. Finally I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using six boxes I felt much better. I had a better appetite, slept better and felt stronger. However, I continued taking the pills for a couple of months longer and now I am feeling as well as ever I did. I give all the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and hope that my experience may be of benefit to some other weak woman."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TRIS SPEAKER AND PARTY HAVE LUCK.

Favored With Good Sport on Rice Lake—Nunamaker Here a Few Days.

Since Tris Speaker, "Les" Nunamaker and several Cleveland friends T. H. Hooper and Chris Graham went down to Mr. Hooper's lodge on Rice Lake a week ago today, they have been too busy to let the rest of the world know what they were doing, at least, this is the conclusions sportsmen have reached. They have not relieved the curiosity of gunners and fishermen as to their luck during the week, but today on returning from the solitudes of Idyll Wilde, they should have tales of rare adventure to tell.

The meager news Mr. Graham has sent to the Empress Hotel is that he and the party will be home (today) Saturday. He reported good luck with both hook and line and Mr. Hooper has sent home material evidence of this sometimes doubted statement in the shape of a fine piece of lunge.

It is understood that Nunamaker will spend a few days in Peterboro, but the captain of the Indians will leave for his ranch in Texas without delay.

THOUGHTS

How still it is! The busy workaday world has ceased its labors, the rush and turmoil of daily strife is over, and night stretches its somber shadows over all. No sound but the drip of the blessed rain breaks the silence, and it falls in a soft, slow dripping as though looth to break the slumber. Sitting alone in the stillness of our room, looking out into the darkness, Listening to the patter of the raindrops, thoughts too many and many of them too painful, come thronging up in our brain—thoughts that keep 'Death's twin sister, Sleep' far away. There are many things, as we think of them, that should not have been neglected, many unkind words spoken that can never be recalled whose wounds nor after words or deeds can entirely heal.

The flesh may heal over wounds but the scar ever remains; this is true of a flesh wound, and more so when the feelings of the heart has been hurt. Strange, too, that it is not the alien, the sometime guest, or the acquaintance, upon whom we inflict these wounds, but those who are nearest or dearest—those upon whom existence of our lives, as it were, depends—those who love us and are entitled to all the love and endearing words, all the little acts of kindness that go toward making a happy life.

Think when we frown upon one of the household band, who would give their life, if need be, for our pleasure, and turn with a sweet smile and pleasant word for the stranger, the friend of an hour, who would care not into what depths of misery we might be plunged.

Cheerfulness! How sweet in infancy, how lovely in youth, how saintly in old age! There are few noble natures whose very presence carries sunshine with them wherever they go; a sunshine means pity for the poor, sympathy for the suffering unfortunate, and benignity toward all. How such a face enlivens every other face it meets, and carries into every company vivacity and joy and gladness. But the scowl and frown, begotten in a selfish heart, and manifesting itself daily, almost hourly fretfulness, complaining, fault finding, angry criticisms, spiteful comments, on the motives and actions of others, how they thin the cheek, shrivel the face, sour and sadden the countenance. No joy in the heart, nobility in the soud, no generosity in the nature, the whole character as cold as an Alpine rock as arid as the waste of Sahara. Which of these countenances are you cultivating.

A pleasant woman in the home is like a gleam of Heaven's brightest sunshine. Her presence sooths comforts and cheers the heart of man. Don't forget this girls, when you get married. The only way to be pleasant is to make a study of art, convert it into science and study it as such. A woman who makes the man she loves believes she knows not the meaning of worry, and who always has for him a pleasant smile, a word of welcome will find that tender thoughts of her are creeping into his heart than those of the beauty whom she envies. Girls, you don't know what an affect continued pleasantness has upon a man. We would suggest to you to make a study of the art of being pleasant.

Have you noticed how large a number of persons with whom you to have a little chat, speak of the dark blotches of human nature in the lives of someone? We will not expect the person of the highest moral standing in the community. Nine out of every ten persons in a ten minutes' talk will bring up the defects in some one's life and one startle you by speaking only of the good that may be found in most every individual. There is no life without its defects, neither without its excellencies, and what a different coloring it would give to humanity if the rule were reversed to what it is. And reader, it rests with you and us to start reform, and with such a good start as we may be able to give it, we are sure it will be contagious if we persevere. For when neighbors speak naught of ill and only laud the good that is in us we will not be far from that glorious period denominated the millenium.

A good example is the best teacher. Precepts are useless if contradited by our daily living. If we are slaves to our evil passions, how can we teach our children self-control. If we sometimes speak or act an untruth, we cannot expect them to be truthful. Do not scold, do not use harsh words, for they will surely be reflected in your children.

Don't tell everything you know, don't tell everything you hear, don't blister your tongue with backbiting, don't be Satan's bellows to blow up the fire of strife in the community. Either cut off a bit of your tongue or season it with the salt of grace. Be quick to work and slow to talk. Think of your own faults ere other people's faults ere other people's faults you tell.

Our life abroad is but a reflex of what is at home. This is especially true to women. The woman who is rude coarse, rude and vulgar at home, cannot be expected to be chaste and refined in the world. She cannot shake them off. They are woven into the web of life.

An outburst of temper is like the bursting of a steam-boiler, it is impossible to tell beforehand what will be the result. The evil may never be remedied. Starve your temper It is not worth keeping live. Starve it.

This would be a great and glorious old world in a few years if our children would only achieve what we expect and predict for them.

MOSQUITOES

At a meeting of the Peterborough Chambers of Commerce, Mr. P. Westbye gave the appended address on mosquitos:

Something like a marvel was accomplished at Panama—so complete is the transformation that astonished observers have declared with mild and not unjustifiable exageration that the foremost pest hole of the earth has become a health resort. It is indeed a supreme achievement in sanitation, but it is no miracle.

In 1900 surgeons and soldiers of the U.S. army at the risk of their lives proved that yellow fever, the supreme terror of the tropics, was not a contagious or a filth disease, but was transmitted from one being to another solely by the mosquito of a particular type, the Stegonyea, of which we have plenty in this country.

When the Americans took possession of the isthmas in 1904 they began the task of converting it into a healthful place in not only the light of the yellow fever transmission discovery, but of another—only secondary in importance, which had been made in 1898—that malaria was transmitted in like manner from person to person by a mosquito of a different type, the Anophelius.

The theory that yellow fever was transmitted from one person to another by means of mosquitoes was advanced speculatively in 1847, but it was first set forth positively by Dr. Charles J. Finlay of Havana in a paper published in 1881.

Several of Dr. Finlay's experiments were not successful, because he used for innoculation mosquitoes that had bitten yellow fever patients five days before, whereas, the later experiments proved that a mosquito is harmless until twelve days or longer after biting. During the occupation of Cuba by the United States in 1900 there was a yellow fever epidemic in Havana. There were 1,600 cases and 231 deaths. All existing methods were used, etc., and the doctors stood by the death beds of the victims in utter perplexity and wonder.

Dr. Geo. M. Sternburg surgeon of the U.S. army appointed four army surgeons especially fitted for testing out the different theories that had been advanced—Dr. Walter Reed, Dr. Jas. Carroll, Dr. J. W. Lazer and Dr. Aristids Arramento—a board to conduct a series of experiments with a view to ascertain the causation and methods, and transmission of the disease from one person to another.

This board began its experiments in June, 1900, and continued them into February, 1901. Bacterium transmission was proved unfounded. Attention was then turned to the theory of mosquito transmission, and it was decided to subject that to a series of experiments. Only human being could be used for these experiments. Dr. Argran.ento was immune, but the other two were not, while Dr. Reed was called to Washington on Government orders. Drs. Carroll and Lazer were unwilling to assume the responsibility of asking others to risk their lives unless they first risked their own, and accordingly they agreed to make the first experiments on themselves.

To realize the complete devotion to duty and high courage of their resolve please bear in mind that they knew exactly the terror which they were facing, and most likely death itself. They made the resolve without proclamation of any sort, without publicity, or the desire of it.

Pay Tribute to the Medical Profession.

The breeding of the infected mosquito was assigned to Dr. Lazer. Dr. Carroll was first bitten and suffered a very severe attack of yellow fever from which he, however, recovered, but for a time his life hung in a balance. Subsequently Dr. Lazer, while in a yellow fever hospital, collecting blood from the patients for study, saw a mosquito settle on his hand. He allowed it to remain there, calmly studying its operation until it had satisfied its hunger.

Five days later he came down with yellow fever in its most terrible form, from which he died. These cases had demonstrated conclusively that the disease was transmitted by mosquitoes.

It was made plain by the cases of Drs. Carroll and Lazer that the infected mosquito did not become harmful until a considerable time after biting. To discover the length of this period, and also the length of the period which must elapse after the patients have been stricken before the disease can be conveyed to the mosquito by transmission, Dr. Reed instituted a second series of experiments in a camp named after Dr. Lazer.

General Wood, then military surgeon of Cuba, called for volunteers for their experiment, and offered a reward of $200.00 for such service.

The first to present themselves were two young soldiers rom Ohio, John Kischenger and John Moren. Dr. Reed explained the danger to them, etc. Both young men declared that they were prepared to undergo the experiment, but that they under no consideration would accept any money reward. When Dr. Reed heard this declaration he touched his hat, and with profound respect said, "Gentlemen, I salute you."

Kischenger on three consecutive occasions was taken, clad in his night shirt, into a room where mosquitoes known to be infected were confined, and laying down remained there quietly while they bit him. He was infected with a fever from which he, however, recovered.

Moren, fresh from the bath, and clad only in his night shirt, entered a room the same day, and was bitten, all told, by fifteen fever-infected mosquitoes.

On Christmas morning, 1900, this brave lad was stricken with yellow fever, and had a very sharp attack, from which he recovered. There were in all 22 persons who submitted to the test.

In order to demonstrate conclusively that yellow fever was not a contagious disease Dr. Robt. Cook, assistant surgeon, United States army, and six privates of the hospital corps occupied a small building with one single room, 14 ft. x 20 ft., and guarded against mosquitoes. They were supplied with a large quantity of bed clothes, wearing apparel and night clothing taken from the beds of persons who had died of yellow fever. For twenty consecutive nights Dr. Cook and his men slept in the contaminated clothing, although the stench was so offensive as to be almost unbearable. They emerged from the ordeal in perfect health, proven beyond a doubt that the disease was transmitted solely by the mosquito.

Of such men mankind has a right to be proud. Alone they went into death itself, remaining there for hours, days and weeks, inviting death without thought of renoun or lasting remembrance.

Dr. Lazer was an American; Dr. Carroll an Englishman. Both countries have a right to be proud of having raised men with such lofty heroism. They should rank in history with men such as Alfred the Great, Pasteuer and Lincoln, and I suggest that they belong to no country, but to the human race.

Their deeds are the common heritage and common glory of all mankind.

The discovery that malaria is not due to poisonous air of any sort, but is transmitted from one person to another by a mosquito of the Anopheles variety was made by Major Dr. Ronald Ross, a surgeon of the British army. He was successful in infecting birds with malaria from the bites of mosquitoes. In accordance with the discoveries of Dr. Ross the malaria was practically stamped out in Havana in 1903, and also in other parts of the world, notably in Egypt.

AUTOMATIC POSTAGE METER THE LATEST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(United Press)—Thanks to the new automatic postage meter, which post offices in the large industrial towns have ready for hire, and you mail a thousand letters without stamps as soon as you like to rent the machine.

The meter looks like a small hand safe, stands about twelve inches high and has an inside mechanism which provides for a stamping pad which dates the letters and cancels the stamp. You hire your machine and take it away from the post office, "charged up" to frank thousand letters. All your mail clerk has to do is to slip the envelopes through the foot of the machine, press a button—and presto—out they come, all dated and franked ready to be put aboard the train. When the thousand register shows on the machine the post office rewinds it for a fresh thousand franklins with a special key.

Several New York firms have adopted the machine since its very recent appearance—it has been a few weeks since the post office adopted the invention.

BASEBALL STARS THE PRODUCT OF MESQUITE, TEXAS.

Every Thirteenth Native Becomes Professional Ball Player.

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 15.—(United Press).—Every thirteenth person born in Mesquite, Texas, turns out to be a professional baseball player.

With a population of 350, this little town, which is located a few miles south of Dallas, has sent twenty-seven native sons to organized baseball and some of them have been big league players.

They began to raise their boys to be ball players back in the 'eighties, when Babe Polly went up to the National League as a catcher. Then they sent Mike Erwin to Brooklyn, Jack Kimbell to Pittsburgh, Buddy Napier to Cincinnati and other players to minor leagues.

Among the minor league stars were Ewell Gross, shortstop for San Antonio; Lawrence Parker, with Dallas; Dan Gross, with Ranger; Charlie Porter, known as "Chief" Porter, with Springfield (Three-Eye League); Cy Watson, Texas League star twirler, and several others who are playing minor league ball, but who have not yet come out as stars.

In addition to this the town has an amateur team which has challenged any team in the State for a series of five games for a big purse.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

AVERS BELGIUM

ternal trouble as rather exaggerated. The English people themselves are not bothering to any great extent over the great issues a stake in their country at present; the Irish situation, the unemployment problem and discussion over disarmament receiving much less attention in London itself than in the foreign press. Mr. Lloyd George still remains the popular idol, and they look to him to pull them through. Mr. Goodwin was in England at the time of the coal strike and gave as his opinion that direct action in such matters received a severe blow during the strike. He believes that in future reliance will be placed more upon constitutional methods, and characterized the labor leaders of England as some of the most sane and farsighted of their kind in the world.

Mr. Goodwin with his wife and daughter, previous to his European trip, had spent several months in Japan, visiting the Yokohama branch of the firm and also penetrating far inland along the western coast of the country. He spoke of the places where dense crowds would gather around the little party as they walked along the streets, and the women standing in the doorways gazed in amazement at the foreign ladies carrying flowers, vegetables, birds and animals on their hats and around their necks.

Military Dominate.

The military class still retains its ascendancy over the country, where fifty cents out of every dollar earned by its people goes towards the upkeep of the naval and military authorities. Although government is supposed to be constitutional in the Flowery Kingdom, the military, through authority received from the hands of the Emperor, remain the ruling element, and Mr. Goodwin, in this proud and virile people, with an unbroken dynasty stretching back through innumerable generations, and the consciousness of an absolutely unconquered kingdom, with the feeling that their treatment at the hands of the United States for long has been an insult to their national pride, sees a menace which with the Teutonic element which animates and trains their soldiery, is underrated by the majority of the peoples of the world, too prone to regard the yellow man as an inferior being.

Canada is Fortunate.

Regarding Canada and its future, Mr. Goodwin remarked on the interest taken by the peoples of every country in this great land and the boundless opportunities it offers. He regards it as the most fortunately-situated country on the map to-day, and recalled as quite probable the dream of Lord Strathcona which predicted Canada being one day the "centre of the Empire."

Speaking of general trade conditions, Mr. Goodwin deplored the short-sighted policy which demands that Germany pay its bills in as short order as possible, and denies to her the right of selling her goods in a foreign market, the only logical way in which reparation can be made possible. "I olden days," said Mr. Goodwin, "a conquered country was habitants were made to work for the conquerors." In a modern sense, this could be done by making the conquered Teutons work for the whole world.

A Future Menace.

In the action of Germany in going ahead and working with might and main to pay off its indebtedness, working, as it is obliged to do, against adverse conditions, while the other countries of the world slacken up the wheels of industry and sit back wating for the proceeds of Hun industry to flow into their coffers, he sees a future menace greater than the one of the past, for Germany will arise from the midst of her ruins greater and stronger than ever, by reason of the conflict through which she must pass. "But the world does not see this. The other countries are not working. Canada will not work, "and in particular, Mr. Goodwin saw in the action of the United States in raising its protective tariff walls a situation which would inevitably react to the detriment of that country. "It is an axiom of trade, as it is an axiom of life itself, that only by the success of our competitors, are we enabled to achieve success," and the country that shuts itself within a provincial barricade of this sort will hurt no one so much as itself in the long run. In support of this, Mr. Goodwin cited the case of the British Empire, which trades without restrictions with the entire world, and in so doing, has built up for itself an unparalleled network of trade and commerce throughout the universe. As success in individual life means a greater purchasing power in the man or woman who achieves it, so success in the retail store, the wholesale establishment, the town ,city, or the nation itself, means greater purchasing power in every instance, and therefore greater opportunity and success for those who trade with that nation. "The law of life which applies to the individual also applies to the nation, and there is no gainsaying it."

ELECTION NEWS

FRONTENAC FARMER CANDIDATE WITHDRAWS

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

KINGSTON, Oct. 15. — It was stated here this morning on good authority that John A. Kennedy, of Hinchinbrooke, chosen by the U.F.O. to oppose Hon. Dr. J. W. Roberts in the election, will not be a candidate. The rumor that Mr. Kennedy would drop out had been going the rounds for several days, but to-day it was learned that he has intimated that he would not be in the contest in that section for reasons of a personal nature.

He was nominated at a big U.F.O .gathering held here on October 5. It is stated that his nomination met with family objections and that Mr. Kennedy is desirous of stepping out in time for the U.F.O. to choose another candidatee. The retirement of Mr. Kennedy has caused a big sensation in political circles, especially with the U.F.O. followers, as was regarded as the man who could defeat Dr. Edwards. He lives in the northern part of Frontenac and it was felt that he would be able to split the vote. It is understood that the U.F.O. will meet in the course of a few days and select another candidate.

OPPOSE DRAYTON.

TORONTO, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Although there was reference to the possibility of Sir Henry Drayton entering Farkdale Riding, there were a number of pointed references to the fact that Conservatives would be the choice of the men who belonged to the riding at the meeting last night to select delegates to Parkdale and South Toronto Conservative conventions. Dave Spence and J. S. Lundy went on record as being "in the fight to stay."

CALGARY, Oct. 15.— (Canadian Press.) — In launching the government campaign here last night Hon. R. B. Bennett said the real issue of the election was whether or not by the use of the tariff Canada shall, in self defence, protect its markets for its own people and develop its greatest resources or give free trade and afford development for the welfare of foreign countries, reduce the value of the Canadian dollar and add to unemployment.

Albert Schneider, 20 years old, a reporter of New York City, is the world's champion shorthand writer and the youngest that has ever held that title. Schneider recently established the record in a test when he wote 175 words a minute without making an error.

RAIL UNIONS ORDER STRIKE

CHICAGO, October 15 (Canadian Press). — Sixteen railroad unions, by a secret strike vote, have authorised their officers to order a walkout if advisable.

Ninety-seven per cent. of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way employees and Shop Labourers' Union have voted to strike, it was announced here to-day.

When the strike will be carried out will be announced to-morrow.

Could Not Eat

Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dosing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and diseases which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter:

Mrs. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seeley's Bay, Ont., writes:

"For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my breath was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like eating certain foods. I used many different medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever tried. I can highly recommend them to anyone troubled with constipation or kidney troubles."

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Weakness of Rails and the strength of Oils were the contrasting features of to-day's short Stock Market session. Complications in the railway situation, growing out of the proposed cut in wages and reduction of freight rates provoked general selling of high-grade and junior transportations at losses of one to three points.

Railway shares were under pressure at the opening of to-day's Stock Market as a result of latest differences between executives and employees. Leading transportations sustained fractional declines, and Motor, Sugar and Steel issues were lower. Oils continued to feature the constructive side of the market.

The entire railway division was under pressure at the opening of to-day's Stock Market. Latest developments in the transportation situation, indicating marked differences between executives and operatives, effected losses ranging from fractions to one point in all prominent rails, including Canadian Pacific. Steels and Equipments were sympathetically affected.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange irregular. Great Britain, demand 3,89¼; cables, 3,89 3-4; Canadian dollars, 8 3-4 per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. After opening 1-8 to 5-8 cents at 3-4 higher, including December at 47 7-8 to 48 1-8, corn receded to slightly under yesterday's close.

Wheat — December 1.16; May 1.20½.

Corn—December 48; May 53½.

Oats — December 34 1-8; May 38 5-8.

MONTREAL, Oct 15.—(Canadian Press).—Trading on the local stock exchange during the first half hour this morning was unfeatured by any spectacular advance or decline. Only a few of the principal issues appeared within the first half half hour, and these were quiet. Atlantic Sugar was weaker by a quarter point at 29 1-2, while Brazilian was up a quarter at 24 1-2. National Breweries was fractionally stronger at 55 3-8.

BANISH DRUGS AND BATHE INTERNALLY

"I have been using the J. B. L. Cascade for about eight months now. I have found it in every way satisfactory. I feel better than I have for a good many years. I would not be without my Cascade for anything. I also use it on my children, as it is so simple to use, and they would rather use it than take drugs," writes Mrs. J. Jones, 76A Notre Dame Street, Lachine, Que.

This letter is only one of thousands we have received, which tell a story of gratitude over the benefits derived from Internal Bathing. By the use of "The J. B. L. Cascade," the colon or lower intestine can be cleansed of poisonous waste gently yet effectually with warm water, removing the cause of stomach ills, headaches, loss of appetite, impure blood, piles, lack of energy and sleeplessness.

You bathe outside, why not bathe internally, too—it is far more important.

Mrs. Isaac Muller, Morse, Sask., writes: "I have increased in weight and am perfectly well now. The J. B. L. Cascade has saved my life. Thanks to Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell. Please publish this, as it might reach someone who has not heard of the Cascade."

The J. B. L. Cascade is the perfected invention of Dr. Charles A. Tyrrell, of New York, for internal bathing. It is now being shown and explained the Warne Drug Co., Limited, Peterborough.

"PUT AND TAKE" TOP MEETS DISAPPROVAL OF W. C. T. U.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 15. — Spinning of "put and take" tops has fallen into the bad graces of the New York Women's Christian Temperance Union, which brands playing with such tops as gambling in one of the resolutions passed at the closing session of the convention. Under the section of "gambling" the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"We particularly condemn the contrivance known as the 'put and take' top, the sale of which evidently is under the State law which prohibits the sale of all gambling devices."

Many of the delegates had never seen one of the instruments, and when one was put on exhibition it created considerable excitement. The first spin given the little top resulted in a "take all" turning up, a stroke of fate which caused the delegate to remark that that was the way gamblers were made—being lucky on the first stroke.

SOVIET LEASES 260 PLANTS TO PRIVATE INDUSTRIAL CONCERNS

MOSCOW, Oct. 15.—The new economic policy of the Soviet Government resulted in the leasing to private concerns from all of Russia's twenty-five provinces, up to September 25, of a total of 260 manufacturing plants.

The leases run for various periods of years. The list includes 5 chemical works, 10 sawmills, 27 tanneries, 5 textile, 11 metallurgical and 56 food factories and 13 plantations.

REV. H. YOUNG GAVE ADDRESS

MEETING OF QUEEN MARY HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Queen Mary Home and School Association took place last evening in the school hall, with an interested crowd of parents, teachers and children. Mrs. S. T. Medd, president of the Association, occupied the chair and opened the meeting with a few words of welcome. Rev. Mr. Young also gave a short talk on the excellent work done by the Home and School Associations and Mr. A. Mowat spoke on the same subject. A very enjoyable musical programme was rendered as follows:

Violin solo by Stewart Widdis, accompanied by Miss Edwina Palmer; vocal solo by Mrs. Geo. H. King, accompanied by Mrs. C. S. McClelland; piano duet by the Misses Gwen Donnelly and Irene Breckenridge.

Mr. M. Clark, principal of the school, made the presentation of diplomas to the 34 pupils who were successful in passing their Entrance examinations. These were attractively tied with ribbons in the school colours. Mrs. Medd closed the business session with some announcements of activities of the Association for the coming season, and a pleasant evening was brought to an end by the service of dainty refreshments.

ADVOCATES CHANGES IN LAND SETTLEMENT.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 15 — Radical changes in land settlement administration, involving more extensive financial aid to settlers, elimination of the free land system, and instruction in farming methods, were advocated by Major E. J. Ashton, Commissioner of the Soldier Settlement Board, in a discussion of immigration and settlement in Western Canada at a recent Canadian Club luncheon here.

Major Ashton emphasized throughout his address the need of encouraging the right type of settlers and the necessity of helping them to "make good" on the land. He proposed government purchases of land suitable for settlement and re-sale to settlers on long term payment, at an increase of 10 to 12 per cent. over cost, the increase to provide a land sinking fund.

Apprenticing new settlers to selected farmers and supervision of early efforts of the new farmer were also recommended. Major Ashton proposed extension of Provincial creamery policies and cow bills to aid the new settler in the live stock business.

PLANT TO EXTRACT SEED FROM FIR CONES

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 15.—Seed from fir cones will be extracted in a large plant now being erected here for that purpose. The seeds will be used in a great reforestration scheme in the British Isles. The Dominion department of public works has erected a three-storey building to house the plant and the machinery is being installed. Fir and hemlock cones will be gathered in all parts of the province and threshed out at the plant here. The industry will be operated by the forest ser-

NEWS FROM N. MONAGHAN

BROWNTON, Oct. 15. — Mrs. Alfred Barnes, of St. James Street, is spending a few days in Belleville.

Mr. Butler, Springville Road, had his silo filled on Thursday, and is resuming the work on his barn.

St. James' Methodist Church is proposing to start a Mission Sunday School at Brownton, and a suitable site for the building is now being sought.

The potato crop in North Monaghan has not been as good as expectations. One farmer said that, instead of getting 100 bags to the acre, he only harvested 100 bags from 3 acres. Another farmer stated that he only got 70 bags from two and a half acres.

The many friends of Mr. Walter Thorpe, St. James Street, will be sorry to hear that he is not improving in health.

TO GO HARD FOR LOAFERS.

EDMONTON, Oct. 15. — Non-workers will not find any encouragement for loafing in Edmonton this winter if plans to revert to the anti-loafing regulations of the War Times Measure Act are carried out. The provincial government, it is believed, is considering the enactment of such a law and a plan proposed is to tabulate the industrial career of every man that is out of work. Under such a scheme the city would not employ men who had refused work in other places. In this way it is hoped to discourage genuine idlers, making the handling of the local situation easier in the way of helping bona-fide citizens who are without employment.

HOUSEFLY DAILY TRAVELS 6 MILES.

WASHINGTON, October 15. — According to the Bureal of Entomology, the lowly housefly has entered into another role besides that of distributing disease germs, in that one of the winged pests not uncommonly makes a journey of five to six miles in twenty-four hours.

Fly tests were conducted in Northern Texas, where approximately 234,000 flies of different species were trapped, then dusted with finely powdered red chalk, and liberated. Fly traps baited with food, highly relished by the flies, were placed at measured intervals in all directions.

By means of these traps it was possible to determine the direction and flight of different species of flies. The tests showed that the flies would travel distances up to 1,000 feet in a few minutes.

ACCIDENT AT BEWDLEY.

Auto and Team of Horses Collided and One Horse is Badly Injured.

An unfortunate accident occurred near Bewdley on the Provincial Highway Thursday. Charles Davis was engaged in darwing gravel with a team of horses, Victor Brown came along in his automobile and evidently lost control of the car and crashed into the team. One of the horses was badly injured about the chest, severely cut about the front and hind legs and had one side very painfully bruised. The harness was also broken and the force of the collision drove the horse right back against the wagon box. The horse is now undergoing treatment in Dr. Zealand's hospital on Queen street. Mr. Brown has accepted all responsibility in connection with the accident and will pay the expenses.

SUPPLIES WERE PLENTIFUL TO-DAY

PRICES UNCHANGED ON THE FARMERS' MARKET — APPLES PLENTIFUL.

Prices in the basket section of the Farmers' Market this morning were the same as last week. Butter settled around 45 cents; eggs were 40c; and chickens were selling freely at 28c and 30c—even as low as 25c.

It was a glorious day, and the weather was conducive to a big market, for yesterday's gentle breeze and warm sun has coaxed the roads back into fair condition.

Potato Yield Good.

A good many waggon loads of potatoes were in to-day. Farmers are taking up the late tubers, and although not long ago were talking of a poor crop, they find the yield good, and consequently prices not as high as expected. It is better business to sell on the market at $1.75 a bag as to-day than only get $1.25 from the buyers. In peck lots they were getting 40 cents. Sales of potatoes were better than any day yet, and most of the farmers were busy taking orders.

Apples Were Plentiful.

Apples bulked larger than any other commodity, but potatoes. Snows were 40 cents a peck. Russets and Spies 50 cents. Cooking apples sold as low as 25 cents a peck. Greenings and Starks were $4.50 a barrel.

With the Vegetables.

Beets and carrots were 30 cents a peck; onions 75 cents a bushel; cabbages and cauliflower, 10 to 20 cents; celery in great quantities at 10 cents; parsley and sage, 5 cents a bunch; pumpkins, melons, and citron, 10 to 20 cents.

Flowers Were Scarce.

Honey is considerably cheaper than a year ago. Buckwheat was only 15 cents to-day and fine clover 20 cents a pound.

The ravages of frost were seen in the scarcity of flowers.

A new agency was noticed on the Square to-day. Several Indian girls had taken up their station with willow baskets for sale, and the men of the family were selling axe handles. The prices in the baskets ranged all the way from 75 cents up to $2.00.

Tomatoes Still Here.

The dregs of the tomato crop cling to the market tenaciously. Jack Frost is doing his best to kill the tomatoes, but there were surprising quantities on. Generally the growers got 40 and 50 cents a basket for ripe ones, green ones a trifle less.

Loads of young hogs were prominent, the two or three months old pigs bringing $10.00 a pair.

TO-DAY'S FASHIONS

INTERESTING FROCK

Something new indeed are the winglike draperies that give such graceful length of line to this frock of dark blue crepe morocaine. There are draperies that start at the low waistline in the front of the skirt to match the back ones in points below the hem. Slits introduced in the sleeves are a pretty conceit. Bands that join them are used again to make the wide cut neck more secure.

WHEN HAIR THINS, FADES OR FALLS, USE "DANDERINE"

35 cents buys a bottle of 'Danderine.' Within ten minutes after the first application you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, helping your hair to grow long, thick and luxuriant.

Girls! Girls! Don't let your hair stay lifeless, colorless, thin, scraggy. A single application of delightful Danderine will double the beauty and radiance of your hair and make it look twice as abundant.

By his personal efforts and the cultivation of every "bright spot," he expects to hasten the rise in popularity of the Regent. His long experience with the film makers gives him a free hand in selecting his plays, and his familiarity with the public tastes will assist him in drawing full houses to the Regent.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.

Clean Wholesome Milk

There is No Substitute for Cows Milk

This statement is Absolutely True. Milk is indispensable as Human Food, and has no Substitutes.

SAFE MILK is Milk that is Free from visible and invisible dirt. By the use of Clarifiers and Pasteurization, the Public have full confidence in Peterborough Creamery Milk.

Milk consumers in cities have learned that it is possible for them to obtain Clean Milk, and the majority insist on having such Milk.

Two things are in some localities retarding this. First, the fear of disease-breeding germs or bacteria:; second, the uninviting appearance of Milk containing sediment. Remove these two objections to Milk as a beverage, and it will take the place it should occupy in thousands of homes in which it has formerly been used sparingly.

BIG GISH COMEDY IS FILLED LAUGHS

Thrills and laughter are happily combined in Dorothy Gish's latest Paramount comedy, "The Ghost in the Garret," which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre for 3 days, beginning Monday next. That this is one of the best comedies in which Miss Gish has been seen for many month, all her admirers will agree after they have seen the picture.

Miss Gish, in the story, is a poor girl who goes to the home of her wealthy uncle and aunt, taking her dog and parrot with her. The dog puts a fashionable party to rout. From that moment the action is not permitted to drag for an instant. Then comes the theft of a valuable pearl necklace by a society crook who flees with his booty to a haunted house where his pals are in hiding. Going in pursuit of the thief to protect her sweetheart, who has been arrested for the theft, she finally recovers the jewels after a series of thrilling and laughable developments.

The charming star is excellently supported in the picture, her leading man being William E. Park. The crook is in the hands of Ray Gray. Others in the cast are Downing Clark, Mrs. David Londau, Frank Badgley, Tom Blake, Frank Hagney, William Nally and Forter Strong. The picture was directed by F. Richard Jones.

Besides this special comedy, a long list of excellent short reel comedies serials, ets. and two splendid double vaudeville acts. Tower and Martin, in their original and novel offering "Under the Old Apple Tree." The two musical Mouroes in a pleasing musical novelty act. This program, combined with the very excellent music rendered by the splendid Capitol Orchestra, should prove one of the best seen at this popular resort in some time.

"THUNDERCLAP" PRODUCTION HAS PERSONNEL OF MUCH DISTINCTION

Manager Furlong of the Allen Theatre who arranged with the well known motion producer, William Fox, for the showing of "Thunderclap," calls attention to the remarkable personnel of the production staff and cast for this stupendous photodrama. Mary Carr, of "Over the Hill, fame, heads the cast, with Violet Mersereau, J. Barney Sherry, Walter McEwan, Maude Hill, Hal Claredon, Joe Burke and Thomas McCann, supporting. The story was adapted by the well known scenarist Paul H. Sloane, with Richard Stanton as director.

New York newspapers say that two of the most spectacular scenes ever registered on the screen take the hair-raising passage of the hero down tempestuous rapids on the top of a board, and the other is the race track scene. These two scenes alone would make this picture more than worth while and judging from the success that this super-photoplay enjoyed on Broadway at the Central Theatre, New York, it may be deduced that there are elements of appeal for every class of picture-goer.

The story deals with sporting life and gaming tables, and "Thunderclap" takes its title from the race horse upon whose victory the fortunes of the hero and the heroine rest. Plots and counterplots are set in motion to keep "Thunderclap" from winning, but with the aid of a good jockey, the crooked gambler's efforts are frustrated. The beginning of the picture disclose the suffering wife anxious to bring her child home from the convent and her husband, the child's stepfather, refusing to have the "brat" around the house. In a moment of desperation, the mother threatens to disclose the crooked methods of the gaming-house keeper if he does not grant her wish. He strikes her and she becomes paralyzed from the shock, losing the use of her limbs and speech. An orphan boy drifts into the employ of the gambler, who is now running a fashionable establishment in a large city, and brings with him his horse "Thunderclap."

The racer was bequeathed to the boy by the only kind employer he ever had. The gambler, finding his business falling off ruinously, sends for his beautiful step-daughter to act as hostess of the gaming-house. Complications arise, and in desperation the gambler promises his daughter in marriage to an old reprobate with the understanding that $40,000 is to be paid to the stepfather within specified time. From then on the picture works to its great climax, a climax as unusual as it is thrilling.

"Thunderclap" comes to the Allen Theatre, commencing Monday for a 3 day run.

AT THE GRAND.

"A FORTUNE HUNTER."

The Small Town Versus the Big City.

Discourses on social service, child welfare, better housing conditions are heard on all sides. Politicians wend their weary way through arguments calculated to first mystify their convert, the innocent voter, but no solution has yet been found for the problem of the small town.

Until Mr. Sinclair Lewis wrote "Main Street," we knew there were problems in small towns, but they did not interest us as a whole very much. But as Carol Kennicolt found to her intense chagrin, the town existed before her arrival and continued to go on even after she left. So, reformers may write of life in towns and villages, they may compare the evils of one with the dangers of the metropolis, but until some regular form of steady amusement is found, some programme to sustain the interest of the adolescent, no amount of preaching will avail.

Have you ever lived in a one-horse town? Not a live up-to-date little community of 20,000 or 30,000 persons, who are mostly employed in big modern factories and where industries thrive lustily. It is not that kind of a town I mean; but a real honest-to-goodness, dead-and-buried town.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week the Rex Stock Company will again perform in one of their funniest comedies, for which special scenery is being constructed at the present moment. "A Fortune Hunter" is the name of the play, and in it the action occurrs in a small town where there are plenty of stores and churches, but no regular amusement. Youth must be satisfied—as far as the boys and men are concerned—they either make good and become the town's leading citizens (and sometimes hypocrites as well) or they get out taking their courage, hopes and ideals to the big city, where they succeed or not, as fate and their own determination decide. But what of the girls? Propriety and convention decree the most deadening existence for them. You can't call it living. If they are fortunate enough to be pretty and attractive they either wear their hearts out and grow old waiting for their lovers to succeed in the city (occasionally life deals one a good hand and things turn out happily), but more often waiting becomes monotonous and Lucy or Emmy marries the good-for-nothing stay-at-home and lives—well, like most married people live ever after!

Fancy the town at a critical moment—the real men away, lots of pretty girls wasting their time sighing for life and Rex Snelgrove arrives! Never has he been more attractive. His indolent, careless manner, swagger clothes, big city air. Is it any wonder that Betty, the beautiful child and only daughter of the town's penniless old druggist falls madly in love with him? Miss Zana Vaughn is irresistible as Betty. The transition from the clever, modern, business woman she played last week to the innocent little girl who never had so many "party" dresses as the other girls is noteworthy. William Yule has the best part he has played in weeks, one that allows him to display his "flair" for character work to the best advantage. Hazel Williams and Gloria Machan are most attractive as the silly, pretty village belles, while Dr. Cole, as the old druggist, is wonderful. All in all, "A Fortune Hunter" is one of the very best Rex offerings and should draw record crowds.

ALBERT DE COURVILLE'S LATEST AND GREATEST REVUE, "HULLO, CANADA," WITH FAMOUS STARS

Advance notices of coming attractions have caused a good deal of interest concerning two of the season's offerings. I am frequently asked, "Is Marie Lohr coming to Peterborough? And when is the de Courville Revue to be here?" It gives me great pleasure to say that the late winter will bring the famous and beautiful Miss Lohr, whom I saw in Kingston, here, and Albert de Courville is bringing his revue here in the very near future. There is no question about it "Hullo, Canada" is the greatest theatrical attraction that has ever been brought to Peterborough. The skeptical may shake their heads and say, "Oh, everything is great when we are being told of coming events." But in the case of this revue there are hundreds of people in town who are familiar with the sort of entertainment offered at the Hippodrome in London and they know how successfully Mr. de Courville ran it for ten years. This past season, preferring to "run his own show," de Courville resigned from the Hippodrome and took over the Gaiety, one of London's most fashionable and luxurious theatres, devoted to musical comedy. When the "master of revue" decided to undertake a Canadian tour he said he would bring with him the very best he has ever given London. Familiarity with the large numbers of Canadians who visit London, particularly interested as he ever has been in soldiers from the overseas Dominions, he knew better than to bring out any but his brightest stars. Among them are Shirley Kellogg, an American girl who took London by storm, married Mr. de Courville and has remained a huge favorite there ever since. She was seen gesticulating furiously to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Culve, who had motored from New York to meet their clever daughter upon her arrival at Quebec on last Saturday afternoon. A feature of the landing was a series of motion pictures taken of the entire company, including the fifty famous English beauties who came out with the revue.

Mr. de Courville's personal guarantee of the show follows:

"I have spent over a hundred thousand dollars upon it, up to the present time. It is positively the best I can give you. I have brought only the pick of my star artists from the Gaiety Theatre, and our beauty chorus was chosen by men from over four thousand girls who applied to come to Canada with us in this show. The scenery and the costumes are beautiful. I think you will agree, when you see them. We have just done our best in every direction in the hope of pleasing you in Canada, and we are confident that every member of the company will do the same. We only hope that we shall succeed in satisfying you all."

After this very courteous greeting with its promise of big things to come, it gives me great pleasure to say we may look for Mr. de Courville and his galaxy of stars in the very near future.

SPORT IN BRIEF

KID LEWIS DEFEATS BURNHAM IN 12 ROUNDS

LONDON, Oct. 15.— Ted. "Kid" Lewis, middleweight champion of England, last night defeated Johnny Basham in the twelfth round of what was to have been a twenty round bout. The fight was for the championship.

Basham's seconds ended the terrific punishment which Lewis was inflicting on him by tossing a towel into the ring in acknowledgment of defeat. Lewis outclassed his man from the start. Basham received a badly battered ear, from which the blood flowed freely. In the eleventh round a right to the jaw sent him down for the count of nine, the gong saving him.

TO STAGE TUESDAY GIBBONS-O'DOWD FIGHT

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 15.— The Western Athletic Association to-day announced that the fifteen round boxing contest between Mike Gibbons and Mike O'Dowd, middleweights, would take place Tuesday night as scheduled, regardless of the ruling of Attorney General Richard J. Hopkins, who said the fight would be a violation of the State uaw.

MISS COLLETT MEETS MRS. GAVIN TO-DAY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.— (Canadian Press.) — Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R.I., and Mrs. W. A. Gavin, New York, will meet to-day in the final round of the Bethellyn Cup golf tournament at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club as a result of thir victories yesterday.

In the semi-finals Miss Collett defeated Miss Edith Cummings, Chicago, five up and three to play, while Mrs. Gavin eliminated Mrs. Clarence H. Vanderbeck, Philadelphia, seven and five.

HUNTER WINS EASILY.

SHAWNEE, Pa., Oct. 15.—Willie Hunter, amateur golf champion of Great Britain, scored an easy victory yesterday when he defeated Donald Parsons, Youngstown, Ohio, seven and six in the first round of match play in the annual autumn invitation tournament. Hunter was out in 42, and the match ended on the 13th green. J. B. Standish, Detroit, won from Dwight Meigs, Philadelphia, three and four, while Alec. Coles, Philadelphia, triumphed over W. Tyler, unattached, five and four.

BALTIMORE CLASHES WITH LOUISVILLE AGAIN

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15. Canadian Press. — The post season series between the Baltimore International and the Louisville American Association baseball teams, will be continued to-day with daily games scheduled until the winner of the series is decided. The count now stands at three to two in favor of the local club, the four games down in Louisville having resulted in an even break, and the Orioles having won the opener here Wednesday.

Manager Dunn of the Baltimore Club, will probably use Mose Groves (his young left hander) who was treated in very rough fashion on both of his apearances in Louisville. Thomas is second choice. Ben Tincup, the Indian twirler, will undoubtedly be the choice of Manager McCarthy of the Colonels.

ST. BRIGID'S READY.

OTTAWA, Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press.)—With a snappy run and signal practice the Saint Brigid's rugby team last evening completed their training for the game with T.R.A.A. this afternoon at Lansdowne Park. Coach Quilty put his warriors through a stiff call on the numbers and then a number of them breezed around the track to add a final touch to their condition. Practically the whole squad was on deck and several new faces also appeared.

ROUGH RIDERS EXPECT TO DEFEAT HAMILTON

OTTAWA, Oct. 15. — (Canadian Press.) — Twenty-two players and several members of the executive of the Ottawa Inter-Provincial Rugby Football League team left here last night full of confidence that they can repeat their performance of Saturday last against the Tigers of Hamilton in the latter city this afternon.

Ellis Thomas and McKell are definitely out of the game for the present as a result of injuries received in last week's tussle, but the rest of the squad are reported to be in the be best of shape and will face the Tigers with a determination to do or die in the game to-day.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 15.— (Canadian Press.)— August Kieckhaefer, of Chicago, defeated Robert L. Cannefax, of New York, 50 to 37, in sixty innings in the first match of yesterday's play in the national three-cushion billiard championship. Kieckhaefer had a high run of five, while Cannefax's best was four.

Alfredo De. Oro, Cuba, deefated Charles Wester, Pittsburgh, 50 to 36, in 54 innings. De Oro had a high run of seven and Weston four.

HARRIERS HAD ANOTHER SPRINT

If well-contested road races do not take place on Thanksgiving Day, it will not be Charlie Thorpe's fault. Last night he took the harriers for another run, and gave them some valuable pointers on road work.

The attendance was not as large as the night before, some of the boys being tried out, so the coach has decided to stick to his former schedule of Monday and Thursday night romps.

Seniors are showing more interest, Mr. Thorpe says, and prospects are bright for an old-time, hard-fought race in the senior section.

PRESIDENT HARDING RELEAVED AS A NATURAL BORN HURDLER

It may come as a surprise to a lot of people to learn that President Harding is a hurdler. He hasn't any medals for hurdling. He never studied it in college or took a correspondence course in hurdling. It just comes natural to him. The President doesn't know himself when he is going to do it. But he always goes prepared—especially when he plays golf. Here we have a splendid picture of the Chief Executive in mid-air during his recent golf games at Absecon Golf Club, New Jersey.

CITY LEAGUE HOCKEY

The City Hockey League moguls will be called together for a meeting next week, to talk over the situation and take some preliminary steps for the coming season.

Wm. Hamilton A.C., C.G.E., De Laval and Bankers made up the league last season, and the former carried off first honors in a playoff with De Laval. All four clubs want to come back again, but all of them may not be able to do so, for various reasons.

It has been stated that Canadian Woollens A.C. would apply for membership in the league this winter, and if there should be an absentee from among the original clubs, the Canadian Woollens would no doubt be an acceptable entry.

Canadian Generals will not be among the missing. The Generals have organized, with H. T. McFadden as president of the hockey executive. Supporting him are Ernie Rahmel, vice-president, "Mike" Sharpe secretary and a committee made up of Wally Harris, Frank Barrie, Art Primeau and M. Heath. Jack Pilling will be manager of the team.

"FRENCH LEAVE"

Reginald Berkeley's delightful comedy "French Leave" was most effectively presented at the Grand last evening by a company of splendid artists headed by Walter Edwin and Madge Surtees. The size of the audience was the only disappointing feature of the evening. Somehow war plays do not carry an appeal these days and although "French Leave" is not a real war play, the conflict only serving to provide a background for the action, many theatre goers nevertheless remained away. They missed a most amusing play and an evening of clever acting. "French Leave" tells of the complications caused by the action of the wife of Captain Harry Glenister in posing as a French Opera singer in order to visit her husband while his brigade was resting out of the line. With an impressionable lieutenant and a stormy old Brigadier-General with an eye for feminine charm, a situation arises that is far from pleasant for jealous husband. Eventually the wife is mistaken for a German spy, but as usual everything is smoothed away in the last act.

The play is notable for the clean-cut character type Mr. Berkeley has drawn. The most notable of these is Brigadier-General Archibald Root, C. B., a fiery old officer, who storms and blusters away but whose heart is sound nevertheless. Walter Edwin's conception of the part was a masterpiece and no better individual performance has been seen at the Grand in many moons. Madge Surtees was delightful in the role of Mrs. Glenister. Charles Romano was never out of the part as Lieutenant Graham and Jack Murtagh was equally happily cast as Captain Glenister. Harry J. Thomas contributed an admirable bit as Corp. Sykes one of the old school and William Dean was amusing as Rifle man Jenks of the new army.

"French Leave" will not soon be forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to be present.

JUST SUPPOSE

It is source of gratification to know that we are soon to witness a performance of the prettiest of all plays produced in recent years, this is A. E. Thomas' comedy romance, "Just Suppose," based on the recent visit of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales which when it was seen in (the only Canadian city thus far visited) at the Royal Alexannder Theatre it broke all existing records for a continuous Canadian run. The presentation to be seen here is largely due to the interest of Manager Solman of the Royal Alexandra who thought so well of the comedy he determined that his fellow Canadians should have the opportunity of not only seeing the play but also of having it presented with one of the best casts of actors and actresses available. To this end he went to England and has secured the services of some of England's most important artists who will be seen in all the leading roles.

"Just Suppose" is unique in the annals of theatrical history. When it was first announced that A. E. Thomas proposed writing a play with the central character or hero a living person, and further when it became known this character was to be the Prince of Wales everyone said failure sure. Why it was simply hearsay, no one had ever been able to do such a thing before and if it hadn't been done before it could not be done by any present writer. But it was and what is more to the point the comedy was the theatrical hit of the year.

For the Canadian tour New York's most famous scenic artist, Gilbert Sackerman has been called upon. He gives to his auditors a picture of the interior of the home of a well known Southern Statesman.

This something is raisin bread. Your grocer and baker are again selling the old time, generous size loaf with lots of raisins in it.

This is because raisins are now 30 per cent. less in price and bakers can afford the two ounces the Government requires in a 16 ounce loaf without the price.

Get one of these old-fashioned raisiny loaves today and start a bread eating revival. Have toasted raisin bread for breakfast and lunch—it certainly goes fine with coffee.

Remember, raisins are iron food—eat all you can. Raisin bread is good and good for you.

In a little snow-white casket,
In a corner near the wall,
Lies the form of little Ruthie,
Who has answered to the call.
It was the voice of Jesus,
As He said, "Come unto Me."
And Ruthie answered softly,
"Yes, Lord, I'll follow Thee."
She has gone to be with Jesus
In that land of light and love,
Where with Jesus all the ransomed

IF RAILWAY WORKERS STRIKE GOVERNMENT WILL KEEP LINES IN OPERATION, SAYS OFFICIAL

REALIZE THAT TRANSPORTATION CANNOT BE PARALYZED, BECAUSE EXISTENCE OF MILLIONS DEPEND ON IT.

THINK STRIKE WILL NOT MATERIALIZE COMPLETELY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. — (United Press).—The Federal Government will keep the railroads in operation. This was the definite assurance that came to-day from a high Administration official as President Harding and other Government leaders renewed their attempts to avert a nation-wide railway strike.

A feeling prevails in Washington that the called strike will not materialize on an extensive scale, but at the same time the Government realizes the transportation lines must be kept in operation what ever happens, because the very existence of millions of people depends upon them.

SMALLER UNIONS ARE BEHIND BROTHERHOODS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17. —(United Press).—Big labor leaders to-day strove to mass workers into a solid front for the railroad strike of October 30.

Most independent unions, not affiliated with the five big brotherhoods but having double their membership planned to back the big leaders in the walk out in protest against wage slashes announced by railroad executives.

General chairman of several of twenty odd smaller unions, having an aggregate membership of one million, met to-day. Others are scheduled to meet this week.

Canvass of these unions showed that their membership did the same as all big unions —voted overwhelmingly in favor of a strike. Throwing of their strength with the Brotherhoods would be a mere formality it was indicated.

UNIONS OBDURATE.

United Press.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17. — Unconditional surrender by the railroads to the demands of the unions, is the only step that will prevent the great strike called for October 30.

This was the attitude of the railroad union heads as they assembled here, to-day.

The strike call already is being mailed from union headquarters here to the local organizations all over the country. To-morrow the railway brotherhood chiefs will meet here in a council of war to complete their plans for the progressive strike which they predict will put a strangle hold on the nation's railways, and force the executive to capitulate.

At that time it is expected the executives will also consider the suggestions of a public group of the Railroad Labor Board for averting the threatened strike.

This suggestion of the public group is that the last wage reduction granted the lines by the Railway Labor Board be translated into rate reductions at once; that application for further wage reductions be withdrawn temporarily, and that the unions' strike orders be recalled.

"Only a miracle can now stop the strike," W. G. Lee, the president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen said.

WON'T AFFECT OUR LINES.

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.— (Canadian Press.)—President A. R. Mosher, of the Brotherhood of Railway Employes, staes that the railway strike would not affect Canadian lines. Canadian locals of International unions would not necesasrily have to go strike.

ORGANIZING THE LOCAL BAKERS

A meeting of some of the bread manufacturers of the city took place on Saturday afternoon. A local organization of bakers was formed, with Mr. Wm. Stock as chairman and Mr. Jno. Grady as treasurer. Headquarters of the association will be located at the Chamber of Commerce. The motto of the new society is to be "Quality and Service." Invitations are being issued to the bread manufacturers of Central Ontario to attend a meeting in Port Hope at the Queen's Hotel at 2 o'clock of October 25th, for the purpose of organizing a district association for Central Ontario.

A meeting of the bakers will be held this afternoon at 3.30 at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

MILLIONAIRE CREW READY FOR SERVICE

MORRISBURG, N.J., Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press.) — The volunteer crew of the wealthy business men who operated the "millionaire special," on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, bringing commuters to New York during the 1920 railroad strike, are ready for service again. Every man will be at his post if the strike develops.

ELECTION NEWS

SIR LOMER GOUIN TO RE-ENTER POLITICS.

MONTREAL, October 17 (Canadian Press). — Sir Lomer Gouin will re-enter politics, and will be the Liberal candidate in Laurier-Outremont, if the Liberal convention to be held next Thursday night will choose him as its standard-bearer.

At a large and representative caucus of iberals of the division, held here on Friday night, the present member, P. R. duTremblay, announced his decision to retire from politics, and the name of Sir Lomer Gouin was suggested, and a delegation formed to call on Sir Lomer on Saturday morning. This was done, and the former Premier of Quebec stated that he would run for the division if chosen by a regular convention as standard-bearer for the Liberal Party.

SINCLAIR NOMINATED; G. N. GORDON SPEAKS

G. N. Gordon, M.P. for West Peterborough, received an enthusiastic reception, and in a fighting speech he arraigned the Meighen government and E. W. Nesbit, as one of its supporters, for their lack of sympathy with the common people of the country. He remarked that in all the speeches that had been made by Premier Meighen in the campaign so far, there was a note of lack of confidence, as if he realized that he was bound to be defeated. The Meigh en government, he said, was so dead that it had just to be carried out, and, while he believed in speaking kindly of the dead, he wished to discuss the record of the government on some points. He particularly attacked the government along the lines of its permitting the establishment of combines and the practice of profiteering by the large interests of the country.

He rejected Mr. Meighen's announcement that the tariff was the only issue in the election. "When a man comes up for trial," he said, "he is not allowed to frame his own indictment, but is tried upon his record and that is what we propose to do with the Meighen government."

CRERAR IN TORONTO.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Oct. 17.—Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Progressive party in the Federal field, arrived in the city last night, preparatory to opening his week's tour in South-Western Ontario. His first speech will be delivered at Brampton to-night, where both Premier Drury and J. J. Morrison, organizing secretary of the U.F.O., are expected to take their stand on the platform with the Dominion leader.

Mr. Crerar, when interviewed, was prepared to admit that the tariff was an important issue in the coming election, but he did not regard it as the dominant question. Sound business administration and high ideals of simple service were, he felt, of more vital importance than even the tariff question. On this latter question, he defined his attitude as being opposed to the principle of protection insofar as it operated to make the rich richer and the poor poorer, and in favor of a revision of the tariff conducted in such a manner as to give industry a chance of adjusting itself without undue disturbances.

He also reiterated his conviction that the National Railways must be given a fair chance to make good before there is any talk of abandoning them and allowing them to form a part of a private railway monopoly.

LOCAL BOY IN A NEW COMPANY

It is always pleasing to note the success of Peterboro old boys. The many friends of Mr. J. J. Kearns, son of Mr. W. J. Kearns, of this city, will be interested in learning that his new company, the Century Ink Company, which will manufacture all kinds of inks, is being launched in Toronto, with most encouraging prospects. A section of the old Reinhart brewery has been secured and Mr. Kearns expects to manufacture his products on a large scale. He was formerly associated with the Colonial Ink Company in this city.

WHY IMPORT YOUR PEANUTS?

BIRDSALL MAN SHOWS THEY CAN BE GROWN RIGHT HERE AT HOME.

Peanuts are not usually regarded as a Canadian product so when Mr. R. P. Parker, of the Albion Knitting Company, walked into the Examiner office this morning with a large box containing peanut plants, with big clusters of luscious nuts, and said they were grown right in Peterboro district, the staff was naturally astonished. There was no mistake about the nuts—there were lots of them, big double-jointed fellows, worthy of any circus patron or ball fan, and they were dug up near Birdsall's, where Mr. Dan Taylor has experimented this year with most gratifying results. Mr. Taylor intends to go into peanut growing next summer on a large scale, and will plant several acres, satisfied that they can be successfully cultivated in this climate.

HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL TO-NIGHT

MEET IN FIRST SESSION OF SEASON IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Home and School Council is holding its first meeting for the season in the Public Library to-night. The Council, which had a provisional organization last winter, hopes to get together this year and complete a programme of work for the winter months. It is expected that a course of lectures with local speakers migh prove popular, and there are many avenues of work for those who are interested in a society of this sort.

The objects of the Home and School Associations, of which the Council is the head, are, briefly summarized, as follows:

(a) To develop co-operative effort between parents in the home and teachers in the school.

(b) To develop the social spirit in the neighborhood.

(c) To create and foster sentiment in favor of education for parents as well as for children.

(d) To beautify and improve school surroundings.

(e) To encourage the use of the hands in all ages of childhood.

(f) To foster and encourage educational experiments.

The objects, therefore, are a sort of pulling together of the home, the teacher and the child for the great basic idea at the root of it all: the welfare of the growing child. The Home and School Association may be said to co-ordinate and encourage all agencies directed towards the child's well-being; the teacher, possessed of an abiding faith in children as the best hope of the Canada that is to be; the school, an attractive, and, if possible, a beautiful building, well-built, well-kept and well-equipped; the community, forward-looking, not fearful of nor indifferent to reform, recognizing its children as its greatest possession; the trustees, men and women possessing a vision of the significance of trusteeship, equipped as educational leaders and not mere followers of public opinion; the inspector, an educational leader as well as an inspector, and the department of education, encouraging, through progressive legislation and regulation, the best conditions for the democratic development of local enthusiasm, initiative and pride. All these, as the programme of the first annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations, held at Toronto on April 6th and 7th of this year, declared, can be fostered by Home and School Associations. "Team play between parents and teachers will bring us great educational enrichments."

LOW PRICES.

HAIRCUTS TAKE A 30 P.C. DROP

BARBERS REDUCE PRICE FROM 50 TO 40 CENTS AS THEIR CONTRIBUTION TO CUTTING COST OF LIVING.

SAY THEIR COSTS STILL ON THE UPWARD CLIMB

Every barber in the city except one, who is a non-union man, and reduced his prices some time ago to 35 cents, feduced the price of haircuts to 40 cents to-day. Since April 2, 1920, haircuts have been 50 cents, and this is the first reduction made in seven years. Shaves are not reduced, and will remain at 20 cents.

The reduction is made following three meetings of the barbers last week. It is understood there was considerable opposition to the reduction by some barbers, but the majority prevailed, and the decision to reduce haircuts to 40 cents finally received the unanimous approval of the tonsorial artists.

"We are doing our best to help reduce the cost of living. We cannot afford to cut the price of haircuts; rents are going up instead of down, wages are not reduced, but the cut has been made as our contribution to bring prices down," said one of the city's prominent barbers today in announcing the cut.

The barbers expect the reduction to have a resuscitating effect on the barber trade. Practically every one complains of poor business. "If other business is good, the barber business is too," explained a local barber.

When the Examiner asked several barbers if shaves would be reduced they held up their hands in horror. "Do you want us to starve?" exclaimed one. "We've been pretty nearly as it is. We certainly can't afford to cut shaves."

Extras are the profit-makers in the barbering business, and with so many men out of work, this paying end of the trade has fallen off. While every barber speaks of the trade having fallen upon evil days, there is some consolation in the fact they have a clientele now undreamed of in ante bellum days, due to the popularity of the "bob" and "bang."

SPECULATION RIFE.

Unemployment Question Before the House of Commons To-Morrow.

LONDON, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press). — Speculation is rife as to what the Premier will tell the House of Commons to-morrow on unemployment. Some members of Cabinet state that no willing worker must be allowed to starve, and that Government assistance should be given industry. Some blame the Premier for delay in the situation, among them being the Archbishop of York. Hon. Arthur Henderson says unemployment has not reached the apex.

ULTIMATE GOAL ELIMINATION OF PRINCIPLE OF PROTECTION CRERAR STATES IN MANIFESTO

PROGRESSIVE POLICY IS TO FREE BASIC INDUSTRIES OF TARIFF BELIEVING MANUFACTURING WOULD SHARE IN THEIR EXPANSION---SAYS SUPREME ISSUE IS WHETHER GOVERNMENT IS TO BE FREE OR FETTERED AND WHETHER LEGISLATION SHALL BE FOR FEW OR MANY.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 17.—(By Canadian Press).—Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressive Party, today issued an address, 'To the People of Canada," dealing with the issues of the present general election campaign.

"The tariff is an issue, a very important issue," says Mr. Crerar, "but the supreme issue today is whether our Government is to be free or fettered, and whether legislation in the future shall be for the few or the many."

The policy of the Progressives, it is stated, is frankly based on the principle of first developing the natural wealth of the country, and if the industries based on agriculture, mines and forests were thriving and prosperous it is held that the manufacturing industries would share in the expansion.

"Our goal," states Mr. Crerar, "is the ultimate elimination of the principle of protection in our fiscal policy. But we recognize that changes must be brought about in a manner that will give a fair opportunity to Canadian industries now enjoying protection to adjust themselves to them." The Progressives would remove the duty on agricultural implements, mining and sawmill machinery and essential foods, and "a substantial reduction in the general tariff should be made." For revenue the Progressives would rely mainly on direct taxation, levied on the basis of ability to pay.

The address discusses the general question of good government, the significance of the Progressive movement, the financing of elections, the railway problem, immigration and colonization, and other issues of the contest.

Mr. Crerar's manifesto in full follows:

"To the People of Canada."

We who live in Canada are fortunate in that we live under a form of government by which the people say who shall make their laws and administer their affairs. In a few weeks you will be called upon to discharge this duty. You will consider the state of our national affairs and will decide the course they shall take. At no time in the fifty-four years that Canada has been a Confederation have our national problems been so momentous or difficult as today. The temper in which we approach them, the singleness of mind with which we attack them, the honesty with which we judge them, mean much for the future of our country.

It is therefore a matter of supreme importance that the people take an interest in government. Not a fleeting academic interest, but an active, intelligent continuing interest, an interest based on the consideration of the national good and of the national good alone. To an alarming degree the belief has grown and prevails, that the agent of government has been used for the furthering of personal, or sectional, or class interests, and that special interests have been able to influence legislation to their own gain, at the expense of the public weal. To the extent that this has occurred, confidence in the institution of government by the elected representatives of the people, as the fountain from which even-handed justice should flow, has been undermined, with a resulting widespread distrust, and in some cases even contempt, of our Parliamentary institutions. This must be set right. Our Parliamentary life must be purified of the influences that have operated upon it in this way in the past. The duty lies first upon the people themselves. To the extent that the individual citizens neglects his public duty from which spring our laws and their administration. Government is a serious business at any time. It is a particularly serious business to the Canadian people at the present time, for our Federal problems are so grave that only by the wisest councils, by a broad spirit of toleration, by the most unremitting care to the public business of the country, and by a single-minded devotion that seeks only the country good, can they be successfully solved.

Truly Liberal Movement.

In this election a new party makes its appeal to the Canadian people. It began in a humble way among the agricultural portion of our people. Our appeal is not class, not sectional, not religious. Every aspiration for purer government, every protest against public wrong in high places, has its origin in small beginnings. If there is good in it, if its spirit is right and true it will grow, and the proof of its justice lies in the strength it attracts to itself. No one who has studied closely the farmers' movement, so-called, in Canada but will admit it has imperfections. But no one who studies it and is honest will deny that it embodies an aspiration for purity in government, for higher standards of public morality and for the sweeping away of special privilege in all its forms. From a small beginning it has spread over almost the entire country, attracting to itself support from all classes and sections of our people. The tendency of political parties is towards reaction until a protest arises instinctively from the people against such reaction. The new political movement in Canada is such a protest, and further is essentially a movement of liberalism—not in the sense of a party name, but in the liberal and true sense of the word—that seeks to sweep away abuses in government and to provide policies that will meet the needs of the people. It is to all those throughout the broad expanse of Canada who desire to see purity in the government of this country restored, who desire to see public morality supplant public corruption, who desire to sweep away the abuse of the function of government for the advancement of the interest of the privileged few.

Financing Elections.

In nothing is the spirit of the Progressive movement more clearly revealed than in the matter of financing election expenses. Legitimate election expenses form a necessary part of the business of electing a new Parliament. It is a fact beyond dispute that in the last campaign funds, running often into millions of dollars, have been provided by the managers of the old parties and distributed amongst constituencies for the purpose of meeting not only legitimate expenses, but for use in other ways, corrupt and altogether indefensible. These campaign funds have been provided by railway promoters, by manufacturers or by other interests which were actuated, not by any desire whatever for the public welfare, but solely by the sordid hope of getting benefits in the way of legislation and by administrative favoritism from the party they assisted in returning to power. The member of Parliament elected under this system was not a free agent. He was expected to stand by his party through thick and thin. If he showed signs of independence the

DR. CHAMBERS MAY LOSE BOTH FEET

MAN LOST IN BACKWOODS IS SUFFERING FROM "TRENCH FEET."

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

FORT FRANCES, Oct. 17.— Dr. Graham Chambers, who was lost for two weeks in the Atikokan back woods, is suffering from "trench feet," and it is now feared it may become necessary to amputate one or more of his toes if not both feet. His nephew, Dr. Graham Lee Chambers, of Toronto, has been in constant attention since Friday and he openly admitted that he is worrying about his uncle's condition.

Chief of Police Kenneth Campbell expressed the opinion that the patient is in danger of contracting gangrene. Chief Campbell has been the intimate observer of the ravages of exposure on the physiques of a large number of men, and he spoke with the force of conviction when he told the reporter that Dr. Chambers is at present in a critical condition.

Mrs. Chambers hardly ever leaves her husband's room, scarcely sparing the time to take her meals away from him. The doctor has not succeeded in getting any real rest since his arrival, his periods of sleep being fitful and far between. He awakens suddenly and springs up with an inquiring appeal as though his subconscious being were still dominated by the awful thought that he was lost. He is in a secluded room in the Emperor Hotel here and nobody but Mrs. Chambers, his nephew and a few other intimate friends are permitted to see him now.

The terrible strain which Dr. Chambers must have undergone during those thirteen long days and night in the woods have left very little mark mark upon him. His face was round and full and his body belied no trace of emaciation.

SHIELD'S PROBLEM COMING UP SOON

EXECUTIVE OF BAPTIST CONVENTION AVOIDING IT, HOWEVER.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 17. — It is most probable that the controversy in connection with Jarvis Street Church will be aired before the Baptist Convention this evening. Just when or in what form the matter will be introduced it is impossible to say. "It might come up to-night or at any session, you never can tell," said a member of the Executive in answer to The Examiner's inquiry.

"The Executive of the convention is entirely ignoring the controversy," he continued. "If it comes up Dr. Shields has got to bring it up himself, but I understand from some of his friends he does not intend to." Several hundred copies of the address delivered by Dr. Shields in Jarvis Street Church have arrived. They are not being distributed to the delegates, but are piled in dozen lots on the table in the church office for any delegates who wish to avail themselves of a copy.

There is no session this morning. A change has been made in the afternoon programme, which lends color to the belief that the Jarvis Street matter will break towards evening. Following a ministerial session at 2.30 p.m., a special devotional service was held, commencing at 3.30 p.m. "We are sitting on the edge of a volcano," commented one delegate.

The first business session will be held to-day. Dr. Shields and a large contingent of his supporters and opponents are expected to arrive at noon.

BLUE BIRD DANCING CLUB

The Saturday night dance of the Blue Bird Club, held at the G. W. V. A. Hall, was a great success, and the music by Paul Gliddon's orchestra was excellent. The Blue Bird Club is holding dances Wednesday and Saturday of each week at the G.W.V.A. Hall. The management has spared no expense in making these dances everything to be wished for, and it is hoped that many young people will avail themselves of the opportunity to dance to the excellent orchestra and a perfect floor. Don't forget the nights, Wednesday and Saturday, and the place, G.W.V.A. Hall.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT BETHANY TABERNACLE

REV. JOSEPH HOGUE OPENS SERIES OF THREE WEEKS' MEETINGS.

With inspiring messages to large congregations, Rev. Joseph Hogue of Minneapolis, who has just concluded five weeks of evangelical services in Toronto, opened his local three weeks' ministry at Bethany Tabernacle Sunday.

Supreme faith in God's universal plan for mankind was the basis of the morning sermon, Rev. Mr. Hogue taking his text from Romans 8:28: "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them that are called according to his purpose."

Rev. A. J. Doner hoped for a fine series of meetings, and he earnestly solicited every member to assist in stimulating interest in the services. He urged them to attend every gathering. "Dont' miss a service — dont' miss a message," he urged.

Rev. Mr. Hogue dwelt on the beauty of the Almighty's plan for eternal life, 'embracing as it did in the text comprehensiveness, harmony and benevolence "In the working of God's plan, there is comprehensiveness," the speaker said, "because we know all things work together in harmony, because all things work together in benevolence, and because they all work together for good. Unless we love God such a truth would be a conundrum to us. Nothing can interfere with our love for God. I say it is a fine thing that abundant wealth or poverty can not interfere with our relations with God."

Safe in Knowledge.

Whether rich or poor every Christian should be in an "easy chair," he continued, resting safe in the knowledge that they are living up to the Master's standards. "God has elected you all to eternal life. Discover the plan of God. "Get in" on it, and when you "get in" have sense enough to stay in, the evangelist advised the morning congregation, and by the grace of God you will land on the shore of Life on the other side."

Comparing the Master directing humanity to a despatcher controlling a railroad, Mr. Hogue said God never made any mistake; his trains always run on schedule time; his plan always works. "Your faith should be just as strong in trouble and desolation and sadness. God is at the helm; God is directing things. All things work together for good to his people."

An impression of great earnestness and sincerity, devoid of emotionalism, was created by Rev. Mr. Hogue's sermon, and his Irish inheritance of humour cropping out in numerous spots is quite appealing. He was born in Ireland, but for many years has ministered in Canada and the United States.

CHARGES DISPROVED; OFFERS TO RESIGN

WINDSOR, October 17. — Following his failure to prove charges of irregularities against Chief of Police Daniel Thompson at a hearing before the Windsor Police Commission, when serious aspersions were cast upon his character and record by R. L. Brackin, K.C., who defended the Chief, Alderman J. F. Mitchell placed his resignation from the City Council in the hands of the City Clerk on Saturday.

It will be submitted to the Council at its next meeting on 24th October, and if accepted, William Wheeler, runner-up in the January elections, will be appointed to the aldermanic board.

$10,000,000 SUIT AGAINST CHICAGO TRIBUNE QUASHED

RIGHT OF NEWSPAPER TO CRITICISE GOVERNMENT FINANCE UPHELD.

CHICAGO, Octobe 17.—The city of Chicago's suit for alleged libel against the Chicago Tribune for $10,000,000, was thrown out of court Saturday.

The city charged that the Tribune, during the last municipal election campaign, had published articles to show that the municipal administration had bankrupted the city, and that this has seriously injured the city's credit. Two principles were involved in the suit, the right of a newspaper to criticize government finance and whether a corporation could be sued for a sum so large that if the damages asked were awarded the corporation would be ruined. The court upheld the newspaper and threw out the suit.

LARGE CROWD HEARD LECTURE

George street Methodist church was packed last evening to hear Mr. W. H. Goodwin of Montreal, give his lecture on missionary work in Japan. This was profusely illustrated with some fine colored slides, and proved very interesting. The Flowery Kingdom, with its chrysanthemums and cherry blossoms, its intensely blue lakes and wonderful shrines to departed spirits, and its worship of Shintoism its inscrutable age-old Buddhas and its modern tea-garden girls, was depicted in a very attractive manner.

The choir of the church, under the direction of Mr. John H. Renwick, rendered some beautiful music during the progress of the address.

UNION OF ALL WAR VETERANS' BODIES URGED

REPRESENTATIVES OF FIVE ORGANIZATIONS RECOMMEND PLAN TO THEIR ASSOCIATIONS

VETERANS CONVENTION IS OFFICIAELY OPENED

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 17.—Representatives of five returned soldiers' organizations in conference here yesterday agreed to recommend to their respective organizations plans for unification. Proposals prove that this unification may take the shape of amalgamation, affiliation or federation or, in the event of neither of these methods proving satisfactory, some other means of combining veterans in one body.

The five organizations represented were the Great War Veterans' Association, Grand Army of United Veterans, Army and Navy Veterans' Association, Imperial Veterans of Canada and Canadian Legion. Major F. C. Taylor, D.S.O., of the Army and Navy Veterans, was elected chairman of the conference by unanimous vote. The delegates at the conference showed that they personally were in favor of complete unification of all Veterans' Associations.

Each of the five organizations will be requested to appoint two representatives as soon as some plan for unity has definitely been decided upon to put into force the method of union adopted.

Three representatives of the American Legion arrived here this morning, each of whom is a district commander of the Association in the State from which he comes. They are: D. F. Steck, Iowa, E. J. Barrett, Wisconsin, and A. A. Vandyke, Minnesota. The American Legion and the Great War Veterans have for some time been working together on a scale of co-ordination and the three delegates named will all be present at the conference to plan in detail plans for further procedure.

If during the coming winter all Canadian veterans should decide to amalgamate, affiliate or federate, it is quite likely that the connection with the American Legion would be maintained. At any rate, officials of the G.W.V.A. here intimate they would not be willing that such an arrangement should be discarded.

About one hundred and fifty delegates are at present in town for the annual convention which opens today. It is expected that before the day is over an equal number will have arrived from the east.

A civic welcome will be tendered at the armouries this afternoon, when addresses will be made by Hon. Robert Manion, Brig.-Gen. D. M. Hogarth, M.P.P., and Mayor I. L. Matthews. Registration of delegates and striking of committees was the business of this morning.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 17. Canadian Press.—With the announcement on Sunday that the Big Five railroad transportation chiefs will meet here on Tuesday to discuss plans for carrying on the nation-wide progressive railroad strike that has been set to begin at 6 a.m., Sunday, October 30th, W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, declared that nothing but a miracle can prevent the strike going into effect.

TELEGRAPHERS' CHIEF DENIES PLANS FORMED

SAYS HIS UNION WILL FORMULATE STRIKE POLICY AT MEETING NEXT FRIDAY.

PIERSON'S STATEMENT UNAUTHORIZED, HE SAYS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., 17.—(Canadian Press).—E. J. Manion, President of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, last night refuted the statement of Thomas M. Pierson, Vice-president of that organization, in a statement to the Associated Press, in which he said: "The policy of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers has not been formulated, and Mr. Pierson is not authorized to give out any such statement. Out policy will not be known until October 21."

He added: "The General Chairman of that organization will be convened in Chicago on October 21 to discuss the policy and arrangements of that organization relative to the strike and whatever action is decided upon will be announced at that time.

"Mr. Pierson is not authorized to make such a statement as sent out from Chicago."

MEN ON LINES OF DIFFERENT GROUPS WILL WALK OUT AT 48 HOUR INTERVALS, PUTTING STRIKE IN FULL EFFECT BY NOVEMBER 5—TELEGRAPHERS WILL STRIKE ALSO, VICE-PRESIDENT OF THEIR UNION SAYS, THUS COMPLETELY PARALYZING NATION'S TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM.

CHICAGO, October 17 (Canadian Press). — Final arrangements for a general railroad strike intended to tie up the nation's transportation system through a walk-out of the 2,000,000 employees rapidly are nearing completion, with the Sunday's developments bringing two important changes in the original plans. Foremost among these was a decision not to include the Pennsylvania Lines and the Erie Railroad in the group of carriers on which the first walk-out is scheduled to begin at six a.m. on 30th October.

The San Diego and Arizona Railroad was added to the first of the four groups into which the unions have divided the roads for strike purposes, and it was decided to order the three succeeding groups out at forty-eight-hour intervals instead of twenty-four hours apart. Under this plan, with the men on the roads in Group No. 1, walking out on 30th October, the strike would be in full effect on 5th November.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad also was dropped from the first group, according to the list given out by union leaders.

These changes were said by union leaders to complete assignment of roads to the first group on which walkouts would take place and the following was made known as the official list of carriers in that group:

Kansas City Southern, Missouri Pacific, St. Louis Southwestern, (Cotton Belt; International and Great Northern, Texas Pacific, Southern and Atlantic System, including Houston, east and west; Texas and Houston, Texas Central); Southern Pacific, (Pacific System); San Diego and Arizona; Chicago and Northwestern; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, (except Chicago, Terre Haute and Southeastern; Northern Pacific; Southern Railway (lines east and west); Seaboard Air Line; Virginian Railroad; Chicago Great Western; Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific.

While no official information was forthcoming as to what group the Pennsylvania Lines would be placed in, it was understood that they would be assigned to Group Three, on which the walkouts are scheduled to start November 3. All walkouts are scheduled to begin at six a.m., standard time.

The transfer of the Pennsylvania Lines from Group 1, was unexplained by union leaders, but caused considerable surprise as that road has been considered by the unions as the most antagonistic of any to them and it was believed that the first strike would be ordered on it.

By midnight Chicago had been deserted by virtually all of the leaders of the Big Four brotherhoods and the Switchmen's Union of North America, the organizations in which an official strike call actually has been issued and the hub of the situation was being transferred to Cleveland, where the presidents of five unions will meet Tuesday to complete the grouping of the railroads and settle the final details of the proposed walkout.

The union forces gained strength yesterday when Thomas M. Pierson, vice-president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, announced that the 81,000 members of his organization positively were pledged to strike and that they would make every effort to completely tie up the country's transportation systems.

"It is our aim to tie up transportation so completely that it will be impossible for a train to move," said Mr. Pierson. "If every telegrapher quits work that will mean that no train orders can be sent and train service necessarily will be at a standstill. There is no question but what we will order our membership out on October 30, but the final instructions probably will not be issued until October 21."

The shop crafts unions, comprising about 476,000 employees, deferred the formal issuance of a strike call pending a meeting to be held here Wednesday, but their leaders have officially announced that their organizations will be called out and that the delay in sending out the call has been caused purely by the time neeedd to draft the final plans and orders.

At the same time, however, the shop crafts leaders have made it known that while they will go out with the brotherhoods and the Switchmen, they are not pledged to stay out after own grievances have been satisfactorily adjusted.

"Our organizations will return to work when they are satisfied that they have gained their individual points," a high official said last night, "The concessions which would satisfy one body of workers might not satisfy another. It is quite certain that we will all be on the same track going out, but there are many sidings and we don't have to come back together."

B. M. Jewell, head of the Railway Employes Department, American Federation of Labor— which comprises the shop crafts—said that his men would have been called out independently on a question of wages alone.

"Acting independently, our men never would go out on a question of wages alone," said Mr. Jewell. "They will fight to the last ditch; however, for their rules and for fair working conditions—matters of principle — but the executive committees of the shop crafts were very much opposed to calling a strike on the wage question alone."

THE RAILWAY SITUATION.

To the people of Canada the fact that there is every likelihood of a general strike of the railway employees of the United States is almost as important as it is to our neighbors across the line. While there is little danger of the Canadian railway workers following the example of their United States' comrades, yet a strike that would paralize the transportation system of the republic and demoralize many of the industries, could not fail to seriously affect Canadians. Our trade with the United States would for the time being vanish and we would be cut off from many things upon which we have learned to depend. Especially would this country suffer from a fuel scarcity that would soon grow into a famine if the strike were to be prolonged. Manufacturing concerns in many lines of industry would be compelled to close down and the whose country would speedily feel the effect of the tie-up of the Uniment of the situation will consequently be followed with as keen anxiety in Canada as below the border and there will be a general hope that the difficulties can be adjusted and an agreement reached that will prevent this disaster materializing.

THE BAND QUESTION.

The popularity of the Sunday evening concerts given by the G.W.V.A.-Citizens' Band is unmistakable evidence that good music is appreciated by a large section of Peterborough's population and should serve to show the members of the City Council that a more generous treatment of the local musical organizations would meet with approval. The abandonment of the usual concerts in the parks last summer was regretted by many citizens who had always found pleasure in the programmes rendered by the city bands and who were disappointed when they learned that the summer series was to be cancelled. It is to be hoped that the band question will be revised by next year's Council and that it will be possible to include in the estimates a generous appropriation for music. That the city bands have been able to carry on this year without any assistance speaks well for the management of those in charge and for the zeal and enthusiasm of the individual members, but it is scarcely fair to let the organizations fight their battles alone. A revival of the summer concerts next year would be hailed with delight by many citizens.

NO TIME TO LOSE.

The proposal to hold an Old Home Week in Peterborough next year has aroused much interest and several citizens have spoken to the Examiner most enthusiastically about the big event. The general verdict seems to be that, properly handled, the reunion can be made one of the most successful demonstrations that Peterborough has ever known. It is recognized, of course, that preparations for the event must be commenced almost at once and that no time is to be lost in arranging an organization if the re-union is to be attempted for next year. A paid secretary who would be able to devote all his time to the work would seem to be a necessity, for there will be a mass of clerical work and correspondence to deal with. Committees of real workers will also be needed and they must be prepared to give unselfishly of their time and energy if they hope to bring about the success that is aimed at. But other communities have undertaken an Old Boys' re-union and have been so successful that specnal trains have been run from American and Canadian cities and there is no reason to fear any failure here if the enterprise is properly launched and taken hold of by citizens who realize the extent of the task they are assuming.

WATCHING THE VOTES.

Urging the selection and subsequent election of the best men in the country for the Canadian Parliament, the Montreal Gazette says:

"In an ideal state the office would seek the man; and the unerring guess might point to the man at the plough, as in the classic times, but, at any rate, it is of the most urgent moment that the men who form the new Parliament should not be merely of personal probity, but that they should be men of vision. They should express the constructive timber of statesmanship. They should have grasp of large affairs. They should not be daunted by wide horizons. They should be superior to the ordinary ruck of parliamentary candidates, who are concerned, not with politics, but votes."

"To all of which the entire community can, and no doubt will, respond in an emphatic affirmative.

The trouble is that no matter how good a man may be when he goes to Parliament under any system of election, points out the London Advertiser, he must, if he intends to stay in public life, remember that he has to go back to the country some day to get re-elected.

In order to do this he must secure votes.

He has also to remember that his political opponents are busy all the time trying to tip him over—that they may have a man in the running who is every bit as clean and upstanding as he is.

There are scores of things to keep constantly before him the fact that election day is not so very far distant, and this brings the reminder that he must do something to secure votes.

When the mind of the public gets above this standard we may have a change, but it is certain the men in Parliament as a whole are not going to rise much above the national and moral standards of those who put them there.

FOR CHEAPER HOMES

It is generally conceded that the cost of home-building will be lower in the spring than during the past season. It is asserted, on the other hand, that this will not remove the most serious barrier to building activity. Real estate experts declare that money scarcity rather than high costs must be blamed for the existing housing condition.

The gap between a builder's own capital and the cost of that which he builds, including the site upon which he builds it, must be met temporarily in two ways—by the cash which he can borrow and the credit which he can secure. And the borrowing of capital is nowadays not an easy task. The percentage of building value which loan companies will advance upon first mortgage has shruken. The rate charged for it has increased. It is sometimes difficult to procure a suitable advance on any terms. And in any event the margin between the first mortgage and the final cost is sure to be large.

It is larger—much larger—than the payment down which most purchasers are prepared to make when the builder is ready to sell. People who would normally be renters are driven into house-ownership by the scarcity of homes to rent. Under such conditions large deposits are more likely to be the exception than the rule. How then can these modest nrst payments be stretched to meet the discrepancy between the small first mortgage and the price of the property which is being bought? It cannot be done. They must be supplemented by second mortgages. In many cases the builder takes a little cash and a big second mortgage for the difference between the price he charges and the first mortgages which he secured. This leaves him with capital tied up in a second mortgage. Of course, if he wishes to continue building, he must release it.

The builder must sell his second mortgage He cannot sell it for its face value So he disposes of it at a loss—but not his loss He has anticipated this by charging an extra amount for the house. In addition to high rates of interest on both first and second mortgage, the buyer has had to pay an excess sum due directly to the builder's financial difficulties. The more moderate the first payment, the larger this sum is likely to be. Yet the buying of houses by people who can pay only a small amount down is something to be encouraged.

The way to encourage it—the way to promote home-building and to provide cheaper homes—is to make easier the financial pathway of the man who is willing to build. If the city wished it could probably secure legislation to this end. Civic loans to builders would do much to ease the situation and give a new impetus to the construction of dwellings in the spring. But no plan is being maped out. There may be promises at election time, but this year's council has taken no action looking towards a solution of the building problem.—Star Weekly.

PLANS OF UNIONS TO TIE UP U. S- RAILAOADS

Mr. Jewell referred to the recent decision of the shop crafts executives not to call a strike on the wage cut ordered July 1, by the United States' Railway Labor Board, although the men had voted by an overwhelming majority to strike rather than accept the cut.

Mr. Jewell indicated that final instructions to the men under him might be delayed until after the Pennsylvania Railroad hearing before the Labor Board scheduled to commence October 20, at which time the Board may determine whether the carrier has violated the Board's order directing a new election of shop crafts' representatives to negotiate working rules with the management.

The controversy grew out of separate elections, which the Board declared void. It ordered new elections but they have not been held. The shop crafts considered this case as a fight against their fight to negotiate with the employers over working conditions and their leaders expressed the opinion they would prefer to strike on this question together with that of wages, rather than on that of wages alone, Mr. Jewell said.

ASK FARMERS TO AID THEIR SUFFERING BROTHERS.

EDMONTON, October 15. — Alberta farmers and stockmen in the central and northern sections may be extended an invitation by the Provincial Government to help their less fortunate brothers in the south of the Province. Recently a number of Stettler citizens offered two carloads of cattle for the needy settlers in the southern portion of the Province, and this offer has suggested to the Government that others may be willing to follow suit.

The plan under consideration is that the beef so contributed would be slaughtered under Government control, put in storage, and given out during the winter in cases of actual need.

SMALL LOTS ARE FORBIDDEN

OSHAWA, October 15.—Oshawa Town Planning Commission, at a meeting held here, passed a resolution that in future no building lots on subdivision plans less than 45 feet in frontage, will be approved. This action was taken when a plan with very narrow lots, some of them barely 30 feet, was presented by a subdivision owner for approval, and was rejected.

The commission took the stand that a house built on so narrow a lot could not be sanitary. In the south end of the town at present there are many shacks, which the commission held should never have been built as they constitute an eyesore and a menace to the public health.

ALLEGE KIDNAPPINGS BY SINN FEIN AGENTS

BELFAST, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Patrick Shields, a farmer in Castleburg, Count Tyrone, was seized by four armed men last week during the night prior to the hearing of a civil action in which he was the plaintiff. He was carried off blindfolded and detained for several days and then liberated. It is alleged that he had refused to submit his cause for action to a "republican court", desiring to have the case tried before the regularly established courts. It is alleged that there have been several other such kidnappings of litigants, among them James Shannagh, a farmer of Tyrone. It is also said that another man, John Meehan, who refused to submit his case to a "republican court," was detained by Sinn Feiners until after the regular court sessions had concluded Saturday.

JAPANESE CIVILIZATION HAS BEEN OF A HIGH AND HUMANE CHARACTER

RESENTED DISCRIMINATION AGAINST THEM BECAUSE THEY ARE ASIATICS—STORY OF THE ISLAND EMPIRE.

News that the emperor of Japan is in extremis may prove to be of great importance at the present juncture of world politics, taken in conjunction with the recent visit of the crown prince to western nations. Among constitutional nations it is probable that the head of the Japanese empire exercises a greater influence in the government of his people than in the case of any other constitutional sovereign. Japan had been an absolute monarchy until the year 1889, ad from 1600 till 1868 political power had been in the hnds of the Shoguns. The revolution of 1867, which, strangely enough, was a religious one, restored his old power to the emperor, and he proceeds to show his wisdom in using it by transferring to a constitional government much of his autiority. He appoints ministers, declares war, makes peace, and concludes treaties, but as a constitutional sovereign. The Japanese reigning dynasty is the oldest in the world, reaching in an unbroken line back to 660 B.C., when Jimmu ascended the throne, and traditionally beyond that into remote antiquity. The title Mikado means the "exalted gate" or "door," but his own people speak of the emperor as tenshi, son of heaven, or tenno, heavenly king. Originally, as in China, Egypt and other archaic nations, the government was theocratic, and when the mikado is described as the Son of the Sun, the physical idea which occurs to the materialist minded westerner is not the Japanese idea at all. The mikado is conceived of as an incarnation of that divine being whose consciousness is centered or dwells in the sun. Sun-worship, in other words, is not worship of the body, but of the spirit of the sun, which is conceived of as a living, sentient being who is represented on earth by the mikado. Men's bodies are merely the outer garments of the real men, it is taught in the Shinto religion, who are spirits and incarnate in fleshly forms in order to gain experience, to learn and to develop to higher spiritual levels.

Ai[illegible] Mission.

About the sixth century Buddhism which had had a thousand years of degeneration in India and China, and had fallen from its original simplicity and purity into elaborate forms of ritualism and idolatry, reached Japan, and gradually established itself alongside the native faith, absorbing it and amalgamating with it the electic tendencies of Japanese thought favoring such a course. The Hinayana system of Buddhism, or "little vehicle" as it is called, whose sole aim is individual salvation, to save oneself, regardless of others, made progress until the beginning of the ninth century, when Kobo Daishi, an exponent of the Shingon, or "true word," gave impetus to the Mahayana doctrine, the "greater vehicle", which teaches that man must strive after perfect enlightenment, not for his own sake alone, but that he may help his fellows to attain eternal life and peace also. Sect after sect arose in succeeding centuries. Christianity first touched Japan in 1[illegible] when a Portuguese vessel was blown off her course and as a result for almost a century some intercourse with the west was maintained. Francis Xavier landed at Kagoshima, August 15, 1549. The Buddhist priests listened respectfully to what was told them through an interpreter, Anjiro, originally Yajido. But Xavier was not satisfied with this and became [illegible] intolerant. In 27 months he made 760 converts. The stormy history of foreign intercourse from this time has to be regarded as the result, not of enmity to christianity as such but of commercial greed and the folly and arrogance of the Spanish and Portuguese propagandists, who made no secret of their hope to subjugate Japan temporarily as well as spiritually. In 1639 an edict of the Tokugawa rulers closed Japan to the west for 214 years till 1853.

Bill Adams in Japan

A curious episode of 300 years ago was the arrival of a Dutch vessel, the Liefde, in Japan in 1600. On board as pilot major was an Englishman, Will Adams, of Gillingham, in Kent, who became master shipbuilder to the Yedo governments, and a trusted friend, in whom he reposed entire confidence, of Iyevato the Tokugawa ruler. From Will Adams, whose honesty was obvious, he learned much about conditions in Europe, and he also sent an emissary there to report. The story of the Inquisition and the stake, of religious wars and ecclesiastical aggression, was not agreeable to one whose country from time immemorial had assured freedom of conscience, and the fierce quarrel between the Jesuits on the one hand, and the Franciscan and Dominican friars on the other in Japan itself, confirmed all these reports. Frauds and conspiracies on the part of Christian converts hastened the decision to proscribe the foreigners. Notice was given them to clear out, and only those who refused to abide by the decree of banishment suffered exectuion. It was in 1853 that Admiral Perry, of the United States with four ships and 560 men first visited Japan, returning the next year with ten ships and 2,000 men, and opened the new era in Japan's relations with the western world. The Japanese civilization has been of a high and humane order, and it has had a spiritual basis which differentiates it from the material tendencies of the west, except in as far as western methods have been adopted in Japan in the last half century. To the great mass of the people the emperor is still the Son of the Sun a being invested with spiritual authority, as in the west the head of a church is supposed to be. He is expected to act as having that character and authority, and to be obeyed accordingly.

Want Equal Treatment

There is very little difference in human nature, whether manifested in one race or another, and the intense pride of the Japanese in their nationality can only be understood in the west by realizing that their country, their flag, their traditions are just as dear to them as the government, the history, the flag and traditions of any western nation can be to it. "Is it not," asks a Japanese statesman, "a glorious tradition for a nation that its emperor should be descended directly from that grandson of 'the great heaven-illuminating goddess,' to whom she said, 'This land is the region over which my descendants shall be the lords. Do thou, my august child, proceed thither and govern it. Go! The prosperity of thy dynasty shall be coeval with heaven and earth.' Thus they call their country the land of kami." This word is translated "the ancient god or tradition," and is suggestive of the ancient name of Egypt, Kham or Khemi. The five articles sworn to, by the emperor in 1868 included government dictated by public opinion, the union of all classes, liberty for all to fulfill their just desires so as to banish discontent, laws and customs to be based on just and equitable principles of heaven and earth, and, welfare of Japan should be promoted. The one thing the Japanese resent is discrimination against them for their race as Asiatics, and here western prejudice has to justify itself.

LETTER FROM MRS. WAKELIN

Tells Remarkable Story of Sickness and Recovery.

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered greatly from weakness, seemed to be tired all the time, and had no ambition to do anything or go any place. My nerves were in bad shape, I could not sleep at night, and then came a breakdown. I read of Lydia E. Now I am quite able to do all my own work, and I would strongly advise every suffering woman to give Lydia E. URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts if your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasoinally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken ,then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, the tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

CO-OPERATIVE BILL MOOTED IN SOUTH AFRICA.

LONDON, October 17 (Canadian Press). — A Reuter despatch from Pretoria says a conference, representing the principal co-operative organisations of the Union of South Africa, under the chairmanship of Sir Thomas Smartt, Secretary of Agriculture, is now considering the draft of a co-operative bill for the Union.

When opening the proceedings, Premier General Smuts appealed most strongly to the farmers to organise and co-operate, pointing out that the Union's principal industries are in gravest peril "mainly because we are unorganised. Our exports are suffering because, while other countries are well organised, we are facing the post-war storm in a totally unorganised condition. South Africa is entering upon a new epoch of far more rapid development than in the past. Our future lies in becoming a great producing country."

General Smuts said the Government was willing to help to the uttermost, and was prepared to support in Parliament any measure recommended by the conference, but he emphasised that self-help was necessary.

ULTIMATE GOAL ELIMINATION OF PRINCIPLE OF PROTECTION

whole weight of the party organization was used to crush him. This is but a sober statement of fact. It is not too much to say that the deplorable and serious railway situation which we have in Canada today is, in a very large measure, the offspring of this system. Railway promoters, wanting Government guarantees or direct cash assistance, put up the campaign funds and got the favors. Those manufacturers who desired special tariff favors put up the money to pay election expenses, and then, sheltered behind the tariff they had purchased, exploited the Canadian people to their own enrichment. Party campaign funds and the sources from which they have come, have been the greatest single corrupting agency in the public life of this country. As well try to mix oil and water as get purity in government under these conditions.

And what is the position today? The old spirit is in evidence, the old methods are in operation. It is already plain that the Government plans to spend unlimited money in this campaign. Where does the money come from? Who are providing these immense campaign funds? The same interests that have supplied it in the past. By all the agencies and influences that money can buy or control, the Government hopes to secure a verdict from the Canadian people. In that case the Government itself and its following in the House would be utterly controlled by the interests that put them there.

I ask you to contrast this sordid spirit, these selfish corrupting influences, with the method followed by those who are taking part in the new political movement in Canada. We are free men and we want a free Parliament, and to that end scores of thousands of voters throughout Canada are providing the funds necessary to carry on the election campaign. This is the business of the people. This is as it should be. I ask all good Canadians who want to see their country prosper, who desire to see decency in public life and public administration, which is the better method? To which will you give your adherence The Prime Minister says the tariff is the only issue. The tariff is an issue, a very important issue, but the supreme issue to-day is whether our Government is to be free or fettered, and whether legislation in the future shall be for the few or for the many.

Business Administration.

The Progressive movement recognises that while we need a new moral atmosphere in politics, any Government has to meet vast problems of practical administration. A new Government, then, must bring to its work not only a measure of ideals, but as well, sound, practical business judgment, and high administrative capacity. Because of the financial condition of this country and the obligations we are facing, the great need to-day is sound business administration of this country's affairs. The extent of our country, the rapidity with which it has been opened up with a sparsely settled population, the interest on our debt which must be provided—for the country cannot dshonour its promises to pay—the necessities of our returned men which must always be a first charge on our consideration and our resources, our huge railway obligations, the necessity for constructive development, impose a task upon the Government such as has rested upon no other in our history. The best minds available both inside and outside the new Parliament must be enlisted for the consideration and the solution of these problems, and no matter what the position of the Progressive Party may be in the next Parliament, it will apply itself to the discharge of this vast task along the lines indicated. This is a time when patriotism must come before party, when the national well-being must be the first concern of every good citithe first concern of every good citizen.

But to that end we may develop this country wisely and handle our resources in the most effective way to add to our national wealth, the National Progressives have certain definite constructive policies upon which they invite the judgment of the Canadian people. In this connection we place in the front rank the fiscal and trade policy of this country. In any survey or Canada's position to-day all are agreed that our financial condition is serious. The way ahead looks dark. It becomes then a question of paramount importance how we can best develop the assets of Canada, so as most speedily to get back to solid ground and be relieved of our anxieties.

Effect of Protection.

For over forty years we have had a fiscal policy based on the principle of protection. Those who advocate it to-day, and would continue it, endeavour to frighten the people by the bogey of evils to follow if it is removed or even in any degree modified. What is the purpose of a protective tariff? The answer is, "To exclude foreign goods in order that the home manufacturer may have an advantage in the home market." It thus interferes with the naturally profitable interchange of goods. It is a fact, accepted even by the most convinced protectionists, that a nation can only grow rich by trade with the world. It is a well-known truth, also, that trade cannot be one-sided. If we are to sell we must buy; and if, by the operation of high tariffs, trade is made difficult, to that extent is the development of wealth restricted. The effect of the policy of protection in Canada has been to build up a few large cities through manufactures, much of the raw material of which has to be imported into the country. Among the reasons urged in favour of this policy is that the Canadian farmer is prosperous by reason of the home markets thus provided him. But has it done this? The verdict of stern facts is against it. After ten years of protection in Canada there is no one who knows anything whatever of our economic situation, but realises this fact—that agriculture was never in so difficult or precarious a position as to-day. It has been said that agriculture is the foundation of our prosperity. Since this is undoubtedly true what is the sense of maintaining a fiscal policy that places handicaps, often severe, on the development of this national and natural industry of Canada? Where does the source of our national wealth lie? It lies in the development of our fertile lands, our forests, our mines, and our fisheries. It does not lie in importing raw material and turning it into manufactured goods under high protection.

Our policy, then, is frankly based on the principle of first developing the natural wealth of the country. We would make the tariff burden on the farmer, and on the working man, as light as possible—not in the sense of any favour to them, but for the reason solely of encouraging the development if our agriculture, our mines, and our forests. If we can double or treble the production from these sources in the next ten years, we will save the situation and solve our problems. It follows that if these great natural industries are thriving and prosperous the manufacturing industries will share in the expansion because all the facts of the case furnish convincing evidence that Canada's prosperity rests not primarily in the creation of large cities, but in the development of a sturdy, industrious, and contented agricultural population.

There is also the moral aspect of the protective system. Nothing that is morally wrong is economically wise. Without doubt the protective tariff in the past has placed a heavy burden upon the cost of living of the people, and is doing so to-day. And with what result? It is a notorious fact that many companies carrying on a manufacturing business in Canada have been reorganised, and reorganised again, through the agency of the stock promoter. Watered stock to the extent of millions of dollars has been injected into the capital of many of these companies enjoying the highest protection. The owners of this stock—worthless at the time it was issued—have since reaped huge profits from it through the operation of the tariff. Protection enables one individual, or group of individuals, to take something out of the pocket of other individuals. The fact that this is done under the sanction of the law does not change the moral aspect of it. For reasons such as these we oppose the principle of protection as being economically unsound and morally wrong.

Progressive Fiscal Policy.

What then are our proposals? Our goal is the ultimate elimination of the principle of protection in our fiscal policy. But we recognise that changes must be brought about in a manner that will give a fair opportunity to Canadian industries now enjoying protection to adjust themselves to them. To the end that our agricultural resources may be developed in the fullest degree possible, we propose removing the duty from agricultural implements; and also from much of mining and sawmill machinery for the encouragement of these industries. To lessen the cost of living, a substantial reduction in the general tariff should be made, and especially upon those things that come within the category of the necessities of life. Essential foods we shall also place on the free list; and I would invite the attention of the Canadian people to this, when our opponents, by misrepresentation, accuse the farmers of Canada with seeking only selfish legislation.

We believe that in this way the wealth of Canada can best be developed, the area of prosperity can best be enlarged, and the general happiness if all the people best promoted.

But our opponents say, "If you do this, where will you get the revenue to run the country" Let us look at this thing squarely. A tariff that is put on goods for protective purposes is not intended primarily to produce revenue. In other words, the tariff can be framed for revenue and not for protection, and thus by wise adjustments and modifications it can still be used to produce a very substantial revenue. In the main, however, as far as our revenues are concerned, we must rely on direct taxation; and the taxes imposed must be levied in accordance with sound principles of taxation. Taxes must be levied on the basis of ability to pay. Under the indirect method of raising revenue, through customs tariff, the man least able to pay very often pays the most.

Economy and Wider Markets.

When we come to the matter of our financial policy for the future we face the question of gravest difficulty. Our federal debt to-day approaches two and a half billion dollars. Our expenditures have mounted to over half a billion a year. This cannot continue unchecked. If it does, the burden of taxes and the cost of living upon the Canadian people will be so crushing, that we shall lose population, which at this juncture we cannot afford to do. How can we best meet this critical situation? Certain essential conditions must be met. We must rigidly bring out public expenditures within the limits of our public income, and that at once. We should have some co-ordination of financial policy for the Dominion as a whole and some understanding reached, particularly between Federal, Provincial and Municipal authorities, as to the relative fields of taxation and of expenditure. Drastic economy in public administration must be introduced and carried through, and no sentiment, public or private, should be permitted to stand in the way of this. In other words, we as a nation, must do what a private individual who gets into financial difficulties does. We must economize, we must work and we must save.

We must shape our public policies to give the greatest encouragement possible to the development of our nautral resources, exporting the surplus products of these to other lands who are less favored in this respect than we are. We should make every effort possible for the extension of markets for these products. We are suffering to-day from a short-sighted policy that rejected reciprocity in 1911. It would direct the attention of the Canadain farmer, and the attention of the Canadian people who are dependent for their prosperity upon the prosperity of the farmer, to the fact that the same selfish interests that refused the beneficent reciprocity arrangement of 1911, are behind the present government with all their old vigor and strength.

Trade With United States.

Markets for Canadian products must be found, and when we come to a consideration of this without doubt the great country to the south of us comes to mind. It is true that to-day the United States has put restrictions against trade with Canada. It is a mistake to think that this has been done in a spirit of hostility to Canada. They very naturally have assumed that we are not anxious to trade with them, for we said so in 1911. Canada must always maintain her self respect, but it is not derogatory to that self respect to go frankly to our great neighbors to the South and asy to them, "Let us sit down and reason this thing together." The course of events in Washington in the past few months without doubt, shows that many of those who favored a protective tariff in that country in the past, have changed their views. Within the life of the parliament about to be elected the opportunity will come to Canada to take up this question and to take it up in a way that will be quite consistent with our self respect, and will secure, upon terms honorable to both parties and of equal benefit to both, an arrangement which will enlarge the United States' markets for our products. But what chance is there of getting this from the present government if it is returned to power? It and the interests behind it are just as frankly antagonistic to-day as they have ever been to the securing of the United States market for Canadian products. We can expect nothing from such a government, domianted as it is by the big interests of the country. If there is to be an extension of our markets, if there is to be any opening up of new wealth-giving channels of trade, it must be by other hands than those of the present administration.

Canada's National Status.

In view of the increasing importance of Canada's national status, I desire to draw the attention of the Canadian electorate to the statement of policy in the Progressive Platform, which reads as follows:

"We believe that the further development of the British Empire should be sought along the lines of partnership between nations free and equal under the present government system of British constitutional authority. We are strongly opposed to any attempt to centralize imperial control. Any attempt to set up an independent authority with power to bind the Dominions, whether this authority be termed parliament, council or cabinet, would hamper the growth of responsible and informed democracy in the Dominions."

The problem thus indicated is now pressing for solution and it should be dealt with in strict conformnty with the spirit of this declaration.

Railway Probem.

The financial position of our National Railways, is one of the most serious problems of the hour. These roads have come into the hands of the people through the breakdown of private management, which has resulted in costly and unnecessary duplication. The plain fact is we have enough railways in Canada to serve the needs of a population double what we now have. This is the cardinal weakness of our position, and until the business is provided, thees roads will run at a loss. What we need is more population to provide more freight and passenger traffic, and this will come and remain here, only if the country is prosperous. There are some who would turn these roads into private hands. This course would not save the country from heavy losses. With population and business these roads can be turned into a good asset, and this potential value must not be sacrificed. If there is weakness and inefficiency in the management it must be ruthlessly set right. The roads must be freed from any political interference with the management, and a way must be found to provide this, and still leave to parliament the necessary control of money advances. Most emphatically the solution must not be found along the lines that would fasten a railway monopoly upon the Canadian people.

Immigration and Colonization.

Bound up with a solution of this matter, and as well with finding a way of overcoming our financial difficulties, is the question of immigration. But to make immigration successful the country must be prosperous, and it should be the work of parliament to promote this in every way possible. An undue proportion of our population is now in our cities. The potential wealth of Canada lies in our natural resources, the chief of which is our fertile lands, and the people we bring to our shores should be those adaptable to agriculture. Since free homesteads and cheap land in Canada are now largely things of the past, it will be necessary to create the means whereby capital for productive purposes can be supplied settlers on sound and safe lines that will protect the country from loss. This is now receiving the attention of many of the provinces, but in fullest measure the Federal authorities should co-operate.

Woman's Influence.

For the first time the women of Canada have the right to vote in the coming election upon an equality with men. The present government takes the cerdit for this and thereon bases an appeal to Canadian women for support. The fact is that it was the Union government in 1918 that put this reform on the Statute Books. The present government is an altogether different affair. Let it not be overlooked, either, that it was the strong Farmers' oragnizations of Western Canada and Ontario which furnished the driving power for this reform. I am convinced that Canadian women can play a great and worthy part in our national life. They will give an elevation of tone to our public discussion that will exercise a profound power in establishing and maintaining a sound moral viewpoint in government and in the administration of our public affairs, a moral outlook that has been sadly missing in the past and which certainly was never more necessary than to-day.

I have attempted in this brief compass to deal only with the larger issues that must be faced by Canada in the next few years. I have endeavoured, and trust in an understanding way, to set forth the broad principles that should guide the conduct of our affairs, both from the moral and business standpoint. I urge Canadian men and women that they study these public issues with an unbiased, fair judgment. Attempts will be made to raise false issues. Already efforts are being made to appeal to prejudices and passions. We must free ourselves from these if we are to find the wisest solutions of our difficulties. We submit the principles of the Progressive movement to your judgment with confidence. We believe they provide a sure and safe basis upon which we can build a United Canada, a Canada that may well become an example to a distressed world in all that makes for a tolerant spirit—in all that makes for just and wise laws, justy and wisely administered.

Strength

Strength of muscle does not indicate strength of nerves. On this account many people who look healthy enough suffer from nervous troubles and cannot understand what is ailing them. Sleeplessness and irritability are among the early symptoms. Indigestion and tired feelings soon follow.

Read this letter from an Ontario man:

Mr. W. L. Gregory, Charles St. E., Ingersoll, Ont., writes:

"I had been troubled for quite a while with indigestion. At times there would be a twitching of the nerves of my stomach; and I also found it difficult to get a good night's sleep. I am a moulder, and owing to the nature of my work my system became run-down. I took a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and found great benefit from this medicine. They did me a great deal of good. I have not been bothered at all with indigestion since, and can sleep much better. I have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to many of my friends, as I think it splendid for anyone run-down and needing a tonic."

The War on Film

That dingy film on teeth

Dental science nowadays is conducting a war on film. It means a new dental era. The object is whiter teeth, cleaner teeth and safer.

Millions of people have already benefited. And leading dentists everywhere are urging this new way on others.

This is to offer a pleasant test. To bring you the results for awhile. Then to let you decide if you want them every day.

Film mars your looks

Film is that viscous coat you feel, ever-present, ever-forming. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

This film absorbs stains, so it clouds the teeth's beauty. It often forms the basis of thin, dingy coats. And ccated teeth don't glisten.

So beauty alone demands its daily removal. Those who leave it do not realize how attractive teeth can be.

The great tooth wrecker

But film does more. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Thus film causes most tooth troubles. Despite the tooth brush, those troubles have been constantly increasing, until very few escape. The ordinary dentifrice does not effectively combat film, so much has been left intact.

That is the situation which dental research has in late years sought to remedy.

Two efficient methods

Two efficient methods have been found. Able authorities have proved them. A great number of dentists have watched the results for years.

Now these methods are combined in a tooth paste called Pepsodent, for daily use at home. Its effects are quick and delightful. A week's use is usually convincing.

Other essential helps

Modern research has revealed other needs. Ordinary diet is often rich in starch and deficient in fruit acids. A tooth paste should twice daily do what fruit acids do. It should stimulate Nature's teeth-protecting agents in the mouth.

Pepsodent does that. It multiplies the salivary flow. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

All these results come from every application. Thus mouth acids and the starch which forms them are effectively combated. Old-time tooth pastes, based on soap and chalk, had just the opposite effect.

We Pay

The cost of a ten-day test. Simply send the coupon.

This will 20 times bring you the delightful effects. It will show you whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. Then you can easily judge what they mean to you.

Millions now show the results

Pepsodent is now widely adopted. As a result millions of teeth now glisten as they never did before. You see them everywhere. Those teeth are protected in these new, effective ways.

To countless women it has brought an added beauty. For men who smoke it is removing film-held tobacco stains. It is saving children's teeth. Dentists advise its daily use from the time the first tooth appears.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Feel the other good effects.

This test will be a revelation. It will show you what clean teeth mean. Then decide if you always want the teeth in your home kept like the teeth you see.

The despatch declares that the banks are virtually stormed by Germans seeking to draw their money before the official announcement of the League Council's decision is made.

SHEFFIELD CUTLERS ABANDON THEIR FEAST.

LONDON, Oct. 17. Canadian Press.—The Sheffield cutlers have abandoned their time honored feast announced for October 27. This decision is not surprising in view of the action of the Duke of York in withdrawing his aceptance of an invitation to attend, giving as his reason the widespread distress and the hunger among the unemployed.

Nevertheless regret prevails at the abandonment of an historic event which ranks as one of the principal social events of the country, and, except during the war, has been held in unbroken succession for three centuries.

LITTLE PROGRESS MADE ON UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM

LONDON, October 17. — Canadian Press Cable. — Yesterday's meeting between Right Hon. T. J. Macnamara, the Minister of Labour, and the representatives of the Labor Party, made little progress with the unemployment problem. Regarding an enlargement of the export credit no agreement has yet been reached, owing to the indecision concerning the extent of the guarantee likely to be required.

The Laborites are known to regard the suggestion of aid to emigration dubiously, contending that the prospects in the Dominions are not so rosy as the advocates of that policy are apt to declare. Labor opinion is also hardening against the proposal of a two pence weekly levy on all workers.

Arthur Henderson, secretary of the Labor Party, speaking at Edinburgh, said the labor executive were convinced that there must be an early general election. Although labor is prepared to give all assistance possible, the government, he said, must acept full responsibility for its own policy. There could be no effective solution until the international situation was boldly faced.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS' INSURANCE IN CANADA

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(By Canadian Press.)—The Knights of Columbus' faternal insurance society has been given unconditional license to operate in the Dominion of Canada. Supreme Secretary William J. McGinley announced to-day following receipt of an official communication from the Dominion Insurance Commissioner at Ottawa. The Knights of Columbus recently protested against the Canadian insurance law which compelled United States fraternal organizations operating in Canada to do so on an unusually high amount of mortuary reserve funds. As a result, Mr. McGinley states the Dominion authorities granted the Knights of Columbus unconditional license to operate.

BLUENOSE WINS FIRST OF SCHOONER CONTESTS

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press.) — The Lunenburg schooner Bluenose, Captain Angus Walters, built as a challenger for the International Fisherman's Trophy, won by the Gloucester Schooner Esperanto last year from the design of W. J. Roue, prominent Halifax yachtsman, showed her heels yesterday to the best that Nova Scotia would offer, in the first race of the series to decide the Championship of the Canadian Atlantic Fleet.

The Shelburne built schooner Canadia, Captain Jos. Conrad, sailed the greater advantage than was the Bluenose, was upwards of four minutes astern at the finish line, while the Alcalia, trailed the winner by upwards of seven minutes.

The Delewana, winner of last year's Nova Scotia elimination series, followed closely in fourth position, while the rest of the entrants made up of the Independence, Donald Cook, Uda Corkum and J. Duffy finished in the order named. o-day a second race will be held, and on the basis of the showing made by the various schooners in the two races a selection will be made of the challenger for the International Trophy.

BRITISH MANUFACTURERS WANT DOMINION'S TRADE.

LONDON, October 17 (Canadian Press). — The Federation of British Industries has taken up the question of the application of moneys raised for Dominion loans. It has addressed a letter to the railways and harbour boards of Johannesburg with reference to the rumours that almost simultaneously with the success of the recent South African loan in Britain of six million pounds sterling, one large contract, involving an expenditure of over a million pounds sterling, has been placed with an American firm. The letter says that the Federation of British Industries has been watching with considerable interest the plans of the South African Government for the erection of grain elevators, and continues that the British manufacturers confidently expected that a large proportion of the work entailed by Government schemes for public works, for which the recent South African loan was raised, would be placed in Great Britain.

DECLARES BAPTISTS OPPOSED TO UNION WITH OTHER SECTS ON GROUND OF THEIR BELIEF

REV. W. T. GRAHAM APPLAUDED IN CONVENTION SERMON AVOCATING BAPTIST SEPARATION.

OPPOSED TO RELIGIOUS TEACHING IN SCHOOLS

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press).—Claiming to be speaking with authority for the Baptist Church, Rev. W. T. Graham, D.D., of First Avenue Baptist Church, Toronto, made pronouncements in his convention sermon Sunday morning in Centre Street Baptist Church here of great importance. He said it was necessary at this important convention of the Church to state the position of the denomination on several important questions. The sermon, delivered with a forcefulness and vigor that raised the large congregation to a point of great enthusiasm, was greeted at its conclusion with a ripple of applause. Several times during the address the pastor was greeted with calls of "Yes" or "No," and the congregation, composed of many visiting ministers, seemed thoroughly in accord with the statements made by this pastor.

The Baptist Church, he said, cannot enter into Church union with the other Churches, and that statement might as well be made now as at some later time. Reasons advanced for making that statement were: "The Baptists believe in the authority and inspiration of scriptures as the only rule of faith and practice for the creeds and confessions of men." "The Baptists," said Dr. Graham, "believe in a regenerated church membership, and therefore cannot unite with those who baptise in faith. Baptists believe in liberty of conscience or religious liberty, and for that reason cannot have any form of faith thrust upon them. Baptists believe in immersion in water in the name of God, the Father, the Son and Holy Ghost as the only Christian baptism, and cannot compromise themselves to go back upon all past history to sprinkle infants."

"Right in the city of Toronto," continued Dr. Graham, "is a cemetery, and if one of my dearest relatives was to die, and I have every Baptist minister in the city take part in the services, interment couldn't take place unless an Anglican clergyman was present to conduct the burial service. And they talk to us of Church union," said the Toronto preacher heatedly.

"They had better throw the thing wide open first of all to the whole of us. There are lots of things we could have; that is one of them. We rejoice in union, and would be glad to see people who think alike get together. But what of the things I have mentioned. Will we as Baptists give up. Will we give up the inspiration and authority of scriptures for a creed?" (Cries of "No").

"Will we give up a regenerated church membership? (Cries of 'No'). Will we as Christian Baptists give up immersion—that is, will we give it up for some other form?" ("No, No," cried members of the congregation), and making other questions the preacher received the same decisive answers.

In his sermon, Dr. Graham said the Baptist Church would oppose in every way any attempt to give religious instruction in the public schools. Baptists believe in absolute separation between Church and State, and for that reason would oppose any such attempt. It is not the duty of the State to teach religion, he said. In the first place, the State hasn't the qualifications, and in the second place, whose religion would they teach? We would not like to have our religion or our views thrust upon the schools, said Dr. Graham, and what we ourselves would not like to do to others, we would not like others to do to us. It is the duty of the State to deal with social and economic problems. We believe emphatically in a free Church and a free State.

Do you know all these pronouncements that are going forth about teaching religion in public schools are merely the rags of old heresy of union between Church and State. Dr. Graham concluded his sermon with a burst of oratory that completely moved the congregation and appealed to them to be united and true when questions of great importance come before the convention.

EXPERIENCE OF NEW YORK WOMAN

MRS. LEHMAN HAD SUFFERED TEN YEARS FROM INDIGESTION—IN SPLENDID HEALTH NOW.

"I suffered for ten years from nervous indigestion. I had no appetite, and always felt miserable. I was in such a serious condition I thought my time for this world was getting short. My food didn't seem to nourish me at all, and I only weighed eighty-five pounds.

"After taking Tanlac, I now weigh one hundred and eight, and am gaining every day. Oh! There is such a wonderful change now. Tanlac relieved my troubles so quickly, it surprised me. My appetite is splendid. I have plenty of strength, and feel better than I have in years. I wouldn't take one thousand dollars for what Tanlac did for me."

The above statement was made by Mrs. Clara Lehman, Bristol Hotel, Rochester, N.Y.

CHURCH SERVICES AT MARK STREET

A large and appreciative congregation greeted the pastor at yesterday morning service, and the choir tured out in force, rendering splendid music. "From Sinai to Calvary" was the subject of the morning sermon, and was founded on John I: 17 For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ."

Israel Leaving Egypt.

Abraham was the "friend of God". Moses was the "father of the faithful". Jesus Christ is an historic character; and refers to both, so does Paul. We need not further dwell, then, upon the historic setting of the scene before Sinai.

Never in the world's history was there such a demonstration as took place on the plain before Sinai that day. A whole nation was there assembled alone with God. His hand had been seen and his voice heard at every step of their history for 430 years, up to this great crisis He had called their progenitor Abraham from his father's house and made with him the covenant, which had now reached its first great fulfillment He had guided the families by wondrous ways till He brought them down to Egypt, where they grew into a nation under the discipline of affliction. Thence, by a mighty hand He had brought them forth, proving that He was the only God, and they the people of His choice Separating them from all the other nations of the earth, He had divided the very sea to let them pass into this secret shrine of nature, whose awful grandeur prepared their mind for the coming revelation of His law.

All Men Born With Face Toward God.

Two million five hundred thousand Israelites stood before the "Mount of God" on that day. Every member of that mighty host was born with his face toward Jehovah and Canaan. They were sons of Abraham and heirs of the promise of God In like manner every child born into the human family is born an heir of heaven. They are sons and daughters of God by the merits of Christ, and remain in this relation to God until they wilfully wander away into sin. A son of Abraham was received into the Jewish church on the eighth day by the rite of circumcision; and we recognize the Christian child as a member of the Christian Church by the rite of infant baptism. But both Jew and Gentile must go to the spiritual Canaan by the way to Sinai ad Calvary.

No Way to Canaan But By Sinai.

No man of all that host can dodge Sinai, he must face the law. He shall see God face to face and receive the law which he never can fulfil in his own strength We dare not attempt to describe the awful grandeur of the scene. From amid the darkness, and above the trumpets, sound, God's voice was heard calling Moses up into the mount, that he might warn the people lest they should break the bounds to gaze on Jehovah. He must also prepare the elders to come up with him and Aaron when God shall call them. Then followed the greatest event of the Old Covenant. It was the voice of God himself giving forth the law by which His people were to live; The Ten Commandments, on which all other laws were to be founded. These Ten Commandments were summed up in the Old Covenant as well as the New in two great principles: — "Thou shalt love the Lord they God with all they heart, soul, mind and strength; and thy neighbour as thyself." The Ten Commandments were the only part of the law given by the voice of God, and written on the tables of stone.

Man Powerless to Obey the Law in Himself.

It was impossible for the Hebrews to keep the law in their own strength, and yet the law must be fulfilled. We too are responsible for the keeping of the Commandents. We cannot escape. "Thou shalt love the Lord they God", rings out above the trumpets blast and the rolling thunder above Sinai. But how can man in his natural state love God with all the powers of heart and mind and soul? Is not "the carnal mind emnity against God, is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can he." "Free from the law oh happy condition" is only partly true, for no man is free from the law. The form of the revelation on Mount Sinai was more than the people could endure, and they prayed Moses to become the mediator between them and Jehovah. God is pleased with their words and Moses becomes a type of Christ, the mighty mediator between God and man. No hope for man at Sinai so from its smoke and flame and thunder and lightning, the shivering rocks and trembling multitudes, we turn to another mountain, and learn how to keep the law we have received.

We Turn Our Eyes ot Calvary

There was no cross or sacrifice at Sinai; there on Golgotha we find both. Law and Truth at Sinai; Grace and Truth at Calvary; Majesty on the Mount of God; Mercy on Mount Calvary. Look ye trembling ones the Son of God lays Himself on the Cross. The hammer falls and nails crash through his hands and feet. He is lifted between earth and heaven in the gaze of angels and men and devils; while the black apostacy of hell hiss around the mountain's base. The heavens grow black at noon, the mountain trembles, it thunders above the cross while all nature weeps for her dying incarnate Lord. Burdened by sin, I look upon the scene, He dies for me, my heart melts, and I am thrilled with a mighty love My sins wither up and die. Every command of God is now fulfilled by the mighty love I bear to Christ.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

MONTREAL MARKET CLOSED.

MONTREAL, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press).—To-day being the Quebec Thanksgiving Day, the local Stock Exchange is closed.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press). — The latest phases of the railway situation provoked heavy selling and concurrent weakness in the Stock Market at the outset of to-day's trading. Within the first fifteen minutes prominent Railroad shares sustained losses of one to two points, and some others suffered greater declines.

Selling in heavy volume continued throughout the morning, transactions to noon approximating 400,000 shares. Investment Rails did not extend their declines, but low-priced issues, especially Missouri Pacific Preferred, St. Paul Preferred and Rock Island, were supplied in large lots. Baldwin was the target of a series of bear raids, losing 2½ points. An opening rate of 5½ per cent. for call money and yet another break in marks to 0.5375 cents were among the factors which favored further professional selling.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17. — (Canadian Press).—Opening wheat quotations, which varied from 5-8c to 2⅛c lower, with December 1.15 to 1.14 3-4, and May 1.17⅛ to 1.19, were followed by slight supplemental losses, and then something of a re-action.

Corn and oats were easier with wheat. After opening 1-8 to ¼ lower, including December at 47 1-8 to 47¼, the corn market continued to sag.

Oats started a shade to 1-8 at ¼c off, December 34 to 34 1-8, and then dropped a little more.

WE MUST HEAL WAR'S WOUNDS KING DECLARES

LIBERAL LEADER PLEADS TO KEEP PROMISES TO MEN WHO FOUGHT AND BLED,

LAYS DOWN PLATFORM OF TARIFF REVISION

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 17.— (By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)— "We have passed through war; we need not only peace, but the spirit of peace. Our first duty is to heal the wounds and scars of war and make our country happy, contented and united." This was the declaration of Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, leader of the Liberal party in closing his speech at an enthusiastic rally held in the Imperial Theatre here Saturday.

The Liberal leader discussed the questions of the day frankly and broadly. The tariff and its need of revision; the demand of the people for a change of Government, and the greatest need of Canada, that of unity among class and class, race and race, province and province, were all dealt with exhaustively. "We promised the men who went overseas, who fought, who bled, who died, that they could expect this much of us, (the healing of war's scars)" Mr. King declared.

"They fought that peace might come again, that ill-will would disappear. And it remains for us to keep that pledge." As the war had brought about autocracy and wast- of human life, so it was necessary for Canada to get back to democracy and by making this a happier and more prosperous country, bring about the conservation of human life.

Dealing with the tariff, the Liberal leader laid down here his platform of downward revision; of lightening the taxation on implements of production in the basic industries and on the necessaries of life, as he had laid it before the people of the eight other Provinces of Canada since taking the leadership. The Liberal tariff, he declared, was a tariff in the interests of the home and its needs; a tariff in the interests of the majority and not one in the interests of the privileged few. There was no thought in the Liberal mind of abolishing the tariff, but it must be a tariff primarily for revenue and not for the protection of privileged interests. Talk of the issue being between free trade and protection was deliberately misleading, he reiterated.

An interesting announcement was made by the Liberal leader in answer to one of a series of questions placed before him in a newspaper advertisement. It concerned the National Railways, and Mr. King declared that Hon. R. Lemieux, in saying he would accept the Shaughnessy plan, had spoken as a private citizen, and certainly not for the Liberal party. The Liberal railway policy had been drawn up to break monopolies.

The Liberal party, in regard to the railway ownership, would follow its traditional policy.

The Liberal leader reiterated his charges that the Meighen Government had been both autocratic and extravagant. In the former case he cited the application of the closure to pass estimates as well as other acts. An instance of extravagance there was the acceptance of navel vesels; the Canadian Merchant Marine and many other things.

SECURED LEASE CRANBERRY LAKE

Beaverton Express. — Over in Carden township there is a pretty little lake of about four hundred acres, known as Cranberry Lake. It is a great rendezvous for the wild duck in their southern migration and for years has been the favorite resort for sportsmen from a large distict continguous to the lake in Ontario, Victoria and Simcoe counties, until two years ago, when it was discovered that the lake had been leased by the Ontario government to a Dr. Wade of Orillia as a preserve and was closed to the public. Naturally there has arisen much resentment over the selfish intrusion of this individual, and on inquiry it is learned that the lease is held at a mere nominal rental and was obtained from the late Hearst government through the influence of J. J. Hart, now ex-M.P.P. for East Simcoe. The practice of leasing favorite game preserves was discontinued by the government some years ago, with a vigorous protest put up over the Lake Scugog lease to a Toronto Club, which shut out all comers save its own members and friends. In the case of Cranberry Lake the lease to an indivdual is still less excusable, and the government which claims to stand for no special privileges should see to it that the lease is cancelled.

The city of St. Johns, N.B., has just completed a home visitation to determine the religious affiliations of its citizens. Out of more than 16,000 cards filled out in the city and adjoining sections, only eleven said they had no religious preference. J. Shreve Durham, international superintendent home visitatio regards this as a record—the smallest number of any city visited the size of St. Johns. He gives the credit to the fine religious spirit manifested in the city, the notable co-operaton of all faiths, Protestants, Catholics and Jews in the St. Johns home visitation, and the publicity given the event by the newspapers.

A Welcome Day.

Leaders are sending out letters to all pastors, rabbis and organizations, suggesting that Sunday October 30th., in all Protestant and Catholic churches and Sunday Schools, be made a universal welcome day to all the new people located through the home visitation, who are not members or communicants of the churches, and Saturday, October 29th., be used in the Jewish congregation. It is said that in other cities were all agreed upon a general welcome day, planned and worked ot that end, it has created such a deep religious spirit through out the entire community, that it has helped each and every faith, denomination and local church, scynagogue and Sunday Shool.

THE MUSKOKA HOSPITAL for Consumptives was destroyed by fire on November 30.

On January 14 Sir William Gage, the outstanding friend of friendless consumptives, and for twenty-five years mainstay in the work of ministering to their needs, died.

Thousands of men, women and children, sufferers from consumption—who cannot help themselves---cry to you for help in this their great emergency.

The Muskoka Hospital For Consumptives Must Be Rebuilt

Furnishing accommodation at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives for 400 adults in early stages of the disease will restore 250 of them to their homes and loved ones—cured. The remainder will be greatly benefitted.

A few months for each patient soon means thousands cared for.

Funds are urgently needed for this work.

Adults in advanced stages must be treated at The King Edward Sanitarium at Weston. Many of these can be saved.

Little children — stricken with the dread disease—must be cared for at The Queen Mary Hospital for Consumptive Children at Weston. Ninety per cent. of these are saved to become healthy men and women.

Funds are urgently needed for this work.

The death rate from tuberculosis in Ontario has been cut in half in the last twenty years. But it is still high. Last year, one death in every seven, in Ontario, was due to consumption.

Every instinct of our common humanity exclaims: "This great work must go on!" The sufferers must be saved — for themselves, and for the safety of others!

And this great work is still largely dependent on public contributions, for most of the consumptives cared for are unable to contribute one penny to their own relief.

AT THE CAPITOL.

Dorothy Gish has become an animal trainer. The sprightly little Paramount star has accomplished remarkable results with her bull dog "Mike." It came about through the taking of several thrilling scenes for Dorothy Gish's latest Paramount picture, "The Ghost in the Garret," which will be shown at the Capitol Theatre twice to-day.

Dorothy, as Delsie O'Dell of the story, is required to lower a bulldog down the wall of a three storey building, the animal clutching in his jaws a string of sheets tied together. Miss Gish took charge of the dog for weeks before the scene was to be enacted. She first started over a high fence, then graduated to a one story shed near the studio. Later as the dog showed his understanding she selected a two-story barn, and finally when the real scene was ready to be taken "Mike" was lowered down the high wall without mishap.

The dog is now a member of the Gish household, with the Gish parrot, the Gish canary birds and the Gish gold fish.

Besides this excellent comedy drama a big list of very fine short reel comedies, serials, etc., and two out of the orinary vaudeville acts—the Musical Munroes, in a refined and novel act. Tower and Martin, (another clever team) offers an exclusive novelty act, Under the Old Apple Tree. This splendid programme, combined with the excellent music of the Capitol Concert Orchestra, under the able direction of Mrs. Foster.—Fan, Fan.

SUPERB DE MILLE PICTURE

"The Affairs of Anatol" Heartily Received by Big Audience at the Rivoli, New York.

Cecil B. De Mille, perhaps the foremost motion picture producer in the country, if not the world, displayed his genius at its best in his latest Paramount pcture, "The Affairs of Anatol," which was presented with splendid effect in New York recently at Dollar Prices. From every standpoint—investiture, its all-star cast, sumptuousness of settings, brilliance of directorial execution, richness of costumes, quality of story and general artistry, this picture marks a distinct epoch in screen production of the decade.

The story, written by Jeanie Macpherson, and suggested by the famous play by Arthur Schnitzler, deals with an impressionable young man of wealth who finds time to interest himself in the affairs of others and who learns by practical experience that it pays best to attend to one's own affairs and let others do the same.

The cast is superb and includes such stars as Wallace Reid, Gloria Swanson, Elliott Dexter, Bebe Daniels, Monte Blue, Wanda Hawley, Theodore Roberts Agnes Ayres and Theodore Kosloff. Their portrayals are artistic and add vastly to the value of the production. The photography by Alvin Wyckoff and Karl Struss is beautiful. Take it all in all this is perhaps the best picture thus far made by Cecil B. De Mille and that is saying a great deal.

This realy remarkable and beautiful production that caused a sensation in New York and every big city in the United States and packed the big and beautiful Regent Theatre, Toronto for the past two weeks—comes to the Capitol this Thursday at just the usual prices and should turn hundreds away at every performance. Its the greatest all star cast and the most elaborate and beautiful production ever produced by this master producer Cecil De Mille.— FAN! FAN!

THEY'RE OFF! WITH THUNDERCLAP IN THE LEAD; THOUSANDS WAIT THE RESULT IN DEEP SILENCE

"They're off!" The shout goes up from thousands of throats and then—a hush, almost a painful silence.

As the all-absorbing moving picture—a riot of color and fast-flying heels—rounds the first turn; field glasses and binoculars are adjusted and mental notes taken of the respective positions of the fliers.

Down the back stretch they fly, now this one and now that one setting the pace. Into the back turn they go, each rider and horse seemingly with the understanding that the supreme effort awaits them just ahead. Around the back turn they come, heading into the home stretch for the final spurt. But never a word from that vast throng.

Every eye is glued to that fast approaching group of horse flesh and gay color. Every heart pulsates with the rapidity of a trip-hammer. As they near the wire, there is audible the muffled utterance, "Come on boy" or the groan of "Not a chance."

Like a flash from the sun through a lift in the clouds, they are under the wire and then, only then, does the vast throng give vent to its pent-up feelings. With a mighty roar the crowd cuts loose, bedlam continuing as the prancing winner returns to the stand to again weigh in. Then, a rush to the betting ring and—another race.

"But the big race, the handicap, takes place in "Thunderclap," the remarkable William Fox special now running at the Allen Theatre. It is one of those gripping, stirring, exciting, nerve-racking incidents which has all the thrills of a genuine Derby Day—all but one—the expense. The gay throng is there, flags are flying and the very atmosphere tingles with excitement.

In the parade by the judges' stand the keen-eyed motion picture devotee is subconsciously drawn to entry No. 6. There is something exceptionally attractive about the arch-necked, sleek-coated high stepper. Then, too, the confident demeanor of the gaily satined jockey. No. 6 is "Thunderclap," about whom the wonderful and fascinating William Fox masterpiece has been written.

And yet, even in addition to this remarkable story of the sport of kings there is a pleasing story replete with excitement and thrills. There is a battle between youth and intrigue, a thrilling scene depicting the blowing up of a bridge and a love story certain to "get beneath the skin." In a word, "Thunderclap" is a remarkable composite of thrills, smiles and satisfaction.

AT THE GRAND.

A NEW PLAY BY THE REX STOCK COMPANY AT THE GRAND TO-NIGHT

Have you ever noticed the throngs of people walking up and down Main street on Saturday night? Have you ever wondered what they are doing and why they are doing it? Just as soon as you read Main street you will know that I refer to the small town—to any small town or village anywhere in America. You may say to-night when you see Rex and his popular company in "A Fortune Hunter," "Oh! that's all right for a show, but the picture is overdrawn—there are no such rules nowadays."

A "ONE HORSE TOWN" GIRL, IN "A FORTUNE HUNTER AT THE GRAND TO-NIGHT WITH REX STOCK COMPANY.

Don't you believe it, my friends. Telephones, telegraphs, wireless and all the other modern improvements to the contrary notwithstanding, there still are places where "sody-water" sells for five cents, where the thrilling event of every twenty-four hours is meeting the daily train, where the girls spend the day getting ready for the possible meeting with a chance "drummer," and youths grow up ambitious or otherwise even as you and I.

In "A Fortune Hunter" you will see Rex as a swanky young ne'er do well who hates work, but finally makes good (they often do you know). Zana Vaughn gives a fine impersonation of a young girl, sweet and cheerful in the face, of such feminine trials as having very few pretty clothes and a kindly, impecunious old father. You will find Hazel Williams and Gloria Machan, giggling through three acts, as the belles of a one-horse town, and Wm. Mitchell as the old church deacon whose St. Vitus' dance keeps his right eye winking even when he orders "plain soda." Sometimes I wonder if we all appreciate Wm. Yule. He does especially good work this week as the constable by heck! and A. J. Cole won a reputation for himself from coast to coast as the lovable old druggist. The specialties are all new and every week the Grand orchestra gives a new and better programme than the preceding one.

LAURA.

"SOME GIRL."

With a more pretentious story than is usually considered necessary for a musical comedy, a wealth of beautiful costumes and elaborate scenic investiture, a well-balanced company of entertainers and a musical score of well above average merit, "Some Girl" at the Grand on Saturday proved a very enjoyable performance. The production gave Peterborough play-goers a chance to become acquainted with a very clever little singer and dancer in the person of Gudrum Walberg, who, in spite of the handicap of a severe cold, won all hearts by her splendid work. Miss Walberg not only sings delightfully, but is a clever dancer as well, and she was the life of the performance. The chief fun-making is entrusted to Tom Crowley, who is a black-face comedian of more than usual ability, and who was responsible for a veritable epidemic of laughter on Saturday. Allan Carter contributed a splendid voice to the success of the production, and the McLaughlin sisters scored heavily in their eccentric dancing. Lottie Proctor also won brackets by her singing of "Mere Man" in the second act, and the Imperial Four Quartette, were well received in their tuneful rendition of a medley of popular songs.

The action of the play drifts from Brittany to the Riviera, over to Mexico, and then to New York, so that there is an unusual opportunity for scenic display, and it has been taken full advantage of by the producers. The costumes are lavish in the extreme, and some of the ensemble numbers formed memorable pictures.

MAY MOVE THE TANKARD FINALS

ANNUAL MEETING OF CURLING BODY NEXT TUESDAY PROMISES SOME LIVELY DISCUSSION.

TORONTO, October 15. — There promies to be some lively discussion at the annual meeting of the Ontario Curling Association next Tuesday morning at the Granite Club. These annual conferences to prepare the way for the curling season have been in the past altogether "too friendly." Discussion has been lacking, though the past two years has seen a little more than the usual amount of talk. It needs rivalry to create an interest, and rivalry in the committee room is just as important as on the ice. If questions before the meeting are allowed to go with one or two opinions only expressed, the feeling of the meeting is not determined. The trouble with most delegates is that they are too content to listen to the other fellow.

Change Place of Play.

There are a lot of things in curling that need the cobwebs removed. Perhaps when the cobwebs are shoved off the rule may be found quite in order. Still again it may not. That is what should be sought. There is a motion by Peterborough relative to the playing of the tankard in a different part of the Province each year.

It has always been the rule to play the finals in Toronto, and there has been a feeling by outside clubs that a change from this would prove a boon to other places and help to increase interest. There are other motions of equally vital importance, and it certainly looks now from a standpoint of attendance and discussion that the 1921 session will be the best in the history of the O.C.A.

AL CHRISTIE HIMSELF DIRECTS PICTURE AS MODEL TO OTHERS

With his heavy responsibilities in superivsing all the productions made by the biggest comedy organization, it is not often that Al Christie, director general of the Christie Film Company is able to personally direct every detail of a picture But he has in the case of "Man vs. Woman", latest of the two reelers featuring Neal Burns and Doroth Devore at the Allen Theatre, to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Critics who saw the picture at advance showing have declared it the fastest moving comedy ever produced. "I hope that it is true," commented Christie. "I took charge of the work with the intention of showing my directors what I believe to be the ideal in comedy. I want them fast, with something doing every moment.

"THUNDERCLAP" COMES FROM NEW YORK RUN

"Thunderclap" is a stupendous picture and advance notices call it the "greatest race track photo-drama ever staged." It will come to the Allen Theatre on Monday for a run of three days.

When the picture was playing at the Central Theatre, New York, the metropolitan papers carried column upon column about the thrilling and truly unusual scenes. In the midst of its run, William Fox, its producer, anounced that instead of showing it only in the big play houses of the cities, he would release it over the country.

"The time to be exclusive," Mr. Fox said, "is when your picture appeals to an exclusive set of people When a particular photoplay will attract the attention of those in all walks of life, then all should receive a chance to see it"

The story deals with the race track. The interest centers around a boy, a girl and a paralyzed mother who wins happiness when the boy's race horse, "Thunderclap", wins a big race.

COLLEGIATE RUGBY TEAMS IN ACTION ON SATURDAY

The Collegiate Institute Rugby teams got in a solid afternoon's work at Riverside Park on Saturday, when the Collegiate Firsts met a team of Collegiate Old Boys, and the seconds clashed with a Lakefield outfit. The second team were more successful than their seniors, for they won a clean cut victory by 20 points to nil, while the Firsts had to admit defeat at the hands of the Old Boys by the narrowest possible margin, the final score being 1 to 0.

As a result of the work-outs, some of the Seconds may find themselves transferred to the senior line-up, for the youngsters showed fine work in their game with Lakefield, when they won handily, despite the efforts of Ridpath, who came near being the whole works for the visitors, running nicely, tackling well, and kicking accurately. For the Collegiate the all-round good work of Young, and the clever running of Grimes and Stevens, were features. Grimes had several long runs to his credit, and his dash for the final touchdown was by long odds the best individual stunt of the day.

In the second game of the afternoon the Collegiate Firsts found the Old Boys, in spite of their lack of training, practice and condition, a very formidable outfit. George Logan, Hap Wilgar, Fred. Brooks, Jack Hardill, Jack Porteous, Fred. Green, Max Sloan, Cyril Flowers and Russell Pogue were some of the former Collegiate boys, who turned out to do battle against this year's team, and they not only held them in check but finished up by winning out. The only point of the game was scored late in the last period, when, after carrying the ball well into Collegiate territory by a series of bucks and end runs, Green booted over for a rouge. Collegiate fought gamely to even up, but threw away their chance by failing to kick when within scoring range.

This year's Collegiate outfit looked very good on Saturday, their chief failing being slowness in getting their running plays started and a tendency on the part of the ball-carrier to hesitate when hitting the line in a buck. With these defects remedied, and a little more catching practice for the back division, the Collegiate should give a good account of themselves. Brown, Manniece and Ridpath, the latter a brother of the Lakefield youngster, were conspicuous on the back division, and Legon did especially good work on the wing line.

Mr. Brown and Dr. Wood handled both games acceptably.

ABSENTEES AT FOOTBALL GAME

LARGE NUMBER OF PLAYERS FAILED TO TURN UP ON SATURDAY.

A small but enthusiastic crowd of football fans that gathered at Nicholls Oval Saturday afternoon were not destined to see the two fine football fixtures they anticipated; the Vets, matched against the Comrades ,and the C.G.E. vs. Canadian Woollens. Of the four team only the Vets turned out in any regular numbers, and the result was that after waiting till 3.30 for lagging players to show up, to make some sport the more numerous Veterans were pitted against a hybrid eleven representaive of the there others, and a 70 minutes battle failed to decide which was the better team — the score was 2-2.

It was fine football weather, but the breeze that blew from the west and south made playing a trifle difficult when it freshened into a stiff wind at times. In spite of the enticing weather conditions, the teams, outside the War Vets, could only muster a handful of players each and some of the spectators, utterly disappointed, left before the unforseen battle took place. As a result of some negotiating it was finally arranged. The line-ups:

G.W.V.A.		"United."
	Goal.
H. Hoston		Calladine (Com.)
	Full backs
Perry		Jones (Can. W.)
Keller		Chambers (C. W.)
	Half backs
Burrows		Hopkins (Com.)
Haycock		Williams (C.G.E.)
Hurle		Roberts (C.W.)
	Forwards
R. Willshaw		Thorpe (Com.)
S. Willis		Gaskill (C.W.)
Dwyer		Griffin (C.G.E.)
J. Willshaw		J. Shaw (C.W.)
C. Willis		Downes (C.W.)

The Canadian Woollens were the best represented team in the Vets' opposition, which was soon dubbed the "United" by the soldiers' supporters. There were strong players on it, but there was lack of unity, not in keeping with the appellation, otherwise the United would have won. The Vets' team is almost a "family affair." Two pairs of brothers, the Willises and Willshaws played on Saturday. C. Willis was a new man and Keller, a veteran player, did yeoman service at left back.

The United made full use of the Vets being short two men at first and the ball in full play around Harry Hotston's headquarters. Charlie Griffin, who was at centre, fought desperately to connect with the ball, but when he had a good opening Hotston saved at the expense of a corner. Of this corner and another one immediately after the United were unable to make any use.

For the first fifteen minutes the scrub team had practically all the play. A noticeable strengthening on the part of the Vets was observable hereafter. Roberts handled the ball, giving the soldiers a penalty close to the nets, which only gave them target practice. Downes and Griffin pressed Hotston rather hard, but he saved all corners and turned the tide for the Vets. After Jim Willshaw had failed, sending the ball too high, he had beter luck and with the backs at his heels, scored with a low drive, too quick for Calladine. The rest of the period was productive of no sensations.

Second Period.

It was most discomfiting to the mixed team to find the Vets leading 1-0 for they had had most of the play and they opened strongly, determined to match goals. Spectators had hardly time to realize the game was under way before Jim Shaw scored, making it 1-1. For some minutes somewhat disorganized play followed, S. Willis had an opportunity to score when the Vets held the ball around Calladine, but lifted it too high. For a few seconds a goal seemed assured, Calladine leaving the nets open to attack in going some distance to save a fly. Going stronger the soldiers had three corners in succession and Calladine was not looking for any more work for a while. The only interesting thing was the smoother working of the Vets' machinery. It was not effective in stopping a determined assault led by Hopkins, Comrades' fast player, however, and from an awkward position he scored a neat one, putting all kinds of heart into the team. J. Willshaw made the tie after one of Dwyer's had been saved by Calladine, to be returned to him for a more successful attempt.

FATE OF HALF MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF YANKEE STARS HANGS IN BALANCE

RUTH, MEUSEL AND PIERCE FARNSTORMING IN SPITE OF JUDGE LANDIS' ORDER OF YESTERDAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.— (United Press.)—The fate of half a million dollars' worth of Yankee ball players hangs in the balance to-day. Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel and Bill Pierce of the Yanks are barnstorming in up-State New York, despite the fact that they have been forbidden to do so by Judge Landis, Czar of Baseball.

Landis' action on the case was awaited with fear and trembling by the Yankee management and the Yankee fans to-day. He can suspend the men from baseball if he so desires.

Col. T. L. Huston, half-owner of the Yankees, who is to be the chief sufferer if Ruth is expelled from organized baseball for any length of time, declared he will abide by thee decision of Judge Landis, Ruth, who said he was suffering from a bad wrist, a charley horse, and an infected elbow, preventing him from playing in the last few games of the World Series, has announced his determination of barnstorming, despite paragraph B of section 8 of the World Series agreement, which staes that no player who took part in a World Series can barnstorm after the series has been completed.

Ruth's contract with the Yankees expires Oct. 15, it was learned today. His contention is that he may do as he pleases until April 15, when his next year's contract goes into effect.

Fans here looked on the proposed battle as a personal Ruth-Landis struggle. Enemies of Judge Landis hailed it as the first real test of the authority of the new baseball commissioner.

Before his departure from New York for Chicago, Landis refused to state what action he contemplates against Ruth. In warning the Big Bambino before he played at Buffalo yesterday, the judge intimated he would suspend him from the Yankee team perhaps for a full season, instead of letting him off with a light fine.

DISTRICT NEWS

These sections of the Provincial Highway upon which construction work has recently been in progress are not in good condition at the present time. East of the C. N. R. subway there is a bad place, and the remainder of the road on to Brighton is only in fair condition. To the west between Cobourg and Port Hope, the road is pretty badly cut up. A lot of work has been put upon these roads the last two years and the question is being asked, would not a permanent surface be cheaper in the end. It is felt by car owners that united action between the Boards of Trade of Port Hope and Cobourg, asking the Department of Highways to pave the road between the two would be timely.

UMPIRES WERE REMEMBERED.

The year's business of the Port Hope Town League was closed up on Friday evening. Treasurer Tozer presented a statement showing a balance of $97.10. Umps Rosevear and Henderson will be remembered with gifts and Mr. Tozer was given an umbrella so that he will be able to attend all next year's games, rain or shine.

ANOTHER DEATH IN CITY FROM DIPTHERIA

According to statements made by the M.O.H. Dr. T. W. H. Young, there is no need for alarm in connection with contagious disease in the city. Reports are coming in with less frequency, and the large number of placards is explained by the fact that many houses are quarantined on account of the presence of "carrier" in the family. The actual cases of disease are lessening.

Another death from disptheria occurred on Saturday night, when the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Naish succumbed to the dread disease.

PROMOTION SUNDAY IN TRINITY SUNDAY SCHOOL

Yesterday was Promotion Sunday in the Elementary Division of Trinity Sunday school. A pleasing and instructive programme was given in the basement of the church. The beautiful ceremony of "Passing Through the Gates," from one division to another, was watched with great interest by the parents of the children. The Sunday school orchestra contributed a pleasing number. The songs of the children were in keeping with the occasion. Talks were given by Mrs. Carver, Superintendent of the Primary Department, and the pastor, the Rev. F. E. Malott. Certificates were presented to twenty little tots who have been proomted from the Cradle Roll to the Beginners' Department. Classes equally as large were also promoted from the Beginners' to the Primary Departments to the next grades in advance. There passed away in the Queen Mary Hospital, Saturday evening, after two weeks' illness, Alice Winnifred, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Naish, 109 McDonnel Street. She is survived by her father and mother and one brother, Joseph Edward. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery.

FRANK SANDERSON.

The death took place on Sunday morning, October 16th, at the family residence, 529 Reid street, of Frank Sanderson, aged 61 years, after an illness of about three weeks. The deceased was born in North Smith, being the son of the late Frank Sanderson, and leaves to mourn his loss his wife, one daughter Alice, one son Harold, three brothers and one sister, Joseph of Regina, Edward in Smith township, William in Norwood and Mrs. Jos. McKee of this city.

He was a Presbyterian by faith, a constant attendant and strong churchman. In politics he was a Liberal and took a great deal of interest in Provincial, Federal and Municipal politics. Well and favorably known throughout the city and district, his many friends will regret to learn of his demise.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 529 Reid street, at 2.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery.

PHILIP LANE.

A wide circle of friends in this city, in Midland, Cobourg and Colborne will learn with regret of the death yesterday of Philip Lane, 524 Weller Street, aged 81. For many years Mr. Lane had been in declining health, and for over a year had been confined to his room, but with a cheerfulness and optimism that was admired by a large number of close friends who visited him in his last illness he bore all his sickness. Only at periods during the last few years had Mr. Lane been able to go downtown, and on such occasions he was always surrounded by old friends. Mr. Lane was possessed of fine qualities, of which inherent traits of kindness and gentleness were not the least. His death add another to the long list of well-known local men who have passed away during the last year.

Mr. Lane was born at Colborne on November 28, 1840, a son of the late William Lane. In 1864 he married Martha Cox, daughter of the late John Cox, of Colborne. He resided in Colborne, Cobourg and Peterborough before going to Midland, where he lived for some years before returning to Peterborough 16 years ago. In all he lived in this city 26 years. Mr. Lane was a carriage-maker by trade, but his health had prevented him from engaging in active employment of late years.

Mrs. Lane survives him and two daughters, Mrs. R. J. Soden and Miss Emma, of this city, and two sons, Harry in Toronto and Ernest of Craigmile, Alberta. Two sisters living are: Mrs. Henry Cox of Peterborough, and Mrs. Gammow of Fort Erie. On brother, Nicholas is living in Castleton. In religion, Mr. Lane was a Methodist, and in politics a Conservative.

The funeral will take place tomorrow at 2 p.m. from his late residence, 524 Weller Street, to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. F. E. Malott of Trinity Methodist Church will conduct the service.

STRUCK BY MOTOR CAR IS SEVERELY BRUISED

MISS MYRTLE JOHNSTUN HAD NARROW ESCAPE SATURDAY

On Saturday afternoon Miss Myrtle Johnston, 187 Perry Street, received severe bruises that will necessitate her remaining in bed for some time, when she was struck by an automobile, owned and driven by C. E. Adams, Lake Street.

The accident happened at the corner of George and Charlotte Streets at 3.40 p.m. At first it was thought she was severely injured, but Dr. Sutton, who is attending her, stated that she was resting more easily today, although suffering from a bad shaking-up and several bruises.

Chief of Police S. Newhall, who witnessed the accident, and P. C. Leonard Matthews, traffic officer, describing the mishap, said that Miss Johnston was crossing from Pringle's store to the south-west corner, when Mr. Adams was driving south on George Street at a moderate speed. She was south of the centre of the street, and seeing the car approaching, it is said, appeared to lose her head. Her indecision to stay where she was or cross to the curb gave Mr. Adams no warning to stop till too late. She was knocked down, and evidently in a mis-step Mr. Adams touched the accelerator, the car then dragging the young woman farther along the pavement.

She was taken into McDermid & Jury's drug store, and later removed to her home in Comstock's ambulance.

Mr. Adams was held by the police till Miss Johnston's condition was investigated, when it was determined that her injuries were not likely to prove fatal. The officer's investigation exonerated Mr. Adams, who is a licensed driver, from any responsibility for the accident, as it is now contrary to the traffic by-law for pedestrians to cross corners diagonally. Clause 17 reads: "Pedestrians shall not walk in the highway except on sidewalks, at crossings, and except on crossings at street intersections."

LARGE CROWD ENJOVED CONCERT LAST NIGHT

The band concert at the Grand Opera House last evening was enjoyed by the usual large crowd, which has been patronizing these popular musical treats since their inception. The different solos rendered by the G.W.V.A.-Citizens band were up to the standard set by this fine musical organization, the hymn, accompanied by chimes, played by Bandsman A. Parkins, being especially pleasing. Bandsman A. Everett gave a vocal solo, and the band quartette rendered "Sweet Sabbath Eve," in excellent voice.

THE WEATHER

After a beautiful October day on Sunday, we have had a number of varieties of weather to-day. Fair weather, then cloudy, thunder and lightning, a few bombardments with hailstones, followed by lowering clouds that turned day into night, some more hailstones, and lightning, and rain again. And the end is not yet.—W. P.

MUSICALE TO-NIGHT.

Piano solo, "Il Trovatore," arranged by Hoffman—Miss I. Sanderson.

Vocal solo, "Bright Her Smile," Mr. Asa Huycke.

CONSUMPTIVES MUST BE SAVED

NOT ONLY FOR THEMSELVES, BUT IN PROTECTION OF OTHERS.

To watch the deceptive hectic flush of consumption intermittently gather and fade in the cheeks of some loved one, in whose eyes the scintillating signals of irrepressible inward fever, presage untimely dissolution for a disease-racked body, is and has been, alas, the distressing mental burden carried by thousands of Canadians. And the pity of it is that, given knowledge of, and opportunity for adequate corrective treatment of this terrible scourge in its incipient stages, much poignant grief and physical suffering could have been avoided, and many a stricken father, mother, sister and brother spared to life to a ripe old age. For medical science of late years has discovered ways and means for successfully combatting this great white plague, if taken in time, but its operations in Ontario have been unfortunately confined to a limit, by lack of funds, far from keeping apace with the appalling spread of tuberculosis in Canada. Still, despite this financial handicap, the National Sanitarium Association, with its fine institutions for the treatment and care of consumpives, together with its education on Consumption, has been the means of saving and prolonging thousands of human lives; and now to replace that huge loss, entailed last November in the destruction by fire of the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, and to adequately respond to the cry for help from consumptive stricken victims, besides broadening their scope of work for suffering humanity, their association is now asking the people of Ontario to contribute a million dollars.

Funds Inadequate.

For many years the National Sanitarium Association was entirely supported by public subscription but latterly municipalities of province have made an allowance per day for patients from their districts, subsequently supplemented by a similar allowance from the Legislature.

Spreads Rapidly.

But most of the consumptive patients are unable to contribute toward their own maintenance, and hence the government nad municipal allowances are insufficient, leaving the institutions largely dependent on public support.

A million dollars, while a large sum in itself, does not mean so much when contributed by the whole province—each individual according to his or her means—and this great work must go on, as the physical standard of the nation will degenerate as a result of the insidious attack on its vitality by the dread white plague, to say nothing of thousands sent to an early grave. Leading Peterboro men, subscribing generously themselves, have pledged this city to raise $10,000 towards this "Million dollar fund," needed, and were all to contribute as liberally as the circumstances will permit, this objective should not be difficult of attainment.

And, remember, that suffering consumptives must be saved, not only for themselves, but for the well-being of the community generally, as this devasting malady spreads with alarming rapidity.

RE-ORGANIZE THE ULSTER VOLUNTEERS

RIOT ACT INVOKED

LONDON, Oct. 18. — (United Press).—The Irish Peace Conference will resume its sessions next Thursday, it was announced to-day.

Denial that there had been a hitch in the negotiation was issued jointly by the Sinn Fein plenipotentaries and the British Cabinet committee. The Ulster Irish as exclusively announced yesterday by the United Press was the subject of consideration during a two hour session on Monday, and the following facts were gathered from informaton talks with those on inside "1 Sinn Fein is insisting upon complete independence; 2. Unless Britain will accept Ireland as a unit within the British Common Wealth. In other words, the visiting delegation is making coercision of Ulster in condition of her acceptance of the main British condition, that Ireland must retain its allegiance to the crown.

REORGANIZE VOLUNTEERS

LONDON, Oct. 18. —(Canadian Press)—Re-organization of the Ulster volunteer force has been decided upon says a Belfast despatch. This action was taken because of alleged inactivity of the British Goferrment toward Sinn Fein drilling in Ulster

Answering criticism of his recent speech by the "Irish Bulletin" Premier Craig declared six counties of Ulster will hang together and that he will permit no tampering with them.

Sporadic shooting occurred throughout the night in the North Queen street, Belfast, and as a result, the riot act, forbidding assemblage of more than three persons, was again in force to-day.

CORK, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press)—Because they were not allowed to attend mass last Sunday interned prisoners on Spike island, smashed their huts.

TWO RIVAL ORGANIZATIONS.

BELFAST, Oct. 18.— (Canadian Press.)—Official confirmation of reorganization of Ulster volunteers was given to-day. Ex-service men are being enrolled and organization is well equipped. Two rival organizations in Ulster is causing apprehension in British government circles and increased forces of troops to prevent conflict has been arranged. York and North Queen street districts were to-day included in the order prohibiting assembly of three or more persons.

PARLEY RESUMED TO-DAY.

LONDON, Oct. 18.— (Canadian Press.)—It is expected that the Irish parley will be resumed Thursday. In the meantime Irish experts will be summoned to London to advise Sinn Fein, and among the most notable of these is Lionel Smith, formerly assistant to Sir Horace Plunkett in the agricultural movement. He, with others, founded National Land Bank for employment of Irish money in Ireland. He is heir o a British baronetcy.

KINGSTONIANS HAD A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH---MINOR INJURIES.

(Special to The Examiner).

KINGSTON, Oct. 18. — Dr. Lanfear, a graduate of Queen's University, living at Melrose, and his aunt, Miss Henry, formerly of Kingston, had a miraculous escape from death yesterday when an automobile in which they were riding collided with a wagon when they were crossing a bridge over Sucker Creek, three miles from Deseronto. The car turned turtle and fell a distance of ten feet into a ditch. Miss Henry escaped injury, and Dr. Lanfear suffered a few scratches on his leg.

JAPANESE ARE NOT A MENACE

THIS IS THE OPINION OF VISCOUNT JAMES BRYCE—AGITATION FOSTERED.

LONDON, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press).—People of the United States are apprehensive of Japanese aggression, declares Viscount James Bryce in an article in to-day's Times. He declares that the United States people hold the opinion that the Anglo-Japanese treaty encourages Japan to take an aggressive attitude. He depreciates the fear of the Japanese, and says that the Japanese in California are not numerous enough to be in danger, although they are clannish and progressive.

"Irritation against the Japanese is sedulously fostered and diffused by meaner organs of the press, and it receives some support from its association with the fear of the so-called yellow races, which was encouraged by the former Kaiser," he continues.

The article is appreciative of the United States popular attitude toward the conference on the limitation of armaments.

REDUCTION OF BRITISH ARMY RECOMMENDED.

LONDON, October 18 (Canadian Press). — The reduction in the size of the British Army, and cutting down the Household Cavalry by one-third, are recommended in the report formulated by a committee of business men appointed to examine the expenditures of the War Office.

It urges, however, that troops be retained in Mesopotamia.

ELECTRICAL STORM OVER LARGE AREA

BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY HAD SOME TROUBLE — SEVERAL BARNS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

WARSAW HOME STRUCK

Peterborough yesterday experienced the second most severe electrical storm of the year, according to Bell Telephone officials. Considering its severity the plant chief felt they came through the storm very well. Only three cables were down, most of the trouble being outside the business section, where the cables are underground. In the sharp electrical storm last summer eleven cables were put out of commission, so in comparison with this the damage of yesterday's storm did not seem so great. Long distance services were not interrupted, it was stated, the storm seeming to be more or less local. Linemen were busy last night and to-day and it was expected that all services would be again in operation to-day.

Cavan Barn Burnt.

Mr. Walter Bowles, of Cavan, was among the victims of the severe electrical storm which passed over this district yesterday. About 3.30 in the afternoon, a barn belonging to him was struck by lightning and burnt to the ground. The electric current, striking the south end of the structure first, worked across the top, knocking the boards off the north end, and finally consuming the entire building. The barn, although not very large, was well built. Most of the contents were saved in time, with the exception of a fanning mill. There was a small amount of insurance on the building.

House Struck.

WARSAW, Oct. 18.— Yesterday the home of Mr. Stewart Miller, about two miles from Warsaw, on the first line of Douro, was struck by lightning but did not catch fire. The chimney was destroyed and the telephone torn out. Mrs. Miller was alone at the time, but was unhurt.

Lost Machinery and Grain.

The barn of James Lobb, which was destroyed yesterday during the electrical storm, included in its contents most of the machinery and grain. This barn was located on the sixth line of Dummer township. Mr. Lobb was attending the Conservative nomination in Norwood at the time and was called home when the fire broke out.

Heavy Hail Storm.

The hail which fell in Peterborough was not so heavy as the hail which fell between Port Hope and Millbrook, according to reports received here to-day.

COM. OF LEGISLATURE SEEMED INDIFFERENT.

TORONTO, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press).—Forty representatives of the Toronto Builders' Exchange, Ontario Retail Lumbermen's Association Building Trades Council, Ontario Bar Association, Loan Companies and other interests met in the Parliament Buildings this morning to present evidence to a committee of the Legislature, suggesting changes to the Mechanics' Lien Act of Ontario. They waited from before 11 o'clock until after 12 o'clock, and then had to go home as a quorum of the committee did not turn up.

D. LLOYD GEORGE,
LLOYD GEORGE,
Who has reassembled the British Parliament to deal with momentous issues.

ELECTION NEWS

BRAMPTON, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Opening his Ontario Campaign here last night Crerar the agrarian leader, declared to a large audience that the issue in the coming federal election was not between free trade and protection. That issue existed only in the imagination of those who wanted to create a wrong impression. "We are not going to wipe out the tariff," he declared, but held that the progressives goal was ultimate elimination of protective principle. He also attacked political morality of government.

Provincial Unemployment

TORONTO, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).— Premier Drury yesterday declared that the provincial government was prepared to do everything in reason to assist in aleviating effects of unemployment in province.

HARTLEY DEWART RESIGNS.

TORONTO, Oct. 18. — Reports of the resignation of H. H. Dewart from the leadership of the Ontario Liberal Party were unofficially but reliably confirmed to-day.

The Ontario members have been called to meet at the Parliament Buildings to-morrow, the notice simply stating that "financial and other matters" will be discussed. The other matters will include Mr. Dewart's resignation and the appointment of his successor. Who this will be was a matter for considerable speculation to-day. Wellington Hay and Major Tolmie were mentioned, and the name of N. W. Rowell has been associated with the leadership.

MR. BURNHAM WANTS PROOF.

"I am sorry to see a statesman of Hon. T. Crerar's calibre filling Canada with insinuations regarding a Tory campaign fund," said Mr. J. H. Burnham to-day. "Let him come on with at least some proof of wrong-doing. Mere insinuations regarding the existence of a fund disturbs the public mind without just cause, and is a most undeserved slur upon many respectable candidates."

LLOYD GEORGE MAY ATTEND ARMS PARLEY

EXPRESSES HOPE TO VISIT CONFERENCE AS SOON AS PARLIAMENTARY AND GENERAL SITUATION PERMITS.

LONDON, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press).—David Lloyd George, addressing the re-assembled House of Commons here, to-day expressed the hope that he would go to attend the Limitation of Armaments Conference "as soon as the Parliamentary and general situation rendered such a visit possible."

HOUSE CROWDED.

Without formality, but with Government supporters and Opposition tense in expectation of sensational developments and a pronouncement of policy, the British Parliament convened at Westminster this afternoon.

The House was crowded when the speaker called the session to order.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

Interest in the proceedings, however, diminished because of the fact that the Premier deferred until Wednesday his important statement relative to unemployment. The first business to come up after opening was a motion to devote the whole time to the unemployment question, which has become very acute in Great Britain.

TWO PARLIAMENTS.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Two European Parliaments — the British and French—assembled to-day; while the Government of a third power, Germany, was expected to fall.

Lloyd George, Aristide Briand and Chancellor Wirth, of Germany, all found themselves faced with tremendous difficulties.

GOVERNMENT DISCUSSING THE STRIKE

TWO ORGANIZATIONS TO HOLD A JOINT CONFERENCE — WILL MEET RAILWAY BOARD ON THURSDAY.

PROGRESS OF EVENTS

By RAYMOND CLAPPER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18. — (United Press). — The Cabinet went into session to-day on the railroad strike situation. It was expected some Government policy might crystallize at the meeting.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press).—Executive officials and general chairmen of a dozen unions of railroad employees, representing 1,500,000 workers, began arriving in Chicago to-day for a conference tomorrow to determine whether they shall follow the leadership of railroad brotherhoods in issuing a strike call. A joint conference at the end of the week is in prospect. A split between railway brotherhoods and unions may foil the aim of the strike.

ISSUES STATEMENT.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—President Lee, of the trainmen, issued a statement, in which he asserted that the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen very reluctantly takes the position that it cannot longer agree to give service unless there is assurance that there will be no further wage reduction, nor attempt to eliminate working rules that have been secured through many years of collective bargaining and which represent only fair remuneration for extra service given.

MEETING CANCELLED.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—A meeting of chiefs of the big five railroad organizations was cancelled to-day on receipt of an invitation to the conference with the United States Railroad Labor Board at Chicago Thursday in an effort to forestall a walkout on the railways.

GIANT BEAN GROWN BY GEO. H. POPHAM

Botanists and just plain backyard gardeners will be interested in a giant specimen of the Guinea bean grown by G. H. Popham, 151 Lock Street, and exhibited in G. Simmons' fruit store, Charlotte Street. This immense vegetable is 3 feet 4 inches long, 16½ inches in circumference at the head, and 13¼ inches at the stem. It could be described as a huge cucumber getting a trifle old, but it is thicker at the head, like a torpedo. It has a smooth pale green rind, somewhat yellowish in spots, and in the centre is said, to be like a squash.

It was the largest vegetable on the tree-like vine grown by Mr. Popham, who is quite a gardener and somewhat of an experimenter with new plants from seed secured in New York. Mr. Popham can testify to the edibility of these beans, for one was used on his own table, and declared to be delicious. One should make more than a meal.

The huge bean will be carefully guarded and the seed saved for cultivation next year of the Guinea bean in numerous gardens in this city.

PATRICK KANE IS GETTING BETTER

VICTIM OF C. G. E. ACCIDENT MAY HAVE USE OF HIS EYES —INQUEST TO-NIGHT.

The condition of Patrick Kane, who was seriously injured in the destruction of the generator at the Canadian General Electric Company last week, is reported as improving. The bandages were removed from his eyes last night, and they appeared to be in better shape than was anticipated.

The inquest into the death of Henry Harvie will be held this evening.

GASOLINE UP IN PRICE AGAIN

LOCAL STATIONS CHARGE ANOTHER TWO CENTS PER GALLON---OIL MAY FOLLOW.

When motorists began congratulating themselves on the nice level "gas" was staying at they should have "touched wood." If they had watched the omens closely they might have seen warning of a jump in the price, but they didn't, and it was therefore with great dismay they have "forked up" an extra two cents on each gallon during the last few days.

Every station in the city was charging 38 cents to-day. For some months "gas" had been gradually declining and it had completed a drop from 48 cents to 36. Now it is predicted around "gas" stations that it will go up against, possibly to 45c. and the first upward climb has taken place. Oil has not been affected, but conditions are such as to force oil up in price, reports say.

BLOCK CONTEST ROLLER ACADEMY

There should be a big crowd on hand to-night to participate in the block contest at the Roller Academy, Brock Street. This, added to the regular programme of skating, will make a most pleasant evening.

Additional instructors have been added to the staff, and beginners will receive every attention. A new skater now should learn in an afternoon. Roller skating is enjoying continued appreciation under the new management.—Advt.

CANADA TEMPERANCE ACT UPHELD — HARRY BARNES COMMITTED SUICIDE.

VETS' CONVENTION

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Appeal of the Gold Seal Limited vs. Dominion Express Company has been dismissed by the Supreme Court in a judgment handed out to-day. Mr. Justice Idington dissented. Costs of appealant were ordered to be paid by the Dominion Express. According to legal rights but for legislation passed toward the close of the last session providing against possible defects in the Canada Temperance Act the appeal would have been successful. Judgment means that prohibition under Canada Temperance Act is constitutional.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

BRAMPTON, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Word has been received here that Harry G. Barnes, motorist, who was acquitted recently on charge in connection with fatality on Hamilton highway, shot and killed himself last night in St. Catharines where he lived with his family. No reason is assigned for the act.

NIVITATION FROM FRANCE

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 18 — (Special to the Examiner).—The Great War Veterans Association has an invitation to hold its 1922 convention at Paris, France. It came at last night's banquet tendered by the city to the delegates at the Fifth annual convention here, from Madame E. Guerin, known as the Poppy Lady of France.

PRETTY NEAR TIME

TORONTO, Oct 18 — (Special to Examiner).—In anticipation of the reorganization of the Provincial Police Force the Commissioner has insituted an innovation in the shape of a one month probationary course for all prospective recruits The first class which consists of twelve would be officers is now in progress.

DISCOVER SMALLPOX GERM

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct 18. — (United Press).—Discovery of the long sought germ of smallpox has been claimed here by Dr. Arturo Atria, leading South American bacteriologist, who has been working for some time among the victims of the epidemic here.

CABINET RESIGNS

TIRANA, Albania, Oct. 18— (United Press). — The Albanian resigned to-day. Inability to cope with the situation arising out of the Serbian "invasion" and the insurrection at Miridi, was given as the reason.

A "cabinet of National defense" will probably be organized. Serbian troops operating at Malessia and Jakova have sent an ultimatum to the Albanians demanding they evacuate the territory.

CONSTABLE FINED

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 18—(United Press).—The tables were turned in the city police court to-day when C. P. D. North, one of the Provincial Traffic officers stationed in this district, was convicted of passing a standing street car on his motor cycle and required to pay the usual fine Constable North shelled out without a murmur, explaining that he had forgotten the city ordinance in his hurry to get to his work.

VETS AMALGAMATION

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press)—The question of amalgamation has been relegated to the end of the list for discussion by the G.W.V.A. Convention despite efforts of the British Columbia delegates to have this matter dealt with first.

National Sanitarium Campaign Bulletin

No. 1

Peterborough, Oct. 18th, 1921

To do something worth while is but a simple matter of Decision—a Decision to Dare.

All the world loves the man who isn't afraid to Dare—a man willing to start something without waiting a week to figure out the cost.

It always takes Courage—sometimes courage mixed with "blood and iron." But the man ready to dare is the Creator of great events.

Better make mistakes—better blunder along making some healthy headway than fear Failure or grow timid and vacillating and flabby in the legs.

Become a man of Daring and Doing, and the Powers that are so latent in every human will rise to aid you and push you on.

You will never Do anything, unless you Dare something.

Dare to attempt the new Duty that is coming to the Citizens of Peterborough. Dare to go ahead, kicking aside every Precedent if necessary, and you will not have to shovel out of your path wrecked Hopes and dead Dreams.

Read all you can on the subject. Think about the Campaign. Talk about it in your home, where you work, with your friends and neighbours, and the one Decision reached will be that Peterborough's contribution of $10,000 must be raised.

Consumptives' eyes look up to you.
Consumptives' hands stretch out to you.
Consumptives' hearts appeal to you.
You Can Give Them Life.

Campaign in Peterborough—Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, 25th, 26th, and 27th October.

JOHN A. SEXSMITH AGAIN CHOSEN IN EAST PETERBORO'

APPEALED TO OLD GUARD

NORWOOD, Oct. 17.—John A. Sexsmith, ex-M.P., Belmont Township farmer, was nominated by the Conservatives of East Peterborough here today as their candidate in the Federal elections with a majority of thirty-nine votes over Reeve John C. Strickland of Lakefield. Of the 222 qualified delegates representing the entire riding 219 were present; and 129 of them voted for Sexsmith and 90 for Strickland. On Reeve Strickland's motion the nomination was made unanimous, after a contest that was in doubt until the President, Mr. Harry G. Fitzgerald of Lakefield, announced the result.

Stalwarts of the party declared today's convention one of the largest and most enthusiastic in their memories. The Town Hall's seating capacity was completely occupied, although there was some vacant standing room at the rear. Fully aware of the activities of the U.F.O. and of the possibility of a three-cornered fight, the main speakers, including Mr. Sexsmith, predicted that, with such a display of determination and loyalty as an earnest of the fighting spirit the party was prepared to throw into this campaign, the Conservatives had every reason to look forward in confidence to victory on December 6th and the maintenance of East Peterborough as a Government seat supporting the Hon. Arthur Meighen.

Severe Storm Outside.

Mr. Fitzgerald called the meeting to order in the twilight of what was said to be the worst electric storm of the year. Sheets of rain swept the windows, lightning snapped and crackled, thunder rumbled, and only the feeble rays of two oil lamps broke the gloom until towards the close of the meeting, when the Hon. Edmund Bristol, K.C., had launched into his address.

Inside, however, the gloom was only physical and had no reflex effect on the alert and attentive audience, many of whom were women. This enthusiasm and purposefulness was illustrated by the rush to vote after the two nominees had made their appeals to the delegates. There was nothing perfunctory in the crowding about the scrutineers and the eagerness with which the men and women both, from Apsley to Asphodel and from Otonabee to the eastern boundary of Belmont, applied themselves to the procedure of their own political primary. Nor was their any futile gesture of padding the list with honorary nominations. The delegates knew that the choice of the convention lay between Sexsmith and Strickland and there was no pretense of other possibilities. The only preliminary was a standing pledge by the entire assemblage to support the candidate nominated.

Strickland Showed Strength.

Reeve Strickland revealed surprising strength in the polling with 90 votes against the veteran Sexsmith's 129. He also apparently made a deep impression by the manner and substance of his address and by the spontaneous sporting spirit in which he accepted defeat.

Sixth Candidature.

"I have had the honor of being your candidate on five different occasions previous to this," said Mr. Sexsmith in his address prior to the balloting. "My mind goes back to 1900 when the Conservative Party met here in convention, and at the previous meeting we held in a lawyer's office. There were only a dozen or two of the old stalwarts present, and when my name was mentioned I hadn't thought of being a candidate until that day. As the boundaries of the riding are now we had never secured a Conservative majority, and we had been suffering defeat in the Provincial House so long the situation seemed hopeless. As I was Reeve of my municipality, I was asked to consider the nomination, and at the convention I was thrown bodily into the campaign with election day only two weeks and three days off.

Elected First in 1908.

"With the help of the old Conservatives of East Peterborough I covered this constituency, driving to all parts of it day and night, holding two and three meetings a day. We had no cars then. Well, we didn't succeed that time, nor in 1904. But we did succeed in 1908, the first Conservative majority since Confederation in this riding as its boundaries now are. I have had the honor of representing you in Parliament since then. It has been a great honor, but let me tell you it has also been a great responsibility. You can scarcely imagine how great has been the strain these last seven years of the war not only upon members of the Cabinet, but also upon the members of Parliament—a strain that has broken the health of many and that passed others into the great beyond.

Sixth Campaign.

"I ran five elections, and this is the sixth time you have done me the honor of putting my name before your conventions. Those five campaigns I conducted to the best of my ability, clean and above board, honestly and uprightly. I know that some U.F.O. members are talking of corruption on the part of the old parties, and of the using of a Moses in the U.F.O. I am a farmer myself and I want to say for the Liberals who opposed me that they were as honest in those campaigns as any U. F. O. candidate in this or in any other election.

"We have three parties in this election, but I want to say to the farmers of this county and of this Province that it is up to you, it is your duty as Canadian citizens and as farmers to study thoroughly the platform of the Farmers' Party. I don't believe 20 per cent. of the farmers of this Province know what that platform means."

Mr. Sexsmith said that Hon. Mr. Crerar had admitted in the East that his party was a class movement, but in Regina he had denied that it was class. "I am proud to be a supporter of the Hon. Arthur Meighen, one of the brightest men this Dominion has ever produced," he continued. "His platform is the same on the Atlantic as on the Pacific. You know where he stands. He is asking you to support that platform. When I read the U.F.O. speeches saying that they are going to sweep the country, I say they are counting their chickens before they are hatched."

Same as in 1911.

Recalling the reciprocity election in 1911, Mr. Sexsmith said he had realized then as soon as he heard the proposals that they would not be for Canada's benefit.

"I was convinced that the protective policy was the only one for this country, and the only one we could expect to go forward under. In 1878 In 1911 we had the same question before the people as we have today. I am just as convinced that the Conservative Party under the leadership of Arthur Meighen is going to carry this country. The mass of the intelligence of Ontario and of the rest of the country is not going to be carried away by false doctrines."

U. S. HONORS UNKNOWN DEAD

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—The most sacred reward for valor within the power of the United States to confer was bestowed to-day upon the tomb of Great Britain's Unknown Warrior, whose eternal resting place is in the nave of the historic Westminster Abbey.

In the presence of a representative of the King, the Prime Minister diplomats and others of note representing France, Japan and other Governments, the United States Ambassador and a Anglo-American assemblage, General Pershing placed the Congressional Medal of Honor upon the wreath-covered stone during the course of strikingly impressive ceremonies.

The scene within the ancient walls of the Abbey was perhaps the most significant in England as an indicaton of friendship and union between Britain and the United States that has occurred since the historic Victory March in 1919, when General Pershing headed his battalion in a great ceremonial function.

The King was represented today by the Duke of Connaught. Others present included Mr. Lloyd George, Winston Spencer Churchill; Lord Lee of Fareham and representative of various government departments, the army, the navy and other branches of the military service.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

ANNIVERSARY SFRVICES OF THE METHODIST CHURCH—SPECIAL MUSIC.

PERSONAL MENTION

MILLBROOK, Oct. 18. — The anniversary services of the Millbrook Methodist church were held on Sunday, October 16th, when Rev. S. C. Moore, B.A., B.D., of Bowmanville, preached morning and evening to unusually large congregatons. Doubtless the fine weather and the good roads had a good deal to do with making it possible for people from a distance to attend the services, and also the fact that Mr. Moore had twenty years ago been pastor of what was then the Cavan Circuit but is now joined to Millbrook, and from these outside appointments drove in, anxious to renew acquaintances and hear him preach again.

The Morinng Address.

In the morning Mr. Moore took his text from Matthew 10:39, and 21:28: "He that saveth his life shall lose it; and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it;" therefore "Go work in my vineyard."

The key thought of the morning's worship was "service," exemplified in the two commandments, love to God and love to our neighbour. The last 50 years, the speaker pointed out have been a time of unprecedented change in our thinking, especially in the realm of religion; the general attitude toward truth is more liberal, and the application of truth to life is grealy enlarged and improved. Hence the sum total of happiness and knowledge, and of the eternal verities in the world, have mightily increased. But the fundamental facts of our faith have not changed. God is the same "yesterday, to-day and forever," but our conception of God has in a manner changed. We do not now think of Him as far away, isolated in majesty and power, but right here, present in every place—shop, school, home, factory, as well as in His own house of praise.

Man is the same, and yet has grown on the brotherhood side, his conception of his obligations to fulfill the two commands, not only of love to God, but likewise of love to his neighbor, is larger and better. Sin is the same loathsome, defiling thing it always was, however alluringly it may present itself to our senses, but we now have a clearer vision of the far-reaching consequences of sin in its effects upon body and soul; we know it to be not only an offence against God—that was always realized—but also against our fellow men, against every one about us. It is the sapping of our own powers, but may also prove the sowing of seeds of spiritual and moral disaster in other lives as well. And yet it may be that the keen sense of personal sin is less searching than it used to be.

Salvation is the same; it must always have the same Source, and yet our conception of what salvation really includes is bigger, wider and more glorious than at any previous period in the worlds history, because Christian life and character in its outgo, is a larger, lovelier thing than it used to be. Fifty or one hundred years ago the thought of conversion was chiefly concerned with the cleansing of the individual soul, and truly that is the only way to begin, but while in its genesis it is personal, we have learned more clearly that its exodus is "others."

The question is sometimes asked, "How shall the heathen be saved if we do not send them the gospel?" when really the more pertinent form is: "How shall we be saved if we do not send the heathen the gospel?" For the only hope of saving the world is by close, personal touch with its hungry hearted millions; even the transfiguration was not complete while Jesus stayed up on the mountain top, but when he came down and healed the demoniac boy.

A parasite priest, the better to be alone for meditation and prayer, used to climb up in the steeple of his church and from this lofty vantage ground, twice a day he dropped messages on the heads of the people passing below. One day he heard God's voice saying: "Come down and die." "Where art Thou, Lord?" he questioned. "Down here," came the answer; "here with the crowd." Marie Corelli, searching for an explanation of the Master's miracles found it in this statement: "Somebody has touched me.....Virtue has gone out from me." Jesus measured the sick woman's gain by his own loss, and that is the true measure of the value of any life. Unless virtue goes out it will find no inflow. Measure thy life by its losses, not by its gains. He that giveth most has most to give, and unless we are the poorer in sympathy, in patience, in money ,in prayer, and in service, the world will never be richer for us. We always bleed before we bless; sowing and scattering must come before the reaping and the ingathering. We cannot "Brighten the corner where we are" unless we burn out something of ourselves. It is a fine beginning to get right with God, but the fruits of repentance must be

ST., STEPHEN, N.B., Oct. 18.—Referring to the Progressive party or Farmer group, Hon. Mackenzie King said:

"The farmers of Canada, irrespective of past affiliations, are already beginning to see very clearly that a great deal more can be done to attain the ideal they cherish by co-operation with the other forces of progress who form the Liberal party, than by becoming identified with an organization with class aims and ambitions. Indeed, it was a mistake to speak of a Farmers' party as if one existed, embracing the farmers of the country as a whole. The so-called Farmers' party embraces only those of the Farmer members who belive in political separation from other groups, and classes in the country. We are seeking unity of all classes in the Government; we need that spirit of unity to bring Canada back to true democracy. Increasing numbers of farmers and labor men are supporting Liberal candidates in the different constituencies.

"Because we realize, as Dr. Michael Clark and Mr. James Murdock have pointed out, that victory can only be won for the things that are held in common through co-operation with other groups and classes enough for all the people of this Dominion."

CONVENTION IN LINDSAY.

LINDSAY, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press).—At a convention of Liberals held here yesterday, Mr. Jas. B. Begg was chosen as the standard bearer. He enters the field with the U.F.O. candidate. The Conservatives will bring out a candidate on Wednesday. Mr. Begg stated that if he went to Ottawa he would not want his hands tied, but reserved the privilege to use his independent judgment in all matters.

Officers of the association were elected as follows: Pres., L. V. O'Connor; Vice-Pres., H. H. McCallum, Fenelon Falls; Secretary, Eric Stewart; Financial Secretary, J. M. McLennan.

Messrs. G. N. Gordon, M.P., of Peterborough, and R. J. McLaughlin, K.C., of Toronto, were the speakers.

THREE IN FIELD.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press).—There are three candidates in the field in Lethbridge constituency already. In addition to W. A. Buchanan's candidacy as an Independent Liberal, already announced, Dr. J. E. Lovering announced himself Saturday as a straight Liberal candidate, and on Saturday evening H. J. Finn was nominated by the Labor forces in convention, thus definitely ending talk of a Farmer-Labor fusion here. The Farmers will nominate on Thursday.

U.F.O. CANDIDATE.

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—A special to the Citizen from Vankleek Hill says:

At a convention here Saturday afternoon, J. Binette, Reeve of East Hawkesbury, was nominated as U.F.O. candidate.

NORTHUMBERLAND REGIMENT BAND GAVE A CONCERT—PERSONAL MENTION.

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 18. — The musical entertainment given last evening in the Opera House by the Northumberland Regiment Band, assisted by other leading musicians of the town, was a grand success. The house was well filled and the numbers were of an exceptionally high order and brought forth hearty applause. The opening number was a selection from the band, "O Canada," followed by an overture, "The Champion," which was so heartily encored that the encore "Lord Byng" was given. Mrs. (Rev.) J. E. Glover sang very sweetly "Daffodil Land," to which she responded with a pretty little encore. The next number, a waltz, "Impassioned Dreams" by the band, showed careful training, the parts being well shaded, and its encore was "Colonel Bogey." The next number, "Bonnie Scotland," called forth bursts of applause, and the band responded by giving the charming number, "Twilight Chimes." Mr. Walter Henson's rendering of "Jack's the Boy," was well received and he responded to the encore by "Mother Macree." The next number, "Sounds from Erin," brought forth the encore, "National Cadets," a fine, lively number, enjoyed by all. Mr. George Salter's euphonimum solo, "The Holy City,"

BELFAST, Oct. 18. — (United Press.)—The Ulster volunteers are to be armed and mobilized. This drastic step, which threatened to have such serious consequences in 1914, and which constitutes an open challenge to Sinn Fein, has been decided upon by the Belfast government, it was announced to-day, because of the British failure to prevent Irish Republican troops drilling.

The stage has now been set for a civil war on the largest scale Ireland has ever known, should a break in the negotiations cause fighting between the north and south to begin.

ATTACKED ALBANIANS.

ROME, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press).—The Serbs have again attacked the Albanians, according to an Avlona despatch to the Giornale D'Italia, capturing the towns of Bunin, Giakova and Uravezerit along the Drina River. The Serbs have massed strong units toward Boyana. The war fever is high in Tirana, where Nationalist demonstrations are held daily against the Government.

A SERIOUS CASE.

KINGSTON, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—A shocking case which is likely to result in court proceedings has just come to light in the city, involving a little girl now only 14 years old, and a married man, both living in the upper part of the city. It has just come to light that the little girl, despite her tender years, is about to become a mother, and that to her father and mother and the married man in question is responsible for her condition. The little girl herself has always been a modest appearing, quiet, well-behaved youngster, and the present revelation has been a terrible shock to the family and friends.

VESSEL IN DISTRESS.

BATH, Maine, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Captain W. J. Small, of the four-masted schooner, Phoebe Crosby, telegraphed the owners that the vessel had grounded on a jetty at Georgetown, S.C., and probably would be a total loss. She was returning light from Providence to load lumber at Georgetown. The Crosby was launched here less than a year ago.

QUIET CAMPAIGN.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—What is probably the quietest civic election campaign in the history of the city came to a close on Saturday. Mayor Martin, who is again in the field for re-election, spoke at about a dozen meetings, and his opponent, Luc Rochefort, is also campaigning vigorously.

THE LIST OF RAILWAYS IN GROUP THREE STRIKE ZONE

UNION LEADERS WILL HOLD ANOTHER MEETING TO-DAY--GETTING READY TO GO OVER THE TOP.

STATEMENT ISSUED

CLEVELAND, Ohio., Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press.) — The Illinois Central, Boston and Albany, Great Northern, Chicago and Alton, and Chesapeake and Ohio, are among the 15 railroads in Group Number Three on which transportation brotherhood members will go on strike at 6 a.m. November 3, according to the official list made public last night by Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

The full list of railroads in in Group Number Three, three of which were announced from Chicago yesterday, follows:

Minneapolis and St. Louis; Burlington Systems; Chesapeake and Ohio; New York Central Lines, east and west; Boston and Albany; Baltimore and Ohio; Western Pacific; Denver and Rio Grande; Chicago and Alton; Illinois Central; Yazoo and Mississipi Valley; Soo Line; Great Northern; Lake Erie and Western; Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, (Big Four); The enitre Pennsylvania System is included in Group Four, which is scheduled to leave the service at six a.m., November 15. No explanation was given as to why this large trunk line system was placed in the final group.

It was explained that some of the organizations on lines included in Group Four did not register a majority in favor of the strike, consequently members of those organizations voting against the strike, are not included in the strike authorization. However, the organization chiefs expect there will be practically a general walkout of these organizations, when the other organizations who voted in favor of the strike, leave the service on these lines at the designated itme.

A Meeting To-day.

The "Big Five" chiefs, or their representaives, will convene to-day to consider matters pertaining to the strike. Just what will be discussed, Mr. Stone was unable to state last night, adding that the situation in general will be reviewed.

E. R. Curtis of Texas, a grand officer of the Order of Railway Conductors, is heer to represent L. E. Sheppard, President of the organization.

The strike will not affect the so-called Short Line railroads, it was explained by W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, inasmuch as they were not affected by the wage increases and reductions in which the large roads figured.

Cause of Strike.

Mr. Stone said the cause of the strike is largely because of the action of the railroad managers in requesting a further 10 per cent. wage reduction and the elimination of favorable working agreements on upwards of seventy-five roads, in addition to the 12 per cent. wage reduction which went into effect July 1. The railroads can settle the strike by the elimination of these conditions, Mr. Stone said.

"The Government can prevent the strike by taking over the rail roads, and this is what will happen eventually," Mr. Stone said. He also issued a formal statement covering the men's position and their reason for striking.

MEMORIAL OF A BRAVE LAKEFIELD BOY'S LIFE, GIVEN FOR OTHERS IN GREAT WAR, RECEIVED BY MR. R. CARTER—HAPPENINGS IN LAKEFIELD.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 18.—Sunday was observed in the Anglican Church throughout the British Empire as "Children's Day" and special services were held. In St. John's church the usual 'Children's Day" afternoon service took the place of the Sunday School and was fully choral. The rector spoke at all services on the great importance attaching to Sunday School work and the need of great co-operation by parents with the Sunday School.

The Late F. R. S. Barlee

Word was received last week of the the death of Frederic R. S. Barlee of Grand Forks, B.C., and formerly of Lakefield. Old residents will remember Mr. Barlee, who born in Lakefield, was the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Barlee. His mother, Emma Strickland Barlee, was the first white child born in Lakefield.

Mr. Barlee and family left Lakefield about twenty years ago for British Columbia, where they have resided ever since. He is survived by his wife (nee Emma Strickland, of Peterboro), and two daughters. A son, Dalling, who was killed in the war A brother, Mr. Wm. Barlee of Grand Forks, and two sisters, Mrs. Clinton Atwood of Grand Forks and Mrs. G. B. Hilliard of Victoria, B.C. formerly of Lakefield, also survives.

The Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's held their annual afternoon tea and sale of Home Cooking on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Marling, the president, acted as hostess, Misses L. Smith and A. Watson were in charge of the domestic table on which were displayed tempting viands, which sold very quickly. Misses Ogilvie, Crawford, Graham, Olive Dunford, Ida Webster and Doris Trehern were in charge of the tea. At the close of the sale the members, according to custom, partook of a delightful supper after which they held an impromptu theatre party.

Card Parties.

The first of the series of monthly card parties held by the Ladies Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. held on Thursday evening was one of the jolliest ever held. The attendance was not as large as usual owing to several counter attractions, but all present had a delightful time, Miss Corkery won the lady's first prize. Mr. Robert Duff the gentlemen's first prize, and Mr W. W. Leonard, the consolation prize.

Social Club

The Social Club have re-organized for the coming season and have elected the following officers—President—Mr. Stanley Hill; Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. W. Eckel; Committee—Misses Lennox and Burgess and Mr. Ray Welbourne. Mrs. F. S. Brown has consented to chaperone the young people at their festivities. The regular meetings of the club will be held on Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock.

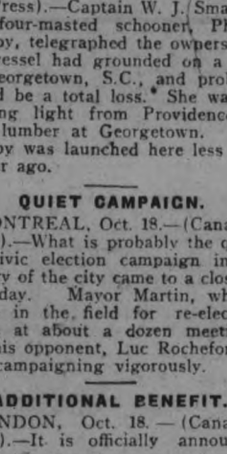
When Mr. Jones was saved from the frying pan—



They talk yet of the change that came over Jones. Some said it was psychology. Some said it was a miracle. All said it was a mystery.

When they asked Jones, he said it was liberation from slavery—slavery to the frying pan, and to grease and starch.

Jones used to take his breakfast fried, and followed this with a heavy lunch.

In those days they said at the office: "Old Jones has a secret sorrow and he's sore on the world."

One day Jones started late—no time for the usual breakfast to be cooked.

Jones had a breakfast on Grape-Nuts with good cream. He was delighted with the crispness and rich flavor. Felt satisfied and "fed." Tried it again at lunch. Kept on breakfasting that way—often lunching, too.

Jones began to "perk up," talk up, step up—GET up.

"Let Jones show you how to do this," they began to say at the office.

As to Jones—he said: "That's a great food—GRAPE-NUTS."

There are thousands of Joneses, both kinds—reckless feeders and wise feeders.

THE EAST PETERBOROUGH FIGHT.

The East Peterborough contest is beginning to develop. The United Farmers were first in the field with the nomination of Mr. G. A. Brethen, and yesterday the Liberal-Conservatives selected as their standard-bearer Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, who has been the representative of East Peterborough in the House during several Parliaments. The Liberals of the riding have called their convention for Thursday, and with their candidate named the race will be fairly under way. They take their politics pretty seriously over in the East riding and all reports indicate there is much more interest in the campaign than has so far been shown in West Peterborough. The three-cornered fight between Government, Liberal and Farmer candidates promises to be one of the most interesting in the history of the riding, and all three parties are already claiming the victory as good as won.

THE CRERAR MANIFESTO.

In his manifesto addressed to the people of Canada, Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressives, claims for his party that its appeal "is not class, not sectional, not religious," and that the proof of its justice lies in the strength it attracts to itself.

"From a small beginning," declares Mr. Crerar, "it has spread over almost the entire country, attracting to itself support from all classes and sections of our people."

If that statement were entirely correct one would expect to find Progressive candidates in nearly every riding in the Dominion. On the contrary there are no such candidates in any urban constituency in the East, and outside of the prairie provinces and the rural ridings of Ontario, the movement has not made any appreciable headway. Its appeal may not be a class one, as its leader declares, but it is significant that its only strength lies in districts where the farmer vote is in the majority and that Dr. Michael Clark, thoroughly in accord as he is with the tariff policy of the Progressives, could not ally himself with the movement because of the class aspect of the party headed by Hon. Mr. Crerar.

A SPLENDID WORK.

The objects of the Home and School Association as summarized in last evening's Examiner, are such as to call for general support for the Association and for the work which it is carrying on in Peterborough. There was a time when parents knew little or nothing of the men and women who had charge of their children's education, and when the teachers' only knowledge of the parents was such as could be gained from a perusal of an occasional note. The Home and School Association is making a radical change in the relationship between teachers and parents, for it is bringing the two together to their mutual benefit. The teachers know that their efforts are being backed by the united support of the parents and the latter have the satisfaction of feeling that they are helping not only their own children, but all other pupils. Concrete results of the activities of the Association are to be readily found in Peterborough's school, where better recreation equipment has been provided and other improvements brought about and the plans for the coming winter months indicate that an even more ambitious programme may be expected. Every father and mother with children at school should be interested in the development of the Association.

AN UNPOPULAR STRIKE.

The overwhelming majority registered by the railway employees of the United States in favor of a strike is to the outsider amazing for judging by the tone of the Press comment from all sections of the Continent public opinion is strongly against the proposed action of the workers. The fact that they unhesitatingly accepted the verdict of the Railway Labor Board when that body granted them an increase and now almost as quickly reject the decision of the board that the time has arrived when strike the average citizen as a proof of either logical thinking or fairness of mind on the part of the railway employees. With several millions of men already unemployed in the United States the remaining workers whose jobs are threatened by the railway strike, are thoroughly out of sympathy with the brotherhoods. They feel that with steady work at a wage scale they did not dream of before the war the railway workers should be satisfied to accept the judgment of an independent tribunal and refrain from action that will throw hundreds of thousands of members of other trades into enforced idleness. The United States Government seems determined that the railways must bekept in operation, and the administration will have public opinion strongly behind it in whatever steps are undertaken.

DISARMAMENT SUNDAY.

The Disarmament Conference will convene in Washington on 11th November, and it has been suggested that it would be a wise plan to make Sunday, 6th November, a day of special prayer and pleading for world-wide peace, says the Christian Guardian. There was a feeling before the war that this continent was so self-contained and so isolated from European problems, that any European conflagration would not involve it. But this was a mistake, and now we find that of the United States federal expenditures for 1921, 52.2 per cent. is due to the World War, 18.3 per cent. is needed to carry the present war establishment, and 7 per cent. is needed to pay the bill for past wars.

This means that no less than 77.5 cents of every dollar of federal expenditure must be charged up against war and its preparations. And this does not take into account the fact that the United States has advanced a good many billions of dollars to Europe, the repayment of which is by no means certain. And now for every part of the United States we are told that the President is being urged to see that disarmament becomes a reality. The Conference, however, is not primarily called to discuss disarmament, but simply the limitation of armaments, and it is doubtful if it will get beyond this. There are still "wars and rumours of wars," and the international horizon is yet all too threatening to encourage the nations wholly to discontinue their warlike preparations. And yet there is reason to hope that the Conference will succeed in taking a long step towards genuine disarmaments.

THE RAILWAY SITUATION.

Let us review briefly the stupendous facts of the railway question. The national railways represent a combined property expenditure of $1,600,000,000. Canada's share in gifts to the railways has been $722,000,000, flung to the winds for any actual return we shall ever receive for it; $90.00 a head for every man, woman, and child in the country. A sum that would have wiped out our whole national debt before the war and left $400,000,000 to the good. There is $40,000,000 of annual charges on the securities of these roads that we must pay, year after year; and when we take the deficits on operation, the annual charges, and an interest allowance for our "gifts," we can count on a straight $100,000,000 it cost us last year, and probably another hundred million next year, and beyond a few trifling millions we won't be any further ahead ;a dead loss. Add another hundred millions of capital expenditures to keep the roads going; five years of operating losses, ten years before the annual charges can be earned, and after it all the $722,000,000 — swallowed up without a trace. A stupendous question; the most vital by far in this campaign.

And yet—our leaders have nothing to say, Meighen, King, Crerar. Mr. Meighen, it is true, has done one big thing, in inducing one of the ablest men in the country, Sir Joseph Flavelle, to take charge of the Grand Trunk end, and he may be found in charge of the whole national system. But the Canadian Premier is content to leave the responsibility there. Mr. King says nothing, beyond suggesting that Government ownership be given a "fair trial" — shifting the whole big question on to another's shoulders. Mr .Crerar in his Brandon speech showed he understood the seriousness of the situation, but his only solution was: "If we had even 15,000,000 people in Canada to-day, our railway problem would solve itself." But we haven't, and the railway problem cannot solve itself. And if we sit with folded hands praying for those fifteen million people, we may have, staggering as we are already under taxation, to pay one billion dollars more into the bottomless pit of our railway problem.

Mr. Crerar is coming to the East next week. The thinking men and women of Canada will look to him for a clear statement of how he would handle our railway problem—without the assistance of fifteen million population. Mr. Meighen must in fairness get close to the problem. So must Mr. King. We have a right to know how the leaders who are asking for the votes of the business community propose to handle Canada's biggest problem. — Financial Post.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The barbers have reduced their prices next.

Add Kenora to the list of towns with elastic-walled jails.

Wininpeg bandits claim they swore an oath not to commit murder. Well, that's something.

It begins to look as if some of the Toronto churches should send delegates to the Disarmament Conference.

The Border Cities are claiming their population is 1,500 more than the census figures show. Seems a lot of bootleggers were overlooked in the count.

The Ottawa Citizen has been following devotedly after both Crerar and Dr. Clark. Now that these gentlemen have parted company, the editor will be in danger of the fate that overtook the chameleon which tried to adapt itself to all the colours of a Scotsman's plaid. The poor thing bust itself to pieces, says the Kitchener Record.

LITERARY GEMS

THE WAY OF IT.

"Many are called"—an old refrain;
Many are called in the sun and rain,
But most of them roll over again
For another nap in the well warmed den,
For another dream and a bit more rest
Before they rise for the waiting test,
And having arrived a bit too late
They curse their luck—and they call it fate.

In the "Virginia Reel" a couple are shown holding aloof, almost as far apart as two stops on the "Limited" and the tips of their fingers barely touch in a sort of icy "Pleased to meet you" post, but in the photo of the down-to-the-minute, hug-me-tighter, cheek-to-cheek affair, they look as if one of them was going away and they never expected to see each other again. But you won't forget to write, will ya?

JOHN A. SEXSMITH AGAIN CHOSEN

Mr. Sexsmith read the reciprocity and other planks in the U.F.O. platform. They proposed to put the reciprocity bill into force although the duty on agricultural implements is 2½ per cent. less than it would have been under the reciprocity treaty.

The U.F.O. also proposed to reduce the British tariff until in five years there was virtually free trade with Great Britain. This would mean free trade with the world, because of Britain's vast trade interests.

"When the Agrarian party asks that, free trade with Britain," Mr. Sexsmith said, 'they are practically asking you to grant free trade to the world. They want to put agricultural implements on the free list, and also all foodstuffs not in the reciprocity agreement. And they say they are not talking free trade at once. When you take the duties off implements and all that enters into their manufacture and off foodstuffs, I ask you what is left? When Mr. Crerar is asked by what means he proposes to raise the money that would be lost in the removal of these duties, we are told that he would put a tax on all unimproved land values. If he is going to raise a land tax or a farm tax, a farm that pays $50 municipal taxes would pay $100 Federal tax.

Didn't Canvass.

"I have only this to say, that in all my conventions I have never yet canvassed a man to vote for me in convention. Nor in this convention. I am here as a citizen of your riding, I have a record of 15 years in the House of Commons and a political record of five elections; and if my record is good and if I have done nothing to bring discredit on my riding in any way, I present myself to you and ask you to support me. (Applause).

"I know that had there been another session of Parliament there'd have been no East Peterborough. The unit of population will be between 37,000 and 40,000, and there's only a trifle over 40,000 in the whole county. In 1911-12 when we had redistribution the last time I had to fight against the union of East and West Peterborough because it was a constituency with the least population. I said that if the committee attempted to wipe East Peterborough out of existence it would not be with my consent. I would not throw down the peope who elected me. So East Peterborough remained a riding although it had only 15,444 of a population.

"There is some talk of the riding being lost. It will not be lost. If you select me I will spend my last energy to keep East Peterborough in support of the Government."

Reeve J. C. Strickland.

"I wish to give my reasons for being here today," said Reeve Strickland after the usual introductory felicities. "It is a pleasure to see such a warm welcome, though it may be for Mr. Sexsmith, if not for me. I was approached by many electors who urged me to let my name go before this convention. I tried to find what was the feeling of the people generally. I don't know whether Mr. Sexsmith insinuated that I had canvassed delegates and he hadn't but I'm sure not a delegate here could say I asked him to vote for me. I believe that if a thing is worth having, it is worth going after, and for that reason I took a trip through the riding. I assure you if you choose me you will not lose. I will use every minute in working to retain this riding for the Conservative Party."

Reeve Strickland recounted some of his history, his boyhood on the farm, his stay in the Yukon and his return six years ago.

"I am a farmer and proud say I am. I hope the farmers are going to put a hand forward to save the independence of farmers. We have the U.F.O. here. If you choose me I'll try in a quiet way to prove to them where they are wrong. Eighty per cent. of our products are consumed here. Why then cut down the tariff wall? Only one thing will save Canada and that is a protective tariff. The United States farmers could under free trade dump their surplus products here. Our farmers would suffer just as would our manufacturers. If it wasn't for our manufacturers there would be a lot more poorer farmers than there are in East Peterborough. Imagine what would happen to the city of Peterborough. In Hamilton alone there are 71 manufacturers representing United States firms. If the tariff was reduced what would keep them in Canada? They would go back to their own country where they have steel, iron and raw materials produced cheaper than in this country. If we had free trade where would we get our revenue? By a direct tax. Farmers are let off easy today on income tax. If the customs revenue was cut off and a direct tax was placed on farmers we would not be able to stand it.

"If Mr. Sexsmith is chosen I am with him. If you decide on me I give you the assurance I will work day and night to win. And I am sure this riding can be won."

When the result of the voting was announced Mr. Strickland said: "I want to thank my supporters and to say that I hope they will support Mr. Sexsmith. I'll do my best for Mr. Sexsmith and I want you to do that for me. I am out for the party. I move that the nomination be made unanimous."

Mr. Sexsmith replying said: "I sincerely thank you for your hearty support. This is certainly one of the proudest moments of my life. After 21 years' service I can go away in the knowledge that I have your confidence. Mr. Strickland is a young man. Both of us couldn't win. We are in the habit of saying that every election is important, but this is one of the most important in the history of Canada. I ask you to do your duty until polling day. It is the people who did the work before. If you do that our labor will be crowned with success."

Hon. Edmund Bristol.

"I have been surprised at the farmers of the West going to Missouri for a leader," said Hon. Mr. Bristol. "As a matter of fact they didn't have to go. Word came to the farmers. No doubt he has made money, not only at farming, but at farming the farmers. He likes it so well that he'd like to see both countries made one. We don't mind the Western farmers commiting suicide, but when they are out to murder Eastern Canada, manufacturers and when John A. MacDonald brought in the trade policy and every time farmers both, we've got to take notice, to look them over. We have 657 American factories in Canada today because of the tariff. They are spending money here, providing work for our people, and consumers for our produce and are willing to do so as long as they have adequate protection for their industries. If the Westerner succeeds those 657 factories will be wiped out. They will go back home. The parent industries are able to supply this market without much additional overhead."

Mr. Bristol said that then the Westerners would buy their goods in Minneapolis, St. Paul and other Western cities. "He says it is cheaper near home and he loves the States. He came from there. But he forgets he will be buying in markets over which his own Government has no control. In the meantime there will be no employment here for your sons. Steel and coal are cheaper in the States. Iron is easier mined. They haven't our vigorous winters to connete against. They would swamp us over night. Crerar tells us in his glib way he would tax the land. Farmers would pay a $100 direct tax on a 100-acre farm. Can you imagine Western farmers paying that without a rebellion when they get this U.F.O. rabies out of their minds. It's a disease like whooping cough or measles. It's for children. No sane man would talk this U.F.O. stuff."

Mr. Bristol said that American farmers could grow fruit and raise stock more cheaply than Canadians. They didn't have to build barns to winter their stock. "There's only one thing we beat them at. That is growing No. 1 hard wheat. It's a standard for the world. That's the reason the 35 per cent. tax is not hurting our Western farmers. The Americans have to have our wheat to mix with their flour. Why is the Fordney tariff? The reason given by the American farmers is for protection, all except Wood of Missouri, who is now in Canada. I wish he'd go back to Missouri and talk free trade. They'd throw him out. The Americans wanted their own markets to themselves for their own foodstuffs."

Mr. Bristol quoted Canadian export figures showing the greatly reduced trade to the United States under the Fordney tariff.

"On the other hand we shipped into Canada in the year ending March 31st last $262,000,000 of vegetables and vegetable products. And we call ourselves an agricultural country. We brought in $63,000,000 worth of animals and animal products, and they were not elephants, lions and tigers, and $43,000,000 worth of those goods were from the United States."

Dr. Michael D. Clarke's break with the Crerar party was evidence that the light was beginning to break in the West, said Mr. Bristol.

The King Liberals were also shifting their ground, he continued, but the Conservative Party under the Hon. Arthur Meighen stood four square on the platform of adequate protection for the industries of farm and city.

IN MILLBROOK

seen upon the tree of life, and coupling with that the desire to get right also with our fellow men will bring a larger vision and a lovelier task. Jesus Christ died not alone to save us from the hell of selfishness, not merely that we might join the angels and thrum on hearts which never get out of tune; not merely to make sure a sense of personal safety, but also a sense of personal service.

Paul said "I am debtor both to the Greek and the barbarian," because he had what they had not, and he gave his life to discharge that debt. Livingstone also is another shining example of spending and being spent in the service of others. We may save the oil by turning down the wick but there will be less light, we may keep our foot off the gas but there will be less speed, we may save the fuel and shiver in the chilly atmosphere, and so rob a needy world of the comfort and cheer and warmth and faith that hungry souls are starving for. "He that saveth his life shall lose it; he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it.

Special Music.

Special music was provided by the choir, the anthem in the morning being, "O, then, to the Rock let us Fly," with solo by Mrs. Urry and duct by Mrs. Urry and Miss Stewart. After the sermon, Miss Kemp of Peterboro, sang very beautifully the solo, "I heard the Voice of Jesus say," and again in the evening Miss Kemp sang, "The King is Coming." Mrs. Urry's solo at the evening service was "The Song that the Angels sing," and the anthem by the choir, "When Life's Victory is won," the thought in all the music being most appropriate to the theme of the sermons for the day.

The Presbyterians very kindly withdrew their usual evening service on account of the anniversary in a sister church, and many of their people took advantage of the opportunity to be present. Their pastor Rev. Mr. Gervan, led in the opening prayer and Rev. Joseph Wilks also had a place on the platform, and assisted with the service.

Evening Sermon.

Mr. Moore took his text from Matthew 27:42: "He saved others; Himself He cannot save," and the sermon again developed the thought of the outgoing of real Christian character in unselfish ministry to others.

The words of the text were really a cynical sneer cast at Christ by His enemies, but a taunting jibe may contain a great and glorious truth; error is often built upon a distorted and perverted truth, and falsehood may be built upon a misrepresented fact. They knew that He could have saved Himself for they had seen Him walk unharmed through the hostile mob and had watched him cleanse the temple unmolested by the enraged religious leaders of His day.

In Jesus' day religion was a matter of ostentatious public worship — long prayers on the street corners, and giving alms that they might be seen of men. But Christ set up a new standard of private prayer and quiet alms-giving, and roused the leaders of His day to an open fury by pointing to a despised foreigner, as the ideal of true service, when, after citing the incident of the Good Samaritan, He added, "Go thou, and do likewise."

The value of all talent, education and genius must be judged by the amount of service it renders to its fellow men. In the realm of art, Rubenstein's "Descent from the Cross," and Angelo's "The Last Judgment," answer to this law because they have made men think and live with a view to eternal things. Not always is it the singer of finished technique but the one whose song reaches the heart and brings a message of comfort to whom the angels listen and credit with God's approval. He justly claims all our powers for His service and that of our fellows, and humanity makes the same claim. A surgeon was operating on a woman without the use of an anaesthetic, and said: "If you don't stop screaming I will stop operating," and the court awarded her $5000 damages, insisting upon the principle that genius must serve need.

The outward sign of the inward change of heart must inevitably be the amount of service given; winning men from social liabilities to becoming social assets. "They that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars for ever and ever."

Six hundred dollars was the amount of the thank offering being asked for by the trustees of the church, the major portion of it being received on Sunday; doubtless the full amount will come in in the course of a few weeks time.

Personal Mention.

Messrs. Chas. Needler and Morgan Carry were down from Toronto over the week-end.

Mrs. Thomas Medd of Peterboro, spent a few days in town last week looking after business affairs at her former home here.

Miss Audrey Lachaur of Peterboro was the guest of her cousin, Miss Alice Stewart, over Sunday.

Amongst former residets of Millbrook, who attended the anniversary services at the Methodist Church on Sunday, were no less Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Strong and daughter, Mrs Verna; also Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas, and their daughter, Miss Nellie, all now residing in Peterboro.

Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Breesa and Mrs. Thomas of Palmyra, N. Y., were guests of their cousin, Miss Needler, on Friday. They have been visiting relatives in Otonabee for the past two weeks and were returning to their home in the States on Saturday.

Mr. William Collins, who went out west on one of the harvester excursions a couple of months ago, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooper and two children, and Mr. Earl Byam of Tyrone, were the guests of Mrs. W. H. and Mrs. and Mrs. J. L. Byam on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Burnham and daughter, Miss Pearl, were visitors at the home of Dr and Mrs. E. L. Burnham on Sunday.

It is expected that there will be a large attendance of Sunday school workers at the Sunday school institute which is to be held at Fazerville on Friday.

There will be two sessions and a good programme has been proided.

A Danger Warning —Bleeding Gums

Are your gums tender? Do they bleed when brushed? If so—watch out for Pyorrhea.

This disease of the gums, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, not only destroys the teeth, but often wrecks the health.

In Pyorrhea, the gums become spongy, then recede; the teeth decay, loosen and fall out—or must be extracted to rid the system of the infecting Pyorrhea germs which breed in pockets about them. These germs lower the body's vitality and cause many diseases.

You can keep Pyorrhea away. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection, and use Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums prevents Pyorrhea—or checks its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums firm and healthy—the teeth white and clean.

Start using it today. If your gums have receded, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

AMALGAMATION WAR VETERANS THE ISSUE NOW

BRITISH COLUMBIA DELEGATES FIRED FIRST BIG GUN AT CONVENTION OF G.W.V.A. IN PORT ARTHUR YESTERDAY.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Oct. 18.—(By Canadian Press).—Delegates from British Colupmbia fired the first big gun into the fifth annual Convention of the Great War Veterans' Association, which opened here yesterday afternoon, when a resolution was submitted by Ian Mc Kenzie, Vancouver, proposing that the question of amalgamation of the veterans' organizations in Canada be the first consideration of each day's business, and that the representatives of other bodies who attended Sunday's conference should be present. The resolution was presented late this afternoon.

Talking to this question: President; R. B. Maxwell said the Imperial Veterans and Army and Navy Veterans would meet soon in convention and thrash the matter out the same as this convention is doing.

In this connection, Dr. W. D. Sharpe, Brampton, charged that the far westerners had been heeding "the propagada started in the east by another organization to disrupt the G.W.V.A."

Mr. Maxwell declared the Dominion command officials were not sidetracking the issue. He personally had never opposed amalgamation, but realized that it must be founded on something concrete, and required thorough consideration. That he hoped was what the convention was going to do.

The British Columbians then accepted the President's ruling that no departure would be made from regular precedure in dealing with this or any other matter.

Civic Welcome.

A civic welcome followed, which was made by Mayor A. L. Matthews who was succeeded by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister af Soldiers Civil Re-Establishment, on behalf of the Federal Government. Hon. J. B. Carmichael, Minister without portfolio, in the Ontario Government, welcomed the delegates on behalf of the Province.

The delegates wre guests of the city last night at a banquet in the Prince Arthur Hotel.

A CLARION CALL TO THE BAPTISTS

PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS AT THE BAPTIST CONVENTION IN ST. THOMAS,

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—The Baptist convention session yesterday afternoon opened with a devotional service led by Rev. N. S. McKechnie, which was followed by an address by Rev. A. Carr, Brantford, on "The Minister's Inner Life." Rev. E. J. Pady, of St. George, spoke on "Ministerial Superannuation," and recent revival experiences were recounted by Rev. H. C. Newcombe, of Simcoe, Rev. W. H. Langton, of Brantford, and Rev. P. C. Cameron, of Kitchener.

Rev. Dr. O. C. S. Wallace, of Montreal, had charge of the specially set aside period for intercession, and in the course of a preliminary address, said there was great need for a revival in every church. Before that revival could take place, however, the pastor had to be prepared for it, and the deacons and the trustees had to be prepared for it too. Tremendous are the issues and awful the responsibilities on the Baptist churches in these days of their responsibilities, the speaker said. Many listeners had in mind a Toronto church, when Dr. Wallace appealed to the delegates to drop all their petty jealousies, their bickerings and suspicions. "You've lost your colors," he shouted. "You should rally now to your King; we are at the threshold of the greatest revival the Baptist churches of this convention has ever known."

Presidential Address.

In the evening, after a devotional service, led by Rev. J. R. Turnbull, pastor of Convention Church, S. J. Moore gave the annual presidential address. It was a clarion call to every member of the convention to rally in great evangelist effort during the coming year.

"Every thoughtful person must be profoundly impressed with and deeply concerned about the conditions that exist in the world to-day. Our economic, social and religious life is so influenced by world conditions that we cannot ignore them if we would. The whole world is one neighborhood and peoples re-act upon peoples as individuals do on individuals." Mr. Moore said that while deploring the existence of many world conditions, they should be accepted as a mighty challenge by the Christian Church. To it is given the torch to lead the world out of its darkness, and the pitiful failure of substitutes is bringing this fact into bold relief. "Notwithstanding the sneers that come from many quarters," exclaimed Mr. Moore, "and the lethargy that may mourn, millions of the world's population are looking eagerly to the Church of Jesus Christ as the agency through which the world will be lifted out of the 'slough of despond' into which it has fallen," said Mr. Moore.

DR. R. P. M'KAY OF TORONTO AT LAKEFIELD

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 17.—Anniversary services were held in the Presbyterian Church Sunday, large congregations being present both morning and evening.

Rev. S. F. Dixon set aside his evening service in honor of the occasion, and he, with many of his people, were in attendance at the Presbyterian service, in which Mr. Dixon assisted in the devotional part.

The choir also was augmented by some of the leading Methodist voices and the praise service was hearty and pleasing. The preacher of the day was Rev. Dr. R. P. McKay of Toronto, Foreign Mission Secretary of the Presbyterian Church in Canada these many years, and there is no man in the church more greatly beloved or more highly revered, his whole life being an open page of what the true Christian character should be. And it was therefore not surprising to hear after service comments on all sides, testifying to the uplifting and deeply spiritual nature of the speaker's words.

"Follow Me."

The text of the evening discourse was Jesus words to Philip when on His way to Galilee, "Follow me," and Dr. McKay depicted the life of the Christian as based on this injunction of the Divine Master. In obeying this command of Jesus Christ we must first be honest, in private life, in financial life, in public life, in political life and in religious life. It is not what we say, but what we live counts, he said. We can refute everything we say by our mode of living. "Except your righteousness, exceed the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharisees, ye cannot enter the kingdom of heaven." There must be sacrifice in the Christian life and in partaking of the emblems of the broken body, and the shed blood of the Lord Jesus we partake of this sacrificial life.

The Christian must have eight convictions and a true sympathy for all mankind, and fidelity to the principles of descipleship with Jesus Christ.

The church, he continued, is not divided on the fundamentals of its teaching—only on the incidentals—and Jesus declared Himself the son of man, related to the world, and exemplified the brotherhood of man, even to eating with publicans and sinners. The speaker deplored the pursuit of pleasure and frivolity of this age, urging that life is given us to prepare for eternity, but expressed his conviction that in spite of all the unrest and general upheaval, the world is steadily moving on to better things with the sight of the glorious gospel of Jesus Christ leading onward and upwards to the goal.

STAMP MILL GOLDEN FLEECE MINE NOW NEAR COMPLETION

PARTY FROM STIRLING TAKE MOTOR TRIP TO MINES, AND LOOK OVER THE GROUND.

STIRLING, Oct. 18.—Last week Mr. A. Hammond and friends made a trip by motor car to the Golden Fleece Mines, going by way of Stirling Ridge road, Ivanhoe and Tweed thence on to Bridgewater and Flinton. After dinner at Joe Ganty's Hotel, Flinton, the party proceded three miles further up a picturesquely winding road to the mines, through which, including the large stamp mill, now nearing completion the genial caretaker conducted the visitors. After spending an interesting hour there the party returned home by way of Madoc, where they stopped for lunch. All enjoyed their days outing immensely.

Stirling Cheese had another advance on Thursday to 16 1-4 cents for white. No colored was sold. All were bought by Jas. Cook and M. Bird.

A FINNY WONDER.

Third from the top in the list of finny wonders entered in the Toronto Star contest was a small-mouthed black bass, weighing 6lb. 2oz. that was captured in Belmont Lake last summer. The winning fish weighed 6lb. 4oz. So the Belmont Lake bass came within an ace if winning The Star's prize. The largest bass was caught in Lake Temigami.

Men's Hemstitched
Handkerchiefs, 3 for 19c
75c Doz. — 2,000 to Sell

BOYS' WOOL JERSEYS, $1.59

An All-Wool Jersey that is very closely knit and good to see when worn by a mannish little chap. The color is garnet and the trimming is grey. The price is low because we have only sizes 24 and 26, and are clearing the lot.

Mr. Haffner had been in the grocery store store on Saturday as usual and he had been seen on Sunday and appeared in good health.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Trade in cash grain in the local market continues very quiet. Although there was no change in prices in the flour market, an easier feeling is apparent. A fair business continues to be done in mill feed and prices for rolled oats are down 10c a bag. The trade in baled hay continues quiet. There is no change in the egg situation, and the tone of the potato market remains steady. The butter market was moderately active with a strong undertone. The cheese market is firm, with a steady demand.

WHEAT PRICES BROKE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press). — Railroad strike developments, together with the Government report on farm reserves, broke the price of wheat yesterday seven cents a bushel. The market closed nervous at 5c to 6¼c net lower, with December $1.09 3-4 to $1.10, and May $1.13 3-4 to $1.14. Corn lost 3-4c to 1 5-8c, and oats 1 3-8c to 1 5-8c at 1 3-4c. In provisions the outcome varied from seven cents decline to five cents advance.

SHOT IN A FIGHT.

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press). — The Manitoba Government probably will send an official to Chicago to identify the desperado killed in a gun-fight with the police Saturday, and reported to be James Bullard, alias Buller, wanted in Winnipeg on a charge of murdering Alex. McCurdy and James Uttley, morality officers, in the Stock Yards Hotel, Saint Boniface, November 11, 1920, Colonel J. G. Rattray, Provincial Police Commissioner, announced yesterday.

Col. Rattray has asked the Chicago police to supply him with pictures and descriptions of "Paddy" Joyce, who was killed at the same time, and Allen Hillman, alias Addison, who was captured. Colonel Rattray said yesterday he suspected that either Joyce or Hillman was Bullard's accomplice in the Stock Yards Hotel crime, referred to by girl witnesses at the inquest as the "little fellow."

was indeed a treat. Following this "Emerald Waltzes" was rendered by the band. Miss Emma Meiklejohn sang, in very fine voice, "One Fleeting Hour," and for an encore responded with the humorous little song, "Nothin'." The next number by the band, "Memories of Stephen Foster," well rendered, recalled southern airs. Mr. Elsie Brunelle and sister, Miss Brunelle, completely captivated the audience by their rendering of "Song of Praise" in French. They responded to their encore by another French song equally as charming. The overture, "Three Merry Knights," was followed by the march, "Our Director," both of which revealed careful training and were well received.

A very pleasant evening's entertainment was brought to a close by the National Anthem. During the winter months the Band purposes holding a series of these high class concerts. The following members of the band took part in last night's entertainment: Messrs. C. W. Smith, J. Mitchell, W. Walsh, George Lucy, Walter Lowe, Roy Bell, Murray Meiklejohn, J. Frederick, A. Mills, J. Free, L. Clegg, George Salter, J. Rellis, C. Williams, J. Woods, E. C. Dolman, M. Reynolds, W. Mitchell, C. Mitchell, H. Leonard, James Benor, W. Sutton, Chas. Davidson, Geo. Frederick, Roy Ferry, Fred Lang, D. A. Mitchell and leader and conductor, R. T. Cowell, A.R.C.D.

The band and their most efficient leader, Mr. Cowell, may well be proud of last evening's entertainment, as their numbers showed most careful practice and training, their entertainment comparing most favorably with those given in our larger cities.

REV. POWLES TALKS ON THE JAPANESE

RETURNED MISSIONARY'S INTERESTING ADDRESS ON ISLAND EMPIRE.

A very interesting and instructive address on Japan, was given last evening, in St. Georges Church, by the Rev. P. S. Powles, who is home on furlough.

The verse of Scripture by which we are so closely bound with Japan is found in Matthew: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to all nations, baptizing them in the Holy Ghost"; "baptizig them", etc. Holy Ghost"; "baptizing them", ets, being the part that those who have gone, are most vitally concerned with.

Just as the traders and soldiers, brought the news of the gospel from Gaul to Early Britain, so also the responsibility rest with those who are not missionares, as well as the missionaries themselves

The diocese of mid-Japan, where many of our Canadian missionaries are stationed, though only one-quarter the size of Ontario, has a population of two million.

In the sleepy, residential city of Takata, where Rev. Powles is stationed, many of the streets are lined with maple hedges, which gives it a very Canadian appearance.

To those who think of Japan as a land of flowers and sunshine only, it may come as a surprise, to know that the snowfall in winter is fairly heavy. The Japanese have skating, and a National Ski Meet is held once a year, about which they are very enthusiastic. There are three or four frosts during winter season But the cold is damp and penetrating.

The summers are very hot and the mosquitoes very numerous and troublesome.

The Rice Fields

Ninety per cent. of the people of the Province of Echigo are farmers. Seventy-five per cent. of the Japanese rice is grown in this province.

The rice fields follow the rivers, so that it is not an uncommon sight to see chains of rice fields stretching along either side of a river bank. The rice plants are planted carefully by hand, in a manner that would try the patience of most Canadian farmers.

The Japanese are very fond of singing, "Jesus Loves Me", being their favorite.

Buddism Opposed

The chief difficulties of Christianity, are the opposition of Buddism and Shintoism. Shintoism is the worship of their ancestors. The back bone of Buddism, is the women. The Buddists are imitating the Christians in the matter of singing hymns, the writing of gospels and the starting of Sunday Schools. Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, so it is to be hoped that they will soon turn Christians.

Rev. Powles gave many touching and amusing incidents of Japanese loyalty and honesty which shows them in their true colours.

Rev. W. R. Courage closed the meeting with a few remarks and prayer.

ANDREW WILSON & CO TORONTO AND MONTREAL

ONTARIO EXPECTS EVERYONE TO DO HIS OR HER DUTY

CALL COMES TO UNITE IN COMBATTING THE PITILESS FOE WITHIN THEIR OWN GATES.

GREAT WHITE PLAGUE

During the four years of war overseas Canadians contributed ungrudingly of their might and wealth and resources to repulse the armed hosts of an inexorably treacherous enemy at the gates of home and empire—a foe who exercised no mercy, but, regardless of sex or age, belligerent or pacific, destroyed his victims with a remorseless savagery unequalled in the annals of war.

Right loyally did the people of this great Dominion rise to that occasion—all sorts and conditions of men and women, they united, and by a self-sacrificing heroism which inspired the admiration of the whole world, succeeded in crushing that appalling terror with which they were then beset.

Equally Pitiless.

And now, to-day, there is another merciless enemy—this time "within" and not "without" our gates—equal in the pitiless, insidious attacks on the citadel of individual Canadian life and nationhood ,to those vanquished foes of 1914-1918, and quite as devastating . That enemy is consumption; an ever-increasing horror to humanity, which is eating its way into the very vitals of the nation; a foe whose tenacious, relentless invasion of suffering mortals might be largely mitigated, and perhaps, in time, permanently arrested, were but a fraction of that co-ordinate effort and monetary subscription devoted to combatting the past danger in central Europe contributed waging aggressive warfare against the Great White Plague at home.

To this end the National Sanitarium association is organized, and opportunity will next week knock at the doors of Peterboro citizens to contribute their share toward the maintenance of five institutions, for the cure of consumption in many cases, and the cure of incurable tuberculosis patients in comfort, and amid sympathetic conditions which not only prolongs life, but controls the spread of this terrible disease. It is a God-given work in the cause of humanity, a worthy cause to which this community should respond as cheerfully and as generously as Peterboronians did for the Red Cross.

Thousands Stricken.

Thousands of stricken men and women are doomed to an untimely death unless we who are living in health and have the means, do not arise in a "good Samaritan" spirit, and go to their assistance, with that liberty which shall reflect the widely heralded universal "brotherhood of man." Further funds are urgently needed by the National Sanitarium to carry on the great philanthropic work in aid of consumptives instituted some twenty-five years ago. In fact an emergency fund of a million dollars from Ontario is solicited—the objective for Peterboro is $10,-000—and that amount, from present indications will be fully subscribed.

Suffering brother and sister mortals expect each and every one of their more fortunate brethren to do their duty by them in this worthy campaign.

FIRST OF SEASON'S SERIES PROVES AN UNQUALIFIED SUCCESS.

The first of a series of literary and musical evenings planned by the Recreation committe of the Y.W.C.A. was given at the Association building last evening, when the green-room and library were filled with a large crowd for the evening devoted to "Il Trovatore." Many enthusiastic expressions of opinion were made on the excellence of the entertainment, which was a fine promise of the winter's offerings.

Two short papers, one on the Life of Verdi, the composer, and the other on the opera of "Il Trovatore," prepared by Mrs. T. Cruikshank, was read by Mrs. Robt. Harstone, and were interspersed by selections from the opera, as follows: he Miserere Duet and "Home to Our Mountains," by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Park, a vocal solo by Mrs. Park, "Fierce the Flames Soaring," and one by Mr. Asa Huycke, "The Tempest of the Heart," a violin solo by Miss Edwina Palmer "Rosy Morning O'er the Meadows," and, at the conclusion of the reading, selections from the opera were rendered by Miss Ida Sanderson. These artists gave splendid renditions of the composer's lovely music, and were enthusiastically encored.

Refreshments Served.

At the conclusion of the programme, light refreshents were served, under the direction of Mrs. D. Carmichael. The arrangements for the programme were conducted by Mrs. N. D. Buchanan and Mrs. W. R. Widdis. These two ladies will have charge of arrangements for musical evenings during October and November.

Miss Charlotte Layton, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A., thanked those taking part, in the name of the Association, and outlined the programme for the next two months. The first Tuesday in November is the date set for an address on Archibald Lampman by Miss McVannell, of the Normal staff, the December literary evening will be devoted to Dr. Drummond, given by Mr. R. J. Soden, and the December musicale will be an evening of Christmas music.

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion fails and you become generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St., Chatham, Ont., writes:

"I was troubled with indigestion, which caused me many sleepless nights. I would be in terrible distress at times, and would get no relief for two or three hours. For sixteen months I ate nothing but Shredded Wheat biscuits, as I dare not eat anything else. I did not know what to do, as I had tried so many different remedies, as well as doctors' medicines, without gaining permanent relief. Finally I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and while on the second box noticed that I was improving. I continued the treatment until I am now fully restored, and have returned to my regular diet. My husband has also taken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results, so we are glad to recommend it to others."

You can tell in advance exactly how many dollars a battery is going to cost but you can't tell how many months it will last or how many miles it will travel.

Because of this, it is of extreme importance that you pay attention to the one safeguard that can be provided—the name and mark of the maker.

With the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery, you are assured of the most months and the most miles of uninterrupted service per battery dollar.

New Drug Will Make Millions of People Well

NEW DRUG WORTH MILLIONS TO SUFFERING HUMANITY —NUMBERLESS PEOPLE GO DOWN TO THEIR GRAVES 10 TO 20 YEARS BEFORE THEY SHOULD.

A poisoned system soon decays, causing early death. We are only as old as our Livers. When the Liver is out of order the system is unable to discharge the waste matter, causing a poisoning of the whole system, which no doubt causes all sorts of aches and pains. When the system becomes poisoned, some organ of the body is sure to suffer. It may be your Stomach, Kidneys Liver, Intestines, etc.

There is only one drug known that will relieve this, and that is Tanated Calomel, which is the only drug known that will act directly upon the Liver. Tanated Calomel is very different from all forms of Calomel. It is very quickly taken up by the system, and acts on the Liver in a few minutes after taking. No Salts, Seidlitz or Castor Oil are necessary to remove it from the system, as it is self-eliminating. No nausea, sick stomach or griping after taking.

You no doubt have been taking all sorts of Tonics, Laxatives from time to time, with only temporary results. The reason is that none of these medicine act upon the Liver, and you cannot have good health with a disordered Liver.

Doctors recommend that you take one Tanated Calomel about 15 minutes before meals or take two at bedtime, and you will get a good sleep, waking in the morning feeling 100 p.c. better, full of vigor, bright, alert, clear-headed and ready for a good day's work.

Tanated Calomel is sold in Peterborough by R. G. Weber, Charlotte street.

A CABINET MEETING TO BE HELD TO-DAY

By HAROLD D. JACOBS.

CLEVELAND, Ohio., Oct. 18.—(United Press.)—Seizure of the railroads by the United States' government was regarded by the Brotherhood chief to-day as the only means of avoiding a nation-wide transportation tie-up. Warren S. Stone, Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, voiced this opinion when he said: "The railroad executives can settle the dispute or the government can prevent a strike. The executives won't talk over the situation and we gave them our final word at the Chicago conference.

Taking over of the railroads by the Government, therefore, appears to be the only way of preventing the strike scheduled to begin Oct. 30th.

BIRTHDAY PARTY WAS VERY HAPPY OCCASION

Jolly Evening Spent in Parish Hall of St. Luke's Church.

On Thursday evening of last week a very jolly entertainment was held in the parish hall of St. Luke's church, in the form of a birthday party, arranged by the Women's Guild of the church. The invitations promised a good time, an excellent programme, with refreshments, and asked the recipient to come along and bring a cent for every year of his or her age, ending with the comforting assurance that "the number no one shall ever be told." (It is said that the ladies are not the only people inclined to be sensitive in this regard.)

The Rev. G. J. Bousfield acted as chairman for the evening, and the meeting commenced with the singing of choruses by the entire assemblage. This was followed by an exceptionally good exhibition of legerdemain by Mr. A. Thomas, of Smith street, who proved himself a master of sleight of hand, amusing and mystifying his entire audience with his clever card manipulations. He was reecived with hearty applause and loud encores. Mr. Herbert Rush and Miss Mildred Greene contributed excellent vocal solos to the programme, and Mr. J. Johns gave a recitation in his usual inimitable style. A musical guessing contest proved a very popular novelty, the titles of songs being used to fill in the blank spaces in which was supposed to be a letter describing a wedding. Everybody joined in this game, the prize, a birthday cake, going to Miss Bertram, who succeeded in filling in successfully 24 out of 26 blanks. More choruses all together and refreshments brought to a close what proved a very pleasant

PAIN IN THE PIT OF THE STOMACH?

Redmac Relieves It

Truly wonderful how quickly you can get rid of all stomach trouble. Redmac goes right to the seat of the trouble. Mrs. Vanhorn, of Winnipeg writes: I have suffered for years from indigestion. I would get such a sharp pain in the pit of my stomach. It would almost double me up at times. During this time I have not known what it was to enjoy a meal. I got very thin and weak. I have been taking Redmac and what a blesing it is to me. I can eat three square meals a day now.

If you want to feel fit, if you want good strong nerves, lots of pure blood and plenty of energy and vitality, you get a bottle of Redmac and see how quickly it will put you on the road to good health. Go to your druggist to-day, and get a bottle of this wonderful tonic, made from herbs and roots from foreign countries.

The Excelsior Club promises some good material for the various church leagues this year in bowling, basketball, hockey, etc.

A pleasant hour was spent in singing, after which a most appetizing luncheon, to which the boys did full justice, was served by Mrs. Hamilton and a number of ladies interested in the work of the class.

After a hearty vote of thanks to their hosts and the singing of "They are Jolly Good Fellow", the evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

The Fool Who Cured 'Em

THIRTY YEARS ago.
DR. WM. SMITH stopped.
AT A little city.
DOWN IN the State.
OF MISSOURI.
AND WHILE there.
CALLED ON some.
OF THE good doctors.
OF THE place.
AND TRIED to sell them.
SOME SURGICAL instruments.
BUT THEY told him.
THEY HAD no use.
FOR SURGICAL instruments.
FOR THAT blamed old quack.
UP THE street.
WAS DOING all the business.
DR. SMITH told them.
HE WOULD welcome a quack.
IF ONE came.
TO HIS town.
FOR AFTER the quack.
HAD BUNGLED up.
A LOT of cases.
HE COULD get good money
FOR FIXING them up again.
BUT THE doctors told.
DOCTOR SMITH.
THAT THIS darned old fool
CURED THE people.
SO DR. SMITH called.
ON THE so-called quack.
DR. STILL.
THE FOUNDER of osteopathy.
AND A school was started.
TO TRAIN osteopaths.
AND THE darned fools.
HAVE BEEN curing people.
EVER SINCE.
I THANK you.

Dr. Still and Dr. Smith, who were associated together in the first school of osteopathy, were both doctors of the old, or so-called, regular school. Dr. Still was an army surgeon who had practised for twenty-five years at Baldwin, Kansas. Dr. Smith was a F.R.C.S. of Edinburgh, Scotland. It may be said in passing that Dr. Geo. Still, M.D.D.O., one of the greatest surgeons in America, is the present head of this school.

Osteopathy is the original system of healing by spinal adjustment, and is legalized in every State in the United States as a complete system of healing on a par with the various medical systems.

The course of study is four years of nine months each, given in four separate years. The preparatory educational requirements are a four-years' course in an accredited high school or academy.

This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

Dorothy Gish in "The Ghost in the Garret" now running at the Capitol Theatre, has a picture that suits her style excellently. It is a harum-scarum, light and airy, fast-moving production, in which the volatile little star wends her cheerful way through a host of laughable situations. A gang of thieves, a necklace valued at $80,000, a star bull dog answering to the name of Violet, and a loud-talking parrot, meet in the haunted house, and Dorothy, as Delsie O'Dell, undertakes to match her wits against the crooks. How she succeeds, with the aid of her dog, and a quick wit make some very interesting reels in an altogether likeable picture.

There is another thrilling episode in "The Yellow Arm" this week, and the Hallroom Boys do some original cut-up work in their comedy, "We should Worry," in which they "discover" oil in a number of peculiar ways, and thereby earn the wrath of a righteous tightwad.

"Under the Apple Tree" is the vaudeville offering of Tower and Martin, a bright and snappy number, and the Musical Munroes have a novelty act, clever, tuneful and attractive, with 'cello, saxaphone, piano and banjo numbers.

WALLACE REID RUNS AMUCK! BIFF, BANG! $30,000 GONE!

Star a Vandal in Cecil B. De Mille's Big Picture, "The Affairs of Anatol."

Securing $30,000 worth of furniture for a single interior setting and then smashing the outfit before the camera produces photoplay realism, but at a well-nigh prohibitive cost. Yet that is what Cecil B. DeMille did in his Paramount production, "The Affairs of Anatol," which will be shown at the Capital Theatre this Thursday.

The setting in question serves as a background for a part of the story portrayed by Wallace Reid, Gloria Swanson, Elliott Dexter, Bebe Daniels, Wanda Hadley, Theodore Roberts, and other all-star players. It is an ultra-luxurious apartment, and Howard Higgin, production manager for Cecil B. DeMille productions, was instructed to spare no expense.

The result was an attractive suite—designed by Paul Iribe—furnished with approximately $30,000 worth of furniture. This included a valuable set of Louis XVI. chairs, a magnificent carved photograph case of unique design, a grand piano, lamps, mirrors, tables, a desk, lounge, pictures, and bric-a-brac.

At the climax of this episode, Wallace Reid was instructed to run amuck, smashing everything breakable in the set. The orders were comprehensive and Reid obeyed them to the letter. Not one stick of furniture remained in its original shape when the vandalism was complete! Using the small pieces of furniture as bludgeons, Reid shattered everything in sight while the camera clicked just out of range of his blows. Mirrors, lamps, chairs, phonograph, and piano were demolished one by one. As a conclusion to the scene, the husky star seized the huge overstuffed divan and hurled it bodily through the French doors at one end of the set.

A balance of a wonderful programme and two big vaudeville acts, and at just the usual Capitol prices. Capacity turn-away crowds at every performance should repay the Capitol management for their enterprise.

Fan-Fan.

AT THE GRAND.

"THE FORTUNE HUNTER."

Few offerings that the Rex Stock Company have presented in Peterborough have been as well staged or as effectively acted as "The Fortune Hunter," which is the bill for the first three days of this week at the Grand. A big audience enjoyed every minute of the performance last evening and the comedy was voted one of the most successful that Rex and his associates have yet given us. Winchell Smith's amusing story of the young New Yorker who goes to a "one-horse town" with the set purpose of marrying the daughter of the wealthy man of the community, is well-know to threatregoers, and has been presented here several times by 'road" companies.

The performance of the Rex Company did not suffer in comparison with the work of the other organisations seen at the Grand in the same play. The title role is "money in the bank and the butcher and the baker and the landlord are squared" for Rex, being a part that fits the star of Peterborough's favourite stock company like a glove, and he is at his best as Nat Duncan, his performance being among the finest he has given here. The supporting company is worthy of the work of Mr. Snelgrove. Especially convincing is Dr. A. J. Cole as Sam Graham, while Zana Vaughn scores as Betty, and Hazel Williams does excellent work as Josie. The party of the bibulous sheriff gives Wm. Yule a chance to show his ability as a character man, and Wm. Mitchell doubles in the parts of "Blinky" and "Tracy" in effective fashion.

"The Fortune Hunter" is a sure fire hit, and capacity houses should be on hand to-night and to-morrow night.

Next week the Rex Company will offer Edgar Selwyn's "Nearly Wed," another sparkling comedy that should show the company at its best.

AT THE REGENT.

There was a crowded house at the Regent Theatre last night, which was the opening night under the management of Mr. M. Pappas. Every seat was filled and the heavy bill for the night was well run off from start to finish.

For to-night and to-morrow Mr. Pappas has secured a special feature to last night's programme, entitled, "Tom Mix in a Ridin' Romeo," a stirring western drama as presented by Wm. Fox, embracing five exciting reels.

AT THE ALLEN.

If you like a sweet love story, if you care for a dramatic portrayal of strong human emotion, if your taste runs to the sort of production that makes you hold on to your seat and catch your breath as the story flashes by on the silver screen, if you like to be thrilled, and moved ,and exhilarated, well then, you had better go to the Allen and see "Thunderclap." With a hero whose warm heart has never failed through his early life in an orphan asylum, with a heroine fresh and sweet, possessing wonderful powers of depicting stark emotion, with a beloved white-starred horse, a grey-haired, handsome, soft-smiling villain, and the paralyzed mother who dominates the whole picture with her sidelong, twisted face, dumb lips and impotent hands; you have a picture which, for interest and wonderful acting, has seldom been surpassed ,at least in Peterborough.

It is a production which illustrates the final and inevitable triumph of loving weakness over hard, prolonger cruelty; of right over might, and of innocence over vice. It has a luxurious gambling-hall, below darkened rooms where the paralytic sits in her awful impassivity; a colorful Chinese suite, with its inscrutable, slant-eyed master, who craves for and finally kidnaps the girl; a wonderful, breath-taking fight with death in the boiling rapids and the whirlpools of Niagara; and finally, the race, showing the immense grandstand crowded with eager thousands; the spacious track, the straining, out-thrust, glistening heads of the two black steeds, their laboring feet, as first one and then the other forges ahead, and, over in the corner, the broken-down trainer "who never picked a winner," watching his hundred-to-one shot win the Handicap against tremenedous odds, while Gunga, Din, his ragged, ebony helper, belabors the back of the rotund Tommy who bet his "buck" against Thunderclap.

And, after the race, comes the reckoning. The stepfather has to be faced. Here is a wonderful scene which culminates in a shot that restores to life and speech the paralyzed woman, and ends with a stern-faced dispenser of justice and a smoking pistol, and the re-union of the three, the boy, the girl, and the white-haired mother.

The balance of the programme is made up of some interesting Dutch scenes, the Bray pictograph, animated cartoon, and an entertaining comedy, "Man Vs. Woman," depicting the adventures of a lover who adopts the stone-age programme of a club and rough-hand methods when wooing his obdurate lady love.

—JEANNETTE.

DOROTHY NO CLINGING VINE; THERE'S NOTHING SHE FEARS.

Dorothy Devore, the Christie screen beauty, who appears with Neal Burns in "Man vs. Woman," a two-reel comedy at the Allen Theatre to-day and to-morrow, is going to prove a disappointment to a lot of her admirers. No, Dorothy is not married or anything like that, neither is she a man-hater.

But Dorothy likes unusual thrills As a starter, she came from Texas That was only twenty years ago and Texas was not the country of notches in guns and desperate deeds as recorded in the story books, at that time. But at a very early stage she developed a perfect fearlessness of mice and an eager passion to ride the wildest steeds around the ranches to the north of Fort Worth.

That was training enough to enable her to resist the dangers of the stage-door Johnnies and so when she grew up she went into musical comedy, but that wasn't for long because the attention of Lyons and Moran was attracted to her grace and expressiveness and she was invited to appear in their pictures where she remained before she joined Christie. There she has been for two years, winning new friends with every comedy.

I.O.D.E. TO PRODUCE AMATEUR PLAY HERE.

The Peter Robinson Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire have secured the services of Mr. Theodore H. Bird, of New York, to direct and produce the three-act musical comedy, "The Girl in Red," to be presented at the Grand Opera House, two nights and a matinee, on Friday and Saturday, November 11th and 12th. There will be over two hundred Peterborough people in the cast.

APPROVES PENNY BANK IN CITY

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION HELD MEETING LAST NIGHT

An open meeting of the Home and School Council was held last evening at the Public Library, with a very good attendance. Mrs. S. T. Medd occupied the chair.

Matters of interest to the Council were discussed. Mrs. Medd outlined plans for the winter and asked for suggestions. Discussion on the question of penny banks being adopted in the Peterborough schools finally culminated in a resolution of approval of the idea. The Board of Education will be asked to consider the advisability of adopting the system, provided it can be arranged without entailing too much extra work.

The Council has interested itself in the dispensing of milk in the schools of the city, and after some discussion of the subject, finally decided to ask Mr. Stonehouse of Toronto, to come to Peterborough to explain the campaign.

Arrangements were also made and a committee of ladies appointed, to invite local speakers to address the meetings of the Council during the winter. Dr. Marty, of Toronto, one of the foremost feminine educationists in the province, has already promised to speak during the coming season.

WIFE OF FARMER ALMOST STARVED

MRS. PETERSON SUFFERED AWFUL PAINS AFTER EVERY MEAL—IS NOW WELL AS EVER.

Declaring she was actually starving to keep from suffering awful misery, Mrs. Amy Peterson, wife of a prosperous farmer of Lakeville, Mass., gave out a remarkable statement, recently, in connection with her relief through the use of Tanlac.

"Sometimes I wonder how I lived through it all," she said. "I would have attacks of acute indigestion nearly every time I ate anything. Those terrible cramping pains and the distress from gas and bloating were almost unbearable, and I just thought there was no hope for me.

"But now I'm eating anything, and I feel as strong and well as I ever felt in my life. I've gained back all the weight I lost, and six pounds besides, and I know from my experience what Tanlac will do. It's the best medicine in the world."

EAT HEARTILY WITHOUT DREAD

Eat Anything You Like and Don't Worry—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Relieve Sour Stomach, Belching Gas and Acid Conditions Due to Indigestion.

Simply Chew a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Meals—They Taste Good.

No matter what you eat or drink, even though it be just a glass of sweet milk, the stomach may rebel and sour almost immediately. In such cases one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets furish the alkaline effect to offset the acid condition. Quite often the stomach may be overcrowded with partially digested food.

A cold bottle of beverage at such times may add to the difficulty and there is gassiness, a bilious taste, and other distresses due to indigestion. Travelers may save themselves much of the discomfort of wayside eating by having a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with them as they can be had in almost any drug store throughout the U. S. and Canada.

BABE RUTH DEFIES THE BASEBALL CZAR

RUTH KNOCKED OUT TWO HOME RUNS IN BUSH LEAGUE

ELMIRA, N.Y., Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Babe Ruth, Yankee batting star of the New York American League baseball team, together with Bob. Meusel, outfielder, and Pitcher Piercey, played their scheduled game with a local club yesterday afternoon, the visitors winning 6 to 0. In an interview granted to local sport writers, Ruth repeated his defiance of Commissioner Landis' ruling that the "barnstorming" expedition was contrary to the contract of the players with the National Baseball Commission.

During the game Ruth and Meusel knocked two home runs each. Siting on the bench, and viewing the 1,500 fans in attendance, Ruth declared he desired no controversy with Commissioner Landis; that his contract with the Yankees had expired; that he did not propose to talk of a new contract until some time in the winter, and that he and his team mates were merely using their talents to increase their incomes.

Regret Expressed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press.)— Regret that some Yankee players had violated the rule prohibiting world's series contestants from appearing in post-season exhibition games, was expressed in a statement issued last night by Colonel Jacob Ruppert and Colonel Huston, of the New York Americans.

Asserting that the rule had been violated so defiantly that Baseball Commissioner Landis had no alternative but to meet the situation firmly, the statement continued:

"This rule appears to be unjust in many respects, but as long as it exists it should be obeyed. The players made the mistake in not petitioning for a modification of the rule."

JACK DEMPSEY DENIES STEALING AL'S WIFE.

Siegal, Bee's Husband, Talks of $100,000 Suit.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, denied emphatically here yesterday that he is responsible for the domestic difficulties of Al Siegal. Siegal, who is the husband of Bee Palmer, vaudeville star, charges the champion with stealing his wife and declares he has begun suit for $100,000 against Dempsey.

"I know Miss Palmer," Dempsey said, "but I have never been out with her. All this talk about taking her out to dine in secluded restaurants is bunk."

Siegal declared Demspey had been served on Saturday with a summons in the suit in New York just before he boarded a train for Chicago. According to Edward J. Ader, attorney for Miss Palmer, she plans to file suit for divorce from Siegal, charging cruelty. Siegal alleges he and his wife could live happily together if it were not for Demspey.

"Say, when I marry a girl, I won't marry an actress," Demspey asserted vehemently. "I'll go out and get myself an honest-to-goodness girl with bloom in her cheeks. I'm not saying Miss Palmer is not a perfect dear, but she's not my type."

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, October 18, Canadian Press. — The professional element in the stock market seemed to take a more hopeful view of the railroad labor situation to-day.

This was indicated by the light sellings and the narrow price changes at the opening of the session.

Some of the rails were lower, notably Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, 7 per cent. preferred, and Delaware and Hudson. Among equipments General Electric reacted moderately. American Sugar was only weak specialty, falling 1 1-2 points to 50 3-8 its lowest quotation in a number of years.

RAILS RALLIED.

Rails rallied briskly before noon on the announcement that representatives or railroad brotherhoods were to meet with the Railorad Labor Boards. Lehigh Valley rose 2 points, Canadian Pacific 1 3-4 and Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Reading, Missouri Pacific and St. Louis and San Francisco were one to 1 1-2 points higher. Equipments and motors were moderately better but food specialties showed further declines. American Sugar Common and preferred were features of the greatest weakness. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

CALL MONEY RATES

Further strengthening of prices accompanied the decline of call money rates to four per cent. at midday. Oils showed the most activity. Only exceptions to better tendency were Amer. Sugar, common and preferred in which losses were extended to 3 5-8 and 5 points respectively.

MIGHT STOP THREATENED RAIL STRIKE

PRESIDENT HARDING HAS A BAG FULL OF TRICKS IN EVENT OF A STRIKE—FEEL PUBLIC PULSE

DEPEND LABOR BOARD

(By LAWRENCE MARTIN).

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(United Press).—President Harding has been assured that if a showdown comes in the threatened railway strike has has weapons powerful enough to prevent any nation-wide paralysis of transportation systems.

Officials here now believe the showdown is coming, but Harding is determined that neither side shall successfully defy the Government nor endanger the public interests.

Harding has had his advisers canvassing the possible means of meeting any situation that might threaten. A high official to-day outlined to the United Press the weapons in the Government's arsenal. He made it clear that neither Harding nor any other responsible official has yet determined on the use of any of the weapons, except the first, which is the power of public opinion. The first step is to give both railways and the brotherhoods an opinion to change their attitude. That is the purpose of calling the brotherhoods before the Labor Board in Chicago Thursday. The railroad executives will also be given an opportunity, it was stated to-day, to state whether they will remain obdurate against a rate reduction.

They may also be summoned before the Board. If both sides hold to their present positions, the Labor Board will make public this fact, with the express purpose of swinging public opinion into line behind the administration and against both the roads and the men. After that the showdown between the Government and the railway forces, both capital and labor, will be inevitable, officials said.

TO-MORROW'S CONFERENCE.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—While the Big Five leaders have maintained almost unbroken silence in regard to purposes of the conference with the Labor Board and its possible results, it is known that they are hopeful that some basis of settlement which can be accepted by themselves and railway executives will be evolved and the strike averted. They appear willing to pursue any course that will lead to a satisfactory settlement.

TEST FOR THE BOARD.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. — (Canadian Press). — Before President Harding left to-day for Yorktown, Va., it was announced the Labor Board will be given full support of Federal authority in its endeavor to avert a railway strike, and will be expected through the result to justify its creation.

NOTED ITALIAN LEADER WAS GIVEN AN ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. — (United Press). — General Armando Diaz, the first of the great allied commanders to visit American since the war, arrived here to-day.

A crowd, estimated by the police at 10,000, packed Battery Park and adjacent streets to cheer the Italian General as he landed at Pier "A," the historic spot for distinguished visitors to come ashore. Hundreds of police formed cordons to hold the crowd in check. The lower tip of Manhattan Island was a sea of heads and waving American and Italian flags.

Diaz, aboard the steamer Guiseppe Verdi, was greeted down the bay by a fleet of 12 United States destroyers and a flotilla of seaplanes, which circled over the liner.

SUMMER COTTAGE WAS BROKEN INTO

LOCK ON FRONT DOOR OF CHEMONG COTTAGE WAS FORCED OFF

Some time between Friday and yesterday the summer cottage at Chemong Park, owned by Mrs. Alice Halpine, of New York City, was broken into, but inspection by the caretaker failed to show the disappearance of any of the contents. The lock on the front door had been forced off, and entrance easily gained. A mattress, which it is believed the housebreakers were removing when alarmed, was found lying near the door. Entrance had been gained to a clothes closet upstairs in the same way as to the cottage, but so far as the caretaker could tell, none of the goods in the closet had been taken. A full list of all the contents will be secured from Mrs. Halpine, and it will be determined if anything is missing. The cottage has been closely barred up now.

LADY BECK LOVED "HONESTY, TRUTH"

SIR ADAM BECK'S TRIBUTE TO IDEALS OF HIS DEAD WIFE

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Oct. 19. — While Big Ben in the City Hall tower tolled out at intervals of three minutes, speaking in his solemn tones the sorrow and sympathy of half a million people, the remains of the late Lady Beck were carried to their last resting place in her home city in Hamilton to-day.

The service was held in Christ Church Cathedral, Hamilton, on the arrival of the funeral cortege, which travelled from Toronto by motor car at 9 o'clock this morning. There gathered in the funeral chapel on College Street a little company of mourners, who stood in silent sympathy when Sir Adam Beck and Miss Marion, his only daughter, entered. There was no formal service at the undertaker's chapel. Several of his close friends shook Sir Adam by the hand, and words seemed to choke in their throats as they tried to comfort him in his sorrow. Tears coursing down his cheeks, and his utterances almost broken by grief, Sir Adam himself paid one of the finest possible tributes to the worth and the high ideals of his dead wife.

"She loved two words—loved them and what they stood for—honesty and truth," he said, as he shook hands with one of his friends.

In conformance with the wishes of the family, the funeral of Lady Beck from Christ Church Cathedral, where she was baptized and married, was one of the simplest possible. Despite the fact that the funeral was private a great throng filled church and lined the adjacent streets as the cortege arrived at the Cathedral from Toronto by motor. Very Rev. Dean Tucker, Lady Beck's own clergyman, and Very Rev. Dean Owen, the Rector of the Cathedral, were the officiating clergymen. Both paid high tributes to her unselfish character. Interment was in Hamilton Cemetery.

KING LUDWIG DEAD.

BERLIN, Oct. 18. — (Canadian Press). — Former King Ludwig of Bavaria is dead, it was announced here to-day.

National Sanitarium Campaign Bulletin No. 2

Peterborough, Oct. 19th, 1921

It is only a few years ago that tuberculosis was looked upon as an incurable disease. Those who were unfortunate to contract it were not given the heartiest of welcomes, and many of us can remember the dread with which the "white plague" was looked upon, and the slow, lingering, wasting death that eventually was the fate of the sufferer.

Now this is all changed. Tuberculosis is not looked upon as incurable, and this condition has been brought about, to a great extent, by the very valuable work done at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, the interest of the late Sir William Gage in the movement, and the conscientious work done by doctors in different localities who have specialised in this disease.

Last winter the Muskoka Hospital was destroyed by fire, and a short while after the death took place of Sir William Gage, with the result that the whole organisation seemed doomed. However, other hands have taken up the work, and will carry on the war against the dread disease, so that the good results already obtained will be continued and augmented.

Peterborough citizens are asked to contribute the sum of $10,000.00 through a campaign that will be undertaken in Peterborough next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday—to go towards re-building the Muskoka Sanitarium, with contributions from other towns and cities; and of all the objects for which we have worked, canvassed, and subscribed our money, this appear to be one of the most worthy.

Health brings hapiness. Help those who are not as healthy as you, to get both health and happiness.

WITNESSES CLAIM THAT CASTING WAS DEFECTIVE AND HAD BEEN DOCTORED

HARVIE INQUEST CONCLUDED LAST EVENING—VERDICT OF ACCIDENTAL DEATH—CASTING WAS MADE IN PITTSBURG —EYEWITNESSES OF ACCIDENT GIVE EVIDENCE.

CASTING WAS CRACKED IN THREE PLACES

Henry Harvie.

The inquest in connection with the death of Henry Harvie, who was fatally injured at the Canadian General Electric Company's plant on Friday last, when a generator wrecked itself during the course of a test, was concluded last evening in the Council Chamber, with Coroner Dr. T. N. Greer presiding. Mr. G. W. Hatton appeared for the Crown. Mr. Peter White, K.C., of Toronto, Mr. J. C. MacFarlane, of Toronto, general solicitor of the company, and Mr. R. R. Hall, K.C., appeared in the interests of the C.G.E. Company.

The evidence was taken in in a little over an hour, and the Jury after being out for half an hour, returned the following verdict:

"We, the Coroner's Jury, empanelled to inquire into the death of Henry Harvie, find that the said Henry Harvie came to his death on Friday, 14th October, 1921, by being struck on the head by a piece of steel casting broken from a generator, which burst while being tested in the works of the Canadian General Electric Company, Peterborough; and from the evidence we find that the casting was defective; but from the evidence produced we fail to find that the accident was caused by wilful negligence on the part of any person or persons."

Casting Made in Pittsburg.

Mr. E. G. Patterson, superintendent of the Canadian General Electric, was first called. He said he did not see Mr. Harvie hit, but saw him about five minutes after, when he was unconscious. He was not an eye-witness of the accident, he said.

The C.G.E. was building four generators for the Nova Scotia Power Commission, he said, and three had been previously shipped, the one that was wrecked being the fourth.

The 'field spider' casting, the part that was wrecked, was made by the Sterling Steel Products Co., of Pittsburg and favorably passed the test of the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratories, employed to do this by the C. G.E. Co. The report of the laboratories was read. The castings arrived about Aug. 1, 1920, and were inspected at their plant, with no unfavorable result.

The casting was machined to the specifications of the diagram, Mr. Patterson said. The machine had been built under the supervision of the purchaser's engineers and inspected all day Thursday, Thursday night and Friday, till the accident, by the purchaser's engineers. When the accident occurred the speed of the generator was 660 revolutions per minute. To comply with the test it had to go 1,028 revolutions per minute. Mr. Patterson said they had trouble in getting the generator to run true, but eventually it did to the normal speed.

"The casting broke in three pieces. Those breaks showed a defective casting, to my mind absolutely defective in the foundry and they had been patched up in some way at the foundry. "That was the cause of the accident," said Mr. Patterson.

Photographs of Accident.

Fred M. Roy testified that photographs of the generator and of the machine room taken about 1 p.m. Friday the 14th, after the accident, were authentic and not retouched in any way. These photographs were used for the guidance of the jury. Without the aid of the wonderful eye of the camera it would be impossible to make such an exact and minute reproduction.

Was Fatally Injured.

Dr. J. B. Mann said he attended Henry Harvie at the C.G.E. plant. When he got there Dr. Eastwood, whose physical condition prevented him from giving evidence, was there, and Dr. G. S. Cameron and Dr. Greer came later. There was a penetrating wound in the skull and a hernia of the brain tissue, he said, In the condition he saw him in, the doctor said recovery was impossible.

Leopold Tompkins was called next. He said he was in charge of the motor running the generator. He was one yard north-west of the generator that burst. The last he saw of Harvie he said, he was standing in the door of the test office, perhaps 25 feet from the generator. He saw Harvie within a minute after he was struck, but he did not see him struck Tompkins escaped with a bruised leg.

Machine Shook Badly.

Alfred Fielder, who was in charge of the test at the time said he sent for Mr. Robert Dobie shortly before the accident happened, for the machine was shaking badly. Mr. Dobie advised him to have it fixed.

Robert Dobie, mechanical superintendent of the plant testified to feeling the vibration of the machine and advising Mr. Fielder to shut it down just a few minutes before the accident. "I thought we'd look into it later on," said Mr. Dobie. Mr. Dobie said he had absolutely no doubt of the casting being defective. The casting showed signs of being "doctored up," witness said. They found no evidence of it, however, before the accident. It seemed to be very well done, he said.

Expert Evidence.

New Home for Cheese Board

LIGHT OFFERING ON THE BOARD THIS MORNING—PRICES DOWN

Cheese production in Peterborough district is falling off, due to a decline in the milk supply during this month. On the Peterborough Cheese Board this morning only 545 boxes were sold, as compared with 632 two weeks ago. The price is gradually dropping, and while the buyers got 16 1-8 at the last sale, they only received 15 9-16 cents a pound today. There will be only one more sale—three weeks from today—so that some of the November make, which will be light, can be boarded.

The Peterborough Cheese Board have had to vacate their old quarters over the Bank of Montreal, for it is the intention of the bank to occupy these chambers shortly. The old scarred blackboard, which has assisted in the sale of some millions of pounds of cheese during the last 15 years, now reposes at the plant of the Peterborough Milk Products Co, awaiting another functioning place.

This morning the board found themselves homeless, but Good Samaritans were not lacking. They met in the Chamber of Commerce at the invitation of the Secretary. Mr. John Crane, manager of the Dominion Bank, kindly offered them the use of their board room, but the previous plans were for the Chamber of Commerce.

The cheese boarded was as follows:

	Boxes.
Warminster	60
Selwyn	82
Villiers	60
Warminster	150
Youngs' Point	85
North Dummer	50
Killarney	58
Total	545

G. A. Gillespie and James Cook, of Belleville, split the Board. Mr. Gillespie opened the bidding at 15 cents, and Mr. Cook and he forced the price up to 15 9-16 cents. Mr. Cook took Warminster, Selwyn, and Warsaw, 292 boxes, and Mr. Gillespie took Villiers, Young's Point, North Dummer, and Killarney, 253 boxes.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE HELD A MEETING--- ANNIVERSARY SERVICES---PERSONAL MENTION.

OMEMEE, Oct. 19.—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of rMs. L. A. Mahood. The meeting opened by all joining in singing a number of old familiar songs, followed by the Lord's Prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary and adopted. Several items of business were transacted. The resignation of the president, Mrs. C. L. Morcombe, was accepted, and Mrs. Isaac Fee was appointed for the ensuing year, with a programme committee to assist each month.

A motion was made to have the secretary write Mr. A. A. Knight, of the Department of Agriculture, Lindsay, to have Omemee School enter the School Fair next year and to have the parades and drills on the prize-list.

Mrs. Cornwall was appointed as delegate to the annual convention in Toronto in November.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Anniversary Services.

Anniversary services were observed in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday last, when the Rev. Mr. MacIntosh, of St. Andrew's Church, Lindsay, occupied the pulpit. The weather was ideal, and a large and appreciative congregation greeted the pastor at each service, and the choir rendered special music. Mr. Ford Moynes, of Lindsay, rendered a solo at the evening service, which was much appreciated. At the morning hour of worship the pastor took his text from Lamentations i., 12: "Is it nothing to you, all ye that pass by?" etc., while in the evening he based his subject on "The Fading Leaf."

Congregational Tea.

On Monday evening a congregational tea was held in the basement of the church, and although the weather was unfavorable in the afternoon, yet a fair representation of the congregation were present, and did justice to the good things provided, and afterward all took part in a social evening and games. The supper commenced about 6.30 and was cafeteria style, and every one thoroughly enjoyed the idea, and look forward to another such occasion in the near future.

At Mount Pleasant.

Anniversary services will be held at Mount Pleasant, which is a sister congregation, on Sunday, October 30, when Rev. Major Birch, of Toronto, will be the speaker for the day.

Mr. MacInnis has opened up a dressmaking department in his store, with Miss Mabel Perritt in charge.

E. GUS PORTER UNANIMOUS CHOICE OF WEST HASTINGS CONSERVATIVES

NOMINATED AT CONVENTION HELD AT STIRLING ON TUESDAY—BIG REPRESENTATION FROM ALL PARTS OF THE RIDING---SPIRIT OF CONFIDENCE PERVADED THE MEETING.

STIRLING, October 18.—An unanimous nomination was given E. Gus Porter, K.C., ex-M.P. of Belleville, by the Conservatives of West Hastings at their convention here this afternoon. The political amenities of the occasion were observed by the proposal of seven other prominent men from various sections of the riding, but they retired in the order in which they were named, leaving Mr. Porter in full possession of the party's field, and once more the standard bearer in a federal election.

The opera house was packed to the doors when Walter Wiggins, presiding, called the convention to order. The list of those proposed for nomination were Robert Cook, M.P.P. for North Hastings; W. H. Ireland, Trenton, M.P.P. West Hastings; R. J. Graham, Belleville; Dr. Embury, Bancroft; H. F. Ketcheson, Belleville; Robert Robinson, Bancroft; E. Gus Porter, K.C., Belleville.

Confidence in the success of the Conservative party at the polls was expressed in the speeches of the nominees as they successively declared their withdrawal. With Mr. Porter again leading the party in his old constituency, it was stated that there was no doubt of the result.

Officers Elected.

The local Conservative Association elected the following officers at this afternoon's convention:

Presidents—John Sargent, Sydney.

Vice-Presidents — Chas. Rollins, Coe Hill and Mrs. G. Reid, Belleville.

Treasurer — C. W. Thompson, Stirling.

Secretary—Charles Payne, Belleville.

Resolutions of fealty to the Hon. Arthur Meighen and of support of his policies were passed.

FRUSTRATED THE STREET BANDITS

WAS BADLY BEATEN UP AS A RESULT---CLUNG TO MONEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.— (Canadian Press.)—Michael Larkin, formerly a well-known Halifax man, is in the hospital suffering from serious wounds received when he frustrated the attempt of a group of hold-up men who attempted to rob him yesterday afternoon. His condition is said to be serious.

Larkin was employed by a chain bakery concern and was on his way to the Washington Heights Savings Bank when the fioldup occurred. He was carrying $1,683 in bills and was opposite the bank at 155th street and Amsterdam avenue, when a touring car drew up to the curb. Two of the three men occupants got out and one of them attempted to seize the packet of money. Larkin resisted and was shot in the back by the second man. Though painfully wounded he held off the man until a patrolman arrived. The man who had attempted to seize the parcel jumped into the car and escaped. His companion, who is supposed to have fired the shot, was captured after a chase by Patrolman Walsh. He gave his name as Charles Callahan.

Passersby came to the aid of Larkin, who still clung to the package of money, and he was taken to the Columbus Hospital.

Larkin formerly lived in Halifax, and was well known in amateur dramatic circles.

WEIGHT-REDUCING SCHEME STARTED

ONE HUNDRED FAT MEN AND WOMEN JOIN NEW YORK WEIGHT REDUCING SQUAD.

NEW YORK, October 19. — Canadian Press. — The City of New York tackled a weighty problem yesterday. It mobilized fifty fat men and fifty fat women in a reducing squad which hopes to lose 5000 pounds or more by the middle of November, when Health Commissoiner Copeland will present the hundred heavyweights at the Health Exposition, as an example of what stout persons can do in the way of becoming more becoming.

Everybody was told to start right in at breakfast this morning. Then the plump women are to get into bloomers and middy blouses for first daily workout in the gymnasium at the Madison Square Garden. Bathing suits are barred.

Dr. Copeland counted excess chins to-day while his assistants ran tape measures around the adipose ankles. One man only five foot six, punished the scales with nearly 300 pounds, and a woman, four inches shorter, sighed when the balance quivered at the 274 pound mark. Tons and tons of flesh were photographed by the movie men and then the 50 overburdened male members of the squad went through calisthenics and the women quaked with laughter.

HAMILTON MAN IS OUT WITH FACTS

DAVIS WAS OFTEN FORCED TO LAY OFF JOB — TELLS HOW TANLAC RESTORED HIS HEALTH

"This Tanlac is doing me so much good that I should like to tell everybody about the wonderful way it has helped me," said Charles H. Davis, popular machinist of 12 Crosthwaite avenue, Hamilton, Ont.

"About a year ago my kidneys began giving me so much trouble that I often had to lay off from work for two or three days at a time. I had severe, nagging sort of pains across the small of my back. I had frequent spells of weakness when I hardly knew how to keep on the job. I lost all desire for food and often went for a whole day without anything to eat because my digestion was so upset that after a meal I would have severe pains in the pit of my stomach. I just felt tired all the while and was getting weaker every day.

"I hadn't finished my first bottle of Tanlac before I was satisfied that it was just the medicine for me. It gave me a fine appetite, and I have no more trouble with pain or indigestion. I no longer have those spells of dizziness and have been getting stronger every day. I'm right on the job every day now, and I just feel good all the time."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by the Warne Drug Co., Limited, and by leading druggists everywhere.

CABLE AND TELEGRAPH

LONDON, Oct. 19. — (United Press.)—The Prince of Wales, with his brother, Prince Henry, was in a motor crash Saturday, and had a narrow escape, it was announced today. The information was withheld in accordance with Royal custom. The Princes were motoring near Cambridge when their car collided with a motor cycle. One wheel of their car was smashed and the cyclist was injured and the Prince of Wales and Prince Henry was shaken up.

The Prince of Wales, heir apparent to the British throne, is to leave shortly on a visit to India.

MOTOR CAR TRANSPORT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—(By Paul R. Mallon, United Press.)—The nation's fleet of ten million motor cars is being prepared for mobilization to transport food in the event of a general railroad strike. A list of all trucks and passenger cars in the country are being prepared for national state and civic authorities so that they may be taken over in case of emergency.

MAY DECLARE PEACE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.— (By Fraser Edwards, United Press.) — President Harding may proclaim that the United States is officially at peace with the Central Powers on Armistice Day, November 11.

Formal peace between this country and her former enemies was virtually an accomplished fact to-day, however, by the Senate's ratification last night of the parting peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary. The vote was 66 to 20.

BOND CLUB INSOLVENT.

LONDON, October 19 (Canadian Press). — Application was made in the Chancery Court yesterday by a subscriber to Horatio Bottomley's Victory Band Club for the appointment of P. Marratt and Sir Harry Peat, chartered accountant, as joint receivers for liquidating the funds of the club and allied schemes.

Counsel for the applicants said if the payments in full continued, some subscriber might receive nothing. He declared that the club was legally insolvent.

The Judge said payments in full must be stopped, and the subscribers paid pro rata. He added that security for the funds appeared very shadowy, and that no one apparently controlled anything except the original controller.

PARLIAMENT OPENS.

VICTORIA, B.C., October 19 (Caandian Press). — Lieut.-Governor W. C. Nichol yesterday afternoon opened the second session of the Fifteenth Parliament of the Province of British Columbia. The speech from the Throne referred to the question of tax relief for municipalities, proposed amendments to the Taxation Act, and the progress of construction of the Pacific-Great Eastern Railway, arrangements having been made since the last session of the Legislature to finance the building of the road between Prince George and Quesnel.

QUESTION OF ETIQUETTE CAME UP IN BRITISH HOUSE COMMONS

THE IRISH QUESTION

LONDON, October 19 (Canadian Press). — An incident with a bearing on both the Irish question and Parliamentary etiquette occurred in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, while Sir John Butcher, Unionist Member for York, was speaking. Sir John, in alluding to Irish affairs, referred to the Irish leader as "De Valera," instead of using the customary designation to which Mr. De Valera was held to be entitled as an elected member of Parliament: "The Honourable Member from East Clare and East Mayo."

The Speaker immediately called Sir John to order, saying he must refer to Mr. De Valera as the member for his particular constituency.

Several points of order were raised as to whether an individual who had not taken the oath of allegiance was a member of the House, but the Speaker adhered to his ruling.

Four Bills which Austen Chamberlain, the Government leader in the House of Commons, announces will be introduced by the Government, will be concerned, first, with the export credits and means for dealing with collapsed exchanges; second, with the equalisation of rates and the problems arising out of the recent incidents surrounding the imprisonment of the Councillors of the Borough of Poplar; third, with a new levy of twopence on employers and workmen to provide additional funds for unemployment insurance.

Hucknell, New York, who finished second to Miss Leitch in the qualifying round, defeated Miss Kate Bomann, Plainfield, N.J., seven and six.

EFFORTS TO OFFSET THE RAIL STRIKE

REPRESENTATIVES OF PUBLIC AND LABOUR UNIONS TAKE ACTION SIMULTANEOUSLY.

SUBMIT PROPOSAL

CHICAGO, October 19 (Canadian Press). — Efforts to avert the general rail strike scheduled for 30th October, last night found Governmental agencies, representatives of the public, and some railway labour unions taking action simultaneously which all hoped would prevent a tie-up of the country's transportation system through a walk-out of nearly two million employees, in protest of wage cuts.

Foremost among the moves being made by the different groups was a meeting between the United States Railroad Labour Board and the heads of the five unions, which have already authorised their men to strike, called for Thursday by the Board, and at the request of President Harding, it was said by Board members.

The first move on the part of a public organisation to avert a strike came when the American Farm Bureau Federation, representing 1,250,000 farmers, sent petitions to the Interstate Commerce Commission, asking an immediate 10 to 20 per cent. reduction in freight rates on necessities, and announced that it also would appeal to the Labour Board not to grant a new 10 per cent. wage reduction, which the roads have announced they will seek, but rather to generally revise wages in accordance with the cost of living in various sections. Concurrence in these requests should avert the strike, the Federation said in its anouncement, through which it volunteered to meet with labour union and railway representatives as a mediator.

AN IMAGINARY DANGER.

In his address at the Great War Veterans' convention President Maxwell urged the members of the association to oppose any political party which proposed as part of its programme of retrenchment the curtailing of any of the measures adopted for the assistance of the men who have fought in the Great War. Surely Mr. Maxwell is conjuring up an imaginary danger. No political party at present in existence nor any that might possibly be formed in the future would be foolish enough to go before the people of Canada with a policy that called for a reduction of the country's aid to the veterans. To adopt such a policy would be to commit political suicide, for Canadians are a unit in insisting that so far as the financial resources of the Dominion will permit everything that is possible to assist the ex-service men, their families and the dependents of their comrades who gave up their lives overseas must be done. There is not the slightest danger of any party flying in the face of ublic opinion such as would be necessary if the retrenchment referred to by President Maxwell were to be proposed. The veterans need have no misgivings on that score.

TWO PRETTY PROBLEMS.

Without presuming to advise the Owners' and Tenants' Association as to how its business shall be conducted or as to what part it proposes to take in municipal affairs, it may be pointed out that the organization can do a great deal for Peterborough if it will endeavour not only to secure the presence in the field of a strong list of qualified candidates, but to arouse popular interest in the civic elections. There is every need of propaganda that will arouse the electors from the apathy that seems to engulf them when the time to choose the city's various boards comes around, and perhaps the new organization can supply the interest that has been lacking. This year more than ever will a stimulus be required, for the Federal elections will occupy general attention until after December 6th, and by that time the people will be inclined to grow tired of campaigning and to find a municipal contest tame after the excitement of a Dominion-wide struggle. Next year's City Council and Board of Education will both have big problems to deal with and the best ability we have in the city should be enlisted if it can be secured. How that can be done and how the people generally can be aroused to the importance of carefully choosing their Councillors will form two pretty little problems well worthy of the consideration of the Owners' and Tenants' Association.

THE VETERANS' DIFFICULTY.

The different returned soldiers' organization of Canada are discussing a most important question these days, nothing more or less than the amalgamation of the different associations into one harmonious body. It is a problem that the veterans must settle for themselves, yet one in which the general public is greatly interested, for the various organizations have been assisted by municipalities and by public subscription, and in many centres headquarters of a substantial nature have been established. The ultimate fate of these halls and buildings is therefore a legitimate matter for general speculation, while, in addition, there is a universal desire to see the veterans' associations placed on a sound footing capable of the most effective service on behalf of the ex-soldiers and to the communities in which they are located. That this consummation was not reached long ago can be blamed on agitators of the Harry Flynn type, whose foolish attempt to secure large cash gratuities for the veterans divided the ex-service men into different factions and caused the formation of new organizations. Flynn has departed, but the damage that he did lives after him. The present effort to bring the different elements together may wipe out the disastrous effects of his demagogic tactics.

The coat-dress promises to be a favorite, every designer offering a number of frocks of this type, and color and fabric combinations are extremely popular.

MANY VARIETIES.

The electorate of Canada has in the present campaign no reason at least to complain of a lack of variety of candidates. Nomination day is still many weeks away, but already there are listed the following shades:

National Progressives.
National Liberal and Conservative.
Liberals.
Old line Conservatives.
Independent Liberals.
Independent Conservatives.
Protectionist Liberals.
Free Trade Liberals.
Conscriptionist Liberals.
Independent Labour.
Canadian Labour Party.
U.F.O.-Labour.
Socialists.
U.F.O.-Labour-Soldier.
James Simpson.

Others will be added as they are registered, but the above list surely offers choice enough.

CHIEF THOMPSON EXONERATED.

In submitting his resignation to the City Council following the complete failure of the serious charges he preferred against Chief of Police Daniel Thompson, Alderman Frank J. Mitchell has taken the only sensible course left open to him. The Star does not intend to enter into any lengthy discussion of Ald. Mitchell's charges. Suffice it to say that at a public hearing, open and above board, the Police Commission, composed of three of the most prominent and reputable men in the community, has completely exonerated Chief Thompson, and that Ald. Mitchell declined to take the stand for cross-examination by the Chief's counsel, Mr. R. L. Brackin.

If the charges made against the Chief caused any definite injury to that official's reputation, the result of the probe should be more than sufficient to wipe out the damage. Mr. Thompson finds himself completely vindicated and enjoying the confidence of the board that employs him. Furthermore, his character has been entirely cleared before the public. And he has the additional satisfaction of seeing his accuser dropping into at least temporary political oblivion. Mr. Thompson's triumph could hardly be more complete.

In connection with the case, Mayor H. W. Wilson has given expression to an opinion that should have the consideration of others, who, like Ald. Mitchell, may be in the habit of making too free with criticism. "There is a tendency these days," Mayor Wilson stated, "to attack the records of public men and to accuse officials of dishonorable acts, which is to be regretted. In such cases, I feel that the person accused should be given the fullest opportunity to clear himself and that was the stand I took when Ald. Mitchell accused the Chief of Police of irregular conduct." Quite right. There is too noticeable a tendency to accuse public men and public officials of wrongdoing, often with hardly a shadow of reasoning. In most cases the only result is to create bad feeling and subject the accused person to annoyance, loss of time, worry and disgust. Attacks made on the Essex Border Utilities Commission and the Windsor Board of Education within the last year or so, have been fair samples of that type of politics the devotees of which appear to attack more for the "fun" of attacking and the resulting publicity than for any other reason.

Ald. Mitchell's attempt on Friday night to throw the blame or part of it on newspaper reporters is an old trick of politicians who find themselves in trouble. The fact that reports carried in two papers and written by opposing reporters, tallied so well was sufficient to show the shallowness of this ancient excuse. Experienced newspaper reporters are not in the habit of misquoting public speakers. A reporter possessing such a bad habit would not be allowed to remain in the employ of any reputable newspaper.—Border Cities Star.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, this mixture saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

A FORCEFUL SERMON BY REV. W.R. COURAGE

REPUDIATES DARWIN'S THEORY OF ORIGIN OF MAN

On Sunday, Oct. 16, Rev. W. R. Courage, in the evening sermon at St. George's Church, set forth in a forceful manner reasons for belief in God. The text was from Exodus 3, 6.

The two most important words of the creed, he said, are the first two, I believe. Those who are brought up by Christian people in a Christian atmosphere know there is a God. To them proof is not necessary. They believe because they know him and because they have experienced His love and felt His presence. Some there are, however, who are not convinced by this experience of others, but must have intellectual proof.

As far back as we can trace the races we find that man has worshipped a god of some kind. It may have been a god of war or cruelty, but they have felt the presence of a supreme being and bowed before it.

A Child's Wonder.

As soon as a child is old enough to wonder, he continued, it begins to wonder about nature, about the elements, how things grow and how the earth is made. When the child gets older it begins to understand that the wonders of nature are the wonders of God.

Years ago it was believed that science was antagonistic to the church, but today that thought is not so prevalent. The sky, with its millions of stars, its meteors and the sun; the earth, which is wrapped in atmosphere, should be thought of not as scientific wonders, but as wonders of God. Think of the mighty will behind the force which keeps each planet in its proper sphere, so that no harm may come to the people of the earth.

The Darwin theory, that man has ascended from the lower animals, though still believed in by a few, has been given up by the majority of thinkers. Man was made from atoms of earth, and is God's most wonderful product.

Conscience, Mr. Courage concluded, as one clergyman expresses it, is God's witness within us. It tells us whether we are in the right or not, and endeavors to lift our thoughts to the all holy.

The choral service was hearty and the change is appreciated by many.

There are all sorts of interesting strapped shoes for the autumn.

COOKERY ON LUMBER DRIVE DESTROYED

THE DINGMAN LUMBER CO'S MILL AT LAKEFIELD HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 19.—A lumber drive cook house, the property of the Dingnan Lumber Co. here, was totally destroyed by fire last night, which broke out at 8.30 o'clock and burned for about an hour before extinguished.

The cookery was constructed on a cedar raft moored at the northern end of the steamboat wharf, near the lumber company's mill, which closed for the season last Monday. The Lakefield fire brigade quickly reponded to the alarm, and succeeded in saving the mill and contents from damage, although some $200 worth of cedar, constituting part of the raft on which the cook-house was built are a complete loss. The origin of the fire is unknown. Fears were entertained for the Duignan Lumber Co.'s mills, which at one time were threatened with total destruction. The total loss has not yet been estimated.

REVIVAL OF SPELLING BEE

By Mrs. J. E. Leslie.

Some spellers are born, some are made, the rest ought to have spelling thrust upon them.

There are folks who are natural spellers—who never had to study a spelling lesson in school—who practically never made a mistake in the spelling of a word without even stopping to think about it. There are others who can be depended upon to misspell just as thoroughly—without even thinking about it.

The spellin' bees that are to be inaugurated in the schools as soon as the plans are completed will give an impetus to interest in the art of spelling that will lead to the acquisition of some properly spelled words in some students' vocabularie that otherwise would go through life badly crippled.

The main trouble with spellin' bees is that only the good spellers want to share in them. The others are afraid or ashamed, and, if forced to take part, drop out so early in the game that they lose interest and practical benefit.

The "bees" are to be for the upper grades and high schools. Why stop there? S'pose that is all the boar' of education care to handle, but 'twould be a good thing if straggler along the years from the high school goal would initiate a few "bees" of their own. It ought to offer suggestion for popular and profitable sport all winter. Hallowe'en would be a good time to start. A spell-down ought to liven up any Hallowe'en party.

"Stories" of the school bees say that Chew's Speller will "be combe' for tough ones" to put to the stammering contestants. That will be all right, but it isn't the "tough" ones that cause the trouble in everyday work. It is the ordinary words we need. Anyone who has ever handled "copy" knows how much time and disposition it saves to find the words spelled correctly, and the aggravation and scorn that curls up the editor's soul when he finds fifth-grade words mis-spelled day after day in the same writer's copy.

Anyone who has had any experience with stenographers knows the peace that passeth understanding when he finds one whose spelling is uniformly reliable.

There is a feeling among many poor spellers that it is nothing to be ashamed of—quite the contrary, a thing to be a bit proud of, in fact—just as some foolish little girls boast of their inability to care for a home. Of course, no one but a martinet would refuse the indulgent smile at an occasional mis-spelled word, but that's different.

It's sort of hard on one's nerves and composition to have to pick out words he can spell when he wants to write a letter. The winter "bees" ought to help these sufferers.

More Months and More Miles

Some motor-car owners figure battery life by miles—others by months—of service. Both are suited with the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery.

Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation is the secret of the "most miles of uninterrupted service per dollar" of this battery. As its name implies it is made of rubber and threads—rubber to insulate the plates, threads to make the rubber porous. It puts extra strength at a point where many batteries are weak. It puts an end to reinsulation worry and expense. It lasts the life of the plates.

You can get the extra months and miles of battery service only by buying the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery. You can recognize it immediately by the Thread-Rubber Trade-Mark, stamped in red on the side of the battery case.

JOLLY EVENING AT ANNUAL DINNER IN LAKEFIELD VILLAGE

OCCASION, UNDER AUSPICES OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, A HUGE SUCCESS — PETERBOROUGH TALENT CONTRIBUTE NUMBERS.

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 19.—The annual dinner and concert given under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church took place on Monday, and in spite of extremely bad weather conditions was a very great success. For miles around people came in their cars and other vehicles and the village people also turned out in large numbers to enjoy the feast of good things set before them.

The dinner, which was served in the Council Chamber, was in charge of a committee of ladies, whose catering was very acceptable.

The entertainment, like the dinner, was of first quality, and all present felt amply repaid for braving the weather. The following is the programme:

Piano solo, Miss Burgess; vocal solo, Mrs. G. H. King, of Peterborough; recitation, Miss Harvey, of Peterborough; vocal solo, Mrs. D. H. McMillan; study in black and white, Messrs. P. Stratton and B. Somers; vocal solo, Mrs. King; recitation, Miss Harvey; vocal solo, Mrs. McMillan; study in black and white, Messrs. P. Stratton and B. Somers; vocal solo, Mrs. King; God save the King.

Rev. P. L. Jull occupied the chair for the entertainment.

Financially the affair was very successful and the ladies were gratified at the result of their labors.

Talent Tea.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church are holding their talent tea on Wednesday evening, October 19th, at 8 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. J. H. Sherin. All the members are requested to bring a friend and a stocking. There will be a good programme and a social hour.

Social Evening.

The Rector and Mrs. Vipond and the Superintendent and teachers of St. John's Sunday School gave a social evening for the parents of the Sunday School children on Monday evening. The attendance, owing to the weather conditions and counter attractions, while not large, was very jolly indeed, and the time spent in social intercourse will be of great value in strengthening the link between the parents ond Sunday School teachers.

Meeting Postponed.

The meeting of the A.Y.P.A. is postponed till Friday evening, October 21st, when a social evening will be held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Hope, who are leaving the parish and moving to Peterborough.

Personal Mention.

Several car loads of prominent citizens attended the Conservative nominations in Norwood on Monday. There was considerable excitement in the village and the results were eagerly looked for by all parties.

Mrs. John Hull is visiting friends in Cobourg.

One of the worst electric storms of the season was experienced here on Monday afternoon at about one o'clock and continued all afternoon. The thunder and lightning were very sharp, while the rain fell in torrents. Hail also fell during the late afternoon.

SPOKANE WELCOMES FRANK TATTERSALL

FORMER ORGANIST OF ST. PAUL'S CHURCH GAVE RECITAL.

(From the Spokane "Spokesman-Review.)

Expectations aroused by a scrutiny of Frank Tattersall's program were more than realized last evening when he gave an organ and piano recital at the First Presbyterian church. It has been some time since Spokane has welcomed a musician of such solid and varied attainments and one who expresses himself so artistically. It is not often that a player shows himself equally master of two instruments, but that is what Mr. Tattersall demonstrated last night. In the matter of technic he gave a surprising and exhilarating exhibition of his powesr and he aroused his audience by the alternate masculine vigor and delicate poetry of his interpretations. Mr. Tattersall is an organist and pianist of concert stature.

The first part of his program was devoted to the organ, beginning with a clear and dignified exposition of the Bach "Toccata and Fugue in D minor." Having set his classical standard with acuracy, he gave a selection of modern pieces, to show an infinite variety of effects, with astounding skill and mastery. His pianissimos were lovely and his descriptions were so realistic that one saw the pictures unrolled before one's eyes. "Sunrise and Sunset on the Alps," by Clegg, had these contrasts in great number.

"Russias Patrol" created great enthusiasm and "The Abbey Chimes," secured an emphatic encore.

Mr. Tattersall in his piano program again showed a wonderful control of technic. Fine in Grieg's "Praeludium," he was brilliant in Chopin's "Scherzo in B Flat Minor" and sparkling in two studies by Liszt and concluded an imposing selection of compositions by "Two Legends," also by Liszt. He proved in all these pieces that he knows his instruments and passionately loves his art.

The assisting soloist was Miss Agnes McEachren, whose bright, clear mezzo-soprano was heard to advantage in several numbers. Her voice is sweet in timbre and true in intonation. The Cesar Frank and the Rachmaninoff numbers were good examples of her taste in music. She also presented a song cycle, "Fair Jessie," which will become a favorite. Miss Augusta Gestsch accompanied with artistic perception, and gave the singer excellent support.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 19.— (Canadian Press.)—The feature of the local market for cash grain yesterday was the weakness that prevailed in oats in sympathy with the Winnipeg market and prices declined 1 1-2 cents per bushel. Flour fell another 50 cents per barrel and domestic trade was very quiet. A weaker feeling developed in the mill feed market to-day, with price down $2 per ton. Prices in baled hay were reduced $1 a ton owing to increased offerings and limited demand. The feeling in the rolled oats market is easy. The demand for eggs is active and strong with prices for strictly new laid stock up 5 cents a dozen. Potatoes are up 15 cents to 20 cents per bag. There was no change in the butter markeet. A steady demand continues for cheese.

I'm So Tired

Fatigue is the result of poisons in the blood. So when the kidneys fail to purify the blood one of the first indications is unusual and persistent tired feelings and pains in the back.

Neglected kidney troubles lead to years of suffering from rheumatism or develop into such fatal ailments as Bright's disease.

Mrs. John Ireland, R.R. No. 2, King, Ont., writes:

"I was a great sufferer from severe headaches and bilious spells. I tried a number of remedies without obtaining any benefit until I was advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These completely relieved me and made me feel like a new person. I am very grateful to Dr. Chase's medicines for what they have done for me, and you may use my letter for the benefit of others."

APPLE PRICES RANGE $4.50 TO $8 BARREL

THIS IS FOR HAND-PICKED FRUIT —GRAPES DONE

Buyers are busy scouring the country along the lake front for apples and are offering prices ranging from $2.50 up to $6.50 a barrel, according to reports from the orchards.

Local fruit men have been all through the apple district from Bowmanville to Brighton, and they declare everywhere they go they have to compete with American buyers. Yankee growers are holding out for high prices, it is said, and a favorable apple market in the States permits them to offer better prices than Canadians, and pay duty into the bargain.

Although barrels are cheaper than last year apples will cost the householder about the same. Prices of hand-picked apples in the stores where orders are being taken range from $4.50 for No. 3 Greenings to $8.00 per barrel for Snows. No.1 Spies are $7.50 and MacIntosh reds the same. Windfalls are much cheaper, of course. The crop of Snows is said to be below the average, while others remain about the same as last year.

Grapes Are Done.

Blue and Niagara grapes are done and only the very last of a long-sustained crop of Red Rogers can be secured by tardy householders now. On Saturday one of the dealers sold 20 baskets of blues that cost 62 cents each for $10, but he remarked that he was glad to get rid of them, even if it was at a loss, for in another day he could have realized nothing on his stock. Most of the Red Rogers are real nice fruit, and at 75 cents they will soon be snapped up.

POTATOES SELL 90c. TO $2 BAG

ALL FARM WORK WELL ADVANCED FOR TIME OF YEAR---CROP RERORTS.

Following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—

All farm work is well advanced for the time of year The wet weather during the last week interfered with the harvesting of potatoes and roots, but it has freshened the pastures and put the land in excellent condition for fall plowing a very large acreage already having been done.

Potatoes vary greatly in value. South Simcoe says that many farmers are selling rather than to attempt storge. North Simcoe puts prices at 90 cent a bag t.o.b. Dufferin reports of sales around $1 a bag, while Middlesex quotes $2 a bag, Frontenac $1.75 and Renfrew $1.50.

All returns speak of mangels as being a fairly good crop but turnips are a disappointment to many growers Brant says there has been some soft rot.

Sugar beets, on the other hand, have given general satisfaction where grown, both as regards yield and factory quality.

Hay shows a great variation in price. Bruce says that it is being purchased for $17 a ton in the mow with an extra $4 for baling, while in eastern and northern counties quotations range from $30 to $35 a ton.

Buckwheat is turning out very well in the threshing.

The acreage of fall wheat is larger than usual. Lambton says that some of it has been put in during the last week or two In some counties fears are expressed that some of the early sown crop has too great a head for wintering well. here are a few complaints of injury to early fields by Hessian fly.

Some late rye is beng sown in Brant the farmers being satisfied to get it through the ground before the land freezes.

Norfolk says that most of the apples are being put up for domestic pack, and are selling at from $4 to $6 a barrel ad from $1 to $1.25 a bushel for windfalls. Perth quotes windfalls at $2 a bag.

Wellington is of the opinion that live stock will go into winter quarters in better condition than for some years.

Huron says: "Considerable cattle are being marketed and one of our drovers here is doing quite a business in selling stockers back to the farmers. While our grain crops were not good there is a good supply of roughage particulary corn, and quite a few of the farmers are putting in some cattle. The general preference is, however, for young cattle Again there are some sections where there are quite a few young cattle for sale.'

Lambton also reports that a large number of export steers have left the county during the past month for Old Country markets, and that a number of good animals are still left.

A creameryman in Bruce is quoted as saying that the milk supply has kept up better this fall than for many seasons.

Factorymen are discouraged at the recent low prices for cheese which range from 14 1-2 a lb., in Perth to 15 5-16 in Frontenac.

Hogs are quoted at from $9 to $9.50 a cwt. Little pigs vary in price from $6 to $7 each in Brant to eight for $25 on market day in Frontenac.

RULES GOVERNING SECRECY OF THE BALLOT IN ELECTIONS

LAW OF PECULIAR INTEREST NOW WHEN MANY MEN AND WOMEN WILL VOTE FOR FIRST TIME.

ILLEGAL PRACTICES

OTTAWA, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—The secrecy of the ballot has always been considered one of the safeguards of the franchise in Canada. Throughout constitutional history a fight has been waged to secure the secret ballot, and once that was gained, to guard it inviolate. No matter what proceedings may arise from elections, no man or woman is required, or permitted, to divulge the name of the candidate for whom he or she voted in the election under review.

Provisions for guarding the electors' right to the secret ballot, contained in the Dominion Elections Act, the law governing all Federal election contests, are of interest at the present time, inasmuch as there are many persons throughout Canada, both men and women, who will this year vote for their first time in a Federal election.

Clause 60 of the Act requires every candidate, officer, clerk, agent or other person in attendance at a polling station or at the counting of the votes, to maintain and aid in maintaining the secrecy of the voting; and no candidate, officer, clerk, agent or other person shall:

(a) before the poll is closed, communicate to any person any information as to whether any person on the list of voters has or has not applied for a ballot paper or voted at that polling station, or

(b) at the polling station interfere with or attempt to interfere with a voter when marking his ballot paper, or otherwise attempt to obtain information as to the candidate for whom any voter is about to vote or has voted, or

(c) at the counting of the votes attempt to ascertain the number on the back of any ballot paper, or

(d) at any time communicate (except to a court or judge lawfully requiring him to do so) any information as to the number on the back of the ballot paper given to any voter at a polling station, or

(e) at any time or place, directly or indirectly, induce or endeavor to induce any voter to show his ballot paper after he has marked it, so as to make known to any person the name of the candidate for or against whom he has so marked his vote, or

(f) at any time communicate to any person any information obtained at a polling station as to the candidate for whom any voter at such polling station is about to vote or has voted, or

(g) at such counting attempt to obtain any information or communicate any information obtained at such counting as to the candidate for whom any vote is given in any particular ballot paper.

Clause 2 of the section states that "any person who contravenes or fails to observe any provision of this section is guilty of an illegal practice and of an offence against this Act punishable on summary conviction as in this Act provided."

Illegal Practice.

It is also against the law for any voter, unless unable to read or incapacitated by blindness or other physical cause from voting in the manner prescribed in the Act to show his ballot paper, when marked, to any person so as to allowj the name of the candidate for whom he has voted to be known, "and any person who violates the provisions of this section shall be guilty of an illegal practice," the Act states.

A person unable to vote without assistance is not debarred from voting, but he is required to make oath in the prescribed form of his incapacity and the deputy returning officer may then assist the voter by marking his ballot in the manner directed by such voter, in the presence of the sworn agents of the candidates or of the sworn electors, representing the candidates in the polling station, and of no other person, and place such ballot in the ballot box. The deputy returning officer is required by law to indicate in the poll book where such votes have been marked by him.

In the case of a voter applying for a ballot, when the deputy returning officer does not understand the language spoken by the applicant, he is required to swear an interpreter, "who shall be the means of communication between him and the voter with reference to all matters required to enable such voter to vote, and in case no interpreter is found, such voter is not to be allowed to vote."

Voters are required to vote without undue delay, and as soon as they have voted the law requires them to leave the polling station. Provision is made that in each polling station there must be separate rooms, or parts of the room curtained off, into which the voter may retire for the purpose of marking his ballot, and these must be fitted out with a table and a pencil.

A section of the Act governing court procedures under the Act provides that "no person may be required to state for whom he voted" in any proceedings which may arise.

Penalties Provided.

Penalties are provided in the Act for persons guilty of illegal or corrupt practices at elections. Section 86 of the Act provides that: "Any person who during an election commits a corrupt practice or an illegal practice shall ipso facto become disqualified from voting and incompetent to vote at such election. He shall also, in addition to any other punishment for such offence by this or any other Act prescribed, forfeit to any person who in any competent court shall therefore sue:

"(a) for every corrupt practice committed the sum of two hundred dollars and costs, and

FORMER MEMBER OF COLLEGIATE STAFF DEAD

MR. JAMES M'CAIG, PUBLICITY COMMISSIONER FOR PROVINCE OF ALBERTA, HAS PASSED AWAY--HAD MANY FRIENDS HERE.

The following from The Edmonton Bulletin refers to a former well-known member of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute staff:

"A pioneer educationist of the West in the person of James McCaig, M.A., LL.B., Publicity Commissioner of Alberta, passed away at his home at 10043 116th street on Saturday. Death was due to pernicious anaemia, which the deceased had been suffering from for some years. During the last six months the malady became more acute, and some two weeks ago a relapse from which the patient failed to rally, occurred.

"Members of Mr. McCaig's family were at the bedside when he passed away. He was fifty-four years old and was born at Rockwood, Ontario, in the year of Confederation.

Former Supt. of Schools.

"For many years Mr. McCaig was closely associated with educational life in this city, acting first as a school inspector and subsequently superintendent of city schools. He held the last named post for seven years.

"The late Mr. McCaig was the son of Donald McCaig, Principal of Rockwood Academy. After graduating in arts from the University of Toronto, he taught in the High Schools of Prescott and Peterborough, Ontario. In 1899 he came West and accepted the position of Principal of Lethbridge schools, where he remained for five years.

"In 1905 Mr. McCaig came to Edmonton as an inspector of schools. In the following year he was transferred to the Calgary Normal School and acted as Vice-President of that institution for 12 months. He then secured the appointment of city school superintendent here and held the post until 1913. Subsequently he became Publicity Commissioner for the Province and held that office until his death.

"The deceased is survived by a wife and three children, the eldest being a daughter and the others two sons. The daughter is Helen, aged seventeen, while the sons are Alex., aged fifteen, and James, aged nine years. Others surviving the deceased are five sisters, Mrs. R. G. Douglas, Edmonton; Mrs. M. Gossip, Calgary, and three unmarried sisters in Collingwood, Ontario, and one brother, Dr. A. S. McCaig of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

"Several standard publications were issued by Mr. McCaig in recent years. His publication, "Agriculture," is a standard text book in Alberta schools, while another work, "Civics," was about ready for publication when work on it was cut short by illness."

An Editorial Tribute.

Editorially The Bulletin refers to Mr. McCaig as follows:

"In the death of Mr. James McCaig there is lost to Edmonton a man who played an active part in the educational life of the city and latterly in one of the educational departments of the Provincial Government. Mr. McCaig had already produced an excellent text book on agriculture and was preparing another on civics when he was laid aside by his last illness. The latter work was an undertaking in which he was deeply interested, and his ambition was to make it a more readable and serviceable book, for text purposes, than any at present in use. That portion of it already completed, at least, will be a memorial to its author, and it may be hoped that another hand may be found to complete the work. In the last few years Mr. McCaig had come into close touch with the agricultural industry throughout the Province, and there will be many who will greatly regret to learn of his death."

THE J.C. Turnbull CO. LTD

WITNESSES CLAIM THAT CASTING WAS DEFECTIVE

and general manager of the William Hamilton Company, an expert engineer, who made an examination for the Crown, gave the cause of the accident as a defective casting. He first examined the design of the rotor he said ,and he satisfied himself that this was satisfactory. The 'fibre stress' of 2,500 lbs. per square inch when running at 514 R.P.M. and 10,000 when running at a speed of 1,028 R.P.M. as required in the specifications, he thought was a low specification. Usually, he said, castings were called upon to bear a stress between 14,000 and 15,000 lbs.

Having satisfied himself that the design was right and safe, he said he next examined the tests that were made. The physical tests he said, were good and the chemical analysis up to standard. Last Saturday morning he examined the broken casting and he found the wheel cracked in three places ,one crack in an arm and two on the rim. The arm was the weakest point and was due probably, he said, to segregation of oxide slag in that part during the process of casting. There must be a certain fluency and perhaps it had not been hot enough he said. In cooling internal stresses make themselves felt and when "spongy" the arm would probably develop what he described as a "shrinkage crack."

Cracks Apparent.

Such cracks would be so fine as to be hardly noticable, Mr. Westbye said. It would be possible to conceal them he believes. From his examination after the wreck he said he was inclined to think the cracks had been welded ,although he was not prepared to make this a definite assertion. The metal centre portion of the arm looked as if had been welded, he said, and it seemed to be a poor job. If it had been welded it should havee been discovered by the inspectors, witness said.

Mr. Peter White pressed Mr. Westbye as to what he as an expert engineer would do if he had found the casting defective before the process was complete, that is before the casting was annealed. Mr. Westbye said if it was not a deep flaw he would have made a better weld, or it went clean through would have scrapped it. If there had been welding, Mr. Westbye said a chemical analysis would reveal it.

Following Mr. Westbye's evidence that there was some evidence of the cracks having been welded, Robert Anson, superinendent of the machine shop, gave evideice that the casting had never been welded or annealed in their plant.

FAVOR A CHANGE IN LONDON SYSTEM

LONDON, Oct. 19. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—Following the agitation by Councillors of the Borough of Poplar in favor of modification of the London system of rating under which the poorest and most densely populated boroughs are taxed heavier than the richer boroughs like Weestminster, representatives of all London boroughs recently conferred with the ministry of health which is now involved in a temporary scheme for a solution of the difficulty. The Ministry of Health plan which will be enforced immediately, proposes the equalization of rates levied for outdoor relief throughout the administrative county of London and several other readjustments promising alleviation for the districts hardest hit by unemployment.

ANNUAL MEETING DIRECTORS OF PETERBOROUGH PROTESTANT HOME

MRS. W. ROGER RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT—CHURCH REPRESENTATIVES APPOINTED—FINANCIAL STATEMENT

The annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the Peterborough Protestant Home took place yesterday afternoon, with about thirty people present, including the directors, representatives from various churches and several citizens interested in the work of the institution. Mr. Walter Roger, the president, occupied the chair. Rev. W. R. Courage, pastor of St. George's church, conducted the devotional exercises.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, followed by the reading of the reports of the treasurer and secretary, both disclosing a very satisfactory condition of affairs. Mr. E. F. Mason read the report of Mr. J. C. Hamilton, manager of the Home, which showed a wonderfully good crop of garden stuff, notwithstanding the dry and early summer, the only failure being in potatoes. The amount of vegetables, milk and eggs produced at the Home during the year would total almost $800, a very satisfactory record. The old men inmates had done a great deal of good work in helping in the garden. Mr. Mason summarized Mr. Hamilton's and Miss Robinson's reports, detailing costs, etc., and Mr. J. J. Turner, seconding the adoption of the various reports, made a very neat little speech, complimenting the president, Mrs. Roger, an the different officials on their excellent work.

The Daily Routine.

Miss A. Lancaster, superintendent of the Home, gave a short verbal report, outlining the daily routine which is of just about the same tenure day after day. Miss Lancaster's work, however, requires a great deal of tact and sympathy, qualities which Miss Lancaster exercises freely.

In speaking of the treasurer's report, Mr. Mason remarked on the small contribution received from the city, a varying amount which averages around $3,500 per annum, and said that only the untiring efforts of the ladies in charge and the small endowment made by the late Mrs. Nicholls enabled the Home to operate successfully.

The need of having a practical nurse at the institution in connection with the care of the aged inmates was emphasized.

The president, Mrs. Roger, made a short address, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. J. C. Smyth for his careful attention to the yearly audit of the books.

Officers Elected.

Officers for the year ensuing were appointed as follows: Hon. President, Mrs. T. G. Hazlett; Hon. Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Birdsall and Miss Nicholls; President, Mrs. W. Roger; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Robt. Neill; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Duncan Walker; Secretary, Miss Flora H. Davidson; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. E. E. Harvey; Treasurer, Miss Sara Robinson; Assistant Treasurer, Miss Amy Halliday. On motion of Mrs. N. D. Seaton, seconded by Mrs. Chas. McClelland, church representatives as directors for three years were appointed as follows: Mrs. Robt. Neill, Mrs. Duncan Walker, Mrs. Robt. Hall and Mrs. F. L. Robinson.

Mr. Courage closed the meeting with prayer, prefaced by a few remarks expressing his pleasure and surprise at the conduct of the House as seen on this, his first visit.

Annual Report—1920-1921.

The year 1920-21 closed September 30th with 28 inmates remaining in the Home, the total number for the year being 39, 20 men, 19 women, number discharged for various reasons 5, 2 deaths in the house and 3 in the hospital. Total number of day 11,991, average number of days per inmate 307 1-2.

The Board has held 21 regular meetings and 1 special, with an average attendance of 8 members.

The jam and linen shower was held in November, a hearty response in regard to the jam, but very little linen. When we hold the shower this autumn we hope to receive a large supply.

Rev. Mr. Young conducted the Christmas festivities and made an excellent Santa Claus. Also told the old people an enchanting Christmas story. Members of George street choir with Mrs. Young as accompanist, rendered carols and solos. Misses Harvey and Ingall gave recitations, Joe Nasimok played the violin. The donations both of money and good cheer were most liberal. The Baord are very grateful and have no doubt the old people enjoy it very much.

During the winter months different organizations of young people came up and entertained the old people with music and recitations, some bringing refreshments with them, which makes a change for the inmates.

The Automobile Association several times in the summer evenings took them to drive. The Royal Arthur Lodge, A.F. and A.M. gave a delightful afternoon on September first, when about twenty of the inmates and several members of the Board were taken to Hiawatha, where a very sumptuous high tea was served. It was charming on the shore of Rice Lake in the early evening and every one enjoyed themselves. The drive home at sunset was very beautiful.

Our beloved President, Mrs. Roger, has not been with us as much this past year as we would like, owing to ill health and being away to recuperate, but we trust she will still be able to carry on.

Miss Lancaster has had her usual number of difficulties, but with her tact and knowledge of human nature has been able to smooth them out. If you could drop into the Home any evening during the week, you would find a group of old ladies intently listening to the news of the day, or a good story book. Sunday you will find them around the piano singing some of the old familiar hymns of childhood days; it is a very cosy and home-like scene. On the men's side of the house a different scene. They have their pipes and papers, some of them have a game of checkers or dominoes. The flower garden was a great success and adds much to the beauty and appearance of the Home both inside and out, also to the pleasure of the inmates. Mr. Hamilton has had a very successful garden, but owing to the extreme heat of July, not as good as last year. He expends much time and energy in improving the land. The Board appreciate his services and consider him the right man for the position he occupies.

The Board regret that owing to the high cost of building material, they were unable to build the overseer's cottage, but hope in the early spring to do so.

The thanks of the Board are extended to the following:

The Clergymen of the city for providing a service on Sunday morning for the old people, as it would be impossible for them to go to church, and in several instances dispensing the sacrament.

The Doctors on the staff who, in the midst of their busy lives, find time to answer a call to the Home when necessary.

The gentlemen who, without charge, act as auditors.

The many friends who have so kindly contributed to the pleasure of the inmates and have made the Sunday service more easily arranged by sending their automobiles for the clergymen.

Keep a Record of Your Securities

For the convenience of those desiring to keep a record of their securities we have prepared a concise and convenient SECURITY RECORD form for entering the name of the securities, date of purchase, amount, purchase price, annual income, time of interest or dividend payment, maturity, etc. Such a record is almost indispensable to security holders.

The close of the year is a good time to see that your holdings are all properly entered, or your list brought up to date. Go over your securities carefully. There may be some maturing at an early date which could, with considerable profit, be exchanged for long term securities. In this connection we shall be glad to make suggestions.

Copy of the SECURITY RECORD form will be gladly sent on request. The form is prepared with spaces for entering 25 items, 75 items or 125 items. Please state which is desired.

FAMILY TROUBLES DISCLOSE A STILL

OPERATORS WERE USING PRINTED LABELS FOR THE BOTTLED PRODUCT.

SWEETSBURG, Que., October 19 (Canadian Press). — Inter-family troubles, which, it is alleged, resulted in the wife of one of the men concerned informing the Government officials of the location of a liquor still at Abbot's Corner, terminated yesterday in Emile Grenier and Elie Grenier, of Starmand East, and George Sarns, of Montreal, being fined $200.00 each, and costs, or six months in jail.

When officers J. D. Masson and J. Kearney made their way into the place where they were informed the still was located, they took the three men by surprise in the operation of manufacturing whisky.

In addition to the usual apparatus, the officers found stamps for the printing of Hennessey Brandy and McKenzi. Scotch Whisky labels.

REVISION OF THE COMPANIES' ACT

Judging from a communiction received from the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce submitted Monday evening at the meeting of the Executive Council of the Chamber of Commerce, considerable attention will be devoted to the proposed Revision of the Companies' Act at the Annual Meeting of the Associated Boards, to be held in Brantford on November 17th and 18th.

Similar resolutions to that of the local Chamber's have already been received, and it is expected that a general request for the proposed revision will be made.

The President, Mr. Jos. J. Duffus, reported that the Special Committee appointed to arrange for the reception of the Franco-Exhibition Train on October 26th, will meet the Reception Committee of the City Council on Wednesday evening, and complete all details.

New Members.

On behalf of the Executive Council, Mr. Duffus extended a cordial welcome to the following gentlemen, who have added their names to the Chamber's membership: E. G. Hiland, Barries' Limited; Dr. Bruce E. Marshall, Osteopathic Physician; Robert Hicks, Coal and Wood Merchant; Geo. Grange, Chief Fire Station; J. T. O'Connell, Real Estate.

Dental Disease.

An instructive lecture, of interest to all citizens interested in the health of the children, will be delivered this evening at 8.30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, by Dr. H. S. Thompson, D.M.D., under the auspices of the Peterborough Dental Society.

Dr. Thompson's lecture will be on "The Prevention of Dental Disease" by education and examination in the Public schools.

This lecture will be of particular interest at the present time as this is the only city of its size in Canada, where examinations and education are not carried on.

It is expected that a large number of citizens will be present to hear one of such outstanding knowledge on the above subject as Dr. Thompson, who is the head of the Department of Dental Research in the University of Toronto. Ladies are cordially invited.

WRAPPING BREAD TO BECOME GENERAL

The Canadian Nashua Paper Company, one of Peterborough's newer industries, made a very creditable showing, and excited considerable interest last week at the Bakers' World Fair in Toronto, where they exhibited their lines of waxed papers in conjunction with the Sevigne bread wrapping machines.

The Bakers' Convention and the exhibition of bakers' machinery and supplies, which was held in the Toronto Exhibition Buildings, is said to have been the largest undertaking of its kind ever staged on this continent. The exhibition was of great interest, not only to bakers, but to everyone, and the Transportation Building was full to the doors every day of the week.

Here was to be seen all of the most improved types of bakers' machinery in full operation, and it proved a revelation to laymen to see the highly scientific and sanitary way in which the bread is now baked.

The convention was attended by somewhat over two thousand bakers from all over Canada, some coming in special cars from the Western Provinces and from the Maritime Provinces.

One of the most interesting aspects of the exhibition was the clean and sanitary manner in which the bread was handled. As the loaves came out from the glass enclosed travelling ovens they were conveyed to machines, which automaticaly wrappled each loaf in clean, white waxed paper. This beautifully baked bread in this germ-proof wrapper proved a great drawing card to the housewives of Toronto, and there was a constant stream of Toronto people calling daily for their freshly baked loaves, which were given away.

It was the opinion expressed by several of the largest bakers that in the very near future all bread will be wrapped before its delivery, and it is understood that several of these same bakers placed orders for the immediate delivery of wrapping machines and paper.

The wrapping of bread in waxed paper is done as a preventative of disease and for keeping the bread clean and fresh.

The MUSKOKA Hosptial for Consumptives must be replaced by buildings, larger and fireproof.

Accommodation is needed at the MUSKOKA Hospital for 400 adults in early stages of the disease. This will restore 250 of them to their homes and loved ones—cured. The remainder will be greatly benefited.

A few months for each patient soon means thousands cared for.

Funds are urgently needed for this work.

Again—adults in advanced stages must be treated at the King Edward Sanatorium on the banks of the Humber near Weston. Extensions are necessary. Many of these patients can be saved.

And again—little children—stricken with the dread disease—must be cared for at the Queen Mary Hospital for Consumptive Children near Weston. Ninety per cent. of these are saved to become healthy men and women.

Funds are urgently needed to cover the cost of extensions.

Further, funds are urgently needed to carry on the work of The Gage Institute in the City of Toronto, where the needy poor come for free examinations, including X-ray, and for medical and nursing assistance.

Fifteen thousand needy consumptives have been cared for to date at the hospitals conducted by the Association.

BRILLIANT TITLES IN CECIL B. DE MILLE PHOTOPLAY

They Serve to Make "The Affairs of Anatol" One of Season's Best Pictures.

Subtitles of epigrammatic brilliance are taken for granted in a Cecil B. De Mille production following the high mark set by the subtitles in "Why Change Your Wife?" "Something to Think About" and "Forbidden Fruit". However, "The Affairs of Anatol", the latest production of the famous producer, which will be the feature at the Capitol to-morrow, Thursday, is said to excel all previous efforts in this respect

Jeanie Macpherson, author of the story—suggested by Arthur Schnitzler's play of the same name—is responsible for these subtitles and to her goes the credit for their scintillating phraseology, thought and wit.

"The Affairs of Anatol" is a searching analysis of the matrimonial and divorce problem handled with the mastery which is Cecil B. DeMille's chief distinction. He has developed a powerful story that deals in real truths, it is said, and to this he has added a sympathetic comedy note that serves to relieve the serious vein of the story without in anyway detracting from the power or vividness of the central theme Wallace Reid and Gloria Swanson head and all-star cast in this picture

The effect of these subtitles is materially increased by the symbolic art work which decorates the subtitles. his art work is from the brush of Paul Iribe, the famous French artist and designer, who is now serving as art director for Cecil B. De Mille productions. His color on the screen is secured by the quadri-color process which is the exclusive property of Paramount Pictures and which has been developed under the direction of Loren Taylor.

This remarkable 9-reel production and two big double vaudeville acts at just the usual Capitol Admission Prices will probably be the biggest amusement bargain ever offered at this beautiful theatre and for the balance of this week turn-away crowds should be in evidence every day.—FAN! FAN!

AT THE ALLEN.

RACING DRAMA IS FILLED WITH SENSATION.

At the Allen Theatre, for the last time this evening, William Fox presents "Thunderclap," scenario by Paul H. Sloane, directed by Richard Stanton.

The cast:
Mrs. Jamieson—Mary Carr.
Lionel Jamieson, a gambler — J. Barney Sherry.
Tommy—Paul Willis.
Betty—The Baby: Carol Chase.
The Girl: Violet Mersereau.
Wah Leong—John Daly Murphy.
Marion Audrey—Maude Hill.
Gunga Din—Thomas McCann.
Cooper—Hal Clarendon.
Hy Watts—Joe Burke.

Anything more exciting than the new picture, "Thunderclap," which opened at the Allen Theatre last Monday seems almost impossible to imagine. There is one of the most spectacular race scenes near the end of the super-photo drama that has ever come to the screen, and as for the thrilling incident of the hero carried down the rapids—it makes all similar scenes ever produced look like the Dead Sea.

Sporting life, where happiness or misery may depend on a toss of the coin or the slip of a horse hoof, is depicted in this race track drama. From the very start chance plays its part. If the woman had not married the second time, she would not have had to stand the mistreatment of her new husband, and she never would have been paralyzed because of a blow received at his hands. Then, too, she would not have had to keep her daughter in a convent school.

If business had not fallen off at the fashionable gambling house, the brutal step-father would not have brought the girl home to act as a hostess to attract patrons. If the orphan boy had no drifted into the employ of the gambler, he would never have met the girl and her paralyzed mother. If—but then we will not disclose the story here.

Tribute must be paid to Mary Carr, the "great mother." She plays the part of the paralytic woman. Without the use of her limbs, unable to open her lips, sitting perfectly still in an invalid chair, she performs one of the greatest bits of acting the silver sheet has ever reflected. She does it by the means of facial expression. Then at the end of the play she adds one more touch of pantomime that caps her triumph.

Paul Willis is to be complimented as much for his daring as his acting.

Gunga Din played by Thomas McCann, a darky, offers much of the comedy and his acting is very natural. Little Carol Chase will attract the attention of those who love children. Violet Mersereau is a pleasing heroine and is well matched with Paul Willis, the hero.

MID-WEEK DRAMATIC NOTES UNDER THE SPOTLIGHT.

"A Fortune Hunter" proved a money getter in every sense of the word. Judging from the big houses in spite of very inclement weather, Mr. and Mrs. Snelgrove came back from their short excursion into the realm of straight drama, stronger than ever in light comedy. Nothing more genuinely funny has been seen here in a long time. The humour is clever and runs through the dialogue from the first scene of the prologue to the last curtain. If there were any new admirers for Miss Vaughn to win, she certainly added to her already large list by her portrayal of the winsome Betty.

Speaking of admirers, the Rex Stock Company has just simply annexed the Royal Military College in Kingston en masse. Last Friday afternoon, General Macdonnell invited Mr .and Mrs. Snelgrove to visit the college and had a special programme arranged. We went out in Rex's nice, comfy Sedan and saw the military ride put on by the first class, then over at the gymnasium we were in time to see a fine exhibition of the manly art of boxing, of vaulting and pole jumping. All the old and new buildings, the Martello Tower and Currie Hall, were all shown us, while the General himself discoursed about things military, about the war of 1812 and most interesting of all, he explained the system of trench warfare in the late war, by pointing out the Canadian lines on the miniature battle gorund, built by the engineers. Besides General Macdonnell, there were several attractive young officers who expressed themselves as delighted to have a permanent stock company in town for the season. They think Mr. Snelgrove exceptionally clever, and as for Mrs. Snelgrove? Well, I'll say she was popular. During tea, there were many plans suggested for the coming winter, and if Mrs. Snelgrove fulfills all her engagements she will be kept pretty busy. On Saturday night, General Sir Archibald and Lady Macdonnell, with some of their staff, occupied a box and called upon Miss Vaughn in her dressing room during the show. It is too early to say much about the next Rex offerings, but I am told it is an excellent bill, a farce in three acts by Edgar Selwyn, called "The Nearly Weds." Sounds intriguing, does it not?

Walter Hampden Coming.

It gives me much pleasure to tell you that we are to have an intellectual treat in the near future. Walter Hampden, one of the most finished actors on the American stage, is coming to a few Canadian cities with an absolutely first class Shakespearian production. It is said by more than a few that Shakespeare does not pay outside the big cities, but that is only true of inferior organizations, or of a star who with very little backing, surrounds himself with a cast of mediocre ability and little or no scenery. Such an outfit naturally disappoints audiences everywhere, lowers the standard of value which should always be associated with the works of the master English dramatist of all time, and makes it difficult for those who follow in the same line.

When the "Servant in the House" first attracted nation wide attention about fourteen years ago, Walter Hampden starred in the play, and considered among the best men then in the profession he has gone on improving steadily, perfecting himself until he is now acclaimed by New York critics one of the finest living interpreters of Shakespeare. He has five characters which he does with equal skill, but his "Hamlet" is probably not only the best, but one of the most scholarly portrayals of "the melancholy Dane" that has ever been seen by Peterborough people. In my next sketch I shall tell you something of Mr. Hampden's personal history, and give you a resume of criticisms of his work from 'The Literary Digest.' Not often do we get a Shakespearian production right from Broadway, but I am happy to say that we shall enjoy, on October the twenty-ninth, a play which should bring out all the cultured, all the art loving, intellectual citizens of Peterborough.

LAURA.

VETERANS ARE OUT FOR UNITY IN SOME FORM

PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY G. A. U.V. AND SECRETARY IMPERIAL VETERANS, ADVOCA E UNIF.C-ATION AT EARLY DATE.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—With the housing and unemployment resolutions disposed of, the delegates to the fifth annual convention of the Great War Veterans' Association yesterday afternoon commenced discussion of what appears to be the most important matter before the "Soldiers' Parliament," namely, unification on some form. The fraternal delegates of the Imperial Veterans in Canada and the Grand Army of United Veterans took part in the proceedings by invitation.

The discussion was precipitated by the introduction of a resolution recommending that the convention place itself on record as being in favor of federation under the constitution and by-laws of the British Empire Service League, as the first step towards unity.

J. F. Marsh, secretary G.A.U.V.; G. A. Vaughan, secretary Imperial Veterans, and G. R. McNichol, president G.A.U.V., all advocated unification in some degree as soon as possible.

Canadian Legion.

Questions were asked on all sides regarding the Canadian Legion, its membership, leaders and objects, to which Mr. H. L. Howe, of Toronto, and a delegate replied that the Legion's objects were to stir up the minds of returned men to the benefits which, he claimed, would result from unity.

Unemployment.

An unemployment clause adopted recommends that the Federal, Provincial and Municipal Governments be requested that all labor contracts contain a clause providing for the employment of ex-service men to the fullest extent, and that employers, when reducing staffs, take into account a returned man's seniority and the time he gave in his country's service.

LAW AND ORDER IN NORTH ON HIGH PLANE

EDMONTON, Oct. 19.—Law and order in the north country is on a high plane and not in one instance has it been necessary to prosecute any person who has entered under the clearance certificate, states Major G. L. Jennings, superintendent of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who recently returned here after an inspection trip to all the police detachments in the far north. Major Jennings' tour occupied three months, during which he travelled more than 4,000 miles and he visited as far north as Herschel Island. The residents of the great stretches of territory lying between Edmonton and the Arctic have the great respect for British justice and the orderly traditions of the British race, he said, and the general conditions could not be more satisfactorp.

The major was present at the trial of the Slavey Indian Lebeaux, who has been sentenced to death on a charge of murder. The trial, with all the impressiveness of a court of British justice, was an eye-opener to the natives, Major Jennings says, and the Indians from now on will have a greater respect for British law than ever before.

MUST STILL 'CARRY ON'

THOUSANDS HAVE BEEN RESCUED FROM AN EARLY GRAVE, BUT THOUSANDS OF OTHERS ARE CALLING FOR HELP.

LEND A HELPING HAND

There is no doubt about it! The great work of the National Sanitarium Association must still go on, and even increase in its scope, if that dread white scourge of Ontario —consumption—is to be increasingly restricted in its attacks on Canadian humanity. And to emphasize the remarkable success of this institution in fighting consumption it should be sufficient to point out that, despite the growth in the number of stricken ones, resulting no doubt from yearly augmented populations in cities and towns, the death rate from this alarming white plague in Ontario has been cut in half during the past twenty years. But the Association must be put in a position, financially, to vigorously carry on, and with enlarging endeavor, for tuberculosis has even now too menacing a hold on individual and community health to permit of diminishing vigilance. And none should forget that consumption spreads rapidly unless confined within restrictive limitations.

Need of the Day.

Let us here visualize exactly what the National Sanitarium Association means to this Province. Its work includes:

The Muskoka Cottage Sanatorium, Gravenhurst, Ont., where patients who can pay for their own maintenance are treated at cost.

The Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, Gravenhurst, Ont., where needy consumptives, in the early stages, pay either nothing at all, or only in part, for their own maintenance.

The King Edward Sanatorium, on the Humber, near Weston, where needy consumptives in the advanced stages pay either nothing at all, or only in part, for their own maintenance.

The Gage Institute, Toronto, headquarters of the whole work—home of the Samaritan Club (for social service for consumptives and their families)—and with complete modern equipment for medical and laboratory examinations — nursing staff, etc.

In the prosecution of the foregoing noble work, however, it should not be forgotten that the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives, destroyed by fire last November, must be rebuilt; that extensions to the King Edward Sanatorium are urgently needed, as also at the Queen Mary Hospital, where ninety per cent. of consumptive children treated are saved for healthy and useful lines; and that to aggressively continue the operations at The Gage Institute, monetary assistance must be forthcoming.

They Cry For Help.

These, together with a general expansive programme, are the Association's need of the day. Such are the objectives they have in view when asking this community to subscribe $10,000 toward their Million Dollar Emergency Fund. The canvass here starts next Tuesday, in reply to the heart-rending cry from penniless thousands of men, women and little ones for succor in their hour of affliction from the deadly white plague. Peterborough has ever been generous in responding to philanthropic calls, and this appeal from disease-stricken humanity is piteous indeed, for many fellow creatures—some in our own city—are doomed to an all too early grave, unless immediate aid be forthcoming. Therefore, in conformity with its past record on similar occasions, the National Sanitarium Association have every reason to hope that this city's response to the consumptives' cry for help will be in liberality measureful, heaped up and overflowing.

FACILITATE SETTLEMENT OF UNOCCUPIED LAND

WINNIPEG, Oct. 19.—Owners of unoccupied land, which totals about 30,000,000 acres, in the three prairie provinces will be asked by the Natural Resources Intelligence branch of the Department of Interior, to give a description of their land and the sale price of such land. This will be for the purpose of giving the possible purchasers the information they desire and to facilitate the settlement of these unoccupied lands. The information obtained will be made available all over Canada, the United States and Great Britain.

Under the plan of the department of interior the listing is entirely voluntary, which is unlike that requested by the Western Canada Colonization Association—compulsory listing and the setting of a price on the property for a certain period.

The co-operation of the provincial governments will be requested so as to make the scheme as effective as possible. H. A. McCallum, of the department of interior, is now in the West in connection with the carrying out of the plan.

WILL NOT MAKE CHANGE IN RULES GOVERNING CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

CUP HOLDERS CANNOT ENTER BUT TWO NEW CLUBS AVAILABLE.

WILL JOIN P.A.A.A.

At a meeting of the officers and team representatives of the City Hockey League, in the Chamber of Commerce last night, the prospects for the coming season were discussed, and arrangements were made for holding the annual meeting.

The Wm. Hamilton A. A., winners of the Fowler cup last season will not enter a team. The other clubs heard this news with regret, and all expressed the hope that the cupholders might be induced to re-consider the matter. But the action already taken by the Association is definite, the meeting was informed.

New Clubs Available

To fill the vacancy, at least two clubs are available, the Canadian Woollens A. A. and Cressman's. Either club would add strength to the League. Only one club can be accepted, as the League will not make any changes in the constitution, nor in the rules which governed the games last season.

The constitution permits a club to use two Intermediate O.H.A. players. There is no restriction as to the number of Junior O. H. A. players This rule was one of the foundation stones of the League's success last winter, and at the meeting last night, no move was made to change it.

Confidence in Officers

The election of officers will take place at the annual meeting; and judging from the tone of the discussion last night, the only change made will be the election of a representative from the new club.

A committee was appointed to interview the rink owners, and have a report ready for the annual meeting.

It was suggested that the League might father a juvenile series this winter, along the lines adopted by the City Baseball League. This problem will receive consideration.

Join the P. A. A. A.

There were no dissenting voices when it was proposed that the City Hockey League affiliate with the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association The clubs were unanimous that the Association was worthy of support, and that it should have the solid backing of the League.

C. G. E. Toolroom team was represented by Wally Harris, Jack Pilling and Mke Sharp; De Laval A A. by Walter Fitzgerald, Ben Stacey and E. J. Ruiter and Bankers by Ald. Nagle Phelan

BASEBALL TEAM FOR G. M. COHAN

CINCINNATI MAY BE THE CHOICE OF THE COMEDIAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.— George M. Cohans aspirations to become a baseball mogul and own a big league team may be realized—by wireless.

The comedian sailed to-day on the 'Berengaria", announcing a deal that would make him owner of National or American league team would be put through on Monday. He expected to be advised by radio.

The Cincinnati Reds are said to be the team Cohan has in mind.

ENFORCE PROHIBITION IN COOK ISLANDS

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Oct. 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Prohibition will be enforced in Cook Islands by the New Zealand government under a bill introduced into Parliament yesterday.

ROAD RACE WILL BE OVER A ROUTE WITHIN THE CITY

THIS IS THE PRESENT PROPOSAL AND IT MAY BE FINALLY ADOPTED.

The road race on Thanksgiving Day will likely be run over a course within the city instead of from Lakefield to Peterborough, as in former years. This is the suggestion of the committee which is arranging the details, and Doug. Loomis, of the Y.M.C.A. will look over the ground at once. Probably a two and one-half mile route can be selected, making two trips for the juniors and four for the seniors, who will do ten miles. One advantage of this change will enable many citizens to view the race at various stages, in addition to the finish, instead of a mere flash at the finish. It is likely too that merchants or other citizens may supplement the prizes with special ones to the runners leading various stores on some lap or other as they see fit to designate. This will be all the more encouraging to the candidates who are already in training and to those others who may yet break into the contest.

HOCKEY ENTHUSIASTS PLAN FOR NEXT SEASON

OFFICERS FOR HOLY NAME ATHLETIC ASSN. ELECTED

A large meeting of hockey enthusiasts took place at St Alphonsus Lyceum last evening, to discuss plans for the coming season. Officers for the Holy Name Athletic Association were appointed as follows:

Honorary President; Bishop O'Brien; President, Joseph Kelly; Manager, Rev. P. Costello; Secretary-treasurer, John Condon; Coach Jerry Coughlin; Trainer, Harold Burrows; Executive, Messrs D. McDonald, E. Crohin, O. Kennealley, A. Costello, W. McArthur and T. Lansfield

ed to be advised by radio.

CITY CHAMPIONSHIP ENTRIES BY THURSDAY

Just a last reminder to local athletes that the entries for the city championships next Saturday must be in by Thursday evening at nine o'clock. Intending contestants should register at the Y.M.C.A. before that time, otherwise they will not be permitted to enter the events at the Exhibiion Park on Saturday afternoon next.

PETER JACKSON LOST OUT IN WINDSOR BOUT.

TORONTO, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press). — Sam Langford, Boston, knocked out Peter Jackson, Windsor, in two rounds here last night.

PLANS FOR THE ANNUAL DEER HUNT.

Plans for the deer hunt were made by the Eagle Lake Hunt Club at the Windsor Hotel last night. Several new men signified their intention of going with the club, and it is expected there will be about 20 in the party this year. Charlie Gunsolus will likely be re-elected captain.

FREIGHT RATES ARE HAMPERING B. C. INDUSTRY

RAILWAYS DISCRIMINATE AGAINST PROVINCE IN FAVOR OF EASTERN CANADA, IT IS CLAIMED

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 19. — (Canadian Press), — What are declared to be discriminatory railway freight rates in British Columbia were again attacked before the Board of Railway Commissioners here yesterday morning by S. G. G. McGeer, counsel for the Province; J. B. Thompson, chairman of the British Columbia Division Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and J. W. Johnson, president of the British Columbia Sugar Refining Company.

Mr. Thompson declared that existing railway rates are hampering industrial welfare of the Province. Perusal of the freight rates up to the fifth class for distances up to 102 miles shows that the manufacturer in British Columbia distributes his goods on rates that are more than 30 per cent. higher than the rates found in Eastern Canada, he said. Similarly for distances up to 250 miles the difference is 61.8 per cent., and continues on greater distances so that on one thousand miles it is 87.2 per cent. At Marquette, Manitoba, 1,446 miles from Vancouver, and 1,437 miles from Montreal, the difference in the rates is 55 per cent. higher from Vancouver than from Montreal, he declared. The class rate differences are approximately as great of similar distance. Not only are British Columbia manufacturers handicapped in competing in the prairie market with Eastern Canadian merchandise, which enjoys lower rates from Montreal, but they are also obliged to compete with the eastern American commodities moving by water from lake ports.

RED ARROW TIRES HELD A MEETING

TENDERS WILL SOON BE REQUESTED FOR THE NEW PLANT

The directors of Red Arrow Tires, Ltd., held their first meeting yesterday afternoon and elected officers. Mr. J. J. Turner, of J. J. Turner & Sons, Ltd., was elected president; Mr. George A. Gillespie, of Peterborough Milk Products, Ltd., and Mr. Robert Hicks, of Robert Hicks, Ltd., were elected vice-presidents; Mr. John R. McDonald, of the McDonald Lumber Co., was elected secretary, and Mr. Peter P. Westbye was elected treasurer. These men are among the best known and most highly respected business men of this city, and under their careful and conservative management, there can be no question of the success of this company.

The firm of architects, Blackwell & Son, who are preparing the plans and specifications, are progressing in their work rapidly, and it is expected that within ten days tenders will be requested for the construction of the plant, which will be most modern in every respect, and a building of very fine appearance.

Decorators started this morning on the store-room which has been rented at 309 George Street, and the company expects to occupy it with their temporary offices by the first of next week.

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Theft of considerable quantity of liquor from private cellar of W. J. Taylor, Vansittart avenue, was reported by the police this morning. Burglars made their entrance through the cellar window after breaking open a heavily locked iron screen.

SITUATION BAD.

LONDON, Oct. 19.— (Canadian Press.)— Situation in England regarding trade and unemployment is worse than at any time since the end of the Napoleonic wars, the Premier declared in the Commons to-day. At the present there are a million seven hundred and fifty thousand unemployed. The cause could be summed in one word, war. The Government proposes to ask Parliament for another three hundred thousand pounds to enable ex-service men to emigrate to the Dominions.

CURLERS HELD ANNUAL MEET

THE PETERBOROUGH CROUPINGS —TANKARD IN TORONTO

The 47th annual meeting of the Ontario Curling Association was held at the Granite Club, Toronto, yesterday, with President T. M. Asseltine, of Kingston, in the chair. Among clubs from all over the province, Peterborough was represented. Among the winners of the various competitions were announced: Points competition winners: J. E. A. Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, with 50 points, J. F. Macdonald of Kingston was second with 48 points.

The Executive committee is as follows: Thos. Rennie, Toronto Granites; E. T. Lightbourne, Toronto Club; R. M. Waddell, Peterborough; Jack Wier, Waterloo; and W. H. Davis, Hamilton Thistles.

A motion to change the present grouping for the Ontario Tankard from 16 to 4 groups was defeated by an overwhelming majority. The motion, as one member pointed out, did not guarantee good ice, and there appeared to be a very strong feeling that Toronto ice was as good as could be got anywhere under equal weather conditions. Also, it was feared that the proposed four-group system would entail greater expense and increase the liability of running into bad ice.

Group No. 3—Bobcaygeon, Cannington, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay, Millbrook, Norwood, Peterborough; play at Lindsay, Umpire, J. D. Flavelle.

The District Cup groupings were confirmed as follows:

Group B.—Keene, Lakefield, Millbrook, Norwood, Peterborough; play at Peterborough. Umpire, R. M. Waddell. (Final to be played at time and place named by Secretary O.C.A.)

CENTRAL ONTARIO OIL FIELDS, LTD.

From to-day on, till further orders, the stock of this company will be $1.00 per share. If anyone in this city is desirous of obtaining something worth investigating, we would advise them to take all the shares they can at this price, as we do not know how soon it will advance again.

We firmly believe that you have one of the greatest chances ever offered you right in Peterborough County. Some of your best known business men and leading citizens are the men who have formed this company. Take advantage of it. Do it to-day; don't delay. We have the ground — you have the money. We want you to join us. We have no doubt about there being oil. According to all experts, we have it in large quantities. The sooner you start this big thing, the sooner you will see Peterborough where it ought to be on the map.

Boost Peterborough and bring it to the front.

Yours truly,
The Central Ontario Oil Company.

With the Peterboro' Rangers

An improvement in the drill and general smartness of the unit was noticed at the parade of the Peterboro Rangers last night. "A" and "B" Companies with band and headquarters staff paraded smartly in the main hall at 8 p.m. and were addressed by Lt. Col. A. W. McPherson O.C., who urged upon every man the necessity of doing his best to bring the unit up to strength He spoke of the spirit he hoped would be developed among the men and he said that the good behavior of every member off duty or on duty would creditably reflect on the honour of the regiment.

At 8.3 O. M. S. I. Thomas addressed the officers and N. C. O's.

New Recruits

General encouragement came from the list of recruits who were signed up last night. The men who are joining are nearly all returned men or young men, too young to enlist during the war and it is particularly gratifying to the officers to see such a splendid type of youth Canadians joining the militia.

The following were taken on the strength last night and posted to the companies annoted:

Ernest Johnston, "B" Co.; Tom B. McCullough, "B" Co.; John R. Yarnold, "B" Co.; Frank McKinley "A" Co.; Farquhar F. Macrae, "B" Co.; Gordon Huscombe, "B" Co.; George Self, "B" Co.

Was Transferred

Acting Sergeant J. Gibbons was transferred from "A" Co. to headquarters staff, (Orderly Room).

Sergt. A Scott having been promoted sergt. signaller was transferred from "A" Co. to headquarters. (Signals).

New Officer Commanding

Lt.-Col. A. W McPherson's connection with the Peterboro Rangers dates back to 1900 when he became a teacher in the local Collegiate Institute Dr. McPherson tells how he was signing up as a "buff" private in the Regiment when the late Major L. M. Hayes, (later Judge Hayes), insisted on his accepting a lieutenancy on account of his responible connection with Institute He did and was appointed to No. 6 Company under late Major Hayes In 1903 the Regiment was increased from six to eight companies and Lieutenant McPherson was given command of No. 8 Company with the rank of Captain. When he left to study medicine in 1903 he relinquished his command, but when he returned to Peterboro in 1908 again became commander of No. 8 Company. He soon made it a crack company and was actively identified with the Regiment till May 1915, when he went overseas with the Army Medical Corps.

Overseas Record.

His record overseas was as bright as his connection with the Canadian militia. For 18 months he had charge of Canadian Convalescent Hospital at Bromley and in July 1916 was awarded his majority. He saw service in France with No. 12 Field Ambulance and returning to Canada on sick leave was attached to headquarters staff, Ottawa, continuously till July, 1919, when he was retired with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.

The Re-organization

When the re-organization of the 57th Regiment began again he became second in command under Col. E. B. Clegg. A short time ago, Col. Clegg completed his service and resigned Lt.-Col. McPherson automatically becoming O.C. of the Rangers. He is now devoting great effort to bring the Rangers up to strength and in looking for the full co-operation of the citizens in re-establishing this fine militia unit in the niche of honour and prestige it occupied before the war, he should not be disappointed.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

NEW YORK, October 19 (Canadian Press). — Traders evidently viewed railroad labour situation with greater confidence to-day, judging from the course of the stock market prices at the opening. A number of leading rails extended yesterday's rally by large fractions to almost two points, Northern Pacific, Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western and Chesapeake and Ohio displaying pronounced strength.

American sugar at a new low record was weak.

The early rise was sustained mainly by further advance of oils, coalers, and some of the minor rails. Pullman recovered all but a point of yesterday's heavy loss, and American Car and Foundry rallied with General Electric. Constnt pressure was directed, however, against American sugar, Sears, Roebuck and Harvester at losses of 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 points.

Call money opened at 4 1-2 per cent.

The market improved at midday on 4 per cent. money rate, although steels, tobaccos, and chemicals remained heavy. Pullman made an extreme recovery of 5 1-2 points on the declaration of th regular dividend. Among specialties, National Cloak and Suit common lost 2 points while preferred rose 8 1-2.

THE WHEAT MARKET.

CHICAGO, October 19 (Canadian Press). — Opening wheat quotations, which ranged from 1-4 cent lower to 1 1-4 cent advance with December 1.05 to 1.06 and May 1.10 1-2 to 1.11, were followed by decided upturn all around.

Corn and oats rose with wheat. Corn opened unchanged to 1-4 cent higher, December 46 to 46 1-8, and then scored a moderate general gain. Oats, after starting unchanged to 1-8 cent lower, December 33 1-2 to 33 1-4, went upward for all deliveries.

TRADING QUIET.

MONTREAL, October 19 (Canadian Press). — Trading was again quiet on the local stock exchange during the first half-hour this morning. Abitibi was down one-quarter point at 31, while Brompton was down an eighth at 20. Laurentide was weak, falling off three-quarters to 72. National Breweries was fractionally stronger at 55 5-8 and Spanish River advanced half-point to 56 1-2.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, October 19 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange was strong. Demand, Great Britain, $3.91 1-2; Canadian dollars, 8 3-4 per cent. discount.

PREVENTION OF DENTAL DISEASE

WAS SUBJECT OF INTERESTING ADDRESS LAST EVENING—DENTAL EXAMINATIONS.

At the first meeting of the recently organised Dental Society of Peterborough, of which Dr. G. G. Craig is president and Dr. C. H. Fulford is secretary, held last evening in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, Dr. Harry G. Thompson, of Toronto, spoke on "Prevention of Dental Disease by Education and Examinations in the Public Schools." Members of the Board of Education and the City Council were present, and were impressed by the subject matter and its delivery. Dr. Thompson is head of the Department of Dental Research, Toronto University, and is an expert on dental diseases. He stated that 90 per cent. of the ills of children originate from the collar up, and that "a man is known by the teeth he keeps."

His address revealed some interesting facts in connection with the importance of dental examinations amongst school children. A report of such an examination carried on recently in two schools in Toronto might be summarised as follows;

In one school, with 894 children examined, there were found 29½ per cent. with physical condition below normal, and 95¾ per cent. of the children were in need of dental treatment. In the second school, with 423 children, 36 per cent. were subnormal, and 90 per cent. required the attention of a dentist.

In referring to the dental examination instituted by the Marion School, 15 students out of 800, showing the worst chart in poor health, were experimented with. After 15 months' education and treatment, 28 of whom finished, their efficiency had increased, there was a betterment in their attendance, deportment, temperament, and weight. They were more studious and athletic. Of those 28 to-day, 11 are occupying high public positions.

Dental Examinations.

Advantages of dental examinations in schools may be summed up in better attendance by pupils, reducing the actual cost to the municipality in education, as the average cost for education for one child for one year of study ranges from $85.00 to $300, and, in the case of the child losing an examination through bad health, it results in further expenditure by the municipality for an extra year.

Epidemics in schools have also been traced directly to the condition of pupils' teeth, and statistics from the Board of Health, Toronto, state that in test cases in connection with the Sacred Heart Orphanage in that city, during a two years' treatment, no epidemics have occurred.

The importonce of good teeth has also been noted by industrial and manufacturing establishments, as has been shown by the establishment of dental clinics for employees.

The speaker concluded by urging that a dentist be appointed to regularly examine all school children in the city.

The support of the Dental Society has been given to the extent that work will be done free of charge in every deserving case

Dr. A. W. McPherson, M.O.H. for the Public Schools, heartily commended the suggestion of the appointment of a dentist for the schools

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE SESSION

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT BOTH SESSIONS—ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE.

The meeting of the Sunday School Institute held yesterday in Trinity Church and Reid street hall was well attended. Representatives were present from different city churches and the surrounding district.

The afternoon session was devoted to short addresses as follows: "The Spiritual Objective of our Sunday School", by Rev. A. McLauchlin of Pontypool, "The Evangelistic opportunity of our present lesson system', by Rev. J F. Chapman; "Worship in the Sunday School", by Rev. R. M. Patterson of Fraserville; "Our Standards and Their Value to us, by Rev. J. E. Beckel of Bethany; and four fifteen-minute practical addresses, on "Practical Plans for our Elementary Division" by Mrs. (Rev.) E D Lewis of Peterboro; "How to Conduct our Missionary Department", by Rev. G. E. Ross; "How to Apply our Sunday School Lesson to Life", by Rev. J. F. Chapman, and "The Present Plan for Teen Age Boys ad Girls", by Rev. A McLauchlin of Pontypool.

After a supper served by the W. M. S. of Trinity Church in their hall, the evening session opened. A round table conference considered various phases of Sunday School work, followed by an interesting address by Rev. Harold Young on "Educative Evangelism, its meaning, its agencies and its methods". The term was defined as a leading of the child to a definite recognition of Christ as its Saviour and its King The principal agency was the home but, as in many cases, this avenue was neglected, most of the work devolved upon the Sunday School To form and direct the attention of the child in matters of religion was the work of the Sunday School teacher, who must know how to teach, must make a study of child character, must have the right material to work with and must be in deadly earnest about the work.

McDonald, and looked pretty in a wedding dress of cloth of silver, and wearing a veil of Crickmacross lace, a family heirloom. Her only ornament was a platinum and diamond necklace, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Margaret McDonald, becomingly attired in pearl grey Canton crepe, and carrying pink roses, was her sister's only attendant. Mr. Stanley Moffatt supported the groom. The Human Main Shaft

You may be sceptical of the statement that 80 per cent. of so-called Disease is caused by Subluxations (Displacement) of the Vertebrae (Small Bones of the Spine). Just picture the main shaft of a machine capable of the various movements of the Vertebral column, and subject it to the same number of twists, and wrenches that the Spine has to endure. You will then be no longer astonished when shown so many Vertebrae that have slipped out of place. Is not the human body much more liable to have its parts wracked out of their proper position and the resultant consequences more severe and lasting than those of an inanimate machine?

The Chiropractor is the Human Machinist. He finds out what Vertebrae are displaced, then adjusts same, and everything is in running order again.

The logic of the Chiropractic theory can not be denied. The next time you are sick, consult your Chiropractor, and see what he can do for you.

Intensified Campaign to Induce British Farmers to Locate Here

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, October 20. — An intensified campaign by the Ontario Government to secure farmers from the British Isles with capital as settlers for this Province is to be pushed in England and Scotland throughout the winter, Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, announced to-day.

These new immigrants, 1,000 in number or more, are to be ready to come to Ontario in the spring.

The campaign, as planned by the Minister of Agriculture's Department, is to be principally a lecture campaign. Thousands of dollars have been spent by the Government, Mr. Doherty said, in providing moving pictures of various phases of fruit, dairy, mixed and live stock in the Province, various lecturers will be chosen.

"If I could spare the time, I should like to spend two weeks lecturing myself," Mr. Doherty said.

In connection with the new campaign, a new branch office is being established by Mr. Doherty at Perth, Scotland, with Mr. Percival, former Assistant Commissioner at London, in charge.

There never was a more opportune time to get expert farmers, with plenty of capital, in England than at the present moment, Mr. Doherty believes.

"Many farmers have been forced to sell out or buy their farms on account of the high taxes. The landlords are being forced to get rid of their land. There are lots of farmers in England to-day, with $100,000 in cash,

EMBASSY GUARDED

PARIS, Oct. 20.—By W. B. Miller, United Press.) —The attempted assasination of Ambassador Herrick stirred French officials, police and public to a country-wide man hunt to-day.

Search for the perpetrators of the outrages, in which a small bomb enclosed in a perfume box was sent to the American Ambasador and opened by his valet, who was wounded, was conducted throughout Paris and the entire country by official orders. Arrests are imminent, the Paris Midi declared to-day, stating that the would-be assassin left a "good trail."

Official France feels deeply the indignity of the attack upon Ambassador Herrick, President Millerand and Premier Briand to-day sent personal representatives to call and express their sympathy and congratulations upon his escape.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 20.—(Special to The Examiner.)— The American Ambassy here was closely guarded by police and detectives to-day.

Demonstrations by Communists yesterday, in which more than 200 persons created a disturbance in front of the Embassy until they were dispersed by the police, and fear of a possible bomb outrage similar to that at Paris against Ambassador Herrick yesterday, led to extraordinary precautions being taken.

International Plot.

Reports from European Capitols and from South America to-day indicate the existence of an International Communist plot to secure by intimidation the freedom of Niccola Sacco and Bartholomeo Vanzetti, Italian Communists convicted of a brutal murder of a paymaster and a guard at Solth Braintree, Mass., July 4. American Ambassadors in Rome, Brussels and London have received threatening letters from Communists in their countries. Yesterday an atempt was made to assassinate Ambassador Herrick at Paris by means of a bomb through the mail after he had ignored threats from Communists in France. Brazilian Communists have sought to influence the press in Rio De Janerio in favor of a pardon for the convicted murderers of Massachusetts.

TO PRESENT PEACE PLAN CONFERENCE

LEADERS OF BIG FIVE RAILWAY BROTHERHOODS IN SECRET SESSION TO-DAY—HAVE STRIKE ORDERS IN THEIR POCKETS.

GET MILLION MEN

(By Carl Victor Little)

CHICAGO Oct. 20.—Chiefs of the powerful railroads brotherhoods who have called a strike for October 20 came to Chicago today to hear Presidents Harding's peace plans.

The "Big Five" whose 500,000 members carry strike orders in their pockets were summoned here from Cleveland, where they were holding a war council to appear before the United States Railroad Labor Board

Out of the conference it is believed will come a truce in the fight between workers and excutives and this will be followed closely by permanent peace.

CONFERENCE TODAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press)—Leaders of the Big Five Railroads Brotherhoods are in secret conference today with Railroad Labor Board while chairman of most of eleven other railroad unions are deciding whether they will call walkout to complete tie up Members of labor board are optimistic over prospects of adjustments of railwaymens complaints. Plans to operate passenger, mail and milk trains were being pushed by railroad executives today. In event of strike with resumption of freight traffic as fast as men can be secured. From ranks of men recently laid off, pensioners, loyal veterans and others of railroad experience, railroad officials state that they can recruit almost half million men.

ADVERTISING FOR MEN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Advertisements calling for men to take the places of possible strikers on all railroads centering here are published in to-day's papers. Several of the railroads have sent out circulars urging the men to think carefully before joining the strike. One of these, referring to the men's leaders, says: "Remember, they can order you out, but can they order you back?" Members of eastern presidents' conference met here today to lay plans for meeting a strike on the Eastern and New England roads. Although they professed to see some hope of a settlement, railroad heads declared they can not afford to delay plans to see what the Chicago conference would bring forth.

TO HEAR MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL

DEDHAM, Mass., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Examiner.)—Hearing on a motion for a new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted murderers and avowed radicals, will be held here Saturday morning, it was learned to-day. The two Italians on whose behalf Communists throughout the world are alleged to be planning revenge, were tried and convicted in the Superior court here for the murder of Frederick A. Parmenter, a shoe factory paymaster and a guard, Alessandro Barardolli, who were shot to death in broad daylight in a South Braintree street on April 15, 1920.

Seven Nurses Poisoned as Result. Of Eating Gift of Poisoned Candy

CHICAGO, October 20 (United Press). — Three men and one woman were held for questioning by the police to-day in connection with the poisoning of seven nurses at the West-End Hospital. The nurses became ill after they had partaken of a box of chocolates sent to Miss Helen Rosenfeld.

The candy, on examination, showed it contained cyanide.

Will and Ben Zimmerman, and Mrs. Harry Krause, with whom the brothers lived, stuck to their original stories that they knew nothing of the plot.

The Zimmerman brothers were both suitors of Miss Rosenfeld, who said she promised herself to become engaged to both of them.

The nurses were back at duty to-day.

Local Doctor Badly Injured in Motor Car Collision Last Night

DR. J. V. HAYES NOT EXPECTED TO RECOVER FROM EFFECTS OF FRACTURED SKULL AND OTHER SERIOUS INJURIES.

AUTOMOBILE WRECKED

Dr. J. Vernon Hayes of this city, received injuries which are expected to prove fatal, when he collided with a street car at 10.40 p.m. last night on George street, a short distance below King. Dr. Hayes is unconscious at St. Joseph's Hospital with a fractured skull.

Street Car No. 32, which was in the collision, was in charge of Motorman Lloyd Redman and Conductor H. Strong. It had crossed the points at King street and was travelling about 13 or 14 miles an hour when it struck the Ford coupe which, it is stated, was being driven north on the car tracks. The motorman was under the impression the car was travelling south, when suddenly it loomed directly in front, swerving to cross the tracks.

Police Chief Present.

According to Chief of Police Newhall, who was in the vestibule of the car, Motorman Redman displayed unusual presence of mind in sharply applying the brakes and sanding the slippery rails; the car was pulled up 33 feet before the impact occurred. The street car and the automobile met with fearful impact. The shattering of wood and glass was heard far up and down George street, attracting large crowds to the scene of the collision.

Was Unconscious.

Dr. Hayes was extricated by Chief Newhall and George Chambers of the Allen Theatre after some difficulty. Chief Newhall said he seemed to recognize him but could not speak. He was laid down on the curb and covered with overcoats while a doctor and an ambulance were secured. Dr. Hayes was breathing heavily. In a few minutes Dr. A. W. McPherson arrived and Father J. J. O'Brien. When preparing to take the injured doctor into the Hamilton home, Comstock's ambulance came and he was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, Father O'Brien going with the doctor to the hospital.

A Bad Wreck.

Dr. Hayes' car was struck by the street car on the left side, and the entire left side was driven back into the body, steel and iron crumpled up like matchwood. The steering wheel was pushed up out of its normal position and it appeared that Dr. Hayes was wedged against the wheel. The glass in the coupe was

NO RESPECTOR OF PERSONS OR SEX

GREAT WEITE PLAGUE IS AN EVER-PRESENT TERROR WHICH MUST BE CRUSHED.

The greatest and most implacable enemy of civilization still strides up and down this fair land, seeking whom it may devour. Yet unconquered, although stripped in no small degree of its deadly venom, Consumption, so fittingly characterized as the Great White Plague, is to-day found lying in wait to pounce upon the unwary—in the home, on the streets, in public places—ever watchful for opportunity to invade and destroy the human citadel, whenever its defences are weakened by over-exertion, physical debility or excess. It is no respector of persons or sex, and gives no warning of attack, stealing on its victims like a thief in the night, only to disclose itself after having secured a malignant clutch on the vital organs of its prey—man, woman or child. But, fortunely, due to educational propaganda, the advance of medical science, and provision for skilfully treating and sympathetically caring for humanity stricken by this dread foe, of late years its potency for absolute destruction in Ontario has been confined to a limit which presages practically the ultimate extinction of tuberculosis in respect of fatalities resulting therefrom, if only the National Sanitarium Association is stimulated in its splendid fight against consumption by wholehearted public financial support.

Ever-Present Terror.

It goes without saying, that in the name of humanity and Christianity, the war against this ever-present terror must go on. Thirty years ago this great work started when Mr. William Gage, (later Sir William), rented a small store on Queen street west, Toronto, and opened it as a free dispensary for consumptives unable to pay for their treatment. The cost of maintaining this dispensary and the cost of all drugs and medicines were defrayed entirely by Mr. Gage himself.

The first hospital for consumptives was built twenty-five years ago—the Muskoka Cottage Sanitarium—near Gravenhurst, where patients, able to pay or not, were treated. Toward the cost of this establishment, Mr. Gage contributed $20,000 and the Hart A. Massey estate another $20,000.

For the treatment of consumptives in the early stages the Muskoka Free Hospital was opened in 1902; and in 1904, the King Edward Sanatorium was opened at Weston, near Toronto, for the care of advanced consumptives.

Starting with 18 or 20 beds, it is comforting to note that this great institution for combatting the Great White Plague—The National Sanitarium Association—has now in its four hospitals accommodation for 800 afflicted

And just think of it! So eminently successful has been the endeavors of this splendid association that 5,-200 White Plague victims, in the disease's early stages, have been treated at the Muskoka Hospital, Gravenhurst, of which number 3,484 or 67 per cent., have been either restored to complete health or radically benefitted. Then, one finds a special source of gratification in the thought that 90 jer cent. of the children cared for in the Queen Mary Hospital are cured.

Unselfish Endeavor.

This is the glorious, unselfish work for suffering humanity you will be invited next week to assist by your subscripitnos in carrying on —and the need is particularly emphasized in the destruction by fire of the Muskoka Hospital ,and by the death last Jaunary of Sir William Gage, whose purse was ever open for the aid of consumptives in Ontario. Let the memory of that noble, philanthropic Canadian — a man among men in the cause of humanity—prove a stimulus to all in Peterborough to rise to the consumptives' need and subscribe cheerfully the $10,000 expected of them. Your fellow representative citizens have pledged this city to that amount, fully confident that ,even as during the war against the armed hosts of Central Europe, Peterborough citizens will again exert themselves to crush a foe more terrible, more malignant and more destructively dangerous to civilization than war-fatalities intensified.

National Sanitarium Campaign Bulletin

Peterborough, Oct. 20th, 1921

Next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday canvassers will call on you for the purpose of securing your contribution towards the sum of $10,000.00, which the City of Peterborough is asked to give through its citizens as its share of re-building the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives. We all feel that we have been almost canvassed and taxed to death for this, that, and the other project, and probably feel that Muskoka Hospital and its allied institutions should be a Provincial Government undertaking. Probably in time this will be the result, and the Government will conduct it after the manner of other public institutions, but to bring this about it will take time, and unless the Hospital is re-built at once, thousands of the citizens of this Province, which would include a fair share from this city, will not receive the attention that will bring them back to health; and as a result both the city and Province will be losers to the extent of the loss of life occasioned, and many homes will be saddened that can be prevented if we all do what is expected of us.

Tuberculosis, when not treated, is to be greatly feared, but with proper care is as curable, and more so, than many of the more serious diseases?

Will you not put your heart into this campaign and give again for the sake of your friend or neighbour? If this City and this Province does its part, Consumption will be practically wiped out in fifteen years.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.)— Shorts continued to cover contracts in the stock market to-day, evidently with the belief that there would be no serious interruption to railroad traffic. Early gains among rails were moderate, but at higher levels. American Sugar Pfd. was the strongest issue, rising three points on official announcement that prevailing dividend would be maintained. Popular Equipments, Oils and Specialties also were better. Leading foreign exchanges, including German Marks, were setady.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—Most of the activity in a quiet forenoon on the Toronto Stock Exchange was centered on investment issues. Bank stocks were in fair demand, although there was no important change in prices. Victories were firm, 1922's selling up to 99.25, with 37's the next most active issue, went as high as 99. C.P.R. wavered between 122 and 122 3-4, with trading very light. Steamships Preferred weakened to 53 3-4, and General Electric to 93.

MONTREAL MARKETS

MONTREAL, October 20. — Considerable strength was displayed on the local stock exchange during the first half hour this morning. Brompton rose a point to 22. Laurentide strengthened from 72, its closing figure 73 5-8. National Breweries advanced 3-4 of a point to 56. Abitibi and Atlantic Sugar however were both unchanged at 31 and 28 1-4.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. — Canadian Press. — Opening wheat prices, which varied from unchanged figures to 1 1-2c higher with December $1.04 to $1.04 3-4, and May $1.08 1-4 to $1.10, were followed by numerous changes with the initial range. Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. Corn started 1-8 to 3-8c up, December 45 3-4 to 45 7-8, and then continued to harden. Oats were 1-8 higher at outset, Dec. 32 1-4, and later scored additional gains.

NEW YORK, Wall street noon.—Rails of instrument class such as Northern Pacific, Great North Reading and Pennsylvania registered gains of one to 1 1-2 points in broad but moderate dealings of the morning. Steels and equipments also were perceptibly better and the food division was stimulated by recovery of American Sugar Pfd. Weakness was confined to Virginia, Carolina Chemical Pfd., and New York Air-Break, which declined 3 3-8 and 8 points respectively. Call money opened at 4 1-2 per cent.

STERLING EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, October 20. — Canadian Press. — Sterling exchange, strong demand. Great Britain $3.94 7-8. Canadian Dollars 8 5-8 per cent. discount.

Profit taking in Mex. Petroleum depressed at one point, but elsewhere tendency continued strongly upward. Gains of 1 to 4 points were established in a large variety of industrials and specialties, with representative railorads also making good showing.

CATTLE MARKETS.

TORONTO, October 20. — Canadian Press.—Receipts 75 trade slow, heavy beef steers not quoted. Choice butcher steers $6 to $6.50; butcher cows, medium $3 to $4; calves $11 to $13; lambs $8.25 to $8.60; hogs selects $9.

NORTHUMBERLAND LIBERALS WAIT A WEEK FOR SAM CLARKE

OFFER POPULAR MEMBER OF PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE UNANIMOUS NOMINATION — MR. CLARKE, JUST HOME FROM THREE MONTHS IN THE WEST, ASKS FOR FEW DAYS TO THINK IT OVER—CONVENTION DECIDED TO GET INTO THE FIGHT

REGARD CLARKE SURE WINNER

WARKWORTH, October 19.—Arriving home from the west last night after an absence of three months, Sam Clarke, M.P.P., Cobourg, was tendered the unanimous nomination of the Liberals of Northumberland County here this afternoon, who in the hope of obtaining his acceptance adjourned their convention for a week to give him plenty of time in making his decision.

"There's no rush, Sam. You can start in the last week and lick the whole bunch of them," called out a voice from the audience..

This was the rather crude but homely expression of the sentiment that seemed to possess this afternoon's meeting. No so numerous as either of the preceding conventions, probably on account of the steady rain that fell all afternoon, it was the most peppery of the three.

Prolonged cheering greeted Mr. Clarke when he rose to reply to the motion that submitted his name to the convention. His admirers, and that was the hallfull, paid him a tribute which, he said, had moved him very deeply. His address was frequently interrupted by cheers, especially when his words tended to convey the implication that he would enter the fight. And at the conclusion, when he resumed his seat, after declaring that he could not give an immediate decision because of his long absence from the riding and consequent lack of touch with its recent affairs, the aplause suggested a note of insistence that must have impressed Mr. Clarke.

Are in the Fight.

Northumberland Liberals made it quite plain this afternoon that they had no intention of letting this election go by default. The first motion was a declaration of war. If Mr. Clarke would step out as a leader of the party, victory was assured. If not, it then became a question of securing the next most influential man, and a dozen or more possible nominees were named, of enlisting the resources of the party, and then "carrying the war into Africa."

Such was the temper of the meeting, but most of the three hours was spent in the discussion of Mr. Clarke's candidature. Cogent arguments were advanced by J. B. McColl, ex-M.P., and C. W. Kerr, of Cobourg, who stated that Mr. Clarke should regard the appeal of the Liberal party in the present stage of Canadian affairs as one of the sacred duties of democracy.

J. N. Stone, deputy-reeve of Campbellford ,opened the convention. The preliminary election of officers resulted in Mr. J. D. Heyden of Co-

MILLBROOK, October 20.—Some of the placard on houses quarantined for diphtheria are now being removed—the time for isolation having expired. No new cases have developed in the last week, though there were twenty in the village, none of them, however, of a very serious nature. Swabs of the noses and throats of the children in the two lower rooms of the Public School were recently taken and sent to Toronto for examination, as it seemed probable that it was from the pupils of these rooms that the disease was preading.

No report from Toronto has yet been received.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

EPWORTH LEAGUE HELD INTERESTING MEETING— PROPERTY CHANGES.

CAMPBELLFORD, October 20.—The Epworth League meeting held on Monday evening was in charge of the Social and Literary Department, Miss Ruth Taylor and her assistants being in charge.

An excellent programme of deuts, choruses, readings, and an address was provided. The choruses by the children in charge of Miss Payne were heartily encored. Rev. H. B. Kenney gave a very fine illustrated talk on his visit to England this sum- "Life of John Wesley." A very pleasing duet was rendered by Mrs. A. L. Malcolm and Miss Nellie Hoover. Miss Leita Chapin gave a fine reading. Misses Ruth and Jennie Taylor sang very sweetly. The League decided to send an invitation to the young people of St. Andrew's Church, Burnbrae, to visit them on Monday evening, 31st October, the visitors to furnish the programme.

Up to date, the Squirrels lead the Owls by 120 points in the contest put on by the League.

ELECTION NEWS

GODERICH, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press)—Premier Meighen addressed a largely attended meeting here last night.

Mayor Wigle presented the premier with an address of welcome from the people of Goderich, which Premier Meighen acknowledged in a few words, the address had expressed appreciation of the premier's services at the conference of Prime Ministers in London and to this the Premier made reference. He said that he had refrained from discussing these matters during the campaign, because he felt that they should not be precipitated into the field of politics. He hoped, however, that his conduct had met with the approval of the people of Canada.

Mr. George Spotten, Government candidate said that his government had made more enemies than through passing and enforcing the military service act than in any other way He would not say that the U.F.O. was born in the cradle of conscription, but he declared that the membership of that organization had doubled and trebled in the years following the passage of the bill. In Quebec, the solid block was fighting the governmetn on an anti-conscription programme.

HON. T. A. CRERAR'S ADDRESS

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Oct 20.—Staff Correspondent, Canadian Press)—Hon. T. A. Crerar leader of the national progressives tonight addressed the largest crowd of his campaign From counties around, the annual plowing matches, had attracted thousands and the large skating rink in which Mr. Crerar spoke had no seats vacant.

Mr. Crerar left the more familiar ground of previous speeches to analyze the Dominion's finncial situation. There was urgent need for economy. He stressed the point that before September 1925, the Dominion would have $600,000,000 in maturing loans to refund "We need" he said, "a sound financial policy, founded on the practice of the most rigid economy in every branch of public expenditure."

He criticized the government on the ground that it had not practised due economy, citing the following appropriations as instances, Victoria Dry Dock $4,000,000. Welland Canal $5,000,000, Trent Valley Canal $5,000,000; Naval and Military expenditure, $20,000,000; Government Merchant Marine, $10,000,000.

What was needed, Mr. Crerar urged was a reasoned policy for the whole Dominion, that the Federal Provincial and Municipal authorities should get together to avoid dupicaion in expenditures.

READY FOR THE STRIKE CONFERENCE

LABOUR BOARD WILL GO OVER THE RAILWAY SITUATION—A FINAL DECISION.

JOINT MEETINGS

CHICAGO, October 20 (Canadian Press). — Preparations for the various moves through which it is hoped the threatened rail strike will be averted, were completed, and to-day the peace efforts will be in full swing.

Last night heads of the unions and the carriers were silently alert with—figuratively speaking—one eye on the conferences to-day between the "Big Five" railroad labour unions and the Railroad Labour Board, and the other on meetings of officials of the eleven unions which have not joined the conductors, enginemen, trainmen, firemen, and switchmen in a strike order, for both sides were agreed that out of these conferences would come the final decision as to whether a general walk-out of rail employees would materialise.

In the conference with the Labour Board rested the possibility of the "Big Five" being persuaded to cancel their order for a walk-out, while in the meetings of the eleven unions, which actually started yesterday, was to be decided whether these organisations, holding the balance of manpower through numpering three-fourths of the nearly two million rail workers in their membership, would join the "Big Five" if they walked out on 30th October, as planned.

PLAN OF ACTION.

The Board had no announcement to make last night as to its procedure to-day, other than to say that the situation "would be gone over thoroughly." It was understood, however, that a plan similar to that proposed by the Public Group in Washington, calling for acceptance of the last wage cut and cancellation of the strike order by the men with the roads immediately reducing the freight rates and temporarily postponing further wage cuts—would be the basis of discussion.

"ABJECT SURRENDER."

TOPEKA, Kan., October 20 (Canadian Press). — The whole United States is aroused, and will insist that the Government shall sot surrender to the railroad union as in 1916. Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, declared in a statement discussing the impending railroad strike.

"A frightened Congress in 1916 passed a law in three days which prevented a general strike by abject surrender to the threats of the four railroad brotherhoods. A courageous Congess in this hour could in three days pass a just law creating a Federal tribunal, before which the labouring man might receive justice without warring upon the public."

COMBATTING THE STRIKE.

At the informal meetings, numerous plans of combatting the strike have been discussed, but it was said that no complete final method had yet been adopted. Recall of all men on pension; appeals to the public to help run the trains, ultimatums to the unions that men who do not return to work within a specified time after the walk-out will be virtually blacklisted, and distribution of circulars among the men, pointing out that they lose their seniority rights, are some of the steps contemplated, rail heads said.

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press.)—William J. Hunter, amateur golf champion of Great Britain, and Max Marston, of Philadelphia, defeated Jesse Guilford, United States' amateur title holder and Francis Guimet, former open and amateur champion, in a 36-hole exhibition match yesterday.

EXPLODED A BOMB, HOUSE AMBASSADOR

ROOM IN WHICH THE EXPLOSION OCCURRED WAS BADLY WRECKED

VALET INJURED

PARIS, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press). — Bomb exploded in the house of United States Ambassador Herrick when his valet opened a package containing it. The room where the explosion occurred was wrecked

The package containing the bomb, addressed to the Ambassador, was delivered at the Embassy yesterday morning and was later brought to the Ambassador's residence, No. 16 Avenue Messina

The explosion occurred in the bathroom of the Ambassador's suite The bomb was brought from the chancellery of the Embassy by a secretary who thought it a personal present for the Ambassador.

Ambassador Herrick and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Parmely W. Herrick and her son, age seven years, were mounting the stairs to the suite and heard the explosion. Immediately the valet came rushing down, crying:

"A bomb has exploded. I am hit."

In the room, and demolished with it ,were a number of presents Ambassador Herrick had received on the occasion of his birthday, October 9. The belief is expressed by the Prefect of Police, among others, that the bomb was a time contrivance

The Ambassador described the outrage without the slightest sign of excitement,

"The act was that of an irresponsible coward who was without courage enough to come out into the open," he said,

The package, about eight inches long, four inches wide and five inches deep, came by French registered mail, and was labelled, "Perfume." The Ambassador's valet, Walter Blanchard, a 23-year-old Englishman, opened the package, as he is wont to do in the absence of the Ambassador. Upon opening the lid, a spring was released, and Blanchard, who had been a bomber during the war, immediately suspected its significance, threw the package away, rushed from the room, and was hit in the back by a fragment before he could make his exit.

"I am only glad that it did not happen in the chancellery, where many persons might have been killed," said Mr. Herrick last night.

The incident in the home of Ambassador Herrick follows various expressions of protest, which have occurred intermittently in Italy since immediately after the conviction of Sacco and Vanzetti by a Massachusetts court last summer, but have only recently manifested themselves in France.

The crime for which Sacco and Vanzetti were convicted was the result of the robbery by four or five bandits of the payroll of Slater and Morrill Shoe Company, of South Braintree, Mass., on April 15, 1920, and of the death of Frederick A. Parmenter, the company's paymaster, and his guard, Alexandro Berardelli

THE WASHINGTON CONFERENCE.

While Canadians are not a unit in believing that the disarmament conference at Washington will justify the high hopes of some commentators, there will be at least general satisfaction that Canada is to be directly represented. The Dominion is vitally interested in many of the questions that will be discussed at the conference, especially those related to the problems of the Pacific, and it is gratifying to know that Canada's views will be voiced by her own representative. The choice of Sir Robert Borden as the delegate of the Dominion seems to meet with approval in all sections of the country and among people of all shades of politics. No Canadian statesman is better qualified than Sir Robert, not only because of his appreciation of the Canadian point of view, but because of his association with world problems as a result of his attendance at the Peace conference, and there is apparently universal confidence that Canada's interests will be well protected by his presence at Washington.

THE VOTERS' LISTS.

The problem of what plan is to be adopted in preparing the voters' lists in Ontario for the Dominion elections has not yet been solved. The electoral officials seem tobe at sea over the question and are hesitating as to whether or not the municipal lists of 1920 shall be used as a basis. In the general interest this most vital matter should be quickly decided. Under the most favourable conditions there has always been more or less confusion over the lists and the present muddle gives little hope of any better results during the present campaign. If the municipal lists are to be employed in cities, towns and villages of over 2,500 population the announcement should be made without delay so that there can be ample time allowance for the registration of those whose names are not on the municipal lists. On the other hand if the lists are to be compiled "from the ground up," that is, by a general registration, there is even more necessity for haste. In any case there should be time afforded for a thorough revision of the lists in order that those who have been left off may have an opportunity of protecting their franchise.

MORE ABOUT THE RECALL.

"We are not putting Mr. Wallace in. We are putting a U.F.O. man in. We are not working for Mr. Wallace really — we are putting him in to work for us. And we have the recall on him; we can just call him back when he doesn't do the right thing."

These words are those of the Country Director of the United Farm Women of Ontario at a U.F.O. meeting at Simcoe on Tuesday. They are significant because they confirm every thing the Examiner has said about the recall system. The speaker cannot be accused of subterfuge or evasion—she is frankness itself. She not only admits, but boasts that the candidate himself does not count. He is merely a rubber stamp to be manufactured by the Farmers' organization. "We are putting him in to work for us." Notice that last little, but important word, "us." Mr. Wallace, if elected, is not to work for the Dominion or for the riding he represents, but only for "us" — which means the Farmers' Clubs of his riding. And if he doesn't carry out his orders Mrs. Hammond tells what will happen to him. "We can just call him back," she declares. Mrs. Hammond, being newer to the world of politics than the male leaders of the Farmers, is more candid than they are about the recall system, and in her Simcoe speech she has stripped the last mask off the scheme, showing it to be founded entirely on class consciousness. In a few words she has made the plan so clear that he who runs may read. And to those outside of the Agrarian party it makes queer reading.

NOTED SPORT DEAD.

MONTREAL, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—George Kennedy, a noted sport promoter, died here this morning after a long illness.

THE RAILWAY PROBLEM.

The political campaign is in full swing and the leaders of the three parties are discussing what they claim to be the issues of the day. Yet it is significant that none of them is clear or definite in referring to what to man. Canadians seems to be the biggest problem that Canada has to face—the problem of our national railways. All three leaders have talked around the subject, but the country is still waiting to hear from any one of them a clean cut, straightforward declaration of policy—an announcement of a solution for this vital question. The railways which have now passed from the private companies—who previously had collected $722,000,000 in loans from the Dominion— into the hands of the people, represent a property expenditure of $1,600,000,000. After having paid in loans to the companies a sum equivalent to $90 per head for every man, woman and child in the country the roads are now, with their burdens, resting upon the shoulders of the Canadian people. Three political parties are asking us to entrust the government of Canada to them. What is their railway policy? How do they propose to deal with this gigantic problem? What is their solution to this national puzzle? These are questions that the electors have a right to ask and that they are asking. So far the only answer, either from the Premier or Hon. Mackenzie King or Hon. T. A. Crerar has been so indefinite as to be meaningless. Yet the issue is too important to be evaded, and before polling day arrives there should be a frank statement from each of the parties.

FOR VALOUR.

Perhaps there are some prosaic, matter-of-fact persons who see in the award of the Medal of Hohour to Britain's Unknown Warrior and the bestowal of the Victoria Cross on his American comrade-in-arms nothing but a piece of sentimentalism, and, therefore, unworthy of their sternly practical minds. Of this class are those who disdain all poetry as trash and regard romance as food for love-sick maidens and children.

It is a good thing for the world that such men and women are few in number and insignificant in influence. There is enough of pessimism and gloom abroad without banishing the romance and chivalry which is the lubricant of our social intercourse. The great majority are touched by romance which this bestowal of these sacred awards inspires. They "see through a glass darkly" something of the mysticism which encircles these honours, and in a world full of materialism they grasp at this symbol of a higher life.

The Medal of Honour and the Victoria Cross are the supreme awards in the gift of the two Anglo-Saxon peoples. The Victoria Cross, which dates from the days of the Indian Mutiny, "shall only be awarded to those officers and men who have served in the presence of the enemy and shall have performed some signal act of valour and devotion to their country." The Congressional Medal of Honour is granted as a reward for "Most distinguished bravery and self-sacrifice, above and beyond the call of duty, for gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life."

Neither medals have been cheapened by promiscuous disposal, and both are regarded as the highest attainment of duty well done, of superb courage in the face of death. If the roll of the holders of both medals has been swelled during the last few years it has only been because prodigies of valour were performed by the heroes of both nations in the face of the enemy.

On the tomb of the Unknown Warrior in Westminster Abbey has been laid the reward for splendid courage, a token of a nation's appreciation of the dauntless spirit which urges men to supreme effort in defence of country. In a few days' time a little bronze cross, hammered out of the metal of captured cannon, will be laid reverently on the tomb of the Unknown Warrior who sleeps at Arlington.

Each of these tombs is the resting-place of a knight "sans peur and sans reproche." Both of the honoured soldiers were men subject to like passions as we ourselves, with their weaknesses and their failings, but into those tombs has been drawn all that is best spiritually in the armies of the two nations, in those two plain coffins are for ever enshrouded the ideals of these two peoples.

These warriors in their lifetime fought as comrades. The highest recognition of the qualities of each has been paid by the State of the other. The warrior who is the "Fighting Yank" has been enrolled among the glorious names of Britain's heroes, and some Tommy has won the Congressional Medal of Honour.—Montreal Star.

MONTREAL MAYORALTY FIGURES.

MONTREAL, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press). — The final figures in the Mayoralty elections here show Mayor Mederic Martin was re-elected by 53,024 votes, against 22,000 ballots cast for his opponent, Luc Rochefort, a majority of 30,124. Only forty per cent. of the total electorate voted.

THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—The market for cash grain was quiet yesterday. There was no further change in the local flour situation. Millfeed showed no further developments, and the market for rolled oats was quiet. The tone of the market for baled hay was fairly steady. There was no change in the egg market. Continued good demand prevails in the potato market. The feeling for butter remains firm, and a fair business is passing in cheese.

THE MAN FROM MISSOURI

DEAR HARRY.
AM DOWN in old St. Louis.
JUST GOT here this morning.
CAME OVER from Des Moines.
LAST NIGHT on the Wabash.
MUST TELL you about.
A LITTLE conversation.
I LISTENED in on.
ON THE way over.
THERE WERE three of us.
OUT IN the smoking compartment.
THE OTHER two chatting.
WHILE I sat smoking.
AND INDULGING in one.
OF MY usual day dreams.
AND INCIDENTALLY listening.
TO WHAT the others.
WERE TALKING about.
AND WHEN we stopped.
AT A sizeable little city.
IN NORTH-EAST Missouri.
ONE OF my companions.
COMMENTED ON its activity.
AND BUSTLING appearance.
AND ASKED what city.
MIGHT THAT be.
AND THE other said.
WHY DON'T you know.
WHY THIS is the Bethlehem.
OF THE western world.
JUST AS from that other.
CAME THAT Divine Healer.
WHO WAS to provide.
FOR A soul sick world.
A RELIGION of hope.
AND GOOD cheer.
SO IN this Missouri taw
THERE AROSE that philosopher.
WHO WAS to offer.
TO A sick disease ridden.
AND DISCOURAGED world.
A NEW theory of disease.
AND A new principle.
OF CURE.
YES THIS was the cradle.
OF THE theory.
OF SPINAL adjustment.
AS APPLIED to the cure.
OF HUMAN ailments.
THIS IS that city.
WHOSE CHIEF delight.
AS WELL as privilege.
IT IS to cherish.
AND ALSO revere.
THE MEMORY of him.
WHO WAS and will ever be.
HER FIRST citizen.
DR. ANDREW T. STILL.
THE FOUNDER of osteopathy.
THE ORIGINAL system.
OF HEALING by adjustment.
YES SIR this is KIRKSVILLE, MISSOURI.

Down in Kirksville, Mo., in 1891 and 1892, there began to be considerable excitement over the wonderful cures wrought by an old doctor, a former army surgeon, who was curing people by adjusting the little bones in their spines, shoving them back into their proper place from which they had slipped, and soon patients, the maimed, the halt and the blind, were flocking to him and being marvellously healed. That was the real beginning of osteopathy, the original system of healing by spinal adjustment.

MILLBROOK WOMEN'S INSTITUTE HELD FIRST MEETING OF SEASON

SMALL ATTENDANCE — EPWORTH LEAGUE HAVE A NIGHT OUT—PERSONAL MENTION.

MILLBROOK, Oct. 20. — The Woman's Institute held their first meeting since last June at the home of the President, Miss E. M. Fisher, Anne street, on Saturday, October 14th at 8 p.m.

Fifteen members were in attendance, a very small number in comparison with the total membership of the Institute, which is between sixty and seventy.

The most important item of business disposed of was when, after considerable discussion, it was decided to hold the Chautauqua series of five entertainments this winter under the auspices of the Institute. The President and officers are most anxious that every member will do their utmost to make this series of concerts the success it deserves to be. The date for the initial entertainment is already fixed for November 1st, "Dixie Jewell" being the talent provided.

Another matter that came up for discussion was the sending of a delegate to the Provincial Federation Convention to be held in Toronto on November 15, 16 and 17, the final decision arrived at being to urge as many members as could possibly do so to make an effort to be in Toronto at that time and attend the convention. Those who could conveniently make this arrangement would be asked to bring home as full a report as possible.

The President expressed her desire to have the Institute take advantage of the demonstration courses provided by the government without charge to local organizations, on such subjects as dressmaking, domestic science, etc., the only stipulation being that a class of not less than fifteen members must be guaranteed. No decisive action was taken at this meeting but it is hoped something definite will be done in the near future.

Miss Fisher served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed before the meeting was adjourned, the next regular session to be on the second Wednesday in November in the Town Hall; a special meeting will necessarily have to be called to make further arrangements for the entertainment on November 1st.

Senior Epworth League.

The Senior Epworth League of the Methodist church held their meeting on Monday, October 17th, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. John Hatherly, two miles east of the village, twenty-five of the members going out by motor.

The programme was in charge of the Social and Literary committee, and the convenor, Miss Gertrude Richards, occupied the chair. The "Life and Works of Sir Walter Scott" was the subject for study, and was presented in a most interesting and profitable manner by Miss Stella Hetherington and Miss Richards, two members who were to have assisted with the programme were unfortunately unable to be present.

After the meeting a very enjoyable social time was spent in playing games, music, etc., and Mrs. Hatherly and her daughter, Miss Bertha, served refreshments. A hearty vote of thanks to their hosts and hostesses was moved by Mr. Frank Alcorn and seconded by Mr. Arnold Raper. Mrs. Hatherly made a brief but most appropriate reply, expressing her pleasure, and that of her husband and family, in having the Leaguers as their guests, and most hospitably extending a warm invitation to them to again hold their meeting at their home in the near future.

The young people, carrying very pleasant memories of the evening with them, then returned their respective homes.

A Fowl Supper.

The fowl supper held on Tuesday, Oct. 18th, in the Sunday school hall of the Methodist church, and under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, met with its usual success, about four hundred people being served during the super hours from 6 to 8 o'clock.

The basement was very beautifully decorated with autumn leaves, fruits, grains, flowers, etc., the credit for this being due to Miss Gillott, whose artistic ability is well known.

With the exception of Mrs. Peplier, the entertainers who had been advertised were unfortunately unable to be present, but three others were hastily secured to take their places, and these received a number of encores to their various selections.

Many car-loads drove in from Port Hope, Peterborough and other outside points, and all expressed themselves as being thoroughly satisfied with the bountiful supper provided, and the well-managed way in which it was served. The total receipts were in the neighborhood of $250.

Opening Dance.

Doubtless there will be a large attendance at the first dance of the season under the auspices of the G. W.V.A. which will be held in the armouries on Thursday, October 20th, at 9 p.m.

Wedding Bells.

The marriage of Mr. Austen B. Sutton, son of Colonel Sutton, of Cobourg, to Miss Gladys Laura Jones, daughter of Mr. William Jones, of Hope township, was solemnized in the vestry of the Methodist church on Wednesday, October 19th, at 7 a.m., the Rev. S. T. Tucker performing the ceremony. Only a few of the immediate friends of both families were present. The happy couple left on the 7.40 train for their wedding trip and on their return will reside at Mr. Sutton's farm on the Fallis Line.

Home From West.

Mr. W. I. Collins returned on Wednesday from an extended business trip though the States, having been away some three or four months.

Miss Mary Pitt, bookkeeper in Burnham Bros.' store, is at present enjoying her annual two weeks' holidays.

Miss May Needham returned on Saturday from an enjoyable visit at the home of Mr. George H. Morrow, Weller street, Peterborough. Mrs. Needham remained in the city over Sunday but is expected home this week.

Anniversary Services.

Rev. Mr. Gervan ,pastor of Grace Presbyterian church, will preach the anniversary sermons in the South Monaghan Presbyterian church on Sunday, October 23rd, exchanging with Rev. Mr. McConnachie, who will take his work at the Millbrook and Garden Hill appointments.

Mr. and Mrs. Powell and son, of Elizabethville, were guests of Mrs. Jeffrey Widdis on Sunday.

Mrs. Roberts, accomapnied by her daughter, Miss Roma, of Ley's Point, Rice Lake, were guests of her mother, Mrs. Forsyth, Main street, on Sunday.

Headache

Recurring headaches usually come from an exhaustion of the nervous system, and they do not disappear until the vigor of the nerve cells is restored by such upbuilding treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Temporary relief by use of powders is often obtained at an enormous expense to the nervous system and the general health.

Mrs. W. J. Pearse, Nunn St., Cobourg, Ont., writes:

"My system became run-down and I suffered greatly with pain in my head. This was so severe that I would have to bind a cloth tightly about my head so that I could get my work done. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after taking the first box I found quite an improvement in my condition. I continued using them until I had taken about seven boxes, and they strengthened and built up my system splendidly, completely relieving the pain in my head."

HAPPENINGS IN DUMMER

CONSIDERABLE ACTIVITY IN CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL CIRCLES—REV. HUGHES LECTURES ON ENGLISH RURAL LIFE

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

WARSAW, Oct. 20.—Mr. Garfield Anderson and Miss Flossie Icorn of Peterborough spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crowe.

Miss Sarah Miller returned home last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Miller motored to Port Hope for the week-end.

Mr. J. A. Sexsmith was in the village one day last week.

Mr. John Dewart was a visitor in the village last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis, Miss Stella Ellis and Miss Brown of Keene visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crowe on Sunday.

Mr. Fred. Anderson of Peterborough is spending this week with friends near Warsaw.

Mr. J. A. Crowe and Master Archie Crowe spent a few days in Peterborough last week.

A goodly number of people went down to Norwood Monday to attend the Conservative convention.

Quite a few took in the Batten excursion to Bobcaygeon last Thursday.

Barn Destroyed.

During the thunder storm Monday afternoon a barn belonging to Mr. James Lobb, on 6th line, Dummer, was destroyed by fire. The harvest and some machinery, as well as the barn, were consumed. No stock fortunately suffered.

There were a few hail stones with the storm Monday. Out near Ida the hail storm was very severe.

Death of Infant.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bell's infant son was buried on Sunday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Vose conducted the service.

S. S. Convention.

A Sunday School convention will be held this (Thursday) afternoon in Bethel Church. Although it is especially for Methodist Sunday Schools of the district, all others interested are most cordially invited.

Old-time Religion.

Rev. Mr. Vose preacned on "The Old-time Religion" on Sunday morning.

Attend Sunday School.

A meeting of the Dummer Sunday School executive was held in the Presbyterian Church last Thursday evening, when matters of interest to Sunday School workers were discussed. An attempt will be made to try to persuade one of the community to attend the Sunday School he or she should. Also, an effort should be made to so influence those of proper age that they may feel and obey Christ's command and become membeas of the visible church.

Another matter discussed was that when special donations are asked of a Sunday School the children should have the matter put before them and asked if they could not save their spending money for the purpose instead of having the funds needed—at least the whole of it—taken out of the treasury. The children would then feel that they are responsible.

Rural Life.

At the regular meeting of the Woman's Institute, on Thursday afternoon last, Rev. Mr. Hughes of Youngs' Point and Warsaw, addressed the ladies on rural life in England. He took life in Bedfordshire, as he was familiar with every lane in that midland county, where rural life, he said, has three aspects —natural, social and religious.

In natural aspects the country is extremely beautiful. Undulating, it is wooded not enough to be thick, not just sufficient to give shade and beauty. The roads wind among the meadow lands and the cultivated areas. He showed several cards picturing village streets, approaches, etc. The English lanes, with the grassy plots on either side and the hedges, seemed to be especially beautiful, though, he remarked, that some farmers were cutting away their hedges and putting up wire fences to save that much more land. The wonderful wild flowers appeal to the eye and the sense of smell in their season, including violets, primroses, daffodils, etc. At the approaches to villages are avenues of trees, and the road-sides as well as highways were well kept. Sometimes he wondered if it would not be worth while here in Canada to copy England by having men look after the roads and make and keep them in good repair. This might raise the rates, he said, but might it not be worth while? There country life is alive with the music of birds. In early spring the lark soars away high up, singing clearly and so sweetly. He also mentioned the yellow-hammer, the thrush and little robin red breast. The latter is their winter bird, much smaller than the Canadian robin, and he did not say, but left us to infer that it sings more sweetly. To him, it surely would.

Ploughing is often done in January; spring is earlier and autumn later than here, and the harvest is not such of a rush.

A village, Rev. Hughes continued, is proud of its common or green, which is common property and well kept. Here the May-pole festivities are indulged in, children may play and older people rest. The thatched cottage is quite common and a properly thatched building has a warm, dry roof. The village streets are generally paved with cobblestones. Grain is stacked, never put in barns, and often is not threshed until next spring.

From the social aspect, he said, there are three factors—parson, squire and villagers. The squire may be a tyrant or the opposite. Sometimes his tyranny is quite unselfish and for the good of the people. His is the ruling hand in everything. If any one is sick or in distress he helps; he provides work and sees that it is done. He sees that the people attend church and give heed to the service, provides work—in fact, acts as a community father. The squire generally has something to do with the appointment of the clergyman. At Christmas tide he provides a great festival; he provides for alms houses, so that his people do not need to go to the workhouse. Unless he and the parson fail to pull together the squire keeps the village church in repair. Where they are bad friends the church gets no assistance from the squire.

Mail is always delivered and the postmaster or postmistress always looks for a little chat. There are clubs for women and mothers' meetings, of which the lady of the rectory is generally in charge. On the whole, morally, English people are better off in villages than in the towns.

In religion, perhaps, they are not very vigorous, and they do not contribute towards the upkeep of the church. In the house of God the people are always reverent. They are not excited, but solid and stand by their church. They may have rude ideas, but they 'fear God and honor the King." That is, they respect those who are over them, and this makes a staunch people.

The foregoing is only a synopsis of an intensely interesting and very instructive address, and the institute is deeply grateful to Mr. Hughes for the pains he took and time he gave.

PRICE OF AFRICAN WIVES ADVANCE.

Extra Classy One Now Costs $6.50.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Oscar Olsson, a Swede, who has just returned from a 5,000-mile trip through Central Africa, where he made moving pictures for scientific purposes, declared that the high cost of living is even a problem in the jungle and that the price of African wives has advanced from $5 to $6. An extra classy wife costs $6.50. Before the war the best wives cost only $3.50. Some were to be had as low as $2.

Mr. Olsson has filmed the Arctic before going to the Equator.

"It was a most interesting trip," said the moving picture man. "It was worth while just to study the habits of animals. If there are any telegraph or telephone lines built the builders had better put the wires pretty high for, along the railroads, I have seen giraffes reach up and nibble the telegraph wires and then pull them down in disgust at the flavor."

HASTINGS BOY HEARS SERMON BY WIRELESS

EVERETT HESS LISTENS TO CONCERTS IN PITTSBURG EVERY NIGHT—ENTERTAINS FRIENDS BY THE NEWEST MAGIC OF MEN.

HASTINGS, Oct. 20. — Nightly concerts in Pittsburg, heard by wireless in one of Hastaings homes, are beginning to shed the magic of their wonderful transmission for most people here. Everett Hess, the fourteen-year-old son of Reeve (Dr.) Hess, by an operation which in its visible form appears as commonplace as listening at a telephone, can enjoy the fascinating pleasure of a long-distance concert any night he chooses, which means virtually every night, or he may entertain his young friends, and his older ones too, by inviting them to one of these mystic musicales. Last Sunday night, sitting in his home here, he heard a sermon preached in Pittsburg. Tuesday night, a hardware traveller, who had heard of Everett's wireless communications, remained in town over night, was a guest at the special concert provided in Pittsburg by his young host, and said afterward that it was one of the most enjoyable evenings he had ever spent, not excluding those for which he had paid big admissions.

These concert and sermon features are arranged by the Radio Club. Everett Hess has installed a powerful receiving set, the wires of which have been set up on a frame work on the roof at his home, and by this means the music and words are carried through the ether from Pittsburg to Hastings.

Rink Meeting To-Night.

All those interested in the proposal to build a covered skating and hockey rink are expected to attend to-night's meeting. From advance reports, there is a strong belief that definite action will be decided on. Everyone who would like to see a rink provided for the young people, especially for the boys, who would form a good junior team, fully recognize the advantages of it. The financial side of the problem will be presented to-night.

Mothers' Allowance Act Enlarged Take in Additional Cases of Need

During the year 1921 the scope of the Mothers' Allowance Act has been widened and enlarged to take in and allow claims not provided for in the original Act.

In addition to those cases originally provided for, allowances may now be paid to the following women:

1.—The wife of a husband who has deserted her and has not been heard of for five years.

2.—A woman who has resident with her and under her care a child over 14 years of age, or a husband who is permanently disabled and not able to support his family, and has also resident with her one legitimate child of her own, under 15, and has not the means to provide for such child without the allowance.

3.—A woman who is married or unmarried and has resident with her two or more orphan children, and is the grandmother, sister, aunt, or other suitable person, acting as foster mother of such children, and has not the means to support them without the allowance.

The Act also contains a provision permitting the Government to enter into an agreement with the Government of any other Province for payment to mothers who had received such allowances in the other Province, on their becoming resident in Ontario, when the Government of such other Province passes reciprocal legislation.

A section has also been added permitting the Lieutenant-Governor in Council to direct payments to a mother or foster mother who is not strictly eligible to the same under the Act.

As the municipality has to pay fifty per cent. of these allowances, it will be seen that its burden has been accordingly increased.

What Is Behind The Endeavor Of Marriage License Issuer in Hamilton

A despatch from Hamilton says that the City Clerk, who now issues marriage licenses, gives out a 200-page cook book with every license. It doesn't say whether this is a municipal piece of charitable endeavor or whether it is just an altruistic idea of his own. He may be one of those gentlemen who still remembers the efforts of his bride to achieve a well-cooked steak without burning it, or maybe he possesses a helpmate who knows all about cooking and realizes what a wonderful life he has had. Perhaps he is a bachelor who can boil coffee and fry bacon for himself, and the cook book may be intended for the husband instead of the wife. Men are doing all sorts of things these days. It is not so very long ago that a Chicago merchant won a prize for the best baked loaf of bread in competition with fourteen ladies.

However the case may be, it seems to be a good idea. The poet who sang, "If a woman but cooks, we don't care how she looks," voiced a popular masculine sentiment, and, since the days when Mother Eve proferred the apple to our first parent, the way to many a man's heart has been found by an appeal to his digestive apparatus.

Rev. Peter Byrce Will Address Local Branch Of The Children's Aid Society

Mr. Bryce Has Just Returned From An Extended Trip To Europe---Attended International Child Welfare Conference.

Rev. Peter Bryce, who is to be the chief speaker at the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society, to be held in the Public Library here on November 15th, has just recently returned from Europe, where he attended two great national conferences on child welfare. Speaking last week in Toronto in the Social Service building of the university before the Child Welfare Council, Mr. Bryce gave an interesting report on the International Child Welfare Conferences held last July in London, England, and in Brussels, Belgium.

At the English-speaking conference in London representatives were present from many city and country Councils in Scotland, England and Wales, from Australia, Canada, South Africa, Japan, Trinidad, Zanzibar, Straits Settlements, New Zealand, Siam, Barbadoes, Bermuda, Ceylon, United States and several other countries, including India, which sent 19 delegates. At Brussels there were official representatives from all the Governments of the Entente—France, Italy, Belgium, United States, China, Switzerland, Holland, Spain and Scandinavia.

The various representatives at these great meetings, Mr. Bryce declared, "went home inspired by the consciousness of a constructive world-task of supreme value, and they left determined to do all in their power to bring to an end the great wastage of child life." His address on "International Aspects of Child Welfare," was brought to a close by the words: "May we not hope that where diplomacy has failed, the child, the weak thing, may succeed? It may be that as the nations of the world gather round the child, they may bring their gifts of peace and love and happiness to the children of all the world, and bring the dawning of the morning of that glad day when 'man to man the world o'er shall brothers be, for a' that.'"

District Meeting of the I.O.D.E. Will Be Held Here, Tuesday Next

A Number of Important Speakers will be Present High Tea Will Be Served By Local Association.

At the district meeting of the I.O.D.E., which takes place here in the G.W.V.A. Hall on Tuesday, October 25th, addresses will be given by Mrs. Frank Burkholder of Hamilton, President of the Provincial Chapter, and Mrs. Grant Thompson of Toronto, Vice-President of the National Chapter of the I.O.D.E. These ladies will speak at the evening session of the meeting, explaining and outlining the work of the order, and the afternoon will be devoted to the general business which will come up for attention. The local ladies will serve tea to the visitors, and the evening session will be thrown open to the public. All members of the different chapters of the I.O.D.E. resident in the city are invited to the high tea served at the conclusion of the afternoon session.

Music Week

Music Week will be held in Canada from October 22nd to the 29th, inclusive. "Music Week," says a Toronto publication, "is growing in popularity every year, and this time promises to be better than ever. The plan has been evolved by the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music and includes festivals of different kinds in all parts of Canada. Music dealers are lending their co-operation by decorating their stores appropriately."

From Montreal comes the report of the decided success of community singing, a movement developed and fostered by the Kiwannis Club of that city. Each week from 20,000 to 30,000 people gather in Fletcher's Field to sing. "It now appears to be a fixture, for everybody seems to be in favor of it. Even the weather man has backed it, because on fourteen different nights he has not sent a drop of rain.

"No band is used. A piano, ably played by Mr. Ernest Kerr, who has been very active in fostering the idea, supplies the instrumental side of the programme. The singing is conducted by Mr. Percy Clarkson, while his side partner, Mr. Collin Harris, announces the songs through a magnavox.

"The sing-songs are held every Wednesday night in the open air from 8.15 to 9.30. During the fall and winter it is planned to develop ten different choruses in different parts of the city of one hundred voices each. The idea is to eventually combine these into one chorus of one thousand voices. For the open-air work next summer it is hoped to have a stand that will hold a choir of five hundred.

"The Montreal papers have enthusiastically commended the undertaking as a means to develop community spirit and good fellowship. Even the youngsters of the city are deriving good from it. The other day one small boy was seen standing on a soap box lustily leading about twenty other children in a juvenile sing-song."

Visiting Teachers

The British teachers in Toronto on the teachers' exchange system are being entertained largely by women's clubs in the city. They hail from England, Scotland and from New Zealand, two of their number having come from Australia to London and then to Canada on the exchange.

When asked recently to compare teaching in the English schools with that of Canada, the majority of the teachers were of the opinion that Canadian boys and girls were more independent, more inclined to stand on their rights and ready to talk freely. The English children knew more for their years than the Canadians. "Your modern buildings are really wonderful," agreed the teachers. They had been warned that they would find the discipline a difficult matter, but had found that it varied with the locality, some children being more amendable to discipline than others. A teacher of sewing remarked on the great interest shown by the little girls in this work. A teacher from Australia thought that Canadian and Australian girls were very similar.

A number of Peterborough young ladies went to England in the spring of this year to work oi the teachers' exchange system, among them Miss Edith Hunter, Miss Meta Allen, a daughter of Dr. A. H. Allen, Charlotte street; Miss Verda Watt and Miss Florrie Nichols.

Household Hints

Horseradish butter is good on graham bread sandwiches.

Doughnuts are delightful flavored with the grated rind of an orange.

Don't let the direct rays of the sun shine on your mirror. It has a bad effect on the metallic coating of the glass.

Discarded woollen underwear makes low slippers worn with rubber boots. When dyed it makes warm mittens.

Before grating lemons, remove the small brown specks on the outer peel. To do this, soak the lemons in gold water for 20 minutes and then rub with a small scrubbing brush.

ANNUAL BAZAAR.

The 57th Chapter of the I.O.D.E. will hold their annual bazaar on the 1st and 2nd days of December. It will be held in the Young Men's Christian Association.

Vests of bright color continue frequently into collars that may be worn high or open.

LIFE'S ILLUSION.

(By Alex. Louis Fraser.)

He toiled and saved his earnings every day;
But starved his mind, and grasped at common things;
His prisoned soul ne'er struggled out of clay,
His better nature never found its wings.

He hoped to sit with Happiness at last,
Mansioned, sufficient, when he would be old;
But he was just a graveyard! and the past,
Left nought to him but a rude pile of gold.

Ad Infinitum

They've found the bug
That eats the bug
That knifes the bug
That stabs the bug
That fights the bug
That bites us;
They've traced the germ
That kills the germ
That chews the germ
That smites us.
That jabs us;

They know the bug
They've seen the germ
That hates the germ
That biffs the germ
That nabs us.

They've struck the bug
That slays the bug
That flays the bug
That sticks us;
They've jailed the germ
That guides the germ
That taught the germ
To fix us.

But still these bugs—

In spite of drugs
Combat us;
And still these germs
Described in terms—
Inspiring squirms—
Get at us!

Fashion Parade

A feature of the exhibit of Natural Tread Shoes at the Grand Opera House next week that might appeal to women as well as the style show and fashion parade in connection with it, is the silver collection at the door, which will be in charge of representatives of the Children's Aid Shelter and St. Vincent's Orphanage. The proceeds will be divided equally between these two institutions.

BETTER THAN WATER.

An invalid whose mouth becomes dry and parched during the night, or a fever patient, will find that an orange, cut into small pieces and placed within easy reach of the bed so that a piece may be held in the mouth from time to time, will be more beneficial than water. It has the added advantage that a patient can manage the piece of orange more easily than he could a glass of water.

Recipes

Apricot Eggs.

A small sponge cake, some canned apricots, a gill of cream. Cut the sponge cake in squares, lay them in a dish and pour over a little of the syrup from the apricots. In the centre of each piece of sponge cake lay half an apricot, the round side uppermost. Whip the cream with a little sugar, adding, if necessary, the white of an egg to make it go rather farther. Arrange this round the apricot to make it look like a poached egg, and serve.

Ginger Roly-poly.

Some light suet pastry, half a pound of brown sugar, one teaspoonful of powdered ginger, the juice of a lemon. Roll out the paste, spread with the sugar, ginger, and lemon mixed together. Roll up the paste. Wet the edges to keep in the mixture. Tie in a cloth, and cook for two and a half hours.

Rhubarb Fool.

Half a pint of milk, one egg, one teaspoonful of flour, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, two pounds of rhubarb, a strip of lemon rind. Stew the rhubarb and the sugar with the lemon rind till tender. In the meantime make a custard with half a pint of milk, one egg, and one teaspoonful of flour, stirring till it thickens, but being careful that it does not curdle. When the rhubarb is cold pass it through a sieve, adding the cold custard. Serve in cups or in a glass dish. Should the rhubarb be very juicy do not use all the liquor or it will make the fool too thin.

Raspberry Pudding.

Half a pound of flour, two tablespoonfuls of suet, one tablespoonful of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of raspberry jam, one teaspoonful of carbonate of soda.

Mix the finely chopped suet with the flour, add the other ingredients, lastly the soda dissolved in a little slightly warmed milk. Make into a stiff batter, and steam for three hours in a buttered mold.

Almond Blancmange.

One and a half pints of milk, half an ounce of gelatine, two ounces of sugar, a quarter of a pound of almonds.

Soak the gelatine in the milk for three or four hours; then dissolve over the fire, and add the sugar. Stir while it heats, then add the almonds, which must be blanched and chopped finely, and cook for three minutes longer. Remove from the fire, and stir at intervals till almost cold, then pour into a wet mold. To serve, turn out, and dust with a few chopped pistachio nuts if you have them.

Boiled Lemon Pudding.

Four ounces of chopped suet, two ounces of flour, half a pound of breadcrumbs, quarter of pound of moist sugar, grated rind and juice of two lemons, two tablespoonfuls of milk, two eggs. Mix all the dry ingredients together, and lastly the eggs, well beaten, with the milk. Pour into a buttered mold, and steam for four hours.

Bananas in Syrup.

Half a pint of water, two tablespoonfuls of raspberry jam, the juice of half a lemon, and six bananas.

Dissolve the jam in the water over a fire, strain it, and add the lemon juice. Return to the saucepan. Peel the bananas, lay in the syrup, and leave back on the fire for twenty minutes. Lift the bananas carefully, lay on a dish. Color the syrup with cochineal, and pour over; serve cold.

Totnes Pudding.

Three sponge cakes, stewed apricots, two eggs, one and a half pints of milk. Grease a dish, put it in a layer of sponge cake, then one of the apricots, and so on till the dish is full. Beat up the eggs with the milk. Pour gently over the pudding, steam for an hour and a half, and serve.

Butterscotch Pie Filling.

One cup of brown sugar, butter size of an egg, yolks of two eggs, two tablespoons of flour, one cup boiling water, and two egg whites. Cream together the sugar and butter; add the egg yolks and flour, mixing well, then add the cup of boiling water and cook in a saucepan till thick. Flavor with one teaspoon vanilla and pour into a baked lower crust (as for any meringue pie). Beat the whites of the two eggs stiff with one tablespoon sugar and spread these over the pie; slip pie in oven till meringue browns.

Spice Cakes.

One-half cup fat, one cup sugar, one teaspoon vanilla, one cup sour milk, one egg, one and three-fourths cups flour, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons cinnamon, one-half teaspoon mace, one-half teaspoon cloves, one-half cup raisins. Cream the fat, add the sugar and egg and beat for two minutes. Add the sour milk and the flour, mixed with the soda, cinnamon, mace and cloves. Beat for three minutes. Add the raisins. Fill greased muffin pans one-half full. Bake in a moderate oven for 15 minutes. Cover with creamy icing.

THE ROYAL ARMS OF CANADA

(By Professor Percy E. Nobbs)

While the feeling of Canadians appears to be distinctly against titular honors, and while the interest in personal coats of arms is so slight that the whole machinery of registration is ignored alike by the many unaffected and by the few entitled to bear arms, there has of late been quite a healthy development in the matter of place heraldry. Many Canadian towns have adopted coats of arms, and for the most part they are feasible, heraldically speaking, and in some instances duly registered at the College of Heralds in London. All the provinces, both new and old, have beautiful coats of arms, duly granted, and used to the full by the provincial governments, both as decorations to public printing, and as flags, on occasion.

The Federal authority has, however, till quite recently, been less well furnished, and the maple leaf, the beaver, the arms of the four first provinces to federate, marshalled together on a quartered field, and last, but not least, a marshalled coat of the arms of all nine provinces, have all been used as a symbol of sovereignty in a rather indiscriminate fashion.

Just recently, His Majesty the King—the Empire's "fountain of honor," to use the heraldic phrase, has been graciously pleased to approve a Royal Coat of Arms for Canada.

It is not generally understood that Arms of Sovereignty are not necessarily the personal Arms of the sovereign, and in case of conquest Arms of Sovereignty pass automatically to the conquering ruler, at least that has been the way of it in Europe.

When the King is in Scotland, his standard is flown, and on it the Scots Arms occur on the first and fourth quarters, and the English and Irish Arms on the second and third quarters respectively. Also, his Scots Arms are surmounted by a different crest, a red lion sitting up, his supporters the lion and the unicorn, are transposed, and they usually carry banners with the St. Andrew's and St. George's crosses. And so the King's Arms of Sovereignty in Ireland are differentiated by repeating the harp on the blue field twice.

Henceforth, in Canada, when the King is represented in authority by a piece of ornamental symbolism which we call his Coat of Arms, it will be as in the case of Scotland and Ireland, by a variant upon the Royal Arms of England. To avoid the heraldic portmanteau phraseology (which is the briefest and most concise form of scientific descriptive expression ever invented, but a language not taught in the schools) the design will be as follows:—

The shield will have four quarters, and a base; on the right and left, at the top, we have the three gold leopards of England on a red background, and the red lion of Scotland, with his blue claws and tongue, on a gold background, with a double line of decorated framing round him. Below the English leopards, on a blue background, we have the golden harp of Ireland, with its silver strings, and below the Scots lion we have the three gold lilies of France also on a blue background; and at the bottom of the shield we have the green Canadian maple leaves on a white or silver background. The supporters are a gold lion (without a crown on his head as in the Royal Arms of England), but bearing as a banner the Union Jack, and a silver unicorn with gold trimmings, including his collar and his chain, and bearing as a banner the ancient Arms of France, that is to say, a pattern of gold lilies on a blue field.

Above the shield, the sovereignty being royal, there is a royal gold helmet, with the Imperial crown, and on this crown there stands the crest consisting of a ferocious little golden lion waving a red maple leaf in his paw, and wearing a crown on his head. It is to be observed that the crown and crest are attached to the helmet by means of a red and white wreath, and this may be drawn as ribands twisting in and out of the crown, or even as a red and white cord round a cushion on top of the helmet, for if the rules of good heraldry are very rigid in the matter of the shield, they are very elastic as to interpretation of the accessories.

And so with the mantling. The old Scottish custom of blue and white will be followed, with this difference, that instead of white we have ermine, and as this goes well with royal blue, the combination makes a far finer royal achievement than if a gold and silver mantling is added to a gold helmet, a gold crown and a gold crest.

There is no mottoed garter, or chain and jewel of a knightly order, surrounding the shield, and this is probably an intentional difference, in consonance with the present position of affairs with reference to Canadian titles.

The motto again is different from that of the Royal Arms as used in England, Scotland and Ireland, being "A mari usque ad mare."

On the Royal Arms of England there occurs at the bottom an ornament—the three badge flowers combined on one stem, symbolic of the Union. In the case of the Royal Arms of Canada the badge flowers will be somewhat more numerous, consisting of a rose flanked by a thistle, a lily and shamrock, and leek leaves, and terminating at each side in a twig of maple. This ornament may, of course, be treated with considerable freedom, and the coloring be made as conventional or as naturalistic as the taste of the artist may require.

So, we have in the Royal Arms of Canada an agglomeration of symbols sanctified by origin, by time, and by association—the leopards of Edward the First, and lilies of Ancient France and of the Bourbons' empire, the red Scottish lion that was old when Robert the Bruce replaced his private arms with the arms of the Sovereignty of Scotland, and the supporting unicorn, with a crown about his neck, which was once the crown of a French Dauphin, in Mary Stuart's day, and though the crown has now the distinctive crosses of the Scots crown, the old chain is still appended thereto. The crest is the crest as it was in the Black Prince's time, with the addition of a crown on the lion's head and a maple leaf in his paw. The Union Jack on the banner is itself a combination of the crosses of the patron saints—St. Patrick's from the earliest culture in the British Isles, and St. Andrew's, near as old, and St. George's cross that was used in land fighting since ever Englishmen and Scotsmen fought for the adjustment of their borders. But its use at sea, according to the Genoese, was bought from them for gold, because theirs was the only flag respected by Turks and Riffs, and English merchants had need of it in the Middle Sea. And there is the story of the three badge flowers, and their combination on one stem at the time of the union, which is modern history.

While we are considering this last grant of Arms affecting the Dominion, it is interesting to hark back to the first, which was probably the heraldic device of the Baronets of Nova Scotia, a very beautiful design, albeit associated with a somewhat sordid tale of trafficking in titles by James I. and VI.

DETECTIVE GETS TWO TO FOUR YEARS IN JAIL.

Ran Amuck in Saloon and Beat Up Crowd.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Detective-Sergeant Charles Tighe has been sentenced by Judge Crain in General Sessions to not less than two years and not more than four years at hard labor in State Prison for abusing and beating Mrs. Emma Lennon of 560 West Fiftieth Street, on the night of July 28, when Tighe "ran amuck," in the Court's language, at Coen's saloon, 600 Ninth Avenue, and beat a number of men, women and children. The maximum penalty under the law was five years.

Judge Crain said that he wished the sentence to be taken as a warning that similar punishment would be meted out to similar offenders. Before passing sentence he listened to a plea in behalf of Tighe by his lawyer, Samuel Furstenberg, and to several character witnesses. Judge Crain then called on Mrs. Lennon, who was in court, to tell how she felt toward the defendant.

"I am sorry for him in a way," she said, "on account of his family, but he treated me awfully and said some awful things to me."

MR. G. A. BRETHEN OPENS CAMPAIGN APSLEY, TUESDAY

APSLEY HAPPENINGS

APSLEY, October 20. — The first blow in the election campaign was delivered locally on Tuesday evening, 18th inst., when Mr. Brethen, the U.F.O. candidate, addressed an audience of about 60 people in the Town Hall. He was supported by Mr. Macdonald, M.P.P.

Mr. Herbert Tucker presided at the meeting, and had an easy task, the crowd being a very orderly one, with no heckling or opposition manifested.

Mr. Macdonald spoke first, dealing chiefly with Provincial legislature, his speech being of an apologetic nature, containing apologies for the things they had done, and excuses for the things they had left undone. He denied the assertion that had been made that the U.F.O. was responsible for the low prices prevailing for stock, pointing out that the organisation's operations could have no influence on the world's markets, declared the Fordney Tariff would not have come into existence if Reciprocity had not been turned down in 1911, and defended the Recall as a wise policy, stating his signed resignation was in the hands of the directors of the U.F.O., so that if 60 per cent. of the electors signed a petition for his removal it would take effect at once. He pointed out that the Farmers' Government had nearly doubled the grants to schools since coming into power, and advocated a continuation school for this district. He claimed credit for Government grants for improving the roads, and defended the "Long Swamp" expenditure in the face of local criticism of that policy that had appeared in The Examiner.

Mr. Brethen appealed for the support of the electors on the ground of his policy of equal rights to all, in religion, in finance, in politics. He spoke at length on the farming industry as the basic industry of the Dominion, and said that the policy of the Governments for the last forty years was to make the rich richer and the poor poorer—nothing had ever been done to encourage the farmer—hence, reason for the U.F.O.

Protection, he said, was going to be of no benefit to the farmer. What about the manufacturing firms who, with Protection, had to shut down, while the farmer without it still held his own. Canadian farmers could take their productions, cattle, poultry, wheat, etc., to the great exhibitions in the United States, and in the face of their mighty competition sweep the board.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Basket Social.

The first of the social events of the winter season took the form of a basket social, which was held in the Parish Room on Friday evening, and for the opening night was disappointing in its results.

Only a small audience gathered to hear the excellent programme that had been arranged, and judging from the prices obtained for the baskets, it was an unsympathetic one at that—the total proceeds netted towards the liquidation of the debt on the parsonage and Parish Room being the small amount of $18.00.

The Rev. W. Hall acted as chairman, and in the course of the evening gave an address explaining the objects and aims of the St. John's Ambulance Association. Mr. Hall is endeavouring to arrange a course of lectures under its auspices, and hope to form a class of at least 25 members. Mr. Spence is co-operating with him, and their united efforts should secure the necessary number of students.

The programme was as follows:
Reading of the Proclamation re Clean-Up Campaign—Rev. C. Spence

Surprise Visit.

On Saturday evening a few members of the congregation of St. George's Church paid a surprise visit to Mrs. J. Downing, and presented her with an address, and a handsome "Nulite" table lamp, and Mr. Downing with a box of cigars.

The address was read by the Rev. C. Spence, and contained references to Mrs. Downing's faithful service as organist of the Parish Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Downing were completely taken by surprise, but expressed their thanks to the visitors in a graceful manner. A pleasant musical hour was then spent with the host and hostess.

Numerous Blow-outs.

Five carloads of delegates went from here on Monday to the convention at Norwood to support their nominee. It was three o'clock in the morning when the last car reached home, having been delayed by numerous blow-outs on the road.

Lightning Struck.

A severe electrical storm visited Apsley on Monday, the lightning striking in several places, but happily with no serious results.

Magic Speed.

Mr. Duncan Brown's new store and house has been erected with almost as magic speed as Aladdin's Palace, and constitutes a record in building operations, at least for this district.

The building, which is now complete, so far as outside work is concerned, the roof being finished this week, is entirely sheeted with dressed and matched lumber, and comprises dwelling-house 18 x 32, store 24 x 37, and store house 12 x 37.

The whole of this commodious building was erected in four and a half actual working days, which speaks well for the executive ability of Mr. Hugh McColl, who had charge of the work.

HOW TO RID THE ARMS OF OBJECTIONABKE HAIRS

Aids to Beauty.

A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required. Mix a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to the hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin, and every hair has vanished. This simple treatment cannot cause injury, but care should be taken to get real delatone.

OPERATION NOW FOR SICK PEARLS

By JOHN O'BRIEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

PARIS, Oct. 19.—Miladi, who owns a string of costly pearls, is often worried when her gems appear to be lacking in lustre. Don't worry, miladi. All they need is a trip to a beauty parlor. There your pearls will be massaged back into perfect health.

Society women in Paris have been greatly perturbed of late by reports that perfumes and powders eat away the "life" of pearls. It is a fact that certain perfumes have a deleterious effect on the gems, but, according to the pearl specialists of Paris, the remedy is easy. Leonard Rosenthal, who stands in the forefront of these experts, explained the nature of the "disease" and the "cure."

"A pearl," he said, "is a composition. It consists of thousands of concentric envelopes formed within the oyster. The outer envelope may be affected by the acidity of the wearer's skin, by dust or differences in temperature. All powders used by women contain a certain amount of acid. After several years this imperceptibly burrows under the outer envelope, and the pearl loses its lustre. All that is needed for the restoration of the lustre is the removal of the outer envelope and repolishing with a special powder, the composition of which is a secret of the trade. All I can say is that powdered rubies enter into its make-up.

"The removal of the pearl's skin is a delicate operation. It is done by a specialist. He works in a way similar to that of the 'beauty specialists' who, before making over a wrinkled face, remove the worn-out epidermis."

A writer says that sleep is conducive to beauty. Perhaps it is, but we have seen some rather homely policemen.

PRESS COMMENT

LONDON, Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—Newspapers are in general praise of the Premier's announcement of the Government policy regarding unemployment and trade revival, but the actual proposals are subjected to criticism. The Times comments upon the extension of export credit scheme to the Empire, and expresses the view that a most serious defect in the scheme is that it tends to increase taxation without offering the country any prospect of immediate relief being obtained from crushing financial burdens.

The Post says the Premier proposes to remedy the evil of unemployment by continuing, in principle, the very policy which has largely produced unemployment. The Herald brands the proposals as a "bluff," and adds: "You cannot feed unemployed on bluff." The Daily News regards the scheme as an attempt to evade the coming storm. The Telegraph and Chronicle support the scheme.

TOWN PLANNING MEET IN TORONTO.

Second Conference Opens Next Monday.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press.) —The second Town Planning and Housing Conference for Ontario will be held in the City Hall, Toronto, on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 31 and Nov. 1.

It is expected that at least 200 delegates will assemble, representing muncipal councils, boards of trade, trades councils, manufacturers' associations, Great War Veterans, housing commissions, town planning comissions, architectural, town planning and engineering associations, Local Councils of Women, Daughters of the Empire chapters, and social service and educational organizations.

The Conference has been called by the Town Planning and Housing Association of Ontario. The name indicates the close relation between town planning and housing. They are inseparable. Both Association and Conference are the result of the spreading conviction that town planning offers the only solution for many pressing municipal problems and that the improvement of housing conditions is fundamental alike to social progress and industrial peace. The purpose of the coming Conference is to focus the best thought of the Province on these subjects and thereby create informed public opinion and inspire progressive legislation.

Lieut. Governor Cockshutt will formally open the Conference in the Council Chamber of the City Hall, and the delegates will be welcomed by Mayor T. L. Church. The address of the president, Mr. J. P. Hynes and the appointment of Conference committees will complete the programme for the first session. his will be followed by a luncheon at the King Edward Hotel, at which brief reports will be made of town planning activities throughout the Province. At the afternoon session, Mr. N. Cauchon, chairman of the Ottawa Town Planning Commission will address the Conference on the present status of town planning in Ontario. The general discussion to follow, it is expected, will result in the adoption of resolutions outlining to the Government proposals for amending the existing town planning legislation. The evening session will be a public meeting to deal with housing and will be addressed by Dr. Hastings, Medical Health Officer of Toronto, and one other.

Housing will occupy the attention of the Conference at the morning session of the second day. There will be a review of what has been accomplished by the Federal and Provincial loans and general discussion of the effect on housing improvement. Mr. W. S. B. Armstrong will put forward a plan for municipal housing under the existing Ontario Act passed in 1912, entitled "An Act to improve Housing Accommodation in Cities and Towns." The discussion of the subject will be led by a representative of organized labor. The Conference luncheon on that day at the King Edward Hotel will be presided over by Mayor F. H. Plant of Ottawa. Premier Drury has been invited to address the gathering.

At the afternoon session Dr. H. L. Britton, Director of the Bureau of Municipal Research, will speak on a Town Department for Cities. Following the discussion of this address will be the annual business meeting and the election of officers. That will conclude the Conference.

BASKET SOCIAL IN ENNISMORE

The basket social held at St. Martin's Church Hall in Ennismore last evening was a very jolly affair, although the attendance was marred to a certain extent by bad weather, no Peterborough people being able to attend. The baskets on hand were readily picked up, and a few pleasant hours were spent in dancing. Messrs. Peter Galvin and John Young acted as auctioneers, and acquitted themselves in a very creditable manner. Mrs. Jos. Crough and Mrs. Daniel Cavanagh took charge of the baskets, Mr. Jno. Perdue was at the door, and Mrs. James Killen looked after the music for the evening.

Every fall we place our wall paper order for the spring, and delivery is made in February or thereabouts. This year we followed the usual custom, and ordered our spring papers in September, intending to have them come along in February.

However, a few weeks ago our paper stock became low on account of the exceptionally heavy inroads made by this season's business. It was necessary to have more, so we wrote the manufacturer, telling him to send along any of the spring papers he had made up.

Imagine Our Surprise When We Received Our Entire Spring Order

We never suspected he would be able to send the entire lot at such an early date, but here they are and we are glad of it.

"The Hoover" Keeps Up Its Relentless Attack

On Dirt and Deeply Embedded Grit

House Cleaning Campaign

Your rugs are composed of many woven strands or threads of wool. Nothing so quickly injures these threads as contact with sharp-edged, embedded grit. Beating alone will remove this grit and prevent the strands from being cut or severed.

Clean rugs wear longer! Dirt, litter and destructive embedded grit shorten rug life. The Hoover prolongs the life of rugs because only The Hoover beats out the destructive grit as it sweeps up the clinging lint and hair, while all the dirt is being carried into the dust-tight bag by the powerful current of suctioned air.

O'REILLY WINS HIS APPEAL

THE JUDGMENT

An appeal by Joseph O'Reilly before the County Judge from a conviction made by Magistrate D. W. Dumble on Sept. 15 last for an alleged breach of the O.T.A., has been successful. Judge E. C. Huycke gave judgment quashing and setting aside the conviction.

The charge against O'Reilly in the Police Court was that he "did keep for sale or barter certain liquor at his residence in the city of Peterborough." He was fined $500 and costs, and all the liquor in the house was confiscated pursuant to the Act.

In the appeal Mr. G. N. Gordon represented the appellant, Mr. Joseph Wearing appearing for the respondent Inspector G. Stewart.

The Judgment.

In his judgment His Honor said: 'O'Reilly occupied the house in question with his family and his father, an aged gentleman, living with him. O'Reilly and his father are retired farmers, but more recently the son has been working as an implement agent. In July last the appellant, Joseph O'Reilly, put in his house a very considerable quantity of Corby's whiskey at the cost of some $675.00. These goods were delivered to him on July 13th, 1921. Most people would think in agreement with the Magistrate that this was at least very foolish on the part of O'Reilly, but there is absolutely no evidence to show that O'Reilly, or anyone for him, either sold liquor or bartered the same, or any portion of it, nor was there any evidence of disorderly or improper conduct in or about his house indicating such transaction. During the period in question, from the date of the receipt of the liquor to that of the information on the 3rd of August, 1921, Inspector Stewart, the respondent, had, when the liquor was delivered, gone to the house and later on went again the second time and found that what he regarded as an unusual amount of the shipment had, in the meantime, been consumed. Evidence was given by various witnesses, so far as I know reputable parties, to the effect that they had been at the O'Reilly house on various occasions during that time, and that a considerable quantity of the liquor had been used by hosts and guests together, but no suggestion of any sale or barter made. The learned Magistrate, from certain statements in his written judgment, has I fear, either not heard or has misunderstood some of the evidence that was given. The conviction is based on the alleged presumption of guilt, or of sale, contained in Section 67 of the Act. This much-discussed section is, of course, very unusual; but in my judgment the presumption is by no means absolute, and the onus cast by the statute is shifted by any reasonable evidence in reply and explanation.

"The decision of the learned Magistrate is entitled to and receives great respect; but I do not feel that in this case I could or should accept it in full, and cannot conclude that I am bound to do so, even though he had the advantage of seeing the witnesses, which advantage I have not had. I quite agree with the Magistrate in thinking the conduct of O'Reilly very, very foolish, but I cannot find anything in the evidence which shows any criminal act or intent on his part, or any sale or barter of the goods; in fact, I would find the opposite.

"The conviction is therefore quashed and set aside. Costs were not asked and no order will be made as to them. The liquor and all receptacles taken by the Inspector from O'Reilly must be returned to him."

A BLOW AT LITTLE CUPID.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—The passing of the old-fashioned fireplace has much to do with the breaking up of home life, according to Annettte Adams, former assistant Attorney - General for the United States.

"Who ever heard of a young man proposing to a girl about a steam radiator?" Miss Adams asked her audience at a meeting of the California Development Association. "The fireplace or the family stove is a source of inspiration and creates sentiment. Seated around a cozy fire, a young man is more likely to propose than at any other place except in a moonlight garden."

LET THE GIRLS SMOKE SAYS MRS. DU PUY

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. — Mrs William Atherton Du Puy, National President of the League of American Pen Women, which has 5,000 members, is in New York this week to talk to New York branch of the league and also to tell New York what a mistake it makes when it runs down the present-day American girl. This last is a little private mission of Mrs. Du Puy and she is making a nation-wide appeal for justice for the young thing who wears not much of anything in the way of clothes, paints her cheeks powders her nose and plays her share in petting parties.

Mrs. Du Puy's ire as been aroused by an article by Elnor Glyn in the Cosmopolitan on the American girl. Mrs Du Puy says Mrs. Glyn hasn't a fact to go on, that the trouble with her is that she is getting too old to understand. She even calls her "Miss" Glyn, and reads into the article the wailings of a blighted old maid.

"The trouble with the American girl,' says Mrs. Du Puy, "is too much criticism. Miss Glyn's article is what I call a vicious attack. She says no man will marry the cigarette smoking, senseless American girl of to-day.' Now if she would only mention some individual girl or if we could only take action in the name of the American girl, we could sue her and take away from her some of those good American dollars she is taking from this country for writing that article.

"It is not true that the American girl is not marrying. The Government statistics show that there were more marriages last year than for a long time and they expect to have a million and a half marriages this coming year. One of the troubles with people generally is that they have the habit of talking about women. She has been damned from the days of Eve and people don't know how to stop it. Then the older people hold to the ways of their own generations. Every generation complains of the next. 'Girls don't hold anything sacred,' they say. A Washington woman I know says that her grandmother made that very remark to her and her sister when they were girls because they laughed at her old-fashioned what-not with great big sea shells on it.

"I tell the Pen Women wherever I speak that they must be just to the American girl. You would not believe it, perhaps, but my remarks are not favorably received. If you only knew how many times I have been asked triumphantly: "Well, how about the girls who park their corsets in the dressing rooms when they go to balls " From every part of the country I hear that I always say in anwser:

"Did you ever see corsets parked in dressing rooms?"

'And I also say, 'What if they did do it?' I don't want my daughters to wear corsets. Miss Glyn says that the girls are trying to appeal to the senses of men when they wear so few clothes. Well they would have been in her day, but not now. She says girls are lazy and idle, and do nothing but kill time. There never was a time when they did so many things. They are athletic, they swim and take part in all sorts of athletic sports, and they can't see that it makes any difference if they wear short skirts on the street after they have been wearing them on the beach. It is only the froth and the dregs of our girls who are not worth while; the rest of them are everything that they should be.

"Yes, I'll admit they do have some petting parties, but they only do in public now what they used to do in private and then they deceived and cheated, and that was the worst of all for it affected their characters. And think of all the kissing games there used to be for the young people!

"Elinor Glyn says the girls won't study, and they have no religion. Now that is all wrong again. I know that at the George Washington College in Washington their biggest sessions are those that begin a 5:30 in the afternoon for the girls in the Government offices. The girls are wild to learn and they are taking up domestic science with their other studies.

"The statistics show that there is more studying than there ever was before. And think of the hundreds of girls who belong to the Young Woman's Christian Association and to the Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls. And in the newer religion there are more young people in the Sunday Schools of the Christian Science Church than there are in the congregations. Yes, I am a Christian Scientist, and I know. And the young people don't like to leave the Sunday school when they are 21. When the Women's Party met in Washington we were surprised to see how young the girls were who came to attend it from all parts of the country. They had wonderful poise and they could speak and had the manner of middle-aged women. These young women who are coming up are going to have the vote and they are preparing themselves for it.

"Yes, girls do smoke, and there is no harm if they don't go to excess. It is not like the rush of girls to the cafes to drink which happened twenty years ago. It was that which brought about prohibition.

"It's the psychology of running women down since the days when Eve put on her first single scanty garment that causes all the talk. This article of Elinor Glyn's is the culmination of everything that has been written, and none of us in America would have done anything as bad. If we could bring the suit of the American girl against her it would be won in every court in the country."

CHINA BEGINS REFORESTING TO SAVE HER PEOPLE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(United Press).—"The Shantung Award," made famous since the Peace Conference and sure to come up for a big part of the discussion at limitation of arms conference in Washington in November is being reforested.

This activity is set forth in a report made public today by the American orestry Association, which has just received from Dean John Reisner a statement on forestry progress in China. Reisner is dean of the College of Agriculture and Forestry of the University of Nankin.

His report says that following the third flood disaster of the year in the Anhwei Province three great railroads of the flooded Province have taken up reforestation as a means of saving themselves and for providing market for the future.

'Devastation in the Anhwei Province," says Charles Lathrop Pack, President of the American Forestry Association, in giving out the report of Dean Reisner, "may be understood when we consider that the flooded area is twice the area of Massachusetts, or about 15,000 square miles. The population of the Bay State is around four million people, which is a million and a half less than the sufferers in the flooded areas. The deforested condition of China is the cause not only of the floods, but of the most of her famines in that country."

"The big development," says Dean Reisner's statement, "has been in Shantung Province. This work was organized by Mr. Lin, of the Forestry Department of the College of Agriculture and Forestry of the University of Nankin, an American Missionary Institution, which loaned him for the work.

"A Forest Service has been established, with a Chief Forester and eleven assistants. The first planting season saw the organization of three forestry stations, the establihment of three nurseries with plans for two more for the following season, over 550,000 trees planted on 2,000 mow of land and an additional 3,000 mow seeded.

"The railways are engaged in reforestation work, looking forward to supplying their own ties and other timbers used in railroad construction and maintenance. Several other railways are contemplating similar developments. The budgets are voted by the various railway administrations interested.

"With her floods, China is an example of the world of the need of reforestation. Arbor Day in China is a national holiday now, and it is observed in schools and by high officials."

RENOWN WILL CARRY 2 PRINCES

When She Starts to Visit India.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(Associated Press).—The battleship Renown will carry two princes when she starts for India in October to carry the Prince of Wales on a visit to that empire. Prince Charles, the second son of the Belgian King Albert, is a midshipman on the Renown. He probably will not share in any of the honors of the British prince, but will devote his time to his duties. He is well acquainted with members of the British Royal Family, for he was a cadet on board the vessel in which the British Prince George recently made a Mediterranean tour.

The battleship will have 65 officers and 1,250 men aboard, in addition to 16 boys from Eastney, who will form a drum and fife band.

The Renown will take with her for receptions several thousand extra cups and saucers, plates, knives, forks and spoons. The provisions include 112,000 pounds of flour, 15,000 pounds of "bully" beef, 6,000 pounds of salmon and 2,000 pounds of ships' biscuits.

For the use of the officers there will be a stock of 195,000 cigarettes, 2,000 dozen bottles of wine and 9,000 cigars, the latter in addition to 5,000 cigars taken by the Prince of Wales himself. Throughout his Australian tour the Prince preferred, during the day, to smoke a pipe of tobacco, but after dinner he invariably had a Havana.

Apart from the monthly issue of loose and leaf tobacco, the men's smoking needs will be met by the canteen on board, and for them there will also be 5,860 gallons of neat rum and 4,000 gallons of lime juice.

MRS. M'CLUNG'S MARRIAGE PLAN

GOVERNMENT MATRIMONIAL AGENCIES TO LEVEL OUT WOMEN SURPLUS IN OLD COUNTRY AND MAN-SURPLUS IN DOMINIONS —WOULD ENSURE HAPPY MATINGS BY PSYCHO-ANALYSIS AND PHYSICAL TESTING OF BOTH GIRL AND MAN APPLICANTS

(BY EVA GRIFFITHS)

LONDON, Oct. 19.—At last England is looking her surplus women in the face (to speak thus), and preparing to do something for them. Bureaus are being equipped to supply wives to men in the dominions where, despite the war, males still predominate in numbers.

The suggestion, which originally came from the fertile brain of Mrs. Nellie L. McClung, the well known Canadian novelist, is meeting with much favor, and since she made it has captured many other imaginations. In Canada and even to a greater extent in the other British dominions and colonies, men are in almost and sometimes quite as great as surplus a women are in England, although, of course, the war-loss of the Dominions somewhat reduced the previous ratio.

But the surplus men of the dominions and the surplus women of the old country have no means of getting together.

It is that means, which Mrs. McClung believes government matrimonial agencies should supply. She has many endorsers. Will it all result in the establishment of the perfect marriage system?

"A state matrimonial scheme may be made entirely practical" she says "if we can make sentiment give way to common sense"

That is the suggestion which has aroused both praise and criticism. There are those who feel that it is truly German in its principles, who indeed, refer to it as Hunnish, and rank it, not as immoral as the German plan of authorized polygamy, but almost as revolting to the human senses of right, romance and religion.

Modern Marriages Not Ideal

But to this theory others are retorting that most modern marriages are founded upon property rather than propriety, and that with them propinquity goes further than either of the other two. "Any male or female left alone together on a desert island will be sure to mate," is one contention, "although neither property, sympathy nor property interests would be involved."

"Under official recognition," Mrs. McClung contends, "references could be exchanged and correpondence could be started between Canadian men and British women, who think that they would like to go to Canada to settle down. A good plan in my opinion, would be for the government to send girls over to Canada for a month, free of cost to them, so that they would have a chance to see the men who seek them as wives. If marriage resulted the husband would refund the government the journey's cost. If not, the government would pay it and see to it, if the girl wished to return, that she gets back to England all right."

Chance for Scientific Work

It is suggested by serious-minded persons that the woman-need overseas and the woman-surplusage at home offers an admirable opportunity for scientific experimentation. Psycho-analysts now, easily work out statement of a human individual character, if he or she submits willingly to known tests, and of course physical examinations of absolute accuracy are quite possible in these day. One hundred psycho-analyzed and physically tested men in Canada, probably would include scientifically fit mates for every one among a hundred similarly tested girls in England. If such tests were made on each side of the seas and the emigrating girl were introduced in Canada, first of all, to the man whose analysis indicated him as most befitting for her mate, marriages would result, it is maintained at a sheer effort of fitness and delight of fit at meeting fit in the greater number of cases.

Of course the important matter of physical appearance could be cared for through photographs and measurements.

Solve ragedy of Lonely

Thus, it is maintained, a wonderful experiment certain to give Canada the finest population in the world, could be put into operation and the tragedy of the lonely man on one side and the lonely woman on the other could be solved.

At the recent great scientific meeting in Edinburgh, system for the analysis of school children, which had been tested out and found quite workable, were described in detail. Scientists agreed that these tests copiously reveal the characters of children, their likes, dislikes, capacities, their tendencies toward good or bad behavior, their conscientiousness, their laziness or industry. Such revelations with regard to their prospective mates never have been available to prospective, wishful brides, and grooms. What would happen if they were available?

To Organize Committee.

The scientific theorists who are thinking of the matter believe that competent committees with the best scientific co-operation readily available should be established on each side of the sea and could announce their wilingness to make examinations free or for a fee as might be decided on.

Examinations made and their deductions drawn, certificates could be exchanged in duplicate by the two bureaus in official correspondence. Checkmarks for comparison could be easily arranged and the result would be a basis upon which the right English girl, crossing the Atlantic, probably would be introduced so the right Canadian man without time loss. If they failed to take to one another no harm would have been done. If they liked one another and married they probably would be happy and the parents of fine children.

The experiment would be as valuable in eugenics as in economics and psychology.

Might Reform all Marriages

It is held by some, that only through the organization of a system of the sort, will it be possible to reorganize the custom of marriage so that the errors of martial unhappiness and the scandal of divorce may be decreased. Thost argue that modern social condition make rightly selective marriages far more difficult than they were of old, and that at the same time, they demand them move emphatically than those of the past did. The solitude of crowds is declared to be more fatal to matrimonial selection than the solitude of wilderness ever was.

In the wilderness, co-operation, tolerance, bearing and forbearing were self-evident necessities; the woman could not slip away at any minute with some fancied affinity the man was not continually subjected to the wiles of such females as the United States picturesquely call "vamps."

Revolutionize Match-Making

Precise fitness, complete sympathy, full accord in general ideas, were less necessary then, it is maintained, than they are now, when personal tastes have become more highly specialized than in the days of old.

So, say the theorists, the Canadian and general British dominions situation together with the general development of modern science, offer an extraordinary opportunity which, perhaps might be so far advantaged of as to give humanity new, efficient basis of match-making, reasonably sure to increase happiness and decrease divorce.

WHY CHILLY WEATHER BRINGS RHEUMATISM

Says skin pores are closed and uric acid remains in blood.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed .thus forcing the kidneys to double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twingeof rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning fo ra week. This is said to eliminate uric acid l y stimulating the kidneys to noraml action ,thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rehumatism.

EXPORTER WRECK INSPIRATION FOR STEVENSON YARN

WORK OF SALVAGE SOON TO BE ABANDONED

VANCOUVER, Oct. 19. — There is inspiration for a Stevenson yarn on a lonely sandbar off the coast of Oregon to-day, where the wreck of the freighter Canadian Exporter wallows in the sea, settling by inches into a grave of her own digging. A dozen men, chosen by the salvagers for their record as sailormen, toil through all the daylight hours to recover as much of her cargo and gear as possible before the sea will cover its victim. And the story of their pluck and perseverance is inspiring.

When she sailed the seas the Canadian Exporter was worth a sum running into six figures. On August 2nd last, three days after striking the Willapa Spit, eight miles from the Oregon Coast the Canadian Government Merchant Marine Freighter broke clean in half, and was deserted by the rescue vessels, which had succeeded in taking off every man on board in the teeth of heavy seas. The wreck was sold, lock, stock and barrel, for $2,000, to the Premier Lumber Company, which sent Percy A. Sills from Vancouver with a crew of salvagers under the foremanship of Captain J. C. Jensen, a seasoned coast wise skipper, five weeks ago to glean what they could from the wreck.

They found the after part of the ship impossible of salvage. The forward half has been stripped of cargo, a steering engine, anchors, winches, fourteen tons of anchor chains, cargo booms, and two lifeboats, and even a compass has been recovered. Wreckers had taken salvage to the value of $25,000 before the legal salvagers arrived. Much of this has since been recovered. One man was caught in the act of drawing out a very long wire cable which he was winding about his deck house as it came aboard his tug. The cable held him fast while the police boat came alongside and served him with a summons for theft.

The work has taken five weeks, and will be abandoned in a few days. Next spring the salvage company may attempt to float the forward half of the vessel unless she settles too far into the sand. When Capt. Jensen and his men first went on board they took a donkey engine, which was swung into place with the Exporter's own derrick and winches. Steam was supplied through flexible pipes connected with the tug boats alongside. Now they generate their own steam. Fresh water for the men and engines is carried in a lifeboat towed daily from the shore eight miles away. The lumber — which comprised the bulk of the cargo — was bound with wire ropes, cast adrift, and allowed to drift to the shore where it was picked up by fishboats.

Lifeboats supplied by the United States, stand by day and night. The salvage undertaking is considered very hazardous in view of the position of the hulk.

Those who have visited the spit since the Exporter stranded, mention particularly the weird noises which proceed from the wreck day and night. As the great waves roll over her forcing air through the ventilators, it is easy to fancy the hulk peopled with noisy demons. Anchor chains rattle and timbers groan and the little band of sailors work and sleep in a constant din of whistles, groans and shrieks. When the ship broke in half her siren blared by some freak of displaced air. Like echoes of that uncanny cry, weird cries from the ship in the throes of disintegration disturb the wonted silence on Wippapa Spit.

There are humorous interludes in the work of salvage. John Heino, a Finlander, has strength to burn, but his fellow workers were tickled to see him plunge into the sea to recover his hat one day. It was a bad sea at ebb tide and the tossing raft threatened to crush him against the hulk. But he recovered his hat. "That's a dam good hat," he explained as he came aboard.

STIRRING SERMONS AT BETHANY TABERNACLE

EVANGELIST HAGUE PRESENTS TRUTH IN A FEARLESS MANNER

The revival tide is steadily rising at the Tabernacle, as the evangelist, Mr. Hogue, presents the truth in his plain, searching and fearless manner. Tuesday night, between twenty-five and thirty walked to the front in response to the earnest appeal of the preacher, who encouraged them to yield themselves wholly to God and His service.

The text was taken from Amos 4:12, "Prepare to meet thy God," and after dwelling at some length on the awful solemnity of meeting God, with several instances of men of the Bible who met God here on earth, such as Isaiah, Ezekiel, Daniel and John, the speaker gave the following four main reasons why every one should prepare to meet God:

1.—Because it is right to do so. We owe it to God. The man who refuses to give himself to God, though he may be strictly honest in business and social relations, is after all in God's sight a robber and a rascal. There is never an ox that goes to bed without first getting on its knees, yet men will use every blessing that God bestows and refuse to thank Him. We are His by creation, by redemption, and should be His by regeneration.

2.—Our tremendous responsibility. No man liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself. He told the story of the boy who broke the blade from his knife and left it sticking in the sapling in the woods, saying "Some tom-fool will break all the teeth from his saw some day on that knife blade." Over twenty-five years rolled by and the boy was a man. He had meanwhile purchased the farm on which this tree grew and was engaged in cutting down the forest with a portable saw. Suddenly, one day, the teeth were ripped from his saw, and upon investigation, it was found that a knife blade was buried in the log. Turning to his companion he said, "Some tom-fool left that knife blade there." "Yes," said his companion, "and you are that tom-fool." These two men now working together being the same two boys of twenty-five years ago. Many striking and forceful illustrations like this were made to show the power of influence and the truth of the Scripture when it says, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

3.—The great uncertainty of life.

4.—The glorious realities of the heavenly world and the equally awful realities of the regions of eternal darkness and night.

We are all going to meet God some day, said the preacher, and if these holy men of old fell like dead at His feet, how will you feel if you are not prepared to meet Him?

Meeting God will not changeour character in the least, but it will undoubtedly change our location.

To show the utter impossibility of serving both God and Satan at the same time, he told the story of the Irishman who had fallen into a pond of water, and thinking he was going to be drowned, prayed aloud, "Good God, good devil." When rescued a little later, he was asked why he prayed such a prayer, and this was his reply, "Bedad and I did not know which one was going to get me and I wanted to keep on good terms with both." So many think today.

Mr. Hogue has a very happy way of blending clean, Irish humour with staunch, Scotch orthodoxy, and being born and cradled in the very lap of Scotch Presbyterianism, his illustrations seem to carry especial point and power. He has been pastor of several large Presbyterian churches in the West, and at the present time is a member of the Presbytery at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

GOOD SPECIMEN CORN FOR SECOND GROWTH.

Peterborough the Home of Agricultural Peculiarities.

What might be termed a good example of intensive farming is the experience of Mr. J. M. Lowes, R. R. No. 6, Otonabee, who experimented with an acre of his ground this year. On April 25th he planted potatoes in this acre and later harvested his crop, specimens of which are fine, healthy-looking "earth apples." Three months later, on the 25th of July, Mr. Lowes planted this field in corn, and the result was a splendid growth of seven-foot, tasselly stalks, bearing good fruit.

What with Peterborough's second-growth raspberries, with an edible guinea bean stretching out this year in a south-end garden to a length of three feet, and another gentleman procuring a fine showing of peanuts as a new venture in local activity, we would be hard to beat in a contest of agricultural peculiarities.

W. S ALWARD'S MEMORIAL DESIGN IS ACCEPTED.

Is Sculptor Who Designed For Peterborough War Memorial.

A Toronto sculptor, Mr. W. S. Allward who is a successful competitor in the Canadian Battlefields Memorial Commission competition for designs for memorials to be erected on the principal Canadian battlefields in France and Flanders, will be associated with F. C. Clemesha of Regina in the designing of these memorials, for which the Government expects to expend in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

Mr. Allward's design is considered to be of such excellence that it will be erected but once on Hill 62, overlooking the Ypres salient. It will be about 225 feet long and 125 feet high. At the base of the impregnable wall of defense are the defenders, one group showing the breaking of the sword, the other the sympathy of the Canadians for the helpless. Above these are the mounds of guns, covered with olives and laurels. On the wall stands a heroic figure of Canada brooding over the sacrifice of her dead. Below is suggested a cross, with helmet, laurels, etc. Behind stand two pylons, symbolizing the two forces, Canadian and French, while between and at the base of these is the Spirit of Sacrifice, who, giving all throws the sword to his comrades Looking up they see the figures of Peace, Justice, Truth, Knowledge etc., for which they fought, chanting the hymn of peace. Around the figures are shields af Britain, Canada and France. On the outside of the pylon is a cross.

Mr. W. S. Allward is the sculptor whose design for the Peterboro War Memoral met with the approval of the committee in charge.

This is how nature intended the foot to grow—the Hurlbut way.

NATURE never intended us to wear shoes—she intended us to go barefoot. But because it is necessary to disregard nature in this respect, it is not necessary to cripple ourselves.

From early childhood some feet are deformed—bent out of shape by narrow shoes—crippled. Why let your child's feet be like this?

HURLBUT cushion sole SHOES allow the foot to grow as nature intended. The broad toe gives room to grow for every toe—the cushion sole gives a springy natural tread. The shoes are welted and insure the lowest cost per day of wear.

DUMMER TO VOTE ON CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL, OCTOBER 24

PLANS FOR GOOD, TWO ROOMED BUILDING IN HAND—BENEFIT FROM PROPOSITION EXPLAINED

WARSAW, Oct. 20.—Voting re-consolidation of S. S. No. 3 and S. S. No. 5, Dummer, will take place in the 4th Line School and Warsaw Town Hall on Monday, October 24. A meeting of the ratepayers is called for 9 o'clock a.m.

The department has sent the trustees plans for a good two-roomed school with all necessary fixings, much the same as the Hudson Consolidated School, to cost about $17,000, less if built of cement. The department says: "Your grant on a building costing $17,000 would be 45 per cent., or $7,650. This, together with the fixed grant of $3,000, would be $10,650. The balance of $6,350 you would have to raise locally. This is probably less than what a single room at either place would cost without outside aid. The seats and other equipment for 70 pupils would likely cost from $1,000 to $1,200 in addition to above building estimate."

Who Gets Grants.

The $3,000 grant is only to be given to such schools as are completed and in actual operation by December, 1922.

Considerable of the present equipment can easily be utilized and both schools have some good maps, etc. Warsaw seats are good, and that school has a good, new globe. It is estimated that the full cost of equipment would be covered and probably more than covered by what is on hand. On equipment grant is 40 per cent. of cost first year and 20 per cent. each of the three following years, so that by the end of four years the Government grants cover the cost of equipment.

Every one who knows much about building appreciates that, at least in this locality, cement blocks are less expensive than brick.

The Annual Payments.

Thirty-year debentures for $6,000 at 6 per cent. would mean an annual payment of $436.32, requiring a revenue of about 2 9-10 mills. If raised on 20-year debentures, the annual payment would be $523.15, or about 3 1-2 mills.

For salaries the Government gives grants of at least, on certificate required for Consolidated School teachers, $130.00; on salary, $620.00; special grant, $200.00—making a total of $950.00. For fifth form work there is a grant of at least $250.00. For several different subjects there are special grants given.

In transportation costs as much as $700 there is a grant of $200.00. If it cost $800 there is a grant of $350.

A Comparison.

Mallory town school, opened recently was described in "The Farmers' Advocate" of September 29th. This is a four-roomed school on seven acres of land, and it is built of brick. It is also fully equipped with electric lights and other electric appliances. There two vans bring children to school. One route between four and five miles distant from the school is let by contract to a responsible person at $545.00; the other, over 5 miles, costs $505.00.

Agreement Terms.

The terms of the proposed agreement are:

1.—That said S. S. No. 3, Dummer and said S. S. No. 5, Dummer, be united for the purpose of establishing and conducting a Consolidated school, in accordance with the terms of the Consolidated Schools Act of 1919 and amendments thereto.

2.—That buildings and sites at present owned by said school sections shall be sold and the proceeds of sale shall be the property of the Consolidated school district, and shall be administered by the Consolidated School Board for the purposes of the school.

3.—So much of the furnishings and equipment of the present schools as is deemed suitable shall be used in the Consolidated school building. The remainder, if any, shall be sold and the proceeds used for the purposes of the new school.

4.—Each part of the Consolidated school district formed from the original school sections shall be credited with any funds on hand and charged with all liabilities, if any, of the original sections; that is to say, money on hand shall be applied to decrease and liabilities to increase the first year's levy for maintenance of the Consolidated school in favor of or against the respective sections as may be.

5.—The Boards of Trustees of the said sections in which an affirmative vote has been given are hereby authorized to and shall sign the agreement on behalf of their respective sections, and such sections shall constitute the Consolidated school district.

Liberal Grants.

The fuel to heat one well built building cannot cost more than to heat the two buildings as they now stand. Each school must soon be replaced, and the cost of building singly would be more to each than this school will be. While the Government will not force these schools, the grants are so liberal that it is almost a matter of putting out the hand and taking it.

This over $10,000 on building and site will be money spent in our own neighborhood—a help right away.

Fifty years ago our present system of education was well enough, also fifty years ago many people were quite content with an ox-cart and little log house.

GOVERNMENT OVERTHROWN.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

MADRID, Oct. 20.—The Portuguese Government has been overthrown as the result of a Monarchist revolt, it was learned here to-day. A new Cabinet under Coelhof, a former Revolutionist, probably will be formed.

Monarchist troops seized strategist stores in Lisbon yesterday, and the resignation of the Government followed. The overthrow of the Government was apparently accomplished without bloodshed, although communication with Lisbon has been interrupted.

THE IRISH CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(Special to The Examiner.)— The Irish conference will resume its formal sessions to-morrow.

To-day Sec'y Hamar Greenwood, Irish Chief Secretary, faces the fire of Unionist questioners in the House of Commons, where definite statements from him regarding veiled charges of Sinn Fein breaches of the truce will be demanded. The question of arming of the Ulster volunteers was expected to be raised by Liberals and a lively exchange, with Sir Edward Carson speaking, was anticipated.

bourg, being appointed president, and Dr. G. M. Ferris, secretary. District vice-presidents were also elected. Mr Stone introduced a resolution of confidence in the policies of the Liberal party, and also in the leaedrship of the Hon. W. L. McKenzie King.

Question of the Candidate.

Stephen Burwash of Baltimore suggested that the Liberal party should take some action toward securing a distinctive name. The old name of Liberal had been appropriated by other parties, and was losing some of its flavor.

Dr. Ferris replied in this county the title of the party was the Northumberland Reform Association, the name that was chosen years ago.

Mr. McColl's Presentation.

In getting down to the business of the convention, J. B. McColl said that the main question would be settled by the ratification of the executive's message to Mr. Clarke, proposing that he accept the nomination.

"And we will have a Liberal victory as well," added C. W. Kerr.

Continuing, Mr. McColl said that his suggestion to U.F.O. in this or any other constituency would be that if they could find a man, whether he belonged to their organization or not, in whom they felt they could repose their trust, in whose care the interests of the farmers would be safe, then they should not object to nominating such a man in their own convention.

Applying that test to Mr. Clarke wouldn't the farmers' interests be as safe in his hands as in the hands of the best man of their clubs, Mr. McColl argued. Mr. Clarke was a farmer. His holdings were mostly in the west, it was true, but they were important holdings. He had on his side also wide experience, sound judgment and the confidence of the people as a whole.

Mr. McColl quoted precedents in support of his contention that Mr. Clarke should look upon the nomination as a duty which he should not dismiss except for the weightiest reasons.

Mr. McColl moved, seconded by Sam Dudley, that Mr. Clarke be the candidate of the Liberal party in the Federal elections.

Mr. Clarke's Reply.

Mr. Clarke's opening sentence in his reply was that in his present opinion he should not accept the nomination. He was remindful of the duty that had been spoken of. He didn't want the nomination. He had been the Liberal candidate in West Northumberland for 24 years without a loss.

"That is a record I am proud of," Mr. Clarke said. "Not for myself or any little part that I had in it, but for the confidence the people have always placed in me."

There was no disguising the fact, he continued, that conditions had changed. He missed the faces of some old Liberals. They were not present, and they were not dead. He did not blame them for leaving the old parties. Every man had a right to his own opinion.

Adopted Libearl Policies.

"But I'd like to have a heart-to-heart talk with some of our U. F. O. friends. I should like to point out to them that they have adopted many of the planks which we as Liberals have been preaching 25 years. We preached wider markets and a reduction of the tariff. In 1911 we offered the reciprocity measure to the farmers of this country."

Mr. Clarke in a passing tribute to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and to the Liberal party's traditional regard for the welfare of the farmers of Canada, reminded his audience that the farmers of Ontario had voted down the reciprocity bill which had been designed in the interest of Canadian agriculture. They would have none of it.

Western Conditions.

To-day the farmers of this country, especially those in the west, were in many places broken-hearted over conditions which Mr. Clarke said he himself frequently seen in parts of the west during the three months he was there this fall. Wheat that sold a year ago for $2.25 and up to $2.50 a bushel, was now 80c and 75c a bushel. Oats that were 75c were now 50c. Pork that had sold at 21c and 22c a pound live weight a year ago was now 9c and 10c. They had been told to produce and they had produced. To-day they couldn't get $45 for a cow, and they were throwing the hides out on the bluffs. Wool was worth practically nothing and old sheep brought about $5 apiece."

Sympathy for Farmers.

"I don't blame the farmers for kicking," Mr. Clarke declared. "Show me anyone else whose prices have fallen so much in the last six months. The manufacturers are in no such position. They can call a meeting by telephone in Toronto or Montreal and they can fix their prices. The Cockshutt Plow Company had the gall (I don't know any milder word to call it) to increase their prices this year over their prices in the war years."

In many sections of the West the farmers who had had a succession of bad crops were in a most pitiable position. The value of their paltry crops had wilted over night, and they were without funds, and without credit, and worst of all they were broken in heart and spirit.

Things are out of Joint.

"Conditions are all out of joint in this country," Mr. Clarke asserted. "I don't know what crops you have had in the east this season but I know that you have been blessed by good crops these last six years.

Suppose you had had a series of bad crops, as many of the farmers in the west have had, and when you had to buy new machinery—often you pieced the old machines together—the prices were going higher and higher. I had to buy a separator for threshing this year. I got prices from three firms, and they were all practically the same. The Case machine was $75 more than the others because it had iron in place of wood. I bought a Sawyer-Massey separator that cost me $2300, and I have seen lumber in an old woodshed that was better than the wood in that separator."

Farming simply could not go on in the west as it had been going, Mr. Clarke declared, and he told again of the extreme conditions he had observed. What were needed were men of ability and understanding at Ottawa, men who were fearless to do the things they should do, who were willing to give every Canadian a square deal, and not give ten per cent. of the people sixty per cent. of the prosperity. He argued that there was no necessity of changing his name or the name of his party to do his duty.

New Name Not Needed.

"I can do my duty under the names of Sam Clarke and Liberal as well as any other names. My sentiments of better conditions for the farmers, of better markets for our produce, were my sentiments before the U.F.O. was born. I have been preaching that these many years, but many of my old Tory friends would not vote for me. Now they have come around to my view point. How shall I say it? They are feeding out of a different trough now, but it is the same feed as mine. It's a funny world."

Mr. Clarke said he had known Fred Slade, the U.F.O. candidate, since he was a young man. He had no fault whatever to find with him. He did not know M. E. Maybee, the Conservative candidate, but all that he had heard of him was in his favour.

Likes Meighen's Nerve.

"But how Mr. Meighen can come out in this agricultural county, and ask farmers for their votes for the support of the Meighen Government beats all. As a rational man, and a farmer, knowing the conditions the farmesr are up against, I don't know how he can do it. I give Mr Meighen credit for nerve. I love his nerve, but not his justice."

Mr. Clarke quoted what he said was independent opinion of the result of the elections in the three prairie provinces, predicting three members for the government in one, two in another, and two in the third province; he recalled the elections this year in the Alberta and Saskatchewan Legislatures, and said that he did not mention these things to annoy his Tory friends, but as a matter of fact that the record and the acts of the Conservative party had not broadened out to the ends of the earth. They had centred upon the big cities.

"If there is not a Liberal in the field I'll vote for the Farmers, because I regard them as half brothers by their adoption of things I have believed in all my life. But there is one thing about it I don't like. The point that I don't like about it that they are coming in like the man in the Scripture at the 11th hour, and getting as much as those of us who started at the first hour and have borne the heat and the burden of the day. Now they are trying to snatch from our hands. You have seen kids with a new toy, how one comes up and snatches it from the others. They are snatching it from our hands and telling us to go and lie down. Well, I would rather lie down than see the Meighen Government go back. There's not a man here to-day who can show me a plank in the Liberal platform that is not in the U.F.O. platform."

In conclusion Mr. Clarke said that if the convention wished to nominate their candidate to-day there were plenty of good men available. If, however, they were willing to give him a few days to think over the matter he would be glad to turn it over in his mind.

A motion to this effect by W. H. A. Semple of Cobourg, carried.

SLASHING PRICE REDUCTIONS TO CLEAN UP AN OVER-STOCK

It should give the buying public a hearty attack of encouragemest and cheer every time Botnick Bros. make their bargain campaign announcements. This energetic firm believes that profit comes when they unload their shelves. They claim that the "oftener they sell out and stock up again the oftener they gain." They believe that only when the goods cross the counter do they represent customers' money. And it's customers' money they are after. For example——

"Ten thousand dollars worth of goods that net 8 per cent. once a year means $800 profit. The same amoust sold four times a year means $3200 profit. Same capital. Four times the profit. Quicker action does it ,according to the Botnick plan.

To-day the clerks were tagging the stock with the mark down prices all day. To-morrow morning at 8.30 sharp Botnick Bros. begin their sensational Selling Out Over-stock Sale. Advertising is a part of their business, and it is a part that helps to build their trade. The full page advertisement appearing in to-day's paper explains the whole situation. Such drastic price smashing reductions all over the stock should pack the store and relieve their over-stocks. Get down early and skip the rush. Doors open at 8:30 a.m. Read the advertisement. 1d

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press).—Persons in need of good wrapping paper, luridly illustrated with quotations of liquor that can be imported into Manitoba from Kenora and adjoining points, may obtain a supply very cheap in Winnipeg. One would-be hootch wholesaler received what he believed to be a genuine tip that the decision in the foremost seal case would be of such a nature as to permit the resumption of inter-Provincial trading. Accordingly, he ordered 200,000 circulars with "attractive" prices and quick delivery from Kenora. The circulars were a triumph of the printers' art, were delivered, and are of no use.

TEACHERS AT CONVENTION OBJECT TO INTRODUCTION OF PENNY BANKS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF PETERBORO

PENNY BANKS DO NOT INCULCATE THRIFT DECLARE TEACHERS—INTERESTING ADDRESS BY SCHOOL INSPECTOR A. MOWAT

The City of Peterborough Teachers' Institute met in the Public Library this morning. The president, Miss M. Runnings, occupied the chair.

After opening exercises, conducted by Rev. W. H. Young, the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report were read by the secretary-treasurer, Miss F. D. Walker.

The Nominating Committee appointed was as follows: Messrs. Downey, Mattice, Kerr, Misses E. Morrow, Doughty, Eastwood, Breault and Walker.

The usual grants to the Ontario Education Association and the various schools for magazines were passed.

A discussion as to whether to hold the next convention in Peterborough or in some outside centre was entered into with enthusiasm. Some advocated going to some American city, such as Buffalo. The majority of the teachers favored going outside the city, and the matter of arranging was left to the incoming executive.

Penny Banks.

The teachers also discussed the matter of introducing the penny bank system into the schools. Some had experience with this in other places, and did not advocate it because of the time necessary to carry it on. The penny banks do not inculcate thrift as much as they are supposed to do. Children get the money from parents on banking day. They seldom save it out of their own. The principle may be right in some ways, but a teacher's time is too valuable to be used in any way of secondary importance. Interest is not allowed in the penny bank system; a pupil would do better to have his own bank account. There is too great a tendency to load up the schools with matters outside their true province. A motion was passed objecting to the introduction of penny banks.

Regulations Amended.

Mr. A. Mowat discussed the changes in the recent regulations. It is much easier for teachers now to get first-class certificates than was formerly the case. Many of the Peterborough teachers are now taking summer courses, either to get these certificates or to get University degrees. The universities will send professors where sufficient teachers desire instruction.

He also discussed the answer papers of the pupils at the entrance. More attention to man-drawing was advocated. Many pupils do not write good sentences in their composition. Their ideas are good but expression is faulty.

Visited Buffalo Schools.

Mr. Mowat also told of his visit to Buffalo schools. He said that it was possible to put too much drill on certain subjects, and that this did not always develop. It rather tended to retard development. Our curriculum is inclined to be hard and fast. American schools do not burden their pupils with so many examination subjects as we do. Their schools give greater elasticity in study and subjects. The public school course is covered in six years. After that the departmental system, like what our Collegiate Institutes use, is introduced. Buffalo has industrial schools. This helps those pupils who are not fitted to go on with academic work. These schools are really trade schools. They teach pupils according to their ability. Technical schools exist for the more advanced. The Buffalo schools are more elaborately equipped than ours. The teachers were enthusiastic; large numbers attended summer courses. There was not much repressive discipline, but the aim was self-control, which is the spirit of the age. Often pupils conduct part of the day's programme; one presides and carries on the work. Physical training was much stressed. The idea of studying towards a purpose was emphasized. For example, after some arithmetic facts were taught, the pupils then proceeded to put them to practical use in life.

Their parents visit the schools, and not for any purpose of criticism. They were welcomed.

American schools enter far too much into politics. Appointments are too often political. This is a serious defect, and often impairs the efficiency of the schools.

Presented Reports.

Miss Richardson and Mr. Dearborn gave reports of the Ontario Educational Association. These were full, comprehensive, and appreciated by the teachers. The teachers were much pleased to hear of the commendatory remarks given to Miss Mina Ross on her paper on "The Schools of To-morrow," given at the association last spring. Many of the speakers at Toronto advocated more physical training on the part of teachers. The latter should be able to take part in games, water sports, etc., not only for the sake of their pupils, but also for their own benefit. The physical development of the children was also stressed.

The delegates expressed the difficulty of reporting the many fine things that were to be heard at the convention. They could give only a few of the main essentials. One speaker advocated a more extensive use of moving pictures in teaching. More pictures should be in our textbooks. More Canadian scenes should be shown in the readers.

Consolidated Schools.

The advantage of consolidated schools was discussed. They would mean that teachers would be better trained. The schools become community centres and would be more attractive. Teachers should be leaders in the community. To be leaders they must be students. When teachers are students they are more likely to be sympathetic with the efforts of pupils.

Miss Burgess and Mr. Bolton were appointed delegates to the Ontario Educational Association for next year.

GREATEST SHOW CAPITOL EVER OFFERED PATPONS

"The Affairs of Anatol," a Really Wonderful Production, Today and for Balance of Week.

Ever since the beautiful Capitol Theatre opened its doors to the public on April 10th last the Famous Players Canadian Corporation has presented high-class picture productions, good music and entertainment of the highest class; but today the programme offered far surpasses any entertainments so far offered to the Peterborough public at many times the price of admission they are asked to pay to see "The Affairs of Anatol."

Twelve Stars in Cast.

Twelve stellar players and a supporting cast of unrivalled quality—that's the record set by Cecil B. DeMille's latest Paramount masterpiece, "The Affairs of Anatol," which will be shown today. The roster reads like screendom's who's who. The phrase, "all-star cast," is a much abused one, but it adequately describes a cast that includes Wallace Reid, famous Paramount star; Gloria Swanson, Elliott Dexter, Bebe Daniels, Monte Blue, Wanda Hawley, Theodore Roberts, Agnes Ayres, Theodore Kosloff, Polly Moran, Raymond Hatton and Julia Faye.

Nothing like this cast in the way of aggregate talent has ever been assembled before. The drawing power of almost any of the names on the roll has been sufficient to awaken the interest of the discriminating public. Here, for the first time, they are appearing in a single production under the direction of a master producer—Cecil B. DeMille.

'The Affairs of Anatol" was written by Jeanie Macpherson, author of many notable Cecil B. DeMille productions. Her story was suggested by Arthur Schnitzler's scintillating comedy of the same name.

The same quality that is featured in the cast of principals and in the authorship has been carried through every phrase of production work. The supporting cast includes, over capable actors as Guy Oliver, Charles Ogle, Clarence Geldart, Maude Wayne, Ruth Miller, William Boyd, Lucien Littlefield and others. The beautiful settings are the work of Paul Iribe, famous French artist, designer and decorator.

Two big double vaudeville acts will complete a show that anywhere else in Canada would demand and receive 50 and 75 cent prices. Hundreds should be turned away at every performance, commencing tonight.

FAN-FAN.

AT THE ALLEN.

PROGRAMME POINTERS.

Another of the sparkling "Edgar" comedies by Booth Tarkington will be shown at the Allen Theatre today, Friday and Saturday. It is entitled "Edgar's Country Cousin," and is one of the funniest of the whole series. If you like good, clean swift-moving, true-to-life comedy, you must not miss this film!

Booth Tarkington, the noted Indiana author, has written an intensely human and amusing story of the mishaps that befall a city boy on his visit to the country, in "Edgar's Country Cousin," the latest of the famous "Edgar" series of comedies produced by Goldwyn. It will be shown here to-day, Friday and Saturday. It is a picture that you will not want to miss.

If you can stand a succession of good hearty laughs, come to the Allen Theatre to-day, Friday or Saturday, when we show "Edgar's Country Cousin," the latest of the "Edgar" series of comedies written for Goldwyn by the famous author, Booth Tarkington. It is a sparkle of genuine amusement from start to finish.

AT THE REGENT.

SMILING COWBOY HERO TO APPEAR IN SPEEDY FILM

Hoot Gibson, the hard riding young Universal star, is scheduled to spur across the screen of the Regent Theatre to-day and keep moving until "Action," his new and smashingly dramatic western story reaches its whirlwind finish.

"Action" could not have been a better story if it had been built to Hoot Gibson's measure. The story was originally written by J. Allan Dunn and read by thousands as "The Mascotte of the Three Star," Universal bought it, assigned Jack Ford to direct, and commissioned him to get together the best cast of players in the country for the supporting roles.

Clara Horton, the exceptionally appealing little emotional actress plays opposite the star while the remainder of the cast will give theatregoers an opportunity to watch the best work of such popular players as Francis Ford, J. Farrel McDonald, Buck Conners, William Robert Daly, Charles Newton, Jim Corey, Kingfisher Jones, Dorothea Wolbert and Byron Munson.

"Action" is particularly interesting to those hundreds of screen critics who have watched Hoot Gibson's work in his vigorous short reel Universal features. "Action" is his first five reel starring vehicle and a production which immediately gave him a permanent place in the foremost rank of western stars.

CULTIVATION OF TOBACCO BEGUN IN HOLY LAND.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(Associated Press.)—Cultivation of tobacco has been begun in Palestine, and Sir Herbert Samuel, high commissioner of the mandatory under the League of Nations, reports to the British government that the new industry will become one of the most flourishing of the country. Tobacco growing in the Holy Land formerly was prohibited.

Several cigarette factories are being built and the manufacture, as well as the cultivation of the weed, promises to contribute a large part of the mandatory's income.

Sir Herbert's report, a copy of which has been received by the League of Nations news bureau here, predicts that if Palestine as a whole is properly developed, it should enjoy a prosperity greater than ever before.

The public school system is developing rapidly and will be extended over the entire country within four years. Sir Herbert declares. Any town or village requiring a school may now obtain one at the expense of the government, merely by furnishing a suitable building and contracting to keep it in repair. Teachers' salaries and other maintenance costs are paid by the government out of general tax revenues.

The report, received by the League of Nations news bureau here, says that more than 10,000 Jewish immigrants have entered Palestine since the war. The importance of its geographical position as a possible center for the commercial traffic of the larger countries surrounding it is pointed out in the report.

"Within the limits of the province," Commissioner Samuel said, "it offers the varieties of soil and climate of a continent." Since the beginning of the Zionist movement, 64 Jewish agricultural settlements have been established which are becoming prosperous.

The entire population, according to the report, is about 700,000 or less than the population of the province of Galilee alone in the time of Christ. Four-fifths of the population are Moslems. There is a small percentage of genuine Bedouin Arabs while the rest, although they speak Arabic and are termed Arabs, are largely of mixed race. There are 77,000 Christians, the majority of whom are members of the Orthodox Church and speak Arabic. The total number of Jews in Palestine is now 76,000.

Sir Herbert reported that steps are being taken to form a constitution for the country, which will include the elective element and leaders of the various sections of the population are being consulted as to its terms.

The government is maintaining 15 hospitals, 21 dispensaries, 8 clinics and 5 epidemic posts. Medical officers are particularly active against eye diseases and malaria which are the two curses of the country, the district being remarkably free from other epidemic diseases. In the campaign against malaria more than 15,000 wells have been registered while 67,000 villages are examined every month.

PAVLOWA AND DANCE PARTNER HAVE PARTED.

She Sails From England, Leaving Stowittz in Paris.

PARIS, October 19. — Hubert J. Stowittz, the young American who danced so well with Anna Pavlowa last year in New York, will not dance with her this year. The former California student is in Paris to-day, while the far famed dancer is on the ocean bound for Quebec, and subsequently for New York, where she will dance in November. Her partner this season will be Novikoff, who, it will be remembered, danced with her in 1911. But the success of Novikoff in renewing professional acquaintance with Pavlowa means Mr. Stowittz's sorrow and regret. Joining Pavlowa's company in 1916 he had worked up until last year he appeared as her leading man at the Manhattan opera house, and afterwards came to Europe with her appearing at the Trocadero in Paris, and at Queen's Hall, where the engagement ended in July. Then the whole company, according to Stowittz, went on vacation. He travelled through Central Europe, always, he says, counting the days until he should sail back for more triumphs in the United States.

He arrived with all his baggage in Paris on August 26. Straightway, he recounts, he went to the Plaza Athenee Hotel, where he was to meet Pavlowa, only to find that Pavlowa was in London. But her husband, M. Dandree, was at the Plaza and told Stowittz, so Stowittz says that it would not do him the slighest good to see Pavlowa because the dancer was through with him, and was going to sail with another dancing partner.

Stowittz says that having only a verbal contract, he saw that he was really through.

The youthful Californian, so far away from home, recalled wistfully that the last dance he danced with Pavlowa was the Bacchanale, at the Queen's Hall, which he said was the last dance Pavlowa perfomed with Mordkin before breaking off wtih him. Stowittz blames his trouble on exactly the same circumstances he says caused Mordkin's difficulties.

"Look,' he said, lifting a big scrapbook from beneath his arms and showing numberless published pictures and articles about him. "Pavlowa can't stand that. I was too good. I had too much success. She only wanted second-raters with her, and so she fired me.

"Well, I shall never starve, I have so many offers I am puzzled to decide which one to take. Perhaps I shall dance at the opera with Ida Rubenstein, and Pavlowa can have all the spotlight over there."

ITALIAN IMMIGRANTS SEND MONEY HOME.

ROME, Oct. 18. — Italy receives nearly 1,000,000,000 lire (equivalent to about $40,000,000) annually from her sons and daughters who have emigrated to other countries, according to figures just published by Emigration Commissioner De Michelis. Italian immigrants in the United States transmitted to Italy 378,349,654 lire (about $35,135,000).

Later he will go to London and to other large English cities, and then to Paris and large continental cities for study along the same lines.

CANADIAN SCHOONER BLUENOSE WILL BE BIG FACTOR IN THE COMING RACE

THOUSANDS OF SPECTATORS FRO THE BIG OCEAN CLASSIC—A REVIEW OF THE CONTENDERS

HALIFAX, Oct. 20.—(Special to the Examiner) The Canadian schooner Bluenose is undoubtable faster than the Delawan, which raced against the American schooner Esperanto in the International race of Halifax last fall. There is no doubt of that—the Bluenose defeated the Delewan twice over the forty mile course.

But Capt. Marty Welch says that Elsie, this years American entry, is faster than the Esperanto Captain Welch was commander of the Esperanto, when she took the Halifax Herald Trophy and prize money last from the Delawan, and he is again skippping the U. S. entry this year. He and his crew arrived here late today with the Elsie, which did 356 miles in 46 hours largely against winds. A day and a night of this accounted for only about 30 miles so the voyage from Gloucester shows that the Elsie is no slouch.

A year ago the Esperanto under somewhat similiar conditions took 32 hours to make the same trip. Capt. Welch who is a former Nova Scotian said tonight that the Elsie was a faster ship than the Esperanto He never saw the Elsie until he stopped into her for the elimination race last week which he won and with it the right to race against the Canadian schooner. The Bluenose won the Nova Scotia eliminaton races with such ease in a field of eight of the fastest fishers on the banks that she is favired here. She was built last spring at Lunenburg and athough She spent the summer on the banks and complies with all requirements still she was really built for these races. The Elsie has been fishng for years, yet,, after seeing both ships, the marine expert of a Boston paper has wired that the Bluenose will not have a look in.

Thousands are expected here this week-end for the big ocean classic.

FORMAL CHALLENGE

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 19. Canadian press. — A formal challenge by the Lunenburg schooner Bluenose, winner of the Nova Scotia fishing schooner race series, for the Halifax Herald international trophy, won last year by the Esperanto of Gloucester, will be forwarded to-day to the trustees of the trophy here, who will forward the challenge to Gloucester. Such, according to H. R. Silver, chairman of the trustees of the cup, will be the procedure followed.

LOCAL DOCTOR DADLY INJURED

completely shatered and the deep, jagged cut on Dr. Hayes' left forehead was probably caused by a flying piece of the wind shield.

Unusual damage was done to the heavy street car. The fender, which carried the car on it for some 20 feet was wrecked, the thick wooden panelling in the front stove in and shattered, the control box driven back, falling on the Chief of Police, and the glass windows and lights smashed. It was planly evident that the wrecked car being cleaned of glass and wood in the barns to-day, preparatory to general repairs, was a badly smashed piece of rolling stock.

Cut By Flying Glass.

Chief Newhall was standing beside the motorman, reaching his side when the car passed King street. He had hardly taken up his position on the outlook for infringements of the law on the part of motorists when the smash occurred. He heard Redman shout, "Look out," and for the two next instant till the street car carrving the smashed coupe along on the slipery rails, was stopped, he was only conscious of ringing, falling glass, snapping steel and shattering wood. When the interlinked street car and automobile stopped abruptly, the passengers in the car were pitched about, one lady being thrown violently to the floor.

Police Chief Injured.

In the excitement of releasing the injured doctor with the assistance of George Chambers, Chief Newhall did not notice his own injuries. When the injured man had been attended to, and he was free to look after himself, it was discovered the control box, when it fell on him, had all but broken his leg. His thigh was severely bruised, and several ribs, struck by flying boards, were, if not broken, dislocated so that he was able, only at great pain, to attend to his duties to-day.

Motorman Escaped.

Motorman Redman escaped miraculously enough with an injured thumb, and the conductor, who was at the far end of the car, it was said to-day, was cut quite severely by flying glass. No severe injuries were reported amongst the passengers, although they were showered with glass.

FOOTBALL NOTES

Football moguls have decided that home-and-home games will be played between the Vets and Canadian Woollens to wind up the fall series, and that the first of these games will take place next Saturday at the Oval. The game is called for 2.30 p.m. sharp, and should be a ringer all the way through. William Abbott will referee. These two games between the old rivals will be a fine finale to the fall football, and there should be a big crowd on hand for the first game next Saturday.

Veterans' Team.

The following team will represent the Vets in the game against the Canadian Woollens on Saturday next: Jones; Perry and Gamble; Burrows, Heycock and Hurrel; J. Willshaw, Monks, Dyer, Sharman and Peel.

Reserves: Willis, Jr., and Hotston.

SYMPATHY FOR IRELAND.

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Oct. 20. — (Canadian Press). — Speaking on Ireland here, Lord Derby, former British Ambassador to Paris, said: "You have no idea how the world looked upon our treatment of Ireland, of how it was poisoning relationships not only with foreign countries on the continent, but with America and the Dominions.

SPORT IN BRIEF

They're playing at Belleville today for Intermediate championship in amateur baseball. Picton and Hebrew Lits of Toronto are the gladiators, with Alex Kay and Jake Solomon in charge of the game. Here's for Picton. Toronto has already grabbed the juvenile honors and Hillcrests are favorites for the senior championship.

The gate receipts of the McGill-Varsity game last Saturday exceeded $18,000. There were 12,000 paid admissions.

In the P.A.A.A. membership lists already published, appear the names of Harold Parker, Emmett Sheehan, Walter Jackson, Roy Cherrett, Harry Tudhope, Chris Bergoine, Orme Cavanah, Joe Dwyer, Jack Gillespie, Grover Halpin, N. H Hambley and L. LeBarr, jr., all well known hockey players

The macadam route and the cinder path are coming back. It's a long look back to the time when folks displayed excitement over the appearance of a foot runner. Now the runners are very much in evidence and they are attracing considerable attention. One athelete drew a big crowd of people, and many motors, as he came along George street this morning and finished at the Y.M.C.A.

The rain was kind to the Guelph Maple Leafs yesterday, the Western city gang being unable to play Hillcrests in the second game of the O.A.B.A. senior series.

THE DUTIES OF CHIEF ELECTORAL OFFICER

FIRST FEDERAL ELECTION SINCE ABOLITION OF CLERK OF CROWN IN CHANCERY.

OTTAWA, Oct. 19.—(Canadian Press).—The coming general election will be the first in Canada which has been held since the abolition of the office of the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery. Provision was made, in recently amending the Dominion Elections Act, for abolition of that office, and the appointment instead of Col. O. M. Biggar of Ottawa as Chief Electoral Officer. The duties of the Chief Electoral Officer, as set forth in the Act, are:

(a) Throughout every election to properly direct all returning officers, and, in case of incompetency or neglect of duty on the part of any of them, recommend his removal and the appointment of another in his stead.

(b) Exercise general direction and jurisdiction over the administrative conduct of elections with a view to ensuring the fairness and impartiality of all election officers and compliance with the provisions of this Act.

The Chief Electoral Officer holds office "on the same tenure, is removable only for cause and in the same manner, and is from time to time paid the same salary and superannuation allowance" as a puisne judge of the Supreme Court of Canada. "He shall rank as a deputy head of a department, shall communicate with the Governor-General through the Secretary of State of Canada," the Act states, and, in addition to taking charge of the administration of elections, he is required to act as counsel for the Crown or the Attorney-General and make such enquiries as the Governor-General may direct.

Outside of his assistant and two stenographers, "all of whom shall be appointed by the Governor in Council," the Chief Electoral Officer is not given any permanent staff attached to his department. Provision is made, however, for him to appoint such temporary help as may be necessary from time to time for carrying out his duties in connection with the holding of elections. The Chief Electoral Officer is, of course, in charge of all other election officers.

It is not generally known that provision is made in the Dominion Elections Act for the penalizing of any election officer "who is guilty of any misfearance or any wilful act or omission in violation of this Act." The Act provides that such election officer shall "forfeit to any person thereby aggreived a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, in addition to the amount of all actual damage to such person thereby occasioned.

"Every election officer who refuses or neglects to perform any of the obligations or formalities required of him by this Act shall, for each such refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of two hundred dollars to any person who sues therefore," the section continues.

REARED IN LUXURY VICTIM OF "THE LIFE"

Sad Story of Blue-Grass Kentuckian Who Fell By the Way.

DETROIT, Oct. 19.—The gradual absorption of narcotic drugs into the system of James Murphy, alias James Madison, a few grains at a time, brought him into the citizenship of that chill company that lies silently in the morgue. It is a shifting citizenship and it comes and goes with dreary monotony—a week being a long period for repose.

James Murphy has been there four days. If someone does not call for him soon he will be transferred to a place where crosses "row on row" go staggering in their cheap wooden completeness, and nameless dead elbows friendless dead in the sadness of Potter's Field.

There is a story in James Murphy, alias James Madison, a story aside from the one of the end of him, for that was a mere brief bit of sensation, one of those things that give the black face type in newspaper shops a chance to come to life. He jumped from the third story window of a downtown department store when he was caught stealing Tuesday. He stole a few strips of gaudy silk ties, and because of them he died.

Not Always a "Rat."

The police made a somewhat indifferent search for his past and then yawningly announced he was a "rat" and let it go at that. "Rat" in police language means a man who is a petty thief and not entitled to the respect a good "gun" or "stick-up" receives.

But James Murphy, alias James Madison, once was not a rat. The Government being interested in him because of a war record instituted a search and it found:

James Murphy lived in Kentucky, in an old white home with tall pillars and a long shade-seeking porch. He grew up in an atmosphere of old mahogany and old wines, of fair women and swift horses, of a gentle courtesy and a hot-blooded chivalry. He was loved by friends of whom Kentucky was not so much a political or geographical subdivision of a nation as it was an annex to heaven.

From the Real Kentucky.

It discovered that he played golf and danced at the hunt clubs and rode to the hounds and esquired the soft-voiced ladies of the blue-grass in and about Louisville. It discovered that when war came he enlisted and rose to a lieutenantship and marched with the triumphant Army through France. It discovered that when the war was done he came back to Louisville and, tiring of doing nothing, started out for Detroit and adventure.

He found it. He found it in company with chance made friends who told him their hectic nights were "the life." They drained his vitality with wine and late hours and women who laughed from the throat only, and when he was tired they gave him a touch of that white powder. Downward rushed the path from that moment on. Down to the depths so black he wouldn't even write his mother.

He became first a beggar, then a thief and a jail bird (one conviction for larceny) and lastly a physical, mental, moral wreck that prowled through aisles of department stores stealing gaudy ties. When his arrest came and he realized in one awful moment that the folks "down in Kentucky" would know——

So they gathered him up from the sidewalk and he sleeps on in the morgue today.

MR. HOOEY RETURNS TO BIRTHPLACE IN COBOURG.

TRENTON, Oct. 20.—It is learned that Mr. Stuart Hooey, Trenton, recently purchased a residence in Cobourg, and it is understood it is his intention to shortly make his home there, the place where he was born. Mr. Hooey went to Belleville in 1876, where he engaged in business until 1888, when he moved to Trenton, and until 1914 conducted a large grocery business here, having in 1896 built the fine Hooey block on Dundas Street, which he sold to W. C. Saylor in 1916. Mr. Hooey has been residing in Toronto since his removal from Trenton and returns to Cobourg after an absence of forty-five years. His brother is this year Mayor of Cobourg.

The total number of people in England and Wales is 37,895,242, of whom 19,803,022 are females. This is an excess of 1,729,802 females as compared with 2,279,276 in 1911.

Now She's a Silent Woman.

An old maid who has the reputation of being the fastest talker on record, one day met her match.

A pedlar had the impudence to ring her front door bell. A moment later the door was opened, and when the lady saw who it was, she at once gave him a piece of her mind, and concluded with:

"And now you can be off. There's nothing you can sell me that will be of any earthly use to me!"

The pedlar, who was evidently no novice at "getting his own back," turned on his heel, saying sweetly as he did so:

"No, mum; seeing as 'ow I'm only selling mouse-traps, an' not muzzles, I don't see as 'ow there is!"

Automobile stealing has become so nearly a "nation-wide industry" that some of the largest insurance companies in the United States have stopped writing the familiar "fire and theft" policies, and 90 per cent. of the others are planning to insert clauses in these olicies eliminating from protection all accessories, such as tires, tools, etc.

BOTTOMLEY DEFENDS VICTORY BOND CLUB

INTERESTING CASE BEING HEARD BEFORE THE BRITISH COURTS

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press).—The court was densely packed to hear the proceedings relating to the Horatio Bottomley-Bigland libel action which was resumed today. Mr. Bottomley, M.P. and publisher of "John Bull," bases his action on a pamphlet in which it is alleged he was accused of attempting to defraud the public in connection with his "Victory Bond Club."

Many dramatic moments occurred while a long chain of questions were being put to Bottomley by Bigland's counsel.

"Never, Never, Never!" was Bottomley's repeated emphatic answer to queries which sometimes suggested that he had been a party to collusion in the libel action.

Pressed by counsel regarding payment for patriotic lectures delivered by him in music halls and elsewhere during the war, the complainant declared that the surplus after the deduction of expenses went to the John Bull Soldiers' and Sailors' Fund.

Bottomley indignantly repudiated the suggestion that he had once declared on a music hall stage that he was not receiving a penny for the lecture, although at the time he had a cheque for the lecture in his pocket. A sharp passage developed between the Magistrate and Bottomley's counsel, Sir Ernest Wild who, rebuked by the Magistrate, threatened to withdraw from the case if not allowed "to protect his client."

The case was adjourned after Bottomley had declared his intention of not producing the books in connection with the Victory Bond Club unless the Court especially ordered, to which the Judge retorted: "The books ought to be produced. I shall draw any inference I like from their non-production."

Immense crowds assembled outside the Court, and had to be controlled by the police. The majority cheered Bottomley when he emerged.

SOCIAL EVENING FOR TRINITY CHURCH MEN

Music, Refreshments, Games, Combine in Making Happy Occasion.

Trinity Sunday school was the scene of a very happy gathering, last night, when for the first time in many years the men of Trinity Church spent a social evening together. Nearly one hundred men attended and Church activities would be better for social affairs of this kind.

A fine musical program was given by Trinity Sunday School Orchestra during the games and social hour before refresments. After refreshments, toasts were proposed to the King, to Canada and to the church. W. G. Morrow officiated as chairman, and proposed the King's toast.

W. D. Campbell in proposing the toast to the Dominion, while he referred to our resources spoke rather of the spirit of its citizens and the future part it wil and should play in understanding the United States Great Britain and for the United States. Dr. M A Morrison, in reply spoke of the importance of religion in a country's progress, and he advocated religious instruction in the public schools.

The great importance of the church in present day society was empasized by R. J. Kidd the proposer, R. F Downey in reply to the toast to the church.

Vocal solos were given by E. Murdoff and W. F Skitch and Rev. F. E. Mallot the pastor, showed his versality in an excellent recitation. The entire program was a very commendable one, and the affair was in every way as the church members had confidently expected

INDIAN REVOLUTIONIST AFFECTS MISSION WORK.

ST. THOMAS, October 20 (Canadian Press). — In a report of foreign missions presented to the Baptist Convention to-day, it was stated that the efforts of Gandhi, the Indian revolutionist, have been felt in all parts of the work, but not very seriously.

Beyond the introduction of a few primiive spinning wheels into a number of homes, and seducing of a number of boys from High School, no serious results of his campaign were evident within the sphere of the missionary influence.

Beneath sleeps one we dearly love,

Her weary hours and days of pain,

Her ever-patient, worn-out frame has

OPPOSITION TO MOVE VOTE OF CENSURE AGAINST PREMIER FOR NEGOTIATING WITH SINN FEIN

BRITISH CONSERVATIVES TO DECLARE HIS INVITATION TO IRISH TO CONFER ON SITUATION DID NOT HAVE SANCTION OF PARLIAMENT—RUMORS RIFE OF RUPTURE IN PEACE PARLEYS—CONFERENCE ADJOURNS ABRUPTLY.

BY ED. L. KEEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, October 21. — A vote of censure against Premier Lloyd-George for negotiation with the representatives of the Sinn Fein will be moved in Parliament by leading Conservatives on the occasion of the debate on Ireland. The motion will "deplore the negotiations with the professed adherents to an Irish republic," and declare the Prime Minister's invitation sent to Eamonn DeValera to appoint plenipotentiaries for a conference, had not the sanction of Parliament.

DeValera's message to the Pope, declaring that "Ireland already is independent," has caused extreme irritation in Conservative circles here, where it was rgarded as gratuitously provocative."

Rumours of an Irish rupture were rife when the peace conference at 10 Downing Street adjourned after a brief session, which lasted a little over an hour.

The delegates, who met at noon after the conference had been postponed an hour from its original starting time, left the Prime Minister's residence shortly after one o'clock. It was announced they would probably meet again next Monday at five o'clock in the afternoon.

No official reason for the abrupt ending of what was expected to be a considerable session was given out. It was rumoured that disagreements over the alleged breaking of the truce had arisen.

ATTACK FEARED ON EMBASSY OF U.S. IN PARIS

ONE THOUSAND POLICE TO GUARD U. S. ERVOY AND STAFF FROM A TACK BY COMMUNISTS TONIGHT.

HUNDREDS OF THREATS RECEIVED BY HERRICK

BY WEBB MILLER.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, October 21. — One thousand policemen will guard the American Embassy and residence of Ambassador Herrick to-night to prevent a threatened march of Communists, and a demonstration against the United States, in favor of the release of Sacco and Venzetti, Communists, charged with murder in Boston, Massachusetts.

Steel blinds will be drawn at the Embassy and Herrick's Rue de Messines home, and armed guards will prevent Communists, who are to hold a monster mass meeting at the Salle Wagram, from approaching either building.

Hundreds of threatening letters in protest against the sentence passed upon the convicted Communists, continued to pour in through the Embassy mails to-day.

Cancer Origin Earth Larvae?

GERMAN SCIENTIST CLAIMS DISEASE TRANSMITTED BY ANGLE WORMS.

NEW YORK, October 21 (United Press). — A German scientist claims to have discovered the definite origin of cancer, the disease which has defied science, it was learned here to-day.

Dr. Franz Kopsch, of Berlin University, has informed friends in this country that while experimenting with Fronz, he accidentally discovered that cancer was transmitted from a larva of the earth carried by angle worms.

Dr. H. A. Haubott, the New York medical scientist, and a friend of the Berlin professor, is now directing a series of experiments in New York laboratories, through which it is hoped that a practical method of preventing cancer may be obtained.

"I cannot predict that this will result in the finding of a way to cure cancer, except perhaps in the early stages," Dr. Haubott said to-day.

Failure of Peace Parleys Antagonizes Union Chiefs

BY H. P. JACOBS
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

CLEVELAND, Ohio, October 21. — Brotherhood chiefs returned to Cleveland to-day, following the complete failure of the "little peace conference" in Chicago, determined to lend every effort toward making successful the nation-wide railway strike, starting 30th October.

Warren S. Stone, Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, declared that any further negotiations with the union leaders would have to take place at their headquarters here—that they would not again leave Cleveland for any conference.

BANKS TAKING PRECAUTIONS

ADDITIONAL SUPPLIES OF REVOLVERS AND BURGLARY AND HOLDUP INSURANCE ISSUED IN TORONTO.

PROPOSED TO EXTEND GRILLING TO CEILING

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Oct. 21.— An additional supply of revolvers and more burglary and hold up insurance appear to be the only steps so far taken by banks and others against visits from gunmen and robbers such as recent robberies of the Bank of Hamilton here and the Bank of Toronto in Wyoming yesterday.

The Rice Lewis Company had quite a large demand for revolvers during the week from the banks. Orders are generally for two dozen weapons of various kinds. Individuals are not buying to any great extent, although there have been some purchases. The police departments have had no great rush for applications to carry or have a revolver. The Dominion of Canada Guarantee Co. yesterday received an application for $100,000 burglary and hold-up insurance from a large firm of bond dealers in the city. Other smaller applications have been received for burglary insurance, both interior and outside, for the protection of passengers. There has not been much taken by the public in general, although another company had quite a run on household burglary insurance.

Another express firm in the city recently took $100,000 in burglary and hold-up insurance. An official of one of the larger banks stated today that the bank had issued more revolvers in all branches. Inquiries were also being made as to what the bank really has to guard against in dealing with hold-up men and also considering remodelling the lay-out of some of the buildings. Steel grilling is being considered to fence the banking section off entirely from the iron opening to the public in an effort to prevent hold-up men from climbing over the counter. No undue demands have been made to signal protection companies.

BIRMINGHAM CAR VICTOR IN TEST

WINS $5,000 FORFEIT ELIMINATION CONTEST WITH PARENTI

JAMESTOWN, N.Y., Oct. 21. — In a competitive elimination test with a Parenti motor car, the Birmingham yesterday afternoon was the victor. The Parenti is the only no-axle car other than the Birmingham, and its owners accepted the challenge of Birmingham Motors to prove that the Birmingham is not "the easiest riding car in the world" with $5,000 as a forfeit.

A "trestle" of heavy planks was laid on a road beside the Birmingham plant. The Parenti car broke down on its second trip over the "trestle," travelling 25 miles an hour. its springs and steering gear were shattered. The Birmingham had already crossed and re-crossed the "trestle" three times successfully at a similar speed.

Following the competition with Parenti, one of the Birmingham drivers offered to cross the trestle with a standard axle car. His car left the "trestle" on its second crossing and smashed against a high bank beside the Birmingham plant.

BANKS RELEASE WOMEN HELP

EXPLAIN THAT REFUSAL OF GIRLS TO BE TRANSFERRED HOLDS UP WHOLE SYSTEM OF PROMOTION

BACK ON PRE-WAR BASIS WITHIN NEXT TWO YEARS

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

WINNIPEG, Oct. 21.—Dismissal of women clerks as rapidly as conditions will permit is being effected in banks throughout Canada, a Winnipeg banker announced to-day. Within two years the genus "bank girl" will be extinct, he said.

Following the dismissal of 93 temporary women clerks in one institution in Winnipeg last spring, other banks have followed suit and will soon be back to their pre-war basis of organization he said. His own bank this week handed "marching orders" to four girls drawing salaries of from $80 to $100 a month.

"The girls are just as efficient as they were during the war," the banker said. "In many cases they are more efficient than men. But they have upset the whole system of promotion in all banks from coast to coast. It is too great a price to pay for the sake of keeping women in our employ.

"The manager explained that before the war the men were promoted by transfer. They began as juniors in one branch, were transferred and promoted at the same time to another branch. They became familiar with many of the banks branches throughout the Dominion. Girls, upon the other hand, refused to be senior clerks and even tellers they transferred. Thus, when they became could not be moved, and held up a line of would be promotions behind them.

"We feel sure the girls will get good jobs elsewhere," the manager concluded. "They have an excellent training for any kind of clerical work." This state of affairs, it is said, will not affect girls employed as stenographers or those with positions in the superintendent's departments.

INFLUENCE OF BAD FILMS ON YOUNG SCORED

REV. F. E. MALOTT REPORTS TO COUNCIL OF WOMEN ON COMMITTEE'S WORK TO FURTHER GOOD "MOVIES."

URGES RESTRICTIONS ON ATTENDANCE BY CHILDREN

The local Council of Women held their monthly meeting in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. A. Mowat presiding.

Several communications were received. One from the Chamber of Commerce announced the institution, after Mr. P. P. Westbye's recent enlightening discourse on flies, impure milk, and mosquitoes, of a Civic Health Committee, with Dr. E. Wood as chairman, and asked the co-operation of the Local Council along these lines. The result of this was a motion which appointed Dr. Birnie and her committee to meet the committee formed by the Chamber of Commerce, and consult as to the proper method of carrying on the work.

A letter was received from the Women's National Bureau of Information at Ottawa, which has been formed for the purpose of disseminating information regarding Canadian-made products. Inquiries along these lines and complaints regarding unreliable goods were solicited.

Rev. F. E. Malott, who is chairman of a committee of five appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to further the production of good films in the local theatres, reported on the progress of his committee. In a brief but eloquent address, Mr. Malott reviewed the situation in Peterborough with regard to movie theatres and managers. His committee had arranged a meeting with the managers of the local amusement houses, who were all present, and both sides reviewed question with frankness and good feeling. The managers, who reported that they had little or nothing to do with the choice of productions, these being under the control of their different head offices, who established a circuit throughout Canada, expressed themselves as quite willing to co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce in procuring the very best films, provided the same were patronised by their patrons. They quite candidly stated that they preferred to show pictures which might be considered by a certain class as not being of the best calibre, but which would show a satisfactory total at the box office, than to put on pictures of the very highest quality, and suffer a loss by reason of non-attendance.

The delegation from the Chamber of Commerce impressed the managers with their unwillingness to "knock" any motion picture theatre, and their desire to co-operate with the managers in the production of good screenings.

Mr. Malott gave several extracts from the report of the "Movie" Committee, read at the Social Service Convention held here last spring. Some real, substantial work might be done, he said, by the Council in looking after the practice of admitting children of tender years to the

It's a personal question with you. It's something that cannot be passed on to someone else. What some other person may do towards helping to re-build the Muskoka Sanitarium doesn't answer the question of what you are going to do. The Great White Plague has its foothold in every part of our Province, and in every quarter of our city. Its attack is not levelled at any one class or at any particular place. It is a common foe, and as all are liable to attack, so all must enlist to help in the fight.

It's not a hopeless battle in which we are all engaged, but on the contrary one in which many a victory has been won. Suitable buildings, medical attendance, proper food, and fresh air are the reinforcements needed, and with these the great work of the Muskoka Sanitarium can go on. Nature has given us the most wonderful place in the world amid our Canadian lakes and hills in which to carry out this work, and in order to do so, the buildings destroyed must be re-built. They are essential to the purpose, and the responsibility for their re-building is ours. We are fighting a foe, right in our own city, on our street; some time it may be right in our own household.

When you are called upon by the committee, remember it's a personal question with you. What someone else may or may not do has no bearing on the question, and remember also the good Samaritan did not "pass by on the other side."

FOUGHT HUGE BULL ELEPHANT.

Good Yarn Told By Big Game Hunter.

LONDON, Oct. 21. — (Associated Press.)—A good elephant yarn is told by J. Morewood Dowsett, a well-known big game hunter, who has just returned from a hunting trip in South Africa.

He was hunting elephants in Uganda when information was brought him of the whereabouts of a large herd. With a native chief and a house boy, he started to find them.

The party came upon the herd in the forest. Mr. Dowsett got several photographs within 20 yards of the beasts when the chief warned him that they had been "scented" and that the animals were coming for them. Snatching up his rifle Mr. Dowsett shot and killed the leader, a big bull.

While some surrounded their dead leader, many of the beasts stampeded and, running the wrong way, Mr. Dowsett was cut off from the party. Reloading his gun, the hunter dashed off for safety and ran into a big bull elephant which crashed through the bush six yards in front of him.

Trunk aloft, ears extended and trumpeting wildly, the beast rushed at Mr. Dowsett and swept him to the ground with his trunk and turned rapidly in its own length ready to trample him.

The hunter took a flying dive under the monster's belly, realizing he would then be on the right side of the wind but the beast turned rapidly round and again tried to trample him. Instead the animal rolled him over and over with its legs and the hunter saw above him the two great tusks as the beast tried to manœuver his body into position and pick him up. Mr. Dowsett managed to roll behind the animal and get to his feet and make a rush for cover.

To the hunter's relief and surprise the furious beast set off in the opposite direction and disappeared.

Wealthy persons are called plutocrats in allusion to Plutus, the classical god of riches. "Plutos is Greek and means wealth.

WAGE WAR IN THE YANGTSZE VALLEY.

Inter-Provincial Struggle in China—Severe Battles.

PEKING, Oct. 21. — (Associated Press.)—The inter-provincial "war" in the Yangtze valley continues notwithstanding the withdrawal by the Peking government of Wang Chan-yuen, the unpopular high inspecting commissioner of Hupeh and Hunan. The war-cry of the southerners when they invaded Hupeh was that Wang must go. Now it is autonomy for Hupeh.

Whatever the real motive back of the invasion, it is being effectively opposed by General Wu Pei-fu with his Chihli and Shantung troops. Several severe battles have been fought with several thousand casualties all told, and the northerners are reported to have occupied Yo Chow, in Hunan, and to have control of the Yangtsze. The southerners have retired on Changsha without attempting to defend Yo Chow.

Both sides appear to be seriously hampered by lack of funds. Wu Pei-fu immediately after his appointment as high commissioner, succeeding Wang-Chan-yuen and being charged with the defense of Hupeh, confiscated the revenues from the Pekin-Hankow railway in the district where he was operating and tried to raise a loan from chambers of commerce and guilds.

Wang Unpopular.

His action brought him into disrepute with the people of Hupeh and he appears now to be classed in that province with the general run of militarists. He was formerly, and still is regarded here as an exalted type of military leader whose acts are guided by high patriotism.

On the other hand, the southerners are alleged to have put out a cry for help from Dr. Sun Yat-sen and to be marking time until such help arrives. Traffic on the Yangtsze above Hankow is perilous on account of indiscriminate firing by soldiers on all craft, foreign or Chinese.

Formal notice has been sent to all consulates against such navigation, and such steamers as continue to move are convoyed as a rule by gunboats, which have occasional brushes with troops on the shore.

In Buenos Aires, S. A., it is planned to issue luminous number license plates for automobiles used in that city.

TO-DAY'S NEWS OF THE DISTRICT

JOHN DEWART IS LIBERAL CANDIDATE

YOUNG FARMER AND RETURNED SOLDIER WITH SPLENDID RECORD, WILL CONTEST EAST PETERBOROUGH — AN EAGER CONVENTION.

W. A. ANDERSON PROPOSED

NORWOOD, Oct. 20.— Captain John Dewart of Otonabee township, near Indian River, is the Liberal candidate in East Peterborough. The convention at which he was nominated here this afternoon, and at which ex-Warden W. A. Anderson, of Otonabee, was also proposed, disclosed a surprising show of strength and spirit and enthusiasm, amounting in the opinion of the president, Dr. Munro of Warsaw, to a virtual rejuvenation of the party in this riding. Last in the list of the political preliminaries, it was marked not only by the eagerness of the rank and file to accept the challenge of all-comers, but also by the presence of the large number of women whose active interest was referred to as the most encouraging proof that they are in complete accord with and understanding of the principles of Liberalism.

Throughout the speeches sounded a note of sympathy and fellowship for the U.F.O., for most of their policies and aspirations, and for the grievances that actuate them; but when one or two of the older men suggested that the Liberals should stand aside in this campaign because a three-cornered fight might contribute an advantage to the Government candidate, the audience murmured their dissent, and broke into cheers at the resolute speech of Reeve Curtis of Havelock, who decided that the Liberal party in East Peterborough had stood on the sidelines for the last time. In this election. they had to fight, or disband forever. And this convention, seemingly larger than the Conservative conclave here on Monday, had only one idea which apparently needed but a suggestion of timidity to crystallize the common desire for action into unity of purpose and a determination to reassert Liberal ideals and policies as the solution of Canada's problems. That passing incident cleared the air. The mind of the convention was revealed to itself. From that stage the discussion and the business was constructive and quite definitely so.

Reeve Curtis's Clarion Call.

"In the last provincial election the U. F. O. understood that we were standing back but that the next time we would have a man in the field," said Reeve Curtis. "Therefore it is up to us here to nominate a candidate. With the record of the Conservative party during these last ten years, and the people have not forgotten it, I'll be surprised if the Government candidate gets votes enough to save his deposit. If we let a new party walk in and steal our policies and our platform then it is time to disband. Most of you have read the speech of James Murdock, one of the leaders of the Railway men and for four years on the Board of Commerce. He stated only a few

SAYS MEIGHEN COPIED TUPPER'S MANIFESTO, AND CONDITIONS IN CANADA THEN AND NOW THE SAME

J. C. ELLIOTT AT LIBERAL CONVENTION IN EAST PETERBOROUGH HOLDS MIRROR TO THE TIMES WHICH THE LAURIER GOVERNMENT RAISED TO PROSPERITY—A PARALLEL OF PRICES.

NORWOOD, October 20. — Directing the attention of the audience at the Liberal convention here to-day to the manifesto issued by the Hon. Arthur Meighen, on October 4th, John C. Elliott, ex-M.P.P., of West Middlesex, assembled certain extracts from it which, he said, formed a close parallel with the manifesto issued by Sir Charles Tupper prior to the election of 1896. So close was the parallel, Mr. Elliott suggested, that it offered a hint as to where Mr. Meighen secured his copy. He had copied from the manifesto of Sir Charles Tupper, who appealed to the people of Canada prior to the elections of 1896 under very similar conditions. The quotations read by Mr. Elliott follow:

From the manifesto of Sir Charles Tupper, taken from the Mail and Empire of May 6th, 1896:

"I feel that I may safely appeal to your cordial and direct support in maintaining the National Policy as a measure essential to the continued prosperity of Canada. The people of Canada may be trusted to express their convictions upon this supreme issue with a clear understanding of the attitude of the two parties. On the one hand the Conservative party stands definitely and clearly committed to the continuance of a fair measure of protection to the industries of the Dominion. On the other hand the Liberal party has declared for free trade. With your verdict in favor of the Government, the industrial progress of Canada is assured, whereas a declaration in favor of the Liberal Party will undoubtedly lead to a reversal of the fiscal policy which has obtained since 1878, and to a disastrous revolution in the general business of the country.

It is with pride I ask you to contemplate the position of Canada to-day, and measure the causes which have combined to bring about the happy conditions everywhere apparent.

Extracts from the Manifesto of the Hon. Arthur Meighen, issued October 4th:

"The real thing we are called upon to resist at the present time is a free trade policy for Canada. A decisive verdict by the Canadian people will be the signal for returning confidence, for renewed productive activities, and for better times. The time has come to settle this issue, and the well-being of one and all depends upon its being settled right. On the shoulders of the people themselves, the responsibility is now placed. They must decide between a tariff policy which in Canada's position is the very root of her prosperity, and the progressive absorption of Canadian industries and with them Canadian manhood and womanhood in the ever-expanding system of the United States."

"We are told, therefore," continued Mr. Elliott, "that what would happen to the country if it did not return the Conservative Goovernment in 1896 is going to happen to-day if we don't return the Conservative Government of Arthur Meighen. Let me put it this way: What happened to Canada by the election of a Liberal Government in 1896 will happen to Canada by the election of a Liberal Government on December 6th."

Mr. Elliott said that he was at home during the election of 1896, and he clearly remembered the conditions on his father's farm. They sold three horses in New York for $140, and his recollection was that the happy prosperous conditions described by Sir Charles Tupper in his cheerful manifesto didn't actually exist.

Going back to the files of Conservative papers, Mr. Elliott said, he found the following reports of prices paid in Toronto, one list taken from the Mail and Empire of May 6, 1896, just before the election of the Laurier Government, and the other in the Toronto News on September 20, 1911, the day before the Liberal Government was defeated:

Prices May 6, 1896—		Prices September 20, 1911.
Wheat	80c	Wheat	86c
Oats	34c	Oats	49-50c
Barley	34c	Barley	70c
Butter	10-13c	Butter	26-30c
Eggs	9-10c	Eggs	27-30c
Potatoes, bag	25-30c	Potatoes, bag	$1.40-$1.50
Hogs	$4.60-$4.80	Hogs	$10-$10.550
Beef ,hinds, lb.	7-8c	Beef, hinds	$11.50-$12.50
Beef, fores, lb	3-4c	Beef, fores	$5.50-$7.50

Referring to the prices obtaining in May, 1896, Mr. Elliott said that they represented the splendid prosperity and the contentment and happiness which Sir Charles Tupper averred would be jeopardized by the election of a Liberal Government.

"Well, the Liberals came into power," he continued. "After hearing of the dangers set out by Sir Charles Tupper that would follow the election of a Liberal Government, the people said conditions could not be

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK AND BEAUTIFUL

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large obttle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everyobdy uses this preparation now ,because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gary hair disappears, and after another application or two, you hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

FOUR BANDITS ENTER A BANK AND GET $12,000

WHEN ROBBERS GOT THROUGH THEY LOCKED MANAGER AND STAFF IN THE VAULT—BANK OF TORONTO THE LOSER.

ESCAPED IN A CAR

WYOMING, Ont. Oct. 20.—Four bandits armed and masked, entered the local branch of the Bank of Toronto here, yesterday afternoon and escaped with $12,000 in bills and silver. They escaped in a large high-powered McLaughlin automobile with yellow wheels, in which a fifth member of the gang had remained while the bank was being rifled, the four men entered the bank just at 3 o'clock and locked it behind them.

The first of the quartette made his way to the teller's cage and asked for change for a five dollar bill. While he was being given the change a second man made his way into the managers office with a gun in his hand and as he stepped through the doorway he pulled a red bandana handkerchief up across the lower part of his face. He ordered the manager H. E. Lambert and customer, A. McKay, to get down on the floor. Mr McKay attempted to remonstrate and was pushed roughly from his chair to the floor.

Ronald Brown, junior in the bank was the only member of the staff who had an intimation of the robbery. He saw the four men approaching and became suspicious. As they entered the bank he made his way out through the rear door with a revolver and attempted to arouse the citizens to the fact that the bank was being robbed but although the bandits were in the building some ten minutes no attempt was made to stop them as the citizens of the town who were on the street believed that he was joking.

After Mr. Lambert and Mr. McKay had been forced to lie down on the floor the men passed through into the main part of the bank. The teller, E. S. Taylor, was forced to open his cage and it was thoroughly rifled and he and Miss Vera McIntosh, ledger-keeper, were made to lie down on the floor.

The men then turned their attention to the safe and finding it locked, made the manager open it for them. It was here that they obtained the major part of their haul When the robbers had satisfied themselves that they had made a thorough job, they made the manager aad staff go into the vault and then locked them in.

THE PREMIER AND TARIFF

ADDRESSED A BIG MEETING AT SARNIA LAST EVENING--LABOUR CONDITIONS.

SARNIA, Ont., Oct. 21.—(Canadian Press.)—The Imperial theatre was crowded to capacity last night to hear Premier Meighen speak. He referred to the late Hon. W. J. Hanna as a dear friend whose memory would long be revered. "You may have read a speech or two recently in which our appalling financial conditions was emphasized" said the Premier. Throughout the universe, we were going through the aftermath of war, he went on but the financial, commercial and industrial condition of Canada was the best of any country which went through the war. To-day the employed of Canada numbered just half, in proportion to population, those in the United States. Canada had better labor conditions than any country participating in the war, not excluding the United States.

Mr. Meighen said he proposed to discuss the tariff issue at the main meeting. At the overflow meeting he would deal with changes that had been levelled at the government by opposition speakers.

"How long would you be Sarnia if we levelled the tariff wall?" he queried his hearers. "Where would Canada be with her population of nine millions lying beside the industrial colossos of the world, if we had free trade. Is there any mind with the most rudimentary logic which can argue that Canada could maintain and develop her industrial life under such competition as that.

He went on to declare that the fate of Canada under free trade would be more commercial vassalage to the United Staes. To lay our tariff down meant the absorption of our industries one after another and the aggrandizement of the United States.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21ST, 1921.

THE EAST PETERBOROUGH RACE.

With the nomination of John Dewart by the Liberals of East Peterborough, the race in that riding is now fairly under way and promises to be one of the most interesting three-cornered fights in the campaign. The three candidates in the field are all farmers, so they are not open to criticism from a rural electorate on that score. All three are well known and well liked, so they start even in that respect, and each is backed by an organization that outwardly, at least, is confident of success. All the elements of a red-hot fight are present, and the development in the east riding will be well worth watching.

PREPARING THE LISTS.

Yesterday The Examiner drew attention to the urgent necessity of haste in deciding what plan should be adopted in preparing the voters' lists in Ontario for the Federal election. The problem, it is of general interest to know, has now been solved by the decision of the Chief Electoral office, with the consent of the Government and of the Liberal and Progressive Parties, to use the latest municipal lists as a basis for the Federal list. This arrangement will greatly simplify the task of listing the names of those eligible to vote and will materially reduce the registrations. All electors whose names appear on the lists prepared by the municipalities will have no further worry, as they will not be required to register. All other citizens who are eligible to vote in a Dominion contest, but who are not enrolled on the municipal lists, will have to have their names added by registration. There should be no chance of a misunderstanding in the working out of this plan, for it is a much more expeditious method than if the lists had to be prepared by general registration.

A WISE STEP.

Col. Thos. Cantley, who a short time ago accepted the nomination as Government candidate in Pictou, N. S., has resigned from his position as a member of the Board of Directors of the Canadian National Railways. There was no other course that Col. Cantley could have consistently taken, for the Canadian people are a unit in believing that employees of Cnada's Government railways should not take part in politics, and in the conviction, too, that this rule should apply to every member of the C. N. R. staff. There could not be one regulation for employees and another for directors without obvious injustice being done, and the resignation of Col. Cantley will clear the air. It would, of course, have been even more popular had it come months ago. The general public has not approved of the fact that while Col. Cantley was a member of the directorate of the Canadian National Railways, a company with which he was connected received contracts for railway supplies that totalled eleven million dollars. It is not charged that he took any part in the awarding of these contracts, but nevertheless the situation was not such as to inspire confidence in the operations of the Board of Directors, and the severing of his connections with that body was the wisest step that Col. Cantley could have taken.

CRIMINAL WASTE.

With the reins of government in Ontario in the hands of the Farmers' Party, it might reasonably be expected that the Government would be successful in dealing with some of the problems that are of vital importance to the agriculturalists of the Province. It was always charged against both of the old parties that they were indifferent to the needs of the farmers; yet the latter themselves do not seem to have made much more progress than their predecessors. One of the pressing requirements today is a better system of handling distributing and marketing farm products in Ontario. Especially is this true of the fruit crops, the annual waste of which is a sad reflection upon the business ability of the people of this Province. Here in Peterborough citizens are being asked to pay eighty cents a peck for good apples, and for the British Columbia article five cents each is the retail price, while only a few miles away in the orchard belt along Lake Ontario tons of splendid apples are rotting on the ground. People who have travelled through the fruit section recently have been appalled by the waste that was in evidence on every hand, contrasting the abundant crops with the famine prices the consumer is asked to pay, and they have come home wondering why with a Farmers' Government in power some more business like method of taking advantage of Ontario's bountiful supply of fruit has not been tario's boutiful supply of fruit has

CLOSELY KELATED.

The question was asked the other day by a correspondent: What is the difference of meaning between the words "rural" and "rustic"? It was explained that, by derivation, they both meant precisely the same thing—pertaining to the country, as distinguished from the town; but that in practice the word "rustic" had taken on a somewhat unfavorable signification, as implying a certain degree of inferiority on the part of the land-dweller as compared with the town-dweller, due to his removal from the influences of city life, which are supposed to make for a higher degree of culture. Conditions, however, have changed to such a degree that it is high time that we got away from these old-fashioned ideas; any unfavorable differentiation which may hitherto have existed in the popular mind between the two groups should be eliminated. Transport facilities, good roads, the motor car have broken down whatever barriers may have previously existed. The city worker now often lives in the country, and the farmer is a constant visitor to the city. They have grown to understand each other better and to appreciate each other's point of view. There is no cleavage of interests; the two mutually serve and depend upon each other.

Round every urban centre, within an ever-widening radius, there exists a rural community relying largely upon the city for the satisfaction of its commercial needs and its social interests. Good roads have made it possible for it to enjoy the amusements and all the intellectual and recreational advantages which a city affords. There is a sort of fellow-citizenship and identity of interests between the two classes of citizens. The growth of the town enriches the farmer in more ways than one. There is no antagonism of aims or ideals. The progress and profit of the one redounds to the advantage of the other. City merchants are catering to this large rural clientele, their special purchasing inducements being made known to their customers through the medium of the daily paper. We are on the eve of a tremendous development along these lines, and city folk should realize the extended field of activity which is opened to them. Town and country are linked up together today in a way which a few years ago would have seemed impossible. The full significance of that fact is not yet realized.—Hamilton Spectator.

In a world series it's a walk or a strike-out; in a railroad row, it's a walk-out or a strike. That is to say, neither seems to hake very much of a hit.

THE EAST PETERBOROUGH RACE.

With the nomination of John Dewart by the Liberals of East Peterborough, the race in that riding is now fairly under way and promises to be one of the most interesting three-cornered fights in the campaign. The three candidates in the field are all farmers, so they are not open to criticism from a rural electorate on that score. All three are well known and well liked, so they start even in that respect, and each is backed by an organization that outwardly, at least, is confident of success. All the elements of a red-hot fight are present, and the development in the east riding will be well worth watching.

PREPARING THE LISTS.

Yesterday The Examiner drew attention to the urgent necessity of haste in deciding what plan should be adopted in preparing the voters' lists in Ontario for the Federal election. The problem, it is of general interest to know, has now been solved by the decision of the Chief Electoral office, with the consent of the Government and of the Liberal and Progressive Parties, to use the latest municipal lists as a basis for the Federal list. This arrangement will greatly simplify the task of listing the names of those eligible to vote and will materially reduce the registrations. All electors whose names appear on the lists prepared by the municipalities will have no further worry, as they will not be required to register. All other citizens who are eligible to vote in a Dominion contest, but who are not enrolled on the municipal lists, will have to have their names added by registration. There should be no chance of a misunderstanding in the working out of this plan, for it is a much more expeditious method than if the lists had to be prepared by general registration.

A WISE STEP.

Col. Thos. Cantley, who a short time ago accepted the nomination as Government candidate in Pictou, N. S., has resigned from his position as a member of the Board of Directors of the Canadian National Railways. There was no other course that Col. Cantley could have consistently taken, for the Canadian people are a unit in believing that employees of Cnada's Government railways should not take part in politics, and in the conviction, too, that this rule should apply to every member of the C. N. R. staff. There could not be one regulation for employees and another for directors without obvious injustice being done, and the resignation of Col. Cantley will clear the air. It would, of course, have been even more popular had it come months ago. The general public has not approved of the fact that while Col. Cantley was a member of the directorate of the Canadian National Railways, a company with which he was connected received contracts for railway supplies that totalled eleven million dollars. It is not charged that he took any part in the awarding of these contracts, but nevertheless the situation was not such as to inspire confidence in the operations of the Board of Directors, and the severing of his connections with that body was the wisest step that Col. Cantley could have taken.

CRIMINAL WASTE.

With the reins of government in Ontario in the hands of the Farmers' Party, it might reasonably be expected that the Government would be successful in dealing with some of the problems that are of vital importance to the agriculturalists of the Province. It was always charged against both of the old parties that they were indifferent to the needs of the farmers; yet the latter themselves do not seem to have made much more progress than their predecessors. One of the pressing requirements today is a better system of handling distributing and marketing farm products in Ontario. Especially is this true of the fruit crops, the annual waste of which is a sad reflection upon the business ability of the people of this Province. Here in Peterborough citizens are being asked to pay eighty cents a peck for good apples, and for the British Columbia article five cents each is the retail price, while only a few miles away in the orchard belt along Lake Ontario tons of splendid apples are rotting on the ground. People who have travelled through the fruit section recently have been appalled by the waste that was in evidence on every hand, contrasting the abundant crops with the famine prices the consumer is asked to pay, and they have come home wondering why with a Farmers' Government in power some more business like method of taking advantage of Ontario's bountiful supply of fruit has not been tario's boutiful supply of fruit has

CLOSELY KELATED.

The question was asked the other day by a correspondent: What is the difference of meaning between the words "rural" and "rustic"? It was explained that, by derivation, they both meant precisely the same thing —pertaining to the country, as distinguished from the town; but that in practice the word "rustic" had taken on a somewhat unfavorable signification, as implying a certain degree of inferiority on the part of the land-dweller as compared with the town-dweller, due to his removal from the influences of city life, which are supposed to make for a higher degree of culture. Conditions, however, have changed to such a degree that it is high time that we got away from these old-fashioned ideas; any unfavorable differentiation which may hitherto have existed in the popular mind between the two groups should be eliminated. Transport facilities, good roads, the motor car have broken down whatever barriers may have previously exis·ed. The city worker now often lives in the country, and the farmer is a constant visitor to the city. They have grown to understand each other better and to appreciate each other's point of view. There is no cleavage of interests; the two mutually serve and depend upon each other.

Round every urban centre, within an ever-widening radius, there exists a rural community relying largely upon the city for the satisfaction of its commercial needs and its social interests. Good roads have made it possible for it to enjoy the amusements and all the intellectual and recreational advantages which a city affords. There is a sort of fellow-citizenship and identity of interests between the two classes of citizens. The growth of the town enriches the farmer in more ways than one. There is no antagonism of aims or ideals. The progress and profit of the one redounds to the advantage of the other. City merchants are catering to this large rural clientele, their special purchasing inducements being made known to their customers through the medium of the daily paper. We are on the eve of a tremendous development along these lines, and city folk should realize the extended field of activity which is opened to them. Town and country are linked up together today in a way which a few years ago would have seemed impossible. The full significance of that fact is not yet realized.—Hamilton Spectator.

Every once in a while there has to be something like a war or a railroad strike just to show us how little we have advanced after all in civilisation.

In a world series it's a walk or a strike-out; in a railroad row, it's a walk-out or a strike. That is to say, neither seems to hake very much of a hit.

CHASE & SANBORN, Montreal, Que. 16

JOHN DEWART IS LIBERAL CANDIDATE

days ago that the Liberal party was the old party that could bring this country back to sound prosperity. That is the opinion of every honest elector to-day. The people haven't forgotten the record of this government nor have they forgotten the prosperity of the preceding fifteen years under a Liberal government."

The Nominations.

Mr. Curtis moved, seconded by Max Brown, exWarden, that W. A. Anderson be the Liberal candidate.

J. J. Crowe, of Dummer, moved, seconded by M. Walsh of Douro, that Capt. John Dewart be the candidate.

Dr. Munroe said that the balloting would be open and by a show of hands, in accordance with the democratic methods of the Liberal party.

Capt. Dewart was declared nominated.

Previous to the voting the candidates each addressed the convention at length. John C. Elliott, ex-M.P. P. of London, who was present as the invited speaker for the occasion, declared afterward that any party in this country should be proud of either of the men who had proposed. Their lucid and comprehensive expositions of the conditions of Canada, of its major problems, its needs and the genius of the Liberal party to supply the remedy required, was as interesting as any presentation he had heard. It augured well for the future of Liberalism that in a rural riding such as East Peterborough it could put up candidates of the ability of Mr. Dewart or Mr. Anderson.

Mr. Anderson.

Ex-Warden Anderson said that the position of candidate was not of his seeking. Many electors had throughout the summer asked what the Liberals intended doing and had urged him to consider the nomiantion. Since the last election which he had contested for the party, politics had undergone a change. A new organization of farmers had cropped up for the purpose of protecting their own interests. In that they were not to be blamed.

Backed Out Once.

"At the last convention in East Peterborough I told Mr. McDonald that there would be no three-cornered fight in the provincial elections. I think I spoke for the Liberal party. At any rate we stayed out, and Mr. McDonald was elected by an overwhelming majority. I thought at that time there was no occasion for goin gacross to the other party. My puruose in acting for the people is just as strong now as it ever was, and just as strong as before the U. F.O. came into existence."

Mr. Anderson said he had remained a Liberal because he found nothing wrong with the old policies put forward by the new party, nor did he find anything wrong within himself. Hence there was no need of "changing to the new track."

"You hear a lot about cleaner Government," he continued. "I hope things are going to be cleaner. Even the new party might be better than it is. In the election I ran I was never approached by any man seeking money or position, nor did I promise anything. I can say that the Liberals of this riding were perfectly straight. If I go into another campaign it will be the same way. Any movement for me to go into this has come not from myself but from the Liberals of East Peterborough. This is asolutely your own matter. It is not because McKenzie King or any one like that wants me, but because you want me. On no other grounds would I stand."

Discussing some of the issues in the election Mr. Anderson pointed out similarities between the policies of the U.F.O. and the Liberals. The great mass of the Liberals couldn't get into the U.F.O., but there was no reason why the farmers' party couldn't get into the Liberal party. The farmers are not the only people who have complaints. Consumers all over Canada have their grievances. He discussed various phases of the tariff, the railway problem and other national questions, concluding with the remark that members of the U. F. O. should realize in this campaign that the differences between them and the Liberals "don't amount to anything when you get down to facts."

Captain Dewart.

After complimenting the ladies upon their interest in their franchise and in the Liberal party, Mr. Dewart said that although some people tried to create the impression that the party was dead, he had recently noticed the strongest indications that it was in a more flourishing stae than for years. Never in the history of Canada was the Liberal party more sorely needed.

"We have a debt of nearly two billions and a half, and it is mounting higher and higher with no effort made to reduce it. Your taxes have been increased as much as $50 on a 200 acre farm. Farmers are being forced to sell their goods at less than it cost to produce them. I believe many farmers are going behind, that they are living this year on what they made in previous years. Prosperity can't come to one industry alone. Any system that tries to bolster up one class without helping others will be a failure. Such has become the condition of our affairs that in the last ten years 819,000 Canadians have left and gone to the United Staes. In years gone by Canada used to attract and immigrants poured into the country."

Interlocking Directorates.

Mr. Dewart discussed the railway question, covering the familiar fact that the Canadian people are the shareholders in the National Railways with their 22,000 miles of lines. Under their present management they are losing a million and a half dollars a week. Last year, said Mr. Dewart, they lost 70 millions and this year they would lose probably 50 millions, a total of 120 millions which the people had to pay in the form of taxes. The directors were not responsible to the people, the shareholders in the system, an extraordinary sit uation. One of the ilretcors is associated with a locomotive industry, another with a big insurance comany, a third with the Steel of Canada corporation.

With this interlocking of directorates an order for locomotives, Mr. Dewart said, was not tendered on in the open market, but was placed with the company of which a director was also a director of the C.N.R. In the same way insurance in the amount of ten millions was placed with the company which had a director on the C.N.R. board. It was the same with other supplies.

"I ask you how could any one expect a railway to show a profit under a system like that ?"

Where Crerar Stood.

When McKenzie King had asked that the books be gone over by the Auditor-General, when he sought information of the expenditure of the people's money in the national railways, Premier Meighen refused. He said that the information made public would be detrimental to the C. N.R. Most of the facts could be approximately asecertained, but Premier Meighen would not submit the facts of the expenditure to the public. And one of those who had voted against the Liberals for the secretion of that information was the Hon. T. A. Crerar.

Mr. Dewart gave a rather detailed account of the contrasting conditions of Canada before, during and after the Laurier Government. Not only had the farmers thrived, but all classes had shared in the prosperity that came with the Liberal administration.

Government Extravagant.

"For fifteen years, from 1896 to 1911, we had the golden age of progress under the Liberal party, and when it went out of power in 1911 the national debt was $340,000,000. In ten years it has climbed to two and one-half billions. Some of that was incurred by the war, about $1,600,000,000, but the remainder is the natural increase under an extravagant Government. In 1896 Canada was sick, and the people called in the Liberals to diagnose the case and treat it proneriy. She has lapsed back into that illness again. Will she not call in the old doctor, the Liberal party again, as she did in '96.

"You bet she will," replied some one in the audience.

U.F.O. Class Movement.

After touching upon the need of tariff revision, Mr. Dewart referred to the U.F.O., stating that it was a class movement. Mr. Crerar's policies were the same as the Liberal policies, because no other platform appealed to the people as does the Liberal platform. It was the platform of the Liberals long before the U.F.O. came into existence.

"Mr. Crerar is catering to a class. What would you think of a church that would say to the public you may come in but you are shut out, that would let in men of one class and exclude others. Mr. Crerar's idea of a Government is a class government. To a great many Canadians he says "I'd like you to vote for me, but beyond that outside for you."

Our constitution is based on democracy and representative and responsible Government. It is government of the people, for the people, by the people. Lincoln said all the people, not one class, and it matters not what that class may be. I defy Mr. Crerar or any of the exponents of the Progressive ideas to show how they can give a democratic government, that is governmeny of all the people by all the people and for all the people, not for one class. I don't need to remind you that 60,000 Canadians died in France for that principle of democratic government. But the political aspirants of the Progressives are preaching the direct opposite to that principle for which those men died."

Mr. Dewart said that the only way of making the railways pay was to double the population. Immigration would have to be made attractive again, and the emigration of Canadians would have to be stopped by the improvement of conditions at home. He closed his address by an appeal for the hearty support of the Liberal candidate by every elector, man and woman, who wished for the return of the contentment and prosperity that was ushered in with the Liberal government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Made Unanimous.

When Mr. Dewart was declared the candidate, Mr. Anderson coming up smiling to the front of the platform, moved that the nomination be made unanimous. W. A. Richardson seconded it.

A Stitch in Time

Quick action is the only hope when kidney disease appears.

There is a whole train of dreadfully painful and fatal ailments which soon follow any neglect to get the kidneys right. Among others are rheumatism, lumbago, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure.

In Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you will find a treatment which is both quick and thorough.

Mr. C. E. Raymus, Lindale, Alta., writes:—

"I was a great sufferer from kidney disease and lame back for more than a year. A friend of mine one day told me of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and acting upon his advice I tried them. After I had taken one box I felt better, so I continued until I had used five boxes. By this time I felt as well and strong as ever, and am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anyone suffering as I did."

How to End Aching Feet

New-day treatment keeps feet in perfect condition

A little book, entitled "The Proper Care of the Feet," is helping a good many people to free themselves from the nervous strain and constant annoyance of paining feet.

It shows simple ways to keep the feet in proper condition—how to overcome excessive perspiration, how to soothe aching muscles and tendons, how to reduce swelling, how to get instant relief from corns and how to end them; in fact, this little book is all that its name infers: "The Proper Care of the Feet."

This booklet accompanies each box of Blue-jay Foot Treatment, which may be obtained at your druggist's, or a free copy of the booklet will be sent if you write to Bauer & Black, Limited, Toronto.

worse, and they took a chance. They heard all that nonsense about Canada being at the parting of the ways, that the British Empire would be disrupted, that Canada would go over to the States, but it is no worse nonsense than we hear from the Hon. Arthur Meighen. The people of Canada believe that the time has come for a change in the Government that has been administering the affairs of the country since 1911."

FARMERS DEFEATED RECIPROCITY.

Mr. Elliott recalled that in 1911 Sir Wilfrid Laurier, believing that the United States was the natural and logical market for Canada's farm products, that what was good for the farmer was good for everybody else, proposed that a reciprocal agreement be entered into between the people of Canada and the United States. When this was first suggested all the people with one accord said that it was a fine thing. Then the serpent crept in. Some one discovered that if the Canadian farmer went to Chicago or Buffalo to sell his livestock, he couldn't be trusted. He'd give himself over to Uncle Sam if he stayed in the United States over night.

Mr. Elliott briefly referred to the campaign against hte Reciprocity Pact. Farmers have since been telling him that they haven't been getting a square deal, drove up and down the sidelines in 1911, giving their time and effort, and succeeded in defeating the government and the reciprocity proposal.

"It's all too fresh in my memory to pay any attention to their statement that they didn't get a square deal," said Mr. Elliott.

As a farmer himself, heavily interested in agriculture, he sympathized with the farmers in their difficulties, but the fact remained that when they were offered a chance to improve their market conditions they had been active in the defeat of the Government that offered them better things.

ORIGIN OF THE U.F.O.

Mr. Elliott recalled what he described as the real origin of the U.F.O. "It was that big gathering at Ottawa in the spring of 1918 of the representatives of the agriculture industry from all parts of the country to protest against the cancellaions which had been promised to farmers' son. I don't say that the farmers should have been singled out for any such preference. I don't say that they sought any privilege. I do not think they were fairly treated, after the Government had voluntarily promised them exemption. They were misled.

CRERAR SLAMMED THE DOOR.

One of the Cabinet ministers who slammed the door in the face of that deputation was the Hon. T. A. Crerar, the leader of the Farmers' Party. Don't let us forget these things. They are facts. Our memories are not short. Mr. Crerar was for months an influential member of the Government whose conduct caused the movement of which he is the leader to-day. That is a funny cycle of events, isn't it?"

Gorgeous Fans

Georgeous fans of straight or curled ostrich are sharing honors with the transparent ones trimmed with glittering sequins or hand painted. The handsome lace fan is also a favorite. The feather-covered affairs are by no means out of the running, however.

Lovely and striking ornaments for the hair are also in high favor this season. One shown is formed of silver leaves. The band extends entirely around the head. Made either of silver or gold foliage, such a bandeau would be lovely on dark hair, and for the girl with blond tresses a black bandeau is always effective, either of plain bands of velvet ribbon, of velvet foliage on black, or of jet.

Ear ornaments of one sort and another are distinctly approved by Dame Fashion this season, and among the new novelties are little tassels made of strings of very tiny seed pearls. The ends are often tipped with semi-precious stones in vivid color, the base or foundation of the ornament being formed of the colored stone set in gold, silver, or platinum-finished metal. Many of the most effective ear and neck ornaments offered are not very expensive, although, of course, the woman to whom economy means nothing at all may always go in for real instead of imitation stones, genuine platinum, etc.

A very pretty and inexpensive neck ornament recently seen featured a slender chain of platinum-finished metal set with small seed pearls and finished with a tassel pendant of the pearls.

Ornamental belts and girdles also continue to be popular.

In Pennsylvania, roads on which oiling work is to be done are announced each week by the State Highway Department.

EGG SHAMPOO BENEFICIAL.

The woman who realizes the value of an egg shampoo for her scalp must eventually have beautiful hair. There are few treatments mor effective than this for beautjfying and improving the hair.

One egg is sufficient for any ordinary head of hair. two eggs for even the thickest hair.

Beat up the egg until it is quite light, yolk and white together. Rub this into the scalp and cover the hair as thoroughly as possible. Let it dry in.

It will take 30 minutes or more and it may feel rather sticky and messy. The egg dries over the scalp and absorbs all the oil and dirt and grease and dandruff so that when you begin your shampoo you have no trouble making the scalp absolutely clean.

Wash off the egg with warm water and any good mild soap, castile or tar for preference. Use soap over the scalp at least twice and three times if you have been using an oil tonic. Rinse with water a little hotter than what you washed with and rinse again several times. It is not so hard to rinse the soap from the hair when you have first used an egg. If you can dry your hair in the sun, so much the better.

Virtually every Commonwealth in the United States has a different method of examination through which permits to operate a motor vehicle are granted.

Again there is a "white glove" docket for the Fall Assizes of the County Court, which open on Tuesday at the Court House, with Mr. Justice Orde, of Toronto, presiding. Four cases were at first set for non-jury trial, but two have been set over, and there will be just the two civil actions for Justice Orde to hear.

Henry Hope and Sons of Canada, Ltd., are plaintiffs in an action against Richard Sheehy and Sons, to collect $3,571.51, alleged to be owing them on work done for R. Sheehy and Sons on the new Prince of Wales' School. Gordon and O'Brien for plaintiffs; John R. Corkery for defendants.

Plaintiffs claim they had a contract with the contractors dated November 28, 1919, by which they were to supply and install steel sash, certain glazing, ornamental iron work, and steel lantels. Plaintiffs allege they carried out their contract faithfully, and their account was for $10.549.63, plus sales tax on materials of $210.99. Of this sum they credit payment of $7,500. The balance of $3,049.63, plus sales tax and extras, totals $3,571.51, and the defendants having refused to pay this, they sue for this amount and costs of the action.

The defendants allege that the plaintiffs were dilatory in their work, and by impeding other construction, increased the cost of bricklaying and plasterinsg. Because of their dilatoriness, defendants allege they suffered great loss. They disclaim any liability to the sales fax item, and they ask by way of counterclaim, $5,000 and costs of action.

Agreement of Sale.

James C. Ellis has entered action agaginst John H. Bettes to have an alleged agreement between them for the sale of certain land and premises, known as the Faint Factory, and dated December 10, 1916, specifically performed and all proper direction for the purpose of the action given and the costs paid. R. R. Hall is representing Mr. Ellis, and Peck, Kerr and McElderry, Mr. Bettes.

Plaintiff alleges he bought the Faint Factory, which he now uses for the manufacture of mattresses, for $1,500, and he still owes $865.16, together with interest from July 1, 1921. He claims he was never tendered a conveyance of the land. Defendant alleges there was no written agreement of sale.

Suit Against City.

By agreement between the counsel the trial of the case between Otonabee Township and the City, to obtain an injunction restraining the City from depositing sewage in the river has been set over till the next court, and the probability is that before then some work will have been done on the sewage disposal plant, and the action will be dismissed with costs. The writ which was issued November 1, 1912, following the Provincial Health Department's report against the city of March 4, 1912, bears as plaintiffs the Corporations and Boards of Health of Otonabee, North Monaghan and South Monaghan.

The statements of the plaintiffs, who are represented by Peck, Kerr and McElderry, is dated June 30, 1913, and the statement of the defendants, who are represented by Gordon and O'Brien, is dated October 11, 1919. The municipalities have of late been clamouring more loudly for some action in the construction of the plant, and has only been snatched away from court because of the Corporation showing signs of starting work almost immediately.

The plaintiffs were taking the matter to court to secure an injunction restraining the defendants from depositing sewage in the Otonabee River. They claimed $5,000 damages and costs. Defendants' statement was that plans for the plant have been made, and are under way, and the nuisance would soon be done away with.

Case Laid Over.

The other case which has been set over for trial was an action by the Continental Guaranty Corporation of the United States against Lorne A. Mahood and Wilfred S. Havery, under the firm name of Mahood and Havery, Robert Mahood and J. G. Havery, for $8,919.80. The plaintiffs are represented by Gordon and O'Brien; C. R. Widdifield is representing the firm of Mahood and Havery; Robert Mahood is represented by McLaughlin, Fulton, Stinson and Anderson, of Lindsay, and Mr. R. R. Hall, K.C., solicitor for J. C. Havery.

The plaintiffs allege that altogether, upon contracts and drafts accepted and made by defendants, they advanced approximately $35,735.03, which was reduced by payments made by defendants and J. G. Havery to amount of claim. They ask for the amount of claim, with interest at 10 per cent., from August 22, until day of judgment, together with costs of action and rectification of the guarantee of defendant, J. G. Havery. On August 15 the firm of Mahood and Havery, which sold Gray-Dort automobiles here, became bankrupt, and made an assignment, and both Robert Mahood and J. G. Havery, the fathers of the partners, deny any liability for their sons' debts, which is not admitted as the facts of the case by plaintiffs. J. C. Havery had counter-claimed for $3,000, which he alleges he paid plaintiffs under a misapprehension, with interest at five per cent. from September 12, and the costs of the action.

This case will not probably be heard till the December sittings.

HAVE RECEIVED BRONZE PLAQUE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodwin, 581 Chamberlain street, have just received a very handsome bronze plaque in comemoration of the death of their son, Thomas Herbert Goodwin, a member of the Machine Gun was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin, and was killed in France at the age of 21, having served his country two and one-half years.

The plaque a beautifully embossed circular piece of bronze, bears at the top the inscription, "He died for faith and honour", and is accompanied by a letter signed by the King, saying: "I join with my grateful people in sending you this memorial of a brave life given for others in the Great War."

Have a Heart.

The dear old Scotswoman tramped miles over the hills to get a bottle of medicine for a small boy who was ill in her remote village.

When she had described the symptoms the doctor set about preparing the mixture, one ingredient of which was a poison which could be administered only in the smallest quantities.

She watched him pouring it out with the utmost care into the measuring glass. He poured a little from the bottle, held the glass up to the light, and then put a few drops back again.

"Ah, doctor," she said, reproachfully, "ye needna be sae stingy. Remember, it's for a puir wee orphan laddie."

Mrs. SELCHERT'S DAUGHTER

Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Horicon, Wis.—"My young daughter had been troubled for several months with backache and a bad feeling in her stomach. She did not want to eat anything, while before she was so hungry she could hardly wait for her meals. The doctors gave her medicine but it did not help her. One day I was reading a little book of yours and it reminded me that when I was a young girl I took several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So she went to the drug store and got a bottle, and after taking the second one she could eat and has not had backache since. In all she took six bottles of it. She goes to school and on Saturdays helps with the housework. She is a normal, healthy girl now and we recommend your medicine. You have my permission to publish this letter as a testimonial for the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. FRANK SELCHERT, 160 Larabee St., Horicon Wisconsin.

Mothers all over the country have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to be a most reliable remedy for such conditions.

WHEN SHOE IS TIGHT.

If you are at any time compelled to wear a shoe that pinches it may be of value to know that a folded cloth dipped in hot water and laid over the offending part will at once afford relief. By changing the cloth a few times to keep up the heat, in a few minutes the leather or kid will shape to the foot. Rub a little sweet oil on before polishing; you will have no more trouble.

THE LEEMING MILES CO., LIMITED. MONTREAL

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY HELD A MEETING — FIRST POLITICAL GATHERING.

MILLBROOK, Oct 21.—The Sunday School Rally held in St. Thomas' Anglican Church on Sunday, Oct. 16th, at 3 p.m., proved a most interesting and helpful service. All the Sunday Schools of the parish were expected to attend the gathering, but on account of the somewhat numerous cases of diphtheria in the village, parents an teachers were rather timid about bringing the children in lest there be danger of infection; then, too, in the local school several were shut in through illness. However, in spite of all drawbacks, there were at least forty scholars present, and also the entire church choir who lent splendid aid in the singing of the children's hymns chosen for the occasion.

Rev. Mr. James, of Omemee, gave the address to the assembled Sunday Schools, having the rare gift of holding the attention of even the youngest scholars, while interesting all by his suitable and very helpful remarks. Altogether it was felt by the officers and teachers that the Sunday Schools of the parish could not fail to reap a decided benefit from the afternoon's service, for those who were fortunate enough to be present could pass on the help and the inspiration received to those not privileged to attend.

Women's Auxiliary.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Thomas' Church held their October meeting on Monday, the 17th inst., at 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. John Deyell, King Street, with twenty members in attendance.

The president, Mrs. Allen, being unable to be present, Mrs. C. Needler, the treasurer of the Auxiliary, occupied the chair. During the discussion of business items it was decided to continue the work, previously undertaken, of clothing a little Indian girl at the Blackfoot Home in Alberta.

It was also decided to hold a missionary reading meeting every second Friday afternoon during the fall and winter months at the home of Mrs. Westmacott, when the study book, "Our Church at Work," would be read and discussed. The opening chapters of this book were read on Monday evening by the secretary, Miss MacNamara, and proved most interesting and instructive.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Allen.

Mr. Armstrong, Dean of Toronto, was the guest of his sister, Miss Sara Dean, on Sunday.

Ploughing Match.

Much interest will doubtless be taken in the announcement that the annual ploughing match of the Cavan and South Monaghan Ploughmen's Association will be held on October 28th, on the farm of Mr. James McGill, South Monaghan.

Mrs. J. S. Duncan, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Adelaide, of Indianapolis, Ind., made a brief visit in town this week, guests of Mr. George and Miss May Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ingram were in Omemee on Sunday attending the funeral of the late Robert Wilson, ex-Warden of Victoria County.

Mrs. Noble Stewart has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Lacheur, in Peterborough for the past week.

With the date of the election only a few weeks away, some interest in things political bgins to be manifested. Mr. F. W. Bowen, the Liberal-Conservative candidate, is calling his first public meeting in Millbrook, on Wednesday, October 26th, at 8 p.m., in his committee-rooms in the Dominion Hotel Block. Ladies are specially invited to attend this meeting.

Amongst those from outside points who attended the fowl supper in the Methodist Church on Tuesday evening was noticed the Conservative candidate, distributing genial smiles and handshakes quite impartially amongst all those with whom he came in contact.

WHY CHILLY WEATHER BRINGS RHEUMATISM

Says skin pores are closed and uric acid remains in blood.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed ,thus forcing the kidneys to double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twingeof rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Iad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning fo ra week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to noraml action ,thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rehumatism.

The motor vehicle is one of the five major units of transportation.

TELLING OF FORTUNES

(By Mrs. J. E. Leslie.)

Most folks like to have their fortune told—even men, though they won't admit it—or at best, only in a shamefaced way.

Women have no such scruples. They frankly enjoy any method of peering into the future, from counting "Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief," on their buttons, to having a complicated horoscope cast and read.

It makes no difference to them whether the fortune-teller be amateur or professional. There is the same little thrill of expectancy and the thought of the possibility of it coming true. They never tire of it in any form.

The amateur palmist or card reader is the most popular person in any social gathering.

Hallowe'en is very near. There are constant queries of how to entertain parties that night. Fortune telling would solve it at any or all of them—fortune telling of any kind—tea leaves; cards, of the regulation kind that you play casino with or a special kind prepared for just the seeker after information of what lies beyond the veil of the future; reading of palms or head-bumps; or out of book of birthdays, or any other device that will help along the uncanny idea of the witchy night.

There is just one detail that every amateur fortune teller will dodge sooner or later—the never-failing demand for demonstration of his accomplishment that finally drives him to declare that he has forgotten it—till he really does and never dare to dig it up again, even at the sacrifice of his popularity.

But if any hostess can find an amateur fortune teller who has not reached the bored stage of his profession the success of her party is assured.

Women are found to operate passenger automobiles and motor trucks with as much care and accuracy as men.

Medical Arithmetic

By M. Jessie Leitch.)

A group of women were sewing on a porch and discussing their children between sips. For tall, frosty glasses of lime freeze were sharing attentions with the little heaps of sewing, and the needles that were forever losing themselves.

"Of course, I don't believe in medicines, to any great extent," murmured the Blue Dimity mother, with flashing thimble. "But when Billie had that frightful chill and I was all alone at the camp with the children, and he became quite delirious, with a raging fever and all that, I was surely glad to be able to do a little medical arithmetic. I simply flew to the bottle of green medicine the doctor gave us when father was sick last winter, and it did him a world of good."

The woman in lavender voile wrinkled her nose thoughtfully across the clinking glass.

"I wouldn't have dared, my dear," she fluttered. "Medicines and poisons look all alike to me. I never measure a dose for any one in my family without reading the label half a dozen times, and emptying at least three doses into the sink for fear I've measured too much. And then I dilute the stuff till I am terrified, and there you are. I think families who require medicine are a great trial."

"And I agree," said the woman who sewed more steadily than any one on the porch. "But do tell us about this medical arithmetic. I am curious."

The Blue Dimity woman shrugged. "It's very simple, really," she said. "But I am so stupid. I always write things down.

"You take the child's age, Billy's in this case being 8, and make a fraction. You use the age for the numerator and the child's age plus 12 for the denominator. The resulting fraction is the fractional part of an adult dose given to a child of that age. Like this: Billy, or 8 plus 12, makes 20. So eight-twentieths or two-fifths of the adult dose was the dose for Billy."

Some of the women on the porch looked a trifle dubious, but Billy's mother was right. Two-fifths of his father's dose was exactly the dose of medicine suited to the small boy when it was worked out in fractions.

"But speaking of diluting medicines, I never dilute cough medicines, do you?" questioned the woman who truly wished to know.

"Oh, no," said the Blue Dimity woman, whose word now commanded respect. "Because by diluting it one loses the soothing effect of the syrup on the mucous membrane, or whatever it is that becomes irritated, and makes one cough. I never dilute saline cathartics, either; but bromides, and iron, and things like that I do dilute generously. Don't you?" appealing to all the women.

And a murmured "Of course," as refreshingly, went around the porch.

HYGIENIC SHELVES.

Never use shelf paper on kitchen or any other sort of shelves. Experts on household science say it is a filth catcher and one of the best invitations to insects to inhabit your closets.

The best possible way to finish shelves is to paint them and then finish wit h a coat of enamel. This gives them a hard, smooth finish, which can be wiped off with a damp cloth when necessary.

For a more decorative effect than pure white shelves, select some sort of colored enamel and paint. A bright light blue would be attractive, or a soft green.

HEAVEN.

Shall we know Each Other There?

This question has been asked just recently by a sorrowing mother, and the writer seeks to give a further answer in the lines below:

In that home of many mansions,
In that land of joy above,
Shall we see and know each other?
Shall we meet, and talk, and love?

Countless throng will there be gathered,
Shall we find them in the throng?
Will they know us, will they love us,
We to whom they once belonged?

In that land of love and glory,
We will seek our Saviour there,
And we'll ask Him to conduct us,
To the ones we loved down here.

We shall meet them, we shall know them,
And there will be no more pain,
No more sorrow, no more crying,
For we'll never part again.
Rev. 21:4.

Voices we have loved and longed for,
Souls that we have loved so well,
Shall be raised to life eternal,
And in their own body dwell.
I Cor. 15:38.

Let us live in preparation,
For that great eventful day,
When all sin and sufferings ended
And the mists have rolled away.

RUSSIA IS NOW A SMILELESS LAND HEARTY LAUGH NO LONGER HEARD

LAMENTS EVERYWHERE THAT BREAD ALLOWANCE IS NEITHER REGULAR NOR SUFFICIENT.

NOTE.—The subjoined article, giving a graphic description of the gloomy mental attitude of the hungry people of Russia, was written by a staff correspondent of The Associated Press who entered Russia with the American relief workers when the famine opened the doors of that country after they had been closed for more than three years.

The writer not only visited Moscow but penetrated to the famine-stricken districts of Samara and Kazan where the first American food was distributed and whence he sent by cable stirring stories of the scenes he witnessed.

MOSCOW, Sept. 20.—(By a Staff Correspondent of The Associated Press.)—Russia is a smileless land In more than 2,000 miles of travel on Central Russian railways and rivers The Associated Press correspondent hasn't heard a single hearty laugh. The exuberance and oratory of the first year of Bolshevism have disappeared.

Speakers no longer tell of the glories of proletarian rule from the corner curbstones. Red army soldiers no longer jeer at the bourgeosie, for all have settled down together to the difficult task of getting enough to eat; and persons who have not tried existence in present-day Russia have no conception of how difficult it is to satisfy the most primitive human needs there.

Nearly every man and woman met on Moscow or Petrograd streets today is carrying some sort of food parcel or bartering with food dealers on the street corners. There is practically no wood and coal is not dreamed of. Oil is the only fuel. Every family has a primus on which the hot water for tea and the simple meals are prepared.

Live in One Room.

Under the housing system most have only one room in which to cook, eat, sleep and do washing. All the talk one hears on the streets is of food. There are laments everywhere that the bread allowance isn't regular and the frequent expression of fears that the famine in the Volga districts will make the bread supply of Central Russia even worse.

Potatoes at 1,000 rubles a pound are the cheapest food on the market, but 1,000 rubles is a small fortune to most of the population and it takes a lot of oil to cook potatoes.

The days of political strife are apparently over. Russians have tired of theoretical politics. The anti-Bolshevists no longer discuss the government. Paper decrees are showered unnoticed upon Bolshevists and non-Bolshevists alike. They are too busy in their strife for food and clothing to worry about what is going on in the Kremlin.

Search For Food.

Streets without food shops are practically deserted in all the cities. The search for food is at once the work and the recreation of the public. Boulevards are lined with food wagons offering fruit, vegetables, bread and eggs, and the people seem far more interested in these than in the listless pedestrians and the little bands which give occasional evening concerts.

There seems to be no spirit of play left in Russia. Even the children are sad and quiet. Recently many toy shops have reopened. The Soviet government never requisitioned Noah's Arks and Teddy bears, so dealers in that class of goods are unboxing their old stocks and dressing Santa Claus windows.

Few moving picture theaters are open, and those are given over chiefly to government propaganda pictures. The opera season has not yet opened. Dramas are offered in several less important houses. It was in these theaters and in concert halls that the correspondent saw the only persons who seemed to relax and divorce themselves from the gloomy Moscow atmosphere.

Paper is Short.

Moscow newspapers and the newspapers in all the leading Russian cities are little more than government buletins. Because of the shortness of paper they are generally only one sheet, and the greater part of the space is given over to long political articles. The newspapers are pasted upon the deadwalls. Crowds gather about them eagerly and scan the few foreign dispatches. The great majority of readers show no interest in the political leaders.

Street crowds in Moscow present a strange and varied appearance. Unless the weather is sunny and warm there are very few pedestrians in the center of the city. Markets which formerly existed near Opera Place have been abolished and there are few food shops in what was formerly the great shopping center. In consequence, most promenaders go to the food-lined boulevards, and the slightest threat of rain drives the crowds to shelter. Boots and clothing are too precious to be exposed unnecessarily to the weather.

Shabby in Dress.

Really well-dressed men and women are never seen on the streets. There is no starch. Therefore, soft collars and shirts are a necessity, and practically all men wear dark gray or brown shirts and collars.

Russia was always great on uniforms. Railway employes and other civil employes of the government wore uniforms under the old regime and still cling to the custom. Shabby uniforms, or parts of uniforms, make up the costumes of nine-tenths of the men in the streets, and the second-hand clothing stalls display practically no clothing but uniforms.

Women have also availed themselves largely of men's uniforms in improvising costumes. Hats, coats, waists, and even shoes of army khaki are seen everywhere among groups of women. Tablecloths, damask curtains, furniture covers of large-flowered cretonne, rich Persian shawls, masquerade costumes and bright-colored evening gowns have been adapted to street wear. Fortunately, Russian women have such an independent bearing and are such individualists that they show no embarrassment whatever in wearing any clothing available in this land so sadly in need of cloth.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid somach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they an go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretions or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia.

Theer is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquor, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

EX-SERVICE MEN SUFFERING MORE THAN ALL OTHERS.

Feel the Pinch of Unemployment — Men Who Fought For Country Have to Pay For It, Says Pres. R. B. Maxwell.

Address to Veterans.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Oct. 20.—(By Canadian Press.)—In his presidential address here yesterday R. B. Maxwell made an appeal to all ex-service men to make a study of the economic system and to discard all antiquated and musty theories. "Do not be afraid to throw overboard everything which you discovered to be applicable to the days preceding our present mushroom industrial system, and which are totally inadequate to deal with present and future problems," he urged.

Mr. Maxwell's address throughout was an argument for sane and constitutional progress based on constructive lines. The law of the jungle, he said, must not be permitted to prevail against human thought, the advancement of liberty or the fraternity of nations. "When the real causes of war are laid bare the change from wrong thought to right thought will be made automatically without any revolution save a mental one," he declared. No one was to blame for conditions as they existed today. The condition was the fault of an inferior system of distribution, which if persisted in would clog the wheels of industry and progress. Improvements would have to be inaugurated before any real progress could be made. It was not beyond the bonds of human thought to devise logical and practical methods to ensure success.

Housing Problem.

Dealing with the shortage of houses Mr. Maxwell declared that the Dominion Command of the G. W. V. A. had promulgated a scheme which was constructive in every sense of the word. This scheme was practically assured of parliamentary support but was impossible of realization owing to the fact that money was not available. If these suggestions had been acceded to the present unemployment peril would have been avoided.

Only one reference to the political situation was made during the address and that was when Mr. Maxwell declared that the G. W. V. A. would strenuously oppose any system of national retrenchment, advocated by any party seeking election, until that party gave sufficient assurances that the retrenchment would not affect pensions or any regulation now in force for the benefit of ex-service men or their dependents.

A Prophesy Proven.

The unemployment situation, Mr. Maxwell believed, would become worse instead of better. Ex-service men had suffered more from lack of employment than others. Mr. Maxwell had stated in 1917 that the men who fought were going to have to pay for it. The prophesy was proven. It was useless for people to fold their arms and say the situation was inevitable. If it was then civilization had failed, "and our boasted progress proved to be a myth, a will-o-the-wisp; without form and void," he emphasized.

Productive work was necessary to carry the nation over the present menacing period. Doles were an abomination and tended to sap the manhood of the ex-service men and the nation. Parochialism would avail nothing. The situation must be dealt with from the national viewpoint.

Amalgumation of all soldier organizations was the logical outcome. Political action by the association would mean the ruin. "You cannot afford to sacrifice the sacred cause of the widow, the orphan, your maimed and crippled comrades on the altar of political expediency. As a moral force with right on your side you are a greater influence than you could ever hope to be in the political arena," Mr. Maxwell said.

Mr. Maxwell referred to the conference of veterans' of the Empire at Capetown which resulted in the formation of the British Empire Service League and which would go far toward consolidating the various ex-service leagues. The President also reminded the delegates of the thought underlying the wearing of a poppy on Armistice Day.

A trial of the automobile title law of Maryland in one year has resulted in an almost complete elimination of motor car thefts in that State. Under the law, no car can be registered and licensed until title to it has been cleared. Once a car in the State has been recorded as the property of an individual, license for it cannot be obtained by anyone else unless he can show the title has properly passed to him.

EFFORTS FOR HOME RULE, ANGLO-INDIA

Evidenced in Serious Rebellion Recently in Malabar.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(The Associated Press.)—Potentialities for disorders in India latent in the Ghandhi non-co-operative movement directed against the British government in efforts to obtain home rule, have evidenced themselves in the serious rebellion in Malabar, according to Anglo-Indian experts.

Gandhi of course has preached the doctrine of non-violence but many of his extreme followers have gone much further, notably, the experts here say, in the case of Malabar. There, it is claimed the religious torch was used to start the conflagration, it being maintained that the Allies had done grave injury to the Khalifat in the Treaty of Sevres (between the Allies and Turkey) but observers here maintain that the seed was already sown by Gandhi's non-co-operative campaign.

The strength of the non-co-operative movement consists in the appeal it makes to the religious instincts of the masses who collect in vast numbers to pay Gandhi almost divine honors and whom they regard as the Mahatma, or worker of miracles, who will introduce the millenium, when none need toil, when there will be no taxes and when prices will fall to their pre-war level.

Some Rioting.

The masses are little concerned in political or constitutional reforms and the professedly non-violent character of the movement cannot always be maintained. There have been occasional outbreaks of rioting. Considering the size of India these outbreaks have been infrequent but are regarded as symptomatic of growing excite.emnt.

The Hindu masses are not ugly tempered and their reverence for Gandhi is a steadying factor. The Moslem excitement over the Khalifet question runs throughout the movement like a sinister thread and it is believed that if Gandhi's movement leads to violence it will be because he has been unable to restrain Mohammedan fanaticism, roused to fever heat by the threatened eclipse of Turkey.

It will be remembered that Indian Mussulmans have always insisted on a privileged position in politics on the ground of their religious kinship with the Turks, Afghans and other fighting Moslem people of Asia. The collapse of the temporal power of Islam is therefor viewed seriously by Indian Musselmans who feel their claims to a privileged position are in danger of vanishing.

Treaty of Sevres.

Since the Treaty of Sevres they have pinned their faith to the Turkish Nationalist government of Angore which they hoped would become the center of a revival of the political prestige of Islam but the latest Greek successes have destroyed this hope and a feeling of desperation seems growing which may prove too strong for the influence of Gandhi.

The Khalifet party, maintaining a separate entity within the ranks of non-co-operatists, now displays in its conferences an increasing violence of language, asserting its allegiance to Turkey and threatening a declaration of independence if the British government embarks upon hostilities against Angora.

Going Too Fast.

Signs are seen that members of the left wing of the Moslems are going too fast for the majority of Hindus and the old jealousy between the two religions may possibly break out again. At a meeting of the working committee of the Indian National Congress this summer dissensions broke out. The left wing Mohammedans and some Hindus were anxious to declare "civil disobedience," which means non-payment of taxes and passive resistance to certain laws. This step might lead to serious disorder and Gandhi opposed it on the grounds that the country was not yet ready. He insisted that his latest plan, boycott of foreign cloth and the introduction of the old-fashioned spinning wheel into every Indian home, must first be carried out. He estimated that this would be accomplished by September 30 when he would be willing to declare civil disobedience if the government were unwilling to grant his three demands—redress of the Punjab grievances, restoration of Turkey to her pre-war position and compete home rule.

It is asserted here that the non-co-operation movement is based on emotion and that of the three grievances, the Punjab affair is not a living issue except on the platform, as it was settled in the first session of India's new Parliament. The fate of Turkey is a matter for the Allies and it runs entirely counter to the principles of self-determination. It is claimed that the third, home rule, is being rapidly realized through powers now invested in local and central legislation with their overhwelming majorities.

Keen Enthusiasm.

Gandhi's movement is therefore said to depend purely on sustaining mass excitement at white heat to put pressure on the government. Sensational programs are put forward only to be scrapped when enthusiasm is worked up.

The moderates, who are busy with solid work in the new legislature, repealing repressive laws and becoming real rulers of the country, cannot exercise the same influence over the masses as the extremists with their appeal to mob passion. It is, however, confidently asserted that the success of reforms in rallying the educated classes to support of the British connection and that the wise statesmanship of Lord Reading is already producing an apparent effect. Possibilities of disorder do exist but beyond the shoels there is said to be clear water ahead.

HE DIDN'T KNOW.

He came up from school with sporting honors full upon him. He was a young man who had always been idolized by his English school chums, and was most popular wherever he went, but he was an absolute duffer at lessons.

He had to take an entrance examination for a college. His great sporting reputation had preceded him, and they wanted him badly at the college, but even the most promising batsman and bowler could not claim complete exemption from the entrance examination.

It was only an oral questioning—and yet one had to get 50 per cent. to pass.

The matter was left in the hands of a sporting young don, and the protege got through. Later on it appeared that only two questions had been asked.

"The first," said the examiner, "was the date of Trafalgar—he got that wrong. Then I asked him what was the chemical formula for water. He replied: 'I don't know—really, I don't'"

"Well, that was right," explained the don to his fellow don, "for it was obvious that he did not know. So I passed him with 50 per cent."

THE NEWSPAPER OF TO-MORROW SMALLER THAN THOSE TO-DAY

So Herbert L. Bridgman Told Congress of the World at Honolulu — Brevity Will Dominate News.

Educator of People.

HONOLULU, Oct. 21.—(Associated Press.)—Herbert L. Bridgman, business manager of the Brooklyn Standard Union, told the Press Congress of the World today he believed the newspaper of tomorrow would be smaller than those of the present. On that point he asked:

"Why, in blind competition to print everything which everybody wants, print so much that nobody wants?' Mr. Bridgman asked.

He expressed the opinion that the size of the newspaper would resolve itself largely into a commercial and mechanical problem, saying: "If the space can be sold for more than it costs it will be. Otherwise curtailment will follow, depending upon price of newsprint, labor and other materials of production.

"The retail selling price will doubtless follow the same laws but both size and price are the body, not the soul of the newspaper to tomorrow.

"Whatever may happen, it is my belief that if they were smaller they would be better, though this thing must not be pressed to the vanishing point. But how many features, supplements, insets, juniors and other appendages could we discard with resignation and advantage.

Brevity the Word.

"The New York Mercury reported miraculous retreat of the American army after the battle of Long Island which saved the Revolution, in three lines; the London Times covered the battle of Waterloo in two sticks. We print first page telegraphed columns of the beastly orgy of beastly men and women in a San Francisco hotel."

Mr. Bridgman said he would not admit that the newspapers have lost their power nor outlived their influence even thought the era of personal journalism of which Greely, Bennett and Raymond were the "signal lights."

Considering other phases of the newspaper of tomorrow, he said: "Nothing is more certain that if the vapid and amateur circulation statement law, enacted in spite and ignorance, were repealed every self-respecting publisher would rejoice, not so much on his own account, but because a gratuitous insult on the whole profession had been withdrawn and a standing premium on falsehood and official incompetence abated. "If the government really cared to vindicate its own good name and faith and would check postage payments with sworn statements of circulation, the utter absurdity of the whole disgraceful situation would be demonstrated.

"Newspapers have firmly established their standards and code of honor and no more effective testimony of the fallacy and feebleness of the government in business can be found than the difference in value between a postal affidavit and a A B C certificate, a badge of honor which every newspaper is proud to wear."

Mr. Bridgman declared that in advertising the future was bright, speaking not of quantity but of quality. "The newspapers of their own accord and by common consent, long before laggard legislators awoke to the situation, cleaned house and cleaned it thoroughly, and if the business office can secure response and co-operation from the editorial rooms the job is finally and effectively completed, he confirmed. "As to the advertising rates, those of the newspapers of tomorrow will be higher than those of today and they ought to be. Not only will the service be more valuable in respect to quantity but its quality and prestige will be sensibly advanced."

In this connection Mr. Bridgman suggested that the newspaper establish a unit of value.

No Middle Ground.

"Rates," Mr. Bridgman affirmed, "will be maintained. Here there is no middle ground. Integrity of rates, all things to all men, is to a newspaper as credit to the banker, virtue to a woman and the newspaper which trifles with it is doomed."

Disowning prophetic power, he said that he foresaw in the newspaper of tomorrow, readjustment of capital and labor by which mutuality and understanding will take the place of indifference, disgust, thinly veiled antagonism, in which, freed from the taxes, handicaps and straightjackets of organization, competent wage earners may do the work which they are able and willing to and receive pay profitable to them and their employers, when ambition to earn and save shall be recognized and rewarded and production and prosperity increased.

Educator of People.

"That the newspaper of tomorrow will be the great educator of the people of the whole world seems inevitable and yet we may go too far in organization and impersonalism.

"The newspaper of the future will thrive and prosper just as it serves the people, is faithful to them and its own convictions of duty. The absolute, continuous certainty that this is so, that not only prosperity but life depends on it is the hostage which the newspaper of the present hands on to that of the future."

"Drive slow and see our city; drive fast and see our jail," is the new "welcome" sign exhibited along the automobile highways leading into Atlantic City, N.J.

INFLUENCE OF BAD FILMS

movies, unattended. "Ninety per cent. of our children go to the motion picture theatres. A child has fourteen waking hours. Two are spent in eating, five in school, the other seven, where?" In his opinion, a greater amount of time than is necessary is spent by both children and adults in motion picture palaces, in the modern, almost insane, pursuit of excitement. "One of the dangers of the age is the commercialisation of pleasure, in the commercialised club, pool-room, dance hall, and movie." In a movie census conducted recently among school children in Toronto, it was discovered that 69 per cent. of the boys and 52 pee cent. of the girls had voted in favour of the 'thriller," the picture which emphasised murder, abduction, and seduction, and the speaker remarked that the real problem of the movie was its effect on th mind of the child, for, "let that vivid presentation be made to the receptive mind of the average boy, especially the adolescent, and God only knows what results will follow."

"We provide the most expensive and the best possible accomodations, with the highest-salaried teachers, for the education of the minds of our children during school hours, and yet we care and think nothing of the sort of education they are receiving through other mediums outside of the class-room."

Mr. Malott, remarking that "it has been said that happiness is a cure for crime, every child has a right to play, and if play is not provided for it, that child may become a criminal," referred to the supervised playground in a certain district in New Yorn, which caused a neighbouring Juvenile Court to go out of business. He believed that the supervised playground, the supervised skating rink, and the supervised community centre would eventually prove counter-agents for the picture house, where too often ojectionable fiblms are offered, and said "this country is making multi-millionaires out of a certain class of people at the expense of the morals of our children." He commended the Local Council for its good work in the past along these lines of supervision, and asked its future co-operation for the good of the growing child, who was being educated in its enjoyment of the "thriller," to the exclusion of every other good feature in the business.

Mr. Malott was heartily thanked for his excellent talk, and some discussion arose over the question. One of the ladies remarked on her presence at a production where a large number of children were in attendance. These children applauded with frantic vehemence the constantly-recurring scenes of robbery and violence, and laughed at a presentation of the Crucifixion, their popular hero was a stage-thieving bandit, and the representative of law and order was pictured as an individual of the lowest and meanest calibre.

Some interesting reports of work of committees at the recent annual meeting in Calgary were given by Miss H. Moffat, Miss A. Lancaster, and Mrs. A. Stevenson, and Mrs. Mowat reported the affiliation at this convention of the Social Service Council and the W.C.T.U., the latter with a membership of 18,000 in the Dominion, proving an added source of strength to the Council.

After some discussion of the new legislation, which provides that women of foreign birth married to a British subject are no longer able to become naturalised automatically with their husbands, but must of necessity take out naturalisation papers of their own, Mrs. A. Stevenson was asked to form a resolution to be forwarded to the National Council, urging that a certain sum be set aside for the printing and distribution of educational pamphlets containing this information for the benefit of every member, and particularly of the women in outlying districts of the Provinces.

Resolutions were passed by the meeting as follows:

To pay the expenses of the delegate of the Council to the meeting of the National Executive to be held during November in Brantford.

A resolution of sympathy to Mrs. C. E. Jamieson, the secretary of the Local Council, on the death of her brother.

To query the Chamber of Commerce regarding their action with regard to establishing a society here for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

And also with regard to any action on their part concerning the enforcement of the Curfew Law.

THE J.C. Turnbull CO. LTD

HAS STRANGLE HOLD OF MAN'S DREAD ENEMY

'CIENCE, WAGING BITTER WAR AGAINST AN OLD-TIME FOE OF CANADIAN PEOPLE.

VICTORY IN SIGHT

Thanks to the weapons furnished by science, and to the National Sanitarium Association, the war on tuberculosis—the great white plague—has relegated that dread scourge to a position resembling that of a struggling monster on which man has secured a strangle hold.

In the past swift twenty years, deaths from consumption in Ontario have been reduced by half. In 1900, there were 150 deaths per 100,000 of population. In 1920, there were 75.

Tuberculosis, the "white plague," whose touch, in our father's day, meant slow, lingering, wasting death, is going the way of the vanquished, with typhoid, small-pox and the old enemies of man.

Yet the fight with tuberculosis is by no means won. It is still killing its 75 per 100,000 annually, while typhoid in Toronto, which fifteen years ago was killing 40, today is causing less than 2 deaths per 100,000 annually. Science may be said to have won its war on typhoid. But tuberculosis is a vaster problem.

Dr. W. J. Dobbie, physician-in-chief at the Toronto Free Hospital for Consumptives and the Queen Mary Hospital for Consumptive Children, at Weston, states in a recent pamphlet that by the time we are fifteen years of age, 90 per cent. of us are infected with tuberculosis.

Disease of Civilization.

It is an all-pervading disease. It is the disease of civilization.

The fact that so great a percentage of us are infected with the disease indicates its universal nature. It has not been located, cornered and trapped, as has typhoid. It is still at large, menacing every child, and in adults ready to step in whenever fatigue, exposure, lowered vitality or dissipation open the way to it.

Dr. Dobbie says that repeated small doses of infection means immunity, while an excessive dose of infection means the disease—consumption.

What is science's program for the further war on tuberculosis? To educate the public how to avoid and circumscribe the disease; to capture every case and control it; to provide easy means for the poor, who in the past have been the disease's easiest victims; to fight the disease not only in their own behalf, but also for the sake of the community.

This splendid victory of the past 25 years has been largely to the credit of the National Sanitorium Association, and the late Sir William Gage, who led the great philanthropic movement in Ontario.

The work successfully prosecuted at the several institutions operated by this philanthropic association seems little short of miraculous. In fact, the following statistics will be hardly credited by the elders of this generation:

30 per cent. cures and improvements —Toronto Free Hospital.

60 per cent. cures and improvements —Muskoka Free.

90 per cent. cures and improvements —Queen Mary.

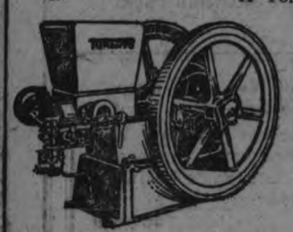
Cared for 15,000 Cases.

Fifteen thousand consumptives have to date been cared for in these institutions. In addition to the hospitals, the National Sanitarium Association conducts a training school for nurses, operates the Gage Institute, Toronto (a gift of the pioneer leader), where free clinics are held, and where are located the headquarters of the unending educational campaign, which has resulted in every school-boy knowing the elementary essentials about tuberculosis. Lectures, traveling secretaries and visiting nurses go forth from the Institute. And in addition, thirty acres of land are kept under cultivation by the hospitals, one item of which alone is 2,000 hens to provide the eggs used in treatment.

But the fight against consumption has met with two serious setbacks in the past Winter: the destruction by fire of the Muskoka Free Hospital last November and the death of Sir William Gage, the leader and chief supporter of the work.

A new free hospital must at once be built in Muskoka, and for that purpose the Sanitarium Association has launched its campaign for a million dollar emergency fund, of which Peterborough's quota has been fixed at $10,000. The campaign here will open next Tuesday, and each individual should do his or her share in seeing to it that this objective is reached. For here is a cause altogether worthy in that its work is impelled by that sense of Christian duty which appreciates at its full value the saving of human life to home, loved ones and country. Subscribing $10,000 by a community of a little over 20,000 souls is not much of a sacrifice. Let this task be shouldered as readily and cheerfully as patriotic duties have been assumed in the past, and the objective is assured The local committee in charge of the canvass for subscriptions have every confidence that the cry for help by consumptives, will meet with a generous response in Peterborough.

I Want to Put Dollars In Your Pocket



There is no need to make a special trip to town for a load of chop if you have a Toronto Farm Engine and Grain Grinder of your own. And besides, it will save you a few cents on every bag.

Coarse or fine chop—for cattle or hogs—I would recommend the Toronto Grinder for efficiency and economy on your farm.

A Toronto Farm Engine, too, is a great labor saver. Attach it to your pulper, pump, cutting box, cream separator or fanning mill.

Think of the labor saved! It pays for itself in one winter.

I'll put dollars in your pocket if you'll come in and discuss Toronto Farm Equipment with me.

MEN'S CLOTHING OPPORTUNITY

The time of the year has come when most men seriously think of providing their Winter Suits and Overcoats. As everybody knows, Suits and Overcoats made to order are much more lasting and durable than the ready made kind, but it is not very often that an opportunity to get Suits and Overcoats made to order comes at a price so reasonable as is offered by the Strand Tailors of Toronto, who are opening a special Two Day Exhibit of Suit and Overcoat lengths in Peterborough on Friday and Saturday, the 21st and 22nd. Those who are not so lucky as to live in Peterboro, will find it worth their while to make a special trip to take advantage of this very unusual offering of high class made-to-order Suits and Overcoats at such low prices as $25 and $35 each. Strand Tailors goods are guaranteed in Style, Fit and Workmanship. A special feature of this sale is the offer of an Extra Pair of Pants FREE with every order of a Suit or Overcoat.

WONDERFUL CHANGE IN WHOLE FAMILY

BUFFALO MAN, WIFE AND DAUGHTER ALL REPORT REMARKABLE GAINS IN WEIGHT.

"I gained 12 pounds, my wife gained 26 pounds, and my daughter is gaining day by day taking Tanlac. It's the biggest surprise of our lives, and all our friends and neighbours are talking about it. This medicine has made a wonderful change in every one of us. Before I got Tanlac I could hardly drag one foot after the other. I had indigestion perfectly awful. In fact, we were all regular dyspeptics. We all swear by Tanlac now at our house. It ought to be in every home. It's the world's greatest family medicine."

The above statement was made by George L. Tessy, a well-known and highly respected machinist, living at 83 Downing Street, Buffalo, N.Y.
